Wood sustained a broken arm and other severe injuries, which made him delirious and unable to explain his fall. Later it was learned that he had long been troubled with sleepwalking and several times had narrowly escaped serious injuries.

WINS WELLESLEY AWARDS.

Loses Leg, Gets Nothing.

Judge Cross, in the United States Court at Trenton yesterday, directed a verdict for the Pennsylvania Railroad in the case of Isidor Schmidt, a nine-year-old Newark boy, who sued for $20,000 for the loss of a leg in an accident.

—The next regular competitive examination in Union county for the State scholarships at Rutgers College will be held at the Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., on Friday and Saturday, June 4 and 5. These scholarships provide for all necessary college expenses. Owing to a change in regulations a larger number of scholarships are open. J. J. Savitz, county superintendent. **

TAPESTRIES AND ART OBJECTS.

In this season's auction sales tapestries have played an important part. On a recent occasion a pair of sixteenth-century tapestries, measuring five feet three inches by seven feet, were sold for $27,000, while a Flemish piece of the same period brought $13,000. These were remarkably fine examples of the best days of Flemish and Italian weaving, which extended through the sixteenth and previous centuries.

Flanders especially was famous for her looms, and tapestries were often called arras, that city being at one time the headquarters of the art. It was an art of weaving quite distinct from embroidery, with which it is sometimes confused. An embroidery is a pattern executed in needlework upon a fabric already existing, whereas in the case of tapestry the pattern or picture is an actual part of the fabric. The silk or woolen threads of which the picture is composed are the woof, and it is by the weaving of these with the warp that the fabric is made. The warp consists of a series of linen threads, strung like the strings of a piano on a frame, only close together. They may be strung horizontally, in which case the tapestry is described as de basse lisse, or "low thread," but at the period named above the usual arrangement was of upright threads, de haute lisse.

The method of applying the woof is not the same as in the case of ordinary weaving. The shuttle, containing the silk or wool, is not shot through the warp from side to side alternately. Inside, the silk or wool is fastened by a knot to each string of the warp. The fabric, therefore, does not, when damaged, ravel out as does an ordinary textile, and hence the tapestries have in a remarkable manner survived the ravages of time. In many cases the brilliance of the colors has somewhat faded, but even this fact has tended to improve their beauty, since the colors have more subtle effects of blended harmony.

In the Fifteenth century some wool dyers from Flanders named Gobelin opened a small factory for tapestries in Paris. It was supported by Louis XIII. and the succeeding kings of France, until 1622, Louis XIV. endowed it as a royal factory. It is still under government control and is the most renowned institution of its kind in the world. Since 1791 none of its products have been sold to the public. They are used for the decoration of official buildings and for presentation to people whom the government wishes specially to honor.—The Circle Magazine.

FREEHOLDERS TO GET BIDS FOR ROAD WORK

There was a joint meeting Thursday afternoon of the road committees of the Union and Middlesex County Freeholders regarding the building of Jefferson avenue, which is the dividing line between Plainfield and Dunellen, and partly in Union and partly in Middlesex county. The joint committees were made into one committee, with Henry C. Krouse, chairman of the Union County Road Committee, at is head. George S. Bunting, of New Market, was made clerk of the committee. The meeting was held in the Courthouse.

Jefferson avenue is one of the four roads which the Union County Board of Freeholders has decided to build this year. Half of the expense in constructing this road will be met by the Middlesex county board. It was decided yesterday to advertise for bids for the construction work. The bids must be in by June 10, at which time the next meeting of the joint committees will be held.

The length of Jefferson avenue to be constructed is 2,200 feet. The road will be of amisite construction, and will be the first road of that material to be built in this county. Amisite construction was viewed by the Freeholders from this county at Camden several weeks ago, and is looked upon as a first-class construction material. An amisite road, it is thought, will solve the dust-laying problem. It is as near dustless, it is said, as can be and yet is a practical material for a road over which there is heavy traffic.

Union county Freeholders have abandoned the old style of road construction, such as asphalt pavement, and it was said yesterday by members of the committee that amisite will be used as an experiment on two of the four roads to be constructed this year. Asphaltic binders will be used on the other two roads. This is also a new venture for Union county and will be used as an experiment.

FISHERMEN FIND BODY OF CHILD NEAR KENILWORTH

The county physician and the prosecutor's office are investigating the finding of the body of a fully developed white baby boy near Kenilworth, and the belief is expressed that the identity of the mother of the child will be learned.

The body was hooked yesterday from a pond near Kenilworth, where William Moller and Joseph Regan, boys, were fishing. It was encased in a tin box such as used in offices for filing valuable papers, and was wrapped in brown paper bearing the name of a large New York department store and a Newark newspaper of May 2.

The boys took the box and its contents to Justice of the Peace Antonio Grippo, and he notified the county prosecutor, who at once assigned two detectives to look into the case.

The box and the body weighed about ten pounds, and the child apparently was dead before being deposited in the box, indications being that it was born dead.

Her Mistake.

"You think she made a mistake in marrying a man old enough to be her father just because he had money?"

"I certainly do."

"You think she should have married for love?"

"No, she should have married for money, but the man should have been old enough to be her grandfather."—Houston Post.

How She Got Out of It.

The visitor in the historical museum gazed curiously at a small feather pillow which nestled in a glass case.

"I don't see anything unusual about that pillow," remarked one of the visitors, turning to the guide.

"It's a very valuable pillow," replied the guide. "That is Washington's original headquarters."—Lippincott's.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

William E. Kinny, of Lhigh avenue, has removed to Jersey City where he has taken a position with the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

It is probable that there will be no celebration here on July 5 on account of the charter celebration on that date in Plainfield.

The firemen's dance on Wednesday night promises to eclipse all former affairs of its kind ever held in the village.

Mrs. Walter Sisty, of Lake Hopatcong, formerly of South Plainfield, is spending a short time with friends here.

The South Plainfield Stars defeated the Park avenue B. B. C. in a close game this morning by a score of 5-3.

Mrs. John Teeple, of Metuchen, a former resident of this place, visited relatives here yesterday.

Albert Manning is making several alterations and repairs on his home on Brookside avenue.

Miss Grace Norman has returned home after a visit with relatives here.

Miss Emma Manning visited friends in Plainfield yesterday.

AFTER THE GREAT MESSINA EARTHQUAKE.

The following extract is from a letter in McClure's, written by a survivor a few days after the Messina disaster:

"I lost my reason again, and I do not know where I went. I was quite alone, alone among the ruins, the dead, the fallen houses. Where was I? Near the cemetery, they told me. Some told me near the sea, others near the railroad; they did not understand what I said. Some who were crazy, some who were dazed, some who were wicked, misdirected me, sent me vainly wandering among the ruins, alone, forsaken, desperate.

"I reached a place where the ruins had caught fire; I was forced to turn back. That had been a street, the handsomest in Messina; now the houses had fallen in, and the dead lay under them. Walking was easy there, but I could not bear to step on the wreckage; I knew of the human flesh throbbing beneath it; I caught glimpses of clothing, scraps of black. Oh, the horror of it!

"I ran, I fell, I picked myself up; it began to rain again, but there were no more earthquakes. I came to an open place. Perhaps there had once been a church. I shall never know.

"In the middle a bronze Christ, maimed, wept, with his head bowed toward the right. In front of him a taper was burning. There were before me three roads. I took the one toward which the Christ was looking. Some one told me that was the right road. But what a road! How many crumbled houses, what destruction! I reached a place that was all like a marsh. I walked into it nearly to my knees. When I came out I could no longer walk; my clothes clung to me. I thought of taking them off, then I went down on my hands and knees, and crawled along like an animal."

Proctor's Strong Bill.

The program at Proctor's theatre today will be an especially strong one. The Manhattan Comedy Four and Ed. Winchester in specialties are top-notchers, while a number of feature films will add to the attraction of the bill. The installation of electric fans makes the playhouse a cool and comfortable place these days.

Mrs. T. W. Leary, of Atlanta, who has been visiting friends in Plainfield, has gone to the Hotel Wolcott, New York. She will be joined in a few days by Mr. Leary, and they will spend the summer at the Wolcott.

CENTRAL PARK—If you have not visited Central Park lately you will be surprised to see the many fine improvements underway, by prominent individuals. You will find them on Hillside at Prospect, also at Martine. On Kensington at Prospect and on Park avenue at Arlington place. Central Park is the attraction, the magnet, which is slowly but surely drawing the home-lover and the investor to its center. With its rigid restrictions as to style and cost of dwellings, against nuisances of all kinds, against shops, locations of stables and garages and its uniform building line it comes very near covering every point for your protection. When you buy at Central Park you do not have to live on promises. The history of past developments teems with glorious promises unfulfilled. Ours are fulfilled. Our streets are curbed and macadamized and cement walks are laid. Shade trees planted; sewer, water, gas and electric lights are all installed. Our prices are reasonable. Plots and dwellings can be purchased on most convenient terms. Send for our new booklet, free for the asking. For further particulars see Charles Matt, Central Park Realty Co., Prospect and Edgewood avenues, telephones 1355 or 486-R, Plainfield, or your own broker. 5 14 6

Seashore Real Estate.

PORTAUPECT ON THE SHREWSBURY—The Portaupeck Realty Company is building a bungalow colony on its magnificent property which lies on the banks of the Shrewsbury and adjoins Long Branch and Monmouth Beach. This property lies high and from it there is a commanding view of the water and the green hills beyond. The beach is sandy and sloping. The water is clear and clean. The Shrewsbury is famous for its fine fishing, crabbing and boating. A handsome clubhouse, with bowling alleys and tennis courts is now under construction for the exclusive use of lot-holders. The inland lot-holder has the use of the community pier, giving to them the same advantages as a water front owner at a much more moderate cost. Thirty bungalows are now under construction. This property must be seen to be appreciated. The property is highly restricted against all nuisances and deep driven artesian well water is now being installed in all the houses, which are also equipped with electric lights, and the very latest modern plumbing and bath-room fixtures. There are first class ranges in the kitchens and artistic fireplaces of stone in the reception rooms. The sizes of the bungalows range from five to eight rooms and the prices from $2,000 to $3,500, including the plot, 50x150 feet. The famous Portaupeck Inn is convenient for those wishing to avoid the cares of housekeeping. All in all an ideal spot for the home-seeker and from an investment stand-point. Convenient terms can be arranged. Send for booklets, yours for the asking. For further particulars write, or see Charles Matt, Portaupeck Realty Co., 1328 Broadway, telephone 1266-38th, New York city, or your own broker. 5 14 6

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Sunday baseball has become so popular at Minotola that Rev. C. L. Knight has started a crusade against it.

Mrs. Mattie H. Mich, forty-three years old, was found dead in bed at her home in Glassboro yesterday. She had retired in her usual health Wednesday night.

Rev. Charles J. Geise, rector of St. Mary's R. C. church, Gloucester, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia for the past week, has passed the crisis and is recovering.

Harry R. Darr, who for years was Cumberland county's foremost detective, died at his home in Bridgeton yesterday from consumption. He is survived by a widow and four children.

The annual interscholastic oratorical contest between Wyoming Seminary, Peddie Institute, State schools and Pennington Seminary, will be held this evening in the auditorium at the States Schools in Trenton.

With an interlocutor, end men and bones, all in black face, sixty young women of the First Congregational church in Jersey City delighted an audience of one thousand last night when they gave a minstrel show in the People's Palace.

At the meeting of the Cumberland County Board of Freeholders Wednesday, the long-discussed plan of building a good road from the Gloucester county line, through Landis Township to Millville, was once more defeated by the vote of 11 to 8.

The "Squeegee" street washing machines that have been operated in Trenton during the last few weeks are not to be purchased and they will be returned to the factory. The decision was reached at a meeting last night of the Street Committee of Common Council.

When a plug blew out of one of the big vats at the plant of the Keystone Leather Company, in Camden, yesterday, Frank Kurtz, forty-seven years old, of 1117 Locust street, was badly scalded about the face and head. He was cared for at the Homeopathic Hospital.

Mrs. Samuel Jones, wife of the minister of Trinity Methodist church, was elected the new president of the Home Missionary Society of the Jersey City district yesterday at the annual meeting. Mrs. C. C. Van Aken, who has been president for the last year, is now conference secretary.

James Schell, of 98 Butler street, Paterson, furnished bail before Justice of the Peace Peter M. Botbyl, yesterday, on a charge of malicious mischief entered by Benjamin Licker, a furniture dealer, of 251 River street, who accused the defendant of deliberately smashing a $10 mirror, because of some dispute concerning the sale of a stove.

As a result of running down nine-year-old Raymond O'Keefe, son of an Atlantic City business man, Harry Quander, chauffeur for C. C. Harris, a wealthy Philadelphia cottager, was fined $25 by Recorder Keffer yesterday. The fine was paid by the man's employer, who may also be forced to defend a damage suit brought by the lad's father.

Accused of assault and battery and robbery, Joseph Serveria, of Broadway and Mechanic street, was held in $500 bail in the Camden Police Court yesterday. Adam Kannicki, of 340 Mechanic street, claimed that he met Serveria as a stranger in a saloon. They became friends, and after a short talk Serveria is alleged to have struck the complainant and robbed him of about $10.

In the pockets of a youth whose body was found mangled by a train at Gloucester City yesterday was the name and address of Mrs. M. Porter, of 1923 Wallace street, Philadelphia, who identified the body as that of N. R. O'Connor, twenty years old, whose father years ago kept a saloon at Broad and Montrose streets, Philadelphia. The body was taken to the morgue in Camden.

Trustees of Bethel A. M. E. church, Asbury Park, have engaged counsel to defend them in a suit instituted in the Court of Chancery by the pastor, Rev. T. E. Franklin, to enjoin them from interfering with him in his duties. The trustees declare that under no circumstances will they receive Rev. Dr. Franklin as their pastor. Bishop Gaines and officials of the conference will attend the hearing in Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Barker Gummere, of West State street, Trenton, entertained with a New Orleans breakfast yesterday, their guests being a number of the members of the State judiciary. This was one of a series which have been given at the Gummere home in the past few months. Among the guests were Chief Justice Gummere, Chancellor Pitney, Judge Vroom, Judge Gray, Judge Dill and William S. Hancock.

Expected Finish.

Runabout—Yes, I always select an automobile by its motors.

Salesman—But don't you pay any attention to its finish, such as the upholstering and brass trimmings.

Runabout—Oh! no. All my automobiles generally finish up in a tree or in a haystack.

Dr. Daniel C. Main will give an illustrated lecture before the Men's Club of the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow night on the effects of the X-rays upon the human body.

CONVICTS HACKMAN ON COMSTOCK'S COMPLAINT.

Summit, May 15.—On complaint of Anthony Comstock, James Perry, the one-armed colored hackman, was before Justice Hicks Thursday afternoon. The court found Perry guilty of having violated Section 13 of the city ordinance, when he refused, on the night of April 30, to drive Comstock to his home on Beekman road.

Despite the efforts of Comstock to have a fine imposed or the hackman's license revoked, Magistrate Hicks suspended sentence on Perry. The justice announced, however, that he would submit the record of the case to Common Council.

In the hearing of the case Perry admitted that on the night on which he had forced Comstock to get out of his carriage, the vehicle had been standing in the space near the Lackawanna Railroad station designated by Common Council as a hack stand.

Perry told the justice that he had an order and had left his carriage only a few moments to go into the station. When he came out of the station to go to make the trip, he found Comstock in his carriage. The colored man swore he had informed Comstock that he could not drive him, since he had an order. Comstock, Perry swore, insisted that the cabman take him to his home, and finally Policeman Gannon was appealed to.

When the hackman told Patrolman Gannon that he had an order, the latter informed Mr. Comstock that he would have to get out of the carriage. Comstock got out and was driven to his home in another hack.

Patrick Kerrigan, a witness in the case, told the magistrate that he had arrived at the Lackawanna station on the night of the trouble on the same train with Comstock. "The first I heard was a startling noise," said Kerrigan, "and when I looked around I saw Comstock in Perry's carriage. He was shouting 'Take me home! Take me home!'" Policeman Gannon corroborated Perry's testimony as to his part in the affair.

Comstock attempted to tell the court of the trouble he had had with Perry previous to the night of April 30 and since that date, but the magistrate declined to hear any evidence not bearing on the specific happening of April 30.

"When I got out of the carriage it was because I supposed the policeman's ruling was right," said Comstock, "but had I known the provisions of the ordinance I never would have gotten out of that carriage until I had been driven to my home," he added. Chief of Police Brown said Policeman Gannon had made a mistake in compelling Comstock to leave the carriage.

During the hearing Comstock accused the hackman of having insulted him, and the hackman asserted that Comstock had called him an unpleasant name. Magistrate Hicks stopped the argument.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT SONS OF VETERANS ENDS.

Rahway, May 15.—The annual encampment of the Sons of Veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the organization came to a close Thursday night, nearly all the delegates going on the earlier evening trains. About two hundred members of the Sons of Veterans were present.

The following officials were elected for the ensuing year: Division commander, Charles Schmidt, West Hoboken; senior vice-commander, Frederick G. Hanson, of Hoboken; junior vice-commander, Joseph E. Layman, Penn's Grove; treasurer, John Wolf, Union Hill; secretary, Harry J. Bender, Union Hill; camp council, J. William Hopper, Paterson; William H. Good, Trenton; W. J. Lenox, Elizabeth; chaplain, Geo. S. Bogart, Bayonne; councilor, Alexander Edgar, Jersey City; inspector, Charles Werner, Belvidere; patriotic inspector, John D. Hopper, Paterson; delegates to national convention, John D. Hopper, John A. Cochran, Walter Thomas and George S. Bogert.

The Ladies' Auxiliary elected the following: Division president, Mrs. Nettie Lowe, Jersey City; division vice-president, Mrs. A. Doriety, Paterson; council, Mrs. Georgiana Werner, Hoboken; Mrs. M. Hoffmeister, Union Hill, and Mrs. M. I. Crawford, Hoboken; secretary, Mrs. A. Lowe, Jersey City; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Cyster, Jersey City; chaplain, Mrs. A. Zimmerman, Union Hill; chief of staff, Mrs. Flora Hopper, Paterson; inspector, Mrs. Carrie Severns, Trenton; M. and I. office, Miss Mollie Donaldson, Paterson; judge advocate, Walter Thomas, Jersey City; patriotic inspector, Mrs. Fannie Balton, Trenton; press committee, Mrs. J. Baker, Belvidere; delegates to the national encampment, Mrs. Z. Simmaucher, Hoboken; Mrs. Annie Wheeler, Paterson; Mrs. W. N. Evans, Belvidere, and Mrs. Jannis, Orange.

The next encampment will be held at Red Bank, and the auxiliary will meet at the same place at the same time.

The officers of the Sons of Veterans were installed by Charles F. Sherman, division commander, of New York. George W. Pellet, of Paterson, was indorsed for national commander.

The Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will hold a sewing meeting in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon.

He seemed choking with emotion as with bowed head he pushed his way through the circle and strode past me. The people stared after him, mystified and marveling. I heard an old man calling out:

"How wonderful are the ways of Lord!'

I let Gillespie pass, and followed him slowly until a turn in the road hid us from the staring church folk. He turned and saw me.

"You have discovered me, Donovan. Be sure your sins will find you out! A simple people, sigularly moved at the sight of a greenback. I have rarely caused caused so much excitement."

"I suppose you are trying to ease your conscience by giving away some of your button meney.'

"That is just it, Donovan. You have struck the brass tack on the head. But now that we have met again, albeit through no fault of my own, let me mention matters of real human interest."

"You might tell me what you're doing here first."

"Walking; there were no cabs, Donovan."

"You choose a queer hour of the day for your exercise."

"One might say the same for your ride. But let us be sensible. I dare say there's some common platform on which we both stand.'

"We'll assume it," I replied, dismounting by the roadside that I might talk more easily. Bandages were still visible at his wrists, and a strip of court-plaster across the knuckles of his right hand otherwise testified to the edges of the glass in St. Agatha's garden. He held up his hands ruefully.

"Those were nasty slashes; and I ripped them up badly in climbing out of your window. But I couldn't linger; I am not without my little occupations."

"You stand an excellent chance of being shot if you don't clear out of this. If there's any shame in you you will go without making further trouble."

"It has occurred to me," he began, slowly, "that I know something that you ought to know. I saw Henry Holbrook yesterday."

"Where?" I demanded.

"On the lake. He's rented a sloop yacht called the Stiletto. I passed it yesterday on the Annandale steamer and I saw him quite distinctly."

"It's all your fault that he's here!" I blurted, thoroughly aroused. "If you had not followed those women they might have spent the remainder of their lives here and never have been molested. But he undoubtedly caught the trail from you."

Gillespie nodded gravely and frowned before he answered.

"I am sorry to spoil your theory, my dear Irish brother, but put this in your pipe: Henry was here first! He rented the sailboat ten days ago—and I made my triumphal entry a week later. Explain that, if you please, Mr. Donovan."

I was immensely relieved by this disclosure, for it satisfied me that I had not been mistaken in the identity of the canoe-maker. I had, however, no intention of taking the button king into my confidence.

"Where is Holbrook staying?" I asked casually.

"I don't know—he keeps afloat. The Stiletto belongs to a Cincinnati man who isn't coming here this summer and Holbrook has got the use of the yacht. So much I learned from the boat storage man at Annandale; then I passed the Stiletto and saw Henry on board."

It was clear that I knew more than Gillespie, but he had supplied me with several interesting bits of information, and, what was more to the point, he had confirmed my belief that Henry Holbrook and the canoe-maker were the same person.

"You must see that I face a difficult situation here, without counting you. You don't strike me as a wholly bad lot, Gillespie, and why won't you run along like a good boy and let me deal with Holbrook? Then when I have settled with him I'll see what can be done for you. Your position as an unwelcome suitor, engaged in annoying the lady you profess to love, and causing her great anxiety and distress, is unworthy of the really good fellow I believe you to be."

He was silent for a moment; then he spoke very soberly.

"I promise you, Donovan, that I will do nothing to encourage or help Holbrook. I know as well as you that he's a blackguard; but my own affairs I must manage in my own way."

"But as surely as you try to molest those women you will have to answer to me. I am not in the habit of beginning what I never finish, and I intend to keep those women out of your way as well as out of Holbrook's clutches, and if you get a cracked head in the business—well, the crack's in your own skull, Mr. Gillespie."

He shrugged his shoulders, threw up his head and turned away down the road.

There was something about the fellow that I liked. I even felt a certain pity for him as I passed him and rode on. He seemed simple and guileless, but with a dogged manliness beneath his absurdities. He was undoubtedly deeply attached to Helen Holbrook and his pursuit of her partook of a knight-errantish quality that would have appealed to me in other circumstances; but he was the most negligible figure that had yet appeared in the Holbrook affair, and as I put my horse to the lope my thoughts reverted to Red Gate. That chess game and Helen's visit to her father were still to be explained; if I could cut those cards out of the pack I should be ready for something really difficult. I employed myself with such reflections as I completed my sweep round the lake, reaching Glenarm shortly after two o'clock.

I was hot and hungry, and grateful for the cool breath of the house as I entered the hall.

"Miss Holbrook is waiting in the library," Ijima announced; and in a moment I faced Miss Pat, who stood in one of the open French windows looking out upon the wood.

She appeared to be deeply absorbed and did not turn until I spoke.

"I have waited for some time; I have something of importance to tell you, Mr. Donovan," she began, seating herself.

"Yes, Miss Holbrook."

"You remember that this morning, on our way to the chapel, Helen spoke of our game of chess yesterday?"

"I remember perfectly," I replied; and my heart began to pound suddenly, for I knew what the next sentence would be.

"Helen was not at St. Agatha's at the time she indicated."

"Well, Miss Pat," I laughed, "Miss Holbrook doesn't have to account to me for her movements. It isn't important—"

"Why isn't it important," demanded Miss Pat in a sharp tone that was new to me.

"Why, Miss Holbrook, she is not accountable to me for her actions. If she fibbed about the chess it's a small matter."

"Perhaps it is; and possibly she is not accountable to me, either."

"We must not probe human motives too deeply, Miss Holbrook," I said, evasively, wishing to allay her suspicions, if possible. "A young woman is entitled to her whims. But now that you have told me this, I suppose I may as well know how she accounted to you for this trifling deception."

"Oh, she said she wished to explore the country for herself; she wished to satisfy herself of our safety; and she didn't want you to think she was running foolishly into danger. She chafes under restraint, and I fear does not wholly sympathize with my runaway tactics. She likes a contest! And sometimes Helen takes pleasure in—in—being perverse. She has an idea, Mr. Donovan, that you are a very severe person."

"I am honored that she should entertain any opinion of me whatever," I replied, laughing.

"And now," said Miss Pat, "I must go back. Helen went to her room to write some letters against a time when it may be possible to communicate with our friends, and I took the opportunity to call on you. It might be as well, Mr. Donovan, not to mention my visit."

I walked beside Miss Pat to the gate, where she dismissed me, remarking that she would be quite ready for a ride in the launch at five o'clock.

The morning had added a few new-colored threads to the tangled skein I was accumulating, but I felt that with the chess story explained I could safely eliminate the supernatural; and I was relieved to find that no matter what other odd elements I had to reckon with, a girl who could be in two places at the same time was not among them.

CHAPTER VII.

A Broken Oar.

The white clouds of the later afternoon cruised dreamily between green wood and blue sky. I brought the launch to St. Agatha's landing and embarked the two exiles without incident. We set forth in good spirits, Ijima at the engine and I at the wheel. I drove the boat toward the open to guard against unfortunate encounters, and the course once established I had little care but to give a wide berth to all the other craft afloat. Helen exclaimed repeatedly upon the beauty of the lake, which the west wind rippled into many variations of color. I was flattered by her friendliness; and yielded myself to the joy of the day, agreeably thrilled—I confess as much—by her dark loveliness as she turned from time to time to speak to me.

Embarked the Two Exiles Without Incident.

"Aunt Pat is a famous sailor!" observed Helen as the launch rocked. "The last time we crossed the captain had personally to take her below during a hurricane."

"Helen always likes to make a heroine of me," said Miss Pat with her adorable smile. "But I am not in the least afraid of the water. I think there must have been sailors among my ancestors."

She was as tranquil as the day. Her attitude toward her niece had not changed; and I pleased myself with the reflection that mere ancestry—the vigor and courage of indomitable old sea birds—did not sufficiently account for her, but that she testified to an ampler background of race and was a fine flower that had been centuries in making.

We cruised the shore of Port Annandale at a discreet distance and then bore off again.

"Let us not go too near shore anywhere," said Helen; and Miss Pat murmured acquiescence.

"No; we don't care to meet people," she remarked, a trifle anxiously.

"I'm afraid I don't know any to introduce you to," I replied, and turned away into the broadest part of the lake. The launch was capable of a lively clip and the engine worked capitally. I had no fear of being caught, even if we should be pursued, and this, in the broad light of the peaceful Sabbath afternoon, seemed the remotest possibility.

It had been understood that we were to remain out until the sun dropped into the western wood, and I loitered on toward the upper lake where the shores were rougher.

"That's a real island over there—they call it Battle Orchard—you must have a glimpse of it."

"Oh, nothing is so delightful as an island!" exclaimed Helen.

Ijima had scanned the lake constantly since we started, as was his habit. Miss Pat turned to speak to Helen of the shore that now swept away from us in broader curves as we passed out of the connecting channel into the farther lake. Ijima remarked to me quietly, as though speaking of the engine:

"There's a man following in a rowboat."

And as I replied to some remark by Miss Pat, I saw, half a mile distant, its sails hanging idly, a sloop that answered Gillespie's description of the Stiletto. Its snowy canvas shone white against the green verdure of Battle Orchard.

"Shut off the power a moment. We will turn here, Ijima"—and I called Miss Pat's attention to a hoary old sycamore on the western shore.

"Oh, I'm disappointed not to cruise nearer the island with the romantic name," cried Helen. "And there's a yacht over there, too!"

I already had the boat swung round, and in reversing the course I lost the Stiletto, which clung to the island shore; but I saw now quite plainly the rowboat Ijima had reported as following us. It hung off about a quarter of a mile and its single occupant had ceased rowing and shipped his oars as though waiting. He was between us and the strait that connected the upper and lower lakes. Though not alarmed I was irritated by my carelessness in venturing through the strait and anxious to return to the less wild part of the lake. I did not dare look over my shoulder, but kept talking to my passengers, while Ijima, with the rare intuition of his race, understood the situation and indicated by gestures the course.

"There's a boat sailing through the green, green wood," exclaimed Helen; and true enough, as we crept in close to the shore, we could still see, across a wooded point of the island, the sails of the Stiletto, as of a boat of dreams, drifting through the trees. And as I looked I saw something more. A tiny signal flag was run quickly to the topmast head, withdrawn once and flashed back; and as I faced the bow again the boatman dropped his oars into the water.

"What a strange-looking man," remarked Miss Pat.

"He doesn't look like a native," I replied, carelessly.

The launch swung slowly around, cutting a half-circle, of which the Italian's boat was the center. He dallied idly with his oars and seemed to pay no heed to us, though he glanced several times toward the yacht, which had now crept into full view, and under a freshening breeze was bearing southward.

"Full speed, Ijima."

The engine responded instantly, and we cut through the water smartly. There was a space of about 25 yards between the boatman and the nearer shore. I did not believe that he would do more than try to annoy us by forcing us on the swampy shore; for it was still broad daylight, and we were likely at any moment to meet other craft. I was confident that with any sort of luck I could slip past him and gain the strait, or dodge and run round him before he could change the course of his heavy skiff.

I kicked the end of an oar which the launch carried for emergencies and Ijima, on this hint, drew it toward him.

"You can see some of the roofs of Port Annandale across the neck here," I remarked, seeing that the women had begun to watch the approaching boat uneasily.

I kept up a rapid fire of talk, but listened only to the engine's regular beat. The launch was now close to the Italian's boat, and having nearly completed the semicircle I was obliged to turn a little to watch him. Suddenly he sat up straight and lay to with the oars, pulling hard toward a point we must pass in order to clear the strait and reach the upper lake again. The fellow's hostile intentions were clear to all of us now and we all silently awaited the outcome. His skiff rose high in air under the impulsion of his strong arms, and if he struck our lighter craft amidships, as seemed inevitable, he would undoubtedly swamp us.

Ijima half rose, glanced toward the yacht, which was heading for the strait, and then at me, but I shook my head.

"Mind the engine, Ijima," I said with as much coolness as I could muster.

The margin between us and the skiff rapidly diminished, and the Italian turned to take his bearings with every lift of his oars. He had thrown off his cap, and as he looked over his shoulder I saw his evil face sharply outlined. I counted slowly to myself the number of strokes that would be necessary to bring him in collision if he persisted, charging against his progress our own swift, arrow-like flight over the water. The shore was close, and I had counted on a full depth of water, but Ijima now called out warningly in his shrill pipe and our bottom scraped as I veered off. This maneuver cost me the equivalent of ten of the Italian's deep strokes, and the shallow water added a new element of danger.

"Stand by the oar, Ijima," I called in a low tone; and I saw in a flash Miss Pat's face, quite calm, but with her lips set tight.

Ten yards remained, I judged, between the skiff and the strait, and there was nothing for us now but to let speed and space work out their problem.

Ijima stood up and seized the oar. I threw the wheel hard aport in a last hope of dodging, and the launch listed badly as it swung round. Then the bow of the skiff rose high, and Helen shrank away with a little cry; there was a scratching and grinding for an instant, as Ijima, bending forward, dug the oar into the skiff's bow and checked it with the full weight of his body. As we fended off the oar snapped and splintered and he tumbled into the water with a great splash, while we swerved and rocked for a moment and then sped on through the little strait.

Looking back, I saw Ijima swimming for the shore. He rose in the water and called "All right!" and I knew he would take excellent care of himself. The Italian had shipped his oars and lay where we had left him, and I heard him, above the beat of our engine, laugh derisively as we glided out of sight.

"Miss Holbrook, will you please steer for me?"—and in effecting the necessary changes of position that I might get to the engine we were all able to regain our composure. I saw Miss Pat touch her forehead with her handkerchief; but she said nothing. Even after St. Agatha's pier hove in sight silence held us all. The wind, continuing to freshen, was whipping the lake with a sharp lash, and I made much of my trifling business with the engine, and of the necessity for occasional directions to the girl at the wheel.

My contrition at the danger to which I had stupidly brought them was strong in me; but there were other things to think of. Miss Pat could not be deceived as to the animus of our encounter, for the Italian's conduct could hardly be accounted for on the score of stupidity; and the natural peace and quiet of this region only emphasized the gravity of her her plight. My first thought was that I must at once arrange for her removal to some other place. With Henry Holbrook established within a few miles of St. Agatha's the school was certainly no longer a tenable harborage.

As I tended the engine I saw, even when I tried to avoid her, the figure of Helen Holbrook in the stern, quite intent upon steering and calling now and then to ask the course when in my preoccupation I forgot to give it. The storm was driving a dark hood across the lake, and the thunder boomed more loudly. Storms in this neighborhood break quickly and I ran full speed for St. Agatha's to avoid the rain that already blurred the west.

We landed with some difficulty, owing to the roughened water and the hard drive of the wind; but in a few minutes we had reached St. Agatha's where Sister Margaret flung open the door just as the storm let go with a roar.

When we reached the sitting room we talked with unmistakable restraint of the storm and of our race with it across the lake—while Sister Margaret stood by murmuring her interest and sympathy. She withdrew immediately and we three sat in silence, no one wishing to speak the first word. I saw with deep pity that Miss Pat's eyes were bright with tears, and my heart burned hot with self-accusation. Sister Margaret's quick step died away in the hall, and still we waited while the rain drove against the house in sheets and the branches of a tossing maple scratched spitefully on one of the panes.

"We have been found out; my brother is here," said Miss Pat.

"I am afraid that is true," I replied. "But you must not distress yourself. This is not Sicily, where murder is a polite diversion. The Italian wished merely to frighten us; it's a case of sheerest blackmail. I am ashamed to have given him the opportunity. It was my fault—my grievous fault; and I am heartily sorry for my stupidity."

HANDICAPPED.

This Is the Case With Many Plainfield People.

Too many Plainfield citizenss are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Can you doubt Plainfield evidence?

Mrs. Margaret Reville, 732 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For a long time I was troubled with a weak and lame back and was unable to find anything that would give me relief. My back pained me so badly at times that I dreaded to stoop. When I caught cold or overexerted myself, my suffering was doubled. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Randolph's Pharmacy, helped me at once and I continued taking them until cured. I have had no need of a kidney remedy in the past two years, but value Doan's Kidney Pills today as highly as ever."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A Dull Looking Church.

In some communities one or more churches present evidence of badly painted exteriors. The beautiful finish and coloring of the L. & M. Paint distinguishes a church painted with it. The L. & M. Paint is Metalic Zinc Oxide combined with White Lead, and wears like gold. A liberal quantity of L. & M. Paint is given to every church whenever they paint. This has been done throughout the United States during past 35 years. More churches have been painted with L. & M. Paint than with any other. Sold by Woolston & Buckle, Plainfield; H. C. EMERSON SAID

Something about it being unnecessary to advertise if you did something or had something or made something better than your neighbor. But Emerson should have excepted Bungalow Colonies. Here we are, with the finest bungalow site around New York, with the most beautiful surroundings; with Asbury Park and Long Branch almost in sight; with the best of fishing, boating, crabbing; with four miles of water frontage on the beautiful Shrewsbury; with everything, in fact, to idealize PORTAUPECK to the lover of bungalow life—and we have to advertise.

But not for long. Locations are going fast; over thirty bungalows now in course of erection. Better take a look at our colony of good homes and good neighbors—and soon. You'll hate yourself if you locate somewhere else and then see PORTAUPECK. Send for booklet.

EXPRESS INQUIRY MAY BE REPEATED

The special committee of the Elizabeth Board of Trade which was appointed to take up a movement for reforms in express rates at Elizabeth finds itself in a puzzling situation, and up to date has seen no way out of the muddle.

All the members of the Board of Railroad Commissioners who heard the evidence produced by the Elizabeth committee are now off the State commission, and practically no stenographic notes of the hearings were taken.

This means that nearly all the testimony, covering the case as presented by the local committee, has been lost and that the present commissioners have nothing on which to base action. The Board of Trade committee is at sea as to what steps can be taken, but it seems evident that the case will have to be reopened before the State officials if any decisive action is to be obtained.

General Congdon, who formerly headed the board, is now a judge in the Court of Errors. Commissioner Whiting was not reappointed and Edmund Wilson is Attorney-General. When the local committee appeared before the Railroad Commission a question was raised with reference to stenographic notes and the State officials announced that their appropriation would not allow them to provide a stenographer. The Board of Trade committee was not in a position to meet this expense, and only a few notes were taken.

Referee to Say Who Will Get Reward

John W. Strong, trust officer of the West End Trust Company, of Philadelphia, has been selected to take testimony and decide who is entitled to a reward of $1,000 for the capture of George Wilson, a negro, charged with the murder of Frederick R. Romer, in Orange, on December 13, 1907. Wilson was caught in Philadelphia and three members of the police department there, a pawn broker, a saloon keeper and a man who enticed Wilson to the place where he was arrested want to share in the reward money.

Miss Mildred Berry, of Sycamore avenue, returned home today after spending a week with Miss Edith Berry, of Stamford, Conn.

P.S.C. GIVES CONTRACT FOR HOBOKEN TERMINAL

A contract for the general work involved in the construction of its proposed Hoboken terminal station has just been awarded by the Public Service Corporation. The successful bidder was the F. D. Hyde Company, of New York, which firm built the Newark Plank Road Shops for the Public Service and also constructed the Lackawanna Railroad Station at Scranton, Pa. The Hyde Company's bid was the lowest of ten proposals submitted in an open competition.

The contract covers the excavating, grading, piling, concrete foundations, masonry, carpentry, plumbing, draining, heating, plastering, flooring, roofing, offices, escalator, painting, and in fact all the necessary work excepting the structural steel, ornamental iron work, fences, gates, metal railing and stairs. Some time ago a contract was awarded to the Fagan Iron Works, of Hoboken, for the structural steel work and much of the material has already been fabricated in the shops.

Work on the new structure will be begun as soon as the contractors can get ready and once started, operations will be prosecuted with all possible speed. It is calculated that it will take about six months to build the terminal after the work gets under way.

No further contracts are necessary as all the track work will be done by the company itself. As published before the terminal will be one of the most complete in the country providing accommodations for surface, sub-surface and elevated cars with direct conections for the Lackawanna trains and ferries. The number of passengers incoming and outgoing handled by the Public Service at the terminal is more than 60,000 a day or nearly 2,000,000 a month.

OHIOANS INSPECT OUR GOOD ROADS.

State Road Commissioner Gilkyson and County Engineer Epple yesterday escorted a party of officials of Franklin county, Ohio, over some of the improved roads in Mercer county. The visitors, who are on a tour in inspection, for the purpose of gaining information about road making, were Walter Braun, county engineer, and Commissioners Henry Mason, Albert Gibson and Martin Hayes, of Columbus, Ohio.

H. C. Innes, representing the Indian Refining Company, also was a member of the inspecting party.

The special purpose of the Ohio delegation was to look at the Elm street, Rosedale and Pennington road, which was built last year as an experiment, asphalt having been applied to the body of the macadam.

A short time ago members of a Maryland highway commission went over the road and declared it ideal in every particular.

The crucial test of the road is now being made. If it stands the summer sun the fact will have been demonstrated that it is one of the very best roads that can be constructed.

ADELPHI WON FROM P.H.S.

City Schoolboys Had One Bad Inning and the Score was Four to One.

ERROR LOST THE GAME.

Van Zandt's Support Weakened in the Eighth and the Brooklynites Won— Petty's Good Pitching.

A miserable error by the P. H. S. second baseman in the eighth inning of yesterday's game with the strong Adelphi Academy nine, of Brooklyn, started the bad inning of the game, and when the final out was made, four Adelphi players had scored and the game was sewed up for the visitors. It was a hard game to lose, for the local schoolboys had scored a run in the second and forced the visitors to take goose-eggs for seven long innings.

Van Zandt pitched winning ball all through, but the ragged support tendered him in the "awful eighth" brought the defeat. He was opposed by "the Perennial Petty," a southpaw twirler who struggles around under a great mass of laurels piled on him after metropolitan prep. school games. It was this same Petty who ran in with the tally that tied the score after Snyder's fatal error. The visiting pitcher pushed out a two-bagger in the eighth, after Giddes had made a beautiful catch of Hunter's liner. Van Zandt passed Jones, and with two down, G. Halstead came to the bat. This fellow had been a regular strike-out at his previous appearance at the plate, but managed to roll a leisurely grounder toward Snyder. Right between the baseman's legs went the ball, and Petty came home. Giddes' error of Trenkman's swat, a pass to Williams, and Salmon's single all helped make history for Adelphi before Giddes cupped H. Halstead's pop fly. But the four runs were in, and Petty was invincible for the P. H. S. half of the ninth.

There came very near being no victory for Adelphi, because in the third the visitors took exception to Umpire Russell's ruling on a balk, and decided they'd go right back to Brooklyn. A committee of paid admission fans persuaded them to finish out the game, but Russell was deposed as strike umpire, "Phil" Smith took his job, and G. L. Listman went in as base umpire. And then Adelphi won.

Dodwell brought in that run for P. H. S. that looked big enough to decide the game until the "awful eighth" came along. "Slim" Snyder, Dodwell and Terry solved Petty's delivery successively for singles and Dodwell came home on the last hit.

Petty, who wins his nick-name of "perennial" because he has been in the centre of the diamond for Adelphi for two generations of P. H. S. ball players, pitched wonderful ball, and eighteen strikeouts were registered in his record for the game. He gave no passes, and Terry got two of the four hits off his delivery. Van Zandt kept the six hits Adelphi got well scattered, and there were no earned runs. He fanned six, and passed two, pitching heady ball.

TOM MUIR TESTIMONIAL MUST BE GIVEN TWICE

A realization that Tom Muir's friends can't all be seated in the New Plainfield theatre at one time has prompted the committee in charge of the popular newspaperman's big minstrel testimonial to announce that the show will be given for two nights at the theatre. Friday and Saturday, June 18 and 19, are the dates. This change is made in response to popular demand.

There's going to be a reduction in the price of tickets, too, so that everybody can help. Tickets will be placed on sale at the box office of the New Plainfield theatre a week from today at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the prices will be fifty and seventy-five cents, a dollar and $1.50. The sale for both performances will be opened at the same time. No tickets will be sold at drug stores or by members of the big chorus.

The third rehearsal of the minstrel songs will be held at the Elks' lodge room tomorrow night, and City Judge William N. Runyon, who is coaching the singers, requests that there be a full turnout of the volunteers as some new music is to be taken up.

FOUR VAUDEVILLE ACTS AT EACH PERFORMANCE

The amusement-loving public will be interested in the announcement of the new and attractive bill to be offered at Proctor's theatre, commencing today. In addition to that already given there will be two more first-class vaudeville acts daily, and the feature will be a one-act play every day. The bill will include four acts of vaudeville, five reels of life motion pictures, illustrated songs and travelogue talks, which will be changed three times a week. The new scenery is complete and the handsome new drop curtain will be placed in position this week.

This week's big bill will be as follows: Monday and Tuesday—Hopwood & Lawrence, singing and dance artists; Rose Edelle & Co., sketch, "I Wish I Had a Girl;" Three Tumbling Toms; Codman, black face musical artist. Wednesday and Thursday—Bert Gudgeon & Co., "In Pastimes of Western Life;" Lester & Alger, comedians, "The Boys from Washington;" Joe Ross, the acrobatic clown; George Winfield & Co., comedy playlet, "Am I Your Wife?" Friday and Saturday—Joseph Merrick & Co., comedy playlet, "Moving Day;" Stone & Sheldon, comedians; Musical Lowe, xylophone expert; Herman & Rice, comedy acrobats. There will be no change in the price of admission.

STRENUOUS EXERCISE ON WAY TO CHURCH.

Because Edward Peterson and William Hooper, two colored boys who live on West Third street, are advocates of "the strenuous life." A friendly bout they held under the Liberty street railroad bridge was misconstrued as a regular "mill," and the pair were arrested by Patrolman Sweeney and Sergeant Maurice Higgins. The boys say that they were on their way to church and stopped to exchange blows just for exercise.

Patrolman Sweeney testified that the boxers were surrounded by a big crowd, and that the thump of blows could be heard a block away. Neither boy showed any signs of injury, and Peterson explained to City Judge Runyon that they only used body blows. The court suspended sentence, but advised that boxing be done off the street hereafter.

Mr. Korff at Salvation Army.

At a special meeting of the Salvation Army last night Martin A. Korff and five members of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, had charge of the musical program. Besides rendering several selections, the orchestra played the hymns for the congregational singing. The speakers of the evening were Mr. Korff and J. Harry Manning, former secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

F. L. C. Martin, pioneer bicycle dealer in this State and president of the F. L. C. Automobile Company, is to be the pioneer air-ship dealer of New Jersey, and in the fall will start talking up the Clement-Bayard dirigible balloon at a local agency. S. B. Bowman, sales agent for the airships in this country, has announced that one of the big balloons is on its way from France. It was shipped several days ago and should arrive at New York this week.

Albert Clement, the inventor of the dirigible air-ship, is also on his way to this country, and will superintend its assembling at Morris Park, New York, where Mr. Martin and Mr. Bowman will be in charge and will take some trial flights. In July, the two will start an air-ship trip to Chicago, and will enter the big dirigible in the balloon race from New York to Albany. Mr. Martin said today that the air-ship will be brought to this city in the fall, after the party returns from the Chicago trip.

The Clement-Bayard dirigible balloon is called an "air yacht" and to own one you must pay out $125,000. There is no speed limit, and the manufacturers guarantee that there will be no tire troubles. Mr. Martin said today that he has never been in a balloon in his life, but is literally "going up in the air" for the first next month, when he will have a balloon ascension at the opening of the new five-mile motor speedway at Indianapolis, Indiana.

NONE OF THE HOBO FOR THIS YOUNG MAN

After four days of life as a knight of the road, seventeen-year-old William Grandin, a New York boy, joined the "Never Again Club" when sentence was suspended by City Judge Runyon after his arrest, with Thomas Ruddell, at Grant avenue yesterday. "The fellers said this hobo life was fine, and told me that I ought to try it—easy work, riding on freights, plenty to eat and all that. Don't you believe it. I tried it for four days, and that's enough for me."

Grandin says he got in a fight with a plumber for whom he was working in New York, and left the job. Some associates boomed hobo life to him, and he took to the road. He got off a freight at Grant avenue and met Thomas Ruddell, who was en route to Manhattan after slipping up on a boiler-maker's job in Baltimore. Patrolman Saffron arrested the pair as vagrants. Sentence was suspended on condition that the two leave town.

EPWORTHIANS OBSERVE TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

The twentieth anniversary of the Epworth League was observed at Grace M. E. church last night. The platform and pulpit were decorated with cut-flowers, dogwood blossoms, and the league emblem, with the motto, "Look Up, Lift Up." The meeting was conducted by Benjamin R. Schuck, the new president.

The special musical numbers rendered by a large chorus choir were as follows: Anthems, "Sing Hallelujah Forth," Dudley Buck; "Magnificat," Tours; soprano solo, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," Du Bois, Mrs. E. D. Young. Two violin solos were rendered by George Speer. A resume of the year's work was given by Rev. Ora J. Shoop. The address of the evening was delivered by James R. Joy, of the First M. E. church, which was an inspiration. The committee of arrangements comprised Benjamin Schuck, Miss Mary Hoagland and Rev. Ora J. Shoop. The music was in charge of Miss Alice Carroll, who also presided at the organ.

The anniversary was celebrated at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, with a special program of music by the choir, and a strong address by the pastor, Rev. C. S. Kemble, who took for his subject, "The Ambitions of Man As Compared With That of Christ."

A Bicycle Picnic.

Fourteen members of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society, of the Congregational church, went on a bicycle picnic Saturday up to Scotch Plains. The party started about 10:30 o'clock in the morning and returned home late in the afternoon. The party were in charge of Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Goodrich.

K.G.E. ATTENDS SERVICE

Freedom Castle Observes Order's Memorial Day at Trinity Church.

SERMON ON BROTHERHOOD.

Knights Hear Discourse By the Pastor, Rev. John Y. Broek, in the Evening.

Declaring that this is the era of brotherhood, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, delivered an excellent address on the opportunities for manifestation of the virtue in every-day life at the special service for the Knights of the Golden Eagle, attended by sixty members of Freedom Castle at the church last night. The lodgemen marched to the church in a body, headed by Post Grand Noble Chief Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, and Grand Noble Chief Horace J. Martin. It had been the purpose of the pastor to preach on "The Square Deal," but he learned that yesterday was the memorial anniversary day of the lodgemen, and changed his topic at the last moment. Special music was a feature of the service, which was largely attended.

Announcing his topic as "Brotherhood," Rev. Mr. Broek read his text from John 1-42: "And he brought him to Jesus." He referred to the circumstances of the text, the meeting between Andrew and his brother, Simon Peter. "This was the first brotherhood," he said, "a brotherhood of Jesus Christ and His disciples."

"In the different eras of the world's history," said Rev. Mr. Broek, "we note various ethical principles of men, which occupied their attention. There are certain elements which stand out from each age, and there were three great principles which have been anunciated in history. The first was a period of paternalism. This began in the time of Abraham, and lasted through the era of Julius Caesar until crushed by Cromwell and Napoleon. It is marked by supreme aristocratic power.

"The second period was one of individualism, and it had its beginning in the nineteenth century. Man sought his own interests and his own good, regardless of others. The chief exponent of this doctrine was the American Indian, and the period was marked by the beliefs that the less government there was, the better. Religion was considered an individual matter.

"We are now in the period of brotherhood. This brotherhood epoch began with the present century, and is today being more and more fully recognized in commercial, industrial and social life. It is essentially an organization for the common good of all, and it shows its strength today in our currency, our public schools and our industries. It is a feature of the life of corporations. These corporations may have some bad elements, but their basic principle is the distribution of profits among the many.

"The principles of brotherhood ought to be recognized more fully in moral and religious life; there is a crying need of more brotherhood. Jesus Christ taught the spirit of brotherhood, but true brotherhood is impossible without the realization of the fatherhood of God. I congratulate you, Knights of the Golden Eagle, because your teachings in the order are the teachings of Jesus Christ; and you live, not for yourselves alone, but for others. Your object is to instil the spirit of God and fraternalism among your fellow members, and you are soldiers in a Christian warfare.

"The ascetic failed to get the principle of brotherhood, which was practised by Jesus Christ, the manliest of men, who seized each opportunity for helping. You men, too, can be saviours of the men with whom you come in contact each day, and you will find that the success of life comes in living for others.

"The real spirit of brotherhood does not wait for the opportunity to do good, but creates such opportunity. You must constantly think of your associates, help and encourage them. There is a great field of opportunity, for there are young men who walk the streets of our beautiful city today whose faces speak their life of vice and sin. Make your life a blessing, then, and full of purpose. In the true spirit of brotherhood, there is great reward. Be true to youreslf, your fellowmen, and God.

"This is a memorial service for your order. Remember that although a man's years are limited, his influence stands forever. You have a precious legacy in the influence of the lives of your departed members. Enumerate their deeds; cherish their memories; stimulate

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS PRESENT "THE RIVALS"

Sheridan's famous play, "The Rivals," was presented in a finished mannre by the senior class of the Plainfield High School at the New Plainfield theatre, Saturday afternoon and night, before large audiences, which applauded the praiseworthy achievements of the young men and women assigned to the different parts.

Criticism of the two performances is difficult for each member of the cast scored and in a way that brought honors to the coaches as well as performers. The play was given without a hitch of any kind and the whole affair was given in a thoroughly satisfactory manner.

The cast of characters were as follows:

"Sir Anthony Absolute," Cornelius Schenck, Jr.; "Capt. Jack Absolute," Clyde Doane; "Faulkland," Alan Fitz Randolph; "Bob Acres," Stanley Robins; Sir Lucius O'Trigger," Edward Abbott; "Fag," Walter Knowlton; "Thomas," and "David," John W. Lyness; "Mrs. Malaprop," Miss Clara Savage; "Lydis Languish," Miss Caroline Lambert; "Julia," Miss Louise Nichol; "Lucy," Miss Ethel Skillman.

The faculty directors were Samuel B. Howe, Jr., and Miss Helene M. Pope; business managers, Charles E. Prior and Guion H. Fountain; chairman play committee, Clyde Doane; stage manager, Allen Fulmer; advertising manager, Richard Harrigan; property manager, Joe Silbert. The music was furnished by the theatre orchestra, Charles M. Suhr, director.

HIS FINE HORSES RAN ---NOT AT STEEPLECHASE

Two thoroughbred horses from Edwin S. Hooley's stables, en route to the steeplechase meet at Elizabeth, Saturday, got away from Chris. Cumins, a groom, and a lively chase took place before they were captured. It was then too late to enter them in the meet. One horse was caught by a motorcycle cop in Elizabeth, who gave chase for nearly a mile, while the other one was captured at Kenilworth by Mr. Cumins. Fortunately, neither one of the animals was injured.

Mr. Cumins left Plainfield in plenty of time to reach the Linden track for the meet and had no trouble until nearing Elizabeth. There the horses were frightened in some way and succeeded in breaking away from the lead strap. Mr. Cumins met a motorcycle cop a few minutes later and he was started after one horse, while the former chased the other one.

MRS. EGE'S HEIRS LOSE PRELIMINARY SKIRMISH

Judge E. S. Atwater sitting in the Orphans' Court, Elizabeth, today, denied the application of Guild & Martin, of Newark, assisted by Finch, attorneys for Mrs. Louise Worthington, of New York, for a certification of the will case of Mrs. Emma F. Ege to the Circuit Court for a trial by jury. The will will be offered for probate next Wednesday.

This is the first step on the part of Mrs. Louise Worthington and her daughter, Miss Laura Worthington, to prevent the probate of the will of the former's sister, Mrs. Ege, and the contest promises to be of exceptional interest. The estate is valued at about $30,000 and about $20,000 of it is bequeathed to charities and sixteen or eighteen friends of the testator.

The caveators claim that undue influence was used in the making of the will, in which Mrs. Worthington and her daughter are cut off with $25 apiece. Miss Forset, of Trenton, a niece, who was remembered in the will, is represented by Frank S. Katzenbach, former Democratic candidate for Governor.

Craig A. Marsh represents the estate, and John H. VanWinkle represents the Children's Home. Mr. Marsh is also the counsel for William F. Arnold, the executor, and for Muhlenberg Hospital and he made the principal argument this morning. The court sustained his position.

At "Davy" Baird Dinner.

County Chairman Frank H. Smith, State Senator E. R. Ackerman and Mayor Charles J. Fisk were among the hundred guests at the dinner given by Thomas N. McCarter, president of the P. S. C., in honor of David Baird, president of the State Board of Assessors.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION IN THE LIQUOR CASES

Seigel-Cooper, R. H. Macy & Co., and Acker, Merrill & Condit, New York department store firms, against whom actions were directed by the county authorities for selling and delivering liquors in this city on "C. O. D." orders, today made an application in the United States District Court, at Trenton, for an injunction restraining further action against them until the points of law can be argued. The papers are returnable at Trenton on Monday.

When Prosecutor C. Addison Swift was notified today of the action he said that he would be on hand to represent the State in the matter.

The New York department stores, it is said, have suffered considerable from the loss of suburban liquor trade since the action was begun against them by the county authorities. Although the drivers were represented by counsel at the hearing before City Judge W. N. Runyon, no defense was set up, it being understood that this would be done in the higher courts.

Each defendant was released in $500 bail to await the action of the grand jury. When the grand jury was convened, Judge Bergen dwelt at length on the points involved in the cases.

TRAYNOR GAVE WIFE A TERRIBLE BEATING

Patrick Traynor, of Oxford place, North Plainfield, was arrested late yesterday afternoon by the city police on a charge of ebating his wife. In the scrap which took place in front of the residence of L. V. F. Randolph on East Front street, Mrs. Traynor came off second best, and she had to be sent home in a carriage. Mr. Randolph was attracted to the scene of the trouble by the woman's screams and he notified the borough police. He then ordered a carriage and had the woman taken home.

By the time the police arrived, Traynor had made his escape and was arrested by the city police about 5 o'clock. Mrs. Traynor was unable to apepar at the hearing set for this morning and it was postponed until tonight. She is suffering from cuts and bruises about the head and face

The cause of the trouble is said to be a young woman, who recently came from Ireland to live with the Traynors. A little later, it is said, Mrs. Traynor complained because of her husband's attentions to the girl. He promised to do better and everything went alone nicely until yesterday.

Mr. Traynor started out alone for a stroll. His wife became suspicious and followed. Later she saw him meet the girl at Farragut road and Brook avenue and approaching the couple a war of words followed which wound up in a fight. Traynor, it is said, struck his wife in the face, almost rendering her unconscious. It is said that Traynor admitted to the police that he struck his wife, but promises to tell the true story at the hearing tonight.

COTTRELL PRESIDENT OF 7TH DAY MEN'S CLUB.

The Men's Club of the Seventh-Day Baptist church held its annual meeting last night, when these officers were elected for the coming year: President, John B. Cottrell; vice-president, N. O. Moore, Jr.; secretary, Ralph Titsworth; treasurer, R. C. Burdick; executive committee, Dr. H. M. Maxson and O. S. Rogers. Informal reports of the year's work were given by the various committees.

After the business meeting, the members and their friends listened to an interesting scientific talk on "The Application of X-rays and Their Effect on the Body," by Dr. Daniel C. Main. He had an X-ray machine present and gave a number of demonstrations; also exhibiting several negatives, including one of a broken leg which was not properly set. An informal discussion followed the talk and during a social hour refreshments were served. The club will not meet again until fall.

Yes, Kelley Did Resign.

That delayed and denied resignation of Patrolman John Kelley from the police force has been handed in, and the big officer packed up and left town Saturday to take up his residence in Jersey City. His new job is with the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Company, and it is said that he started in on his new job today. No patrolman has been assigned to Kelley's "beat" in the business section of the city.

SPECTACULAR "CAPTURE"

The Detective Dramatically Points a Gun at His Two "Prisoners."

SERIOUS MISTAKE CLAIMED.

One Young Man Promptly Engages Counsel—Detective Said to Be a Newarker.

What is considered an outrage by the innocent victims and what is rated as a ludricuous blunder of an ambitious detective, alleged to be in the employ of the city just at the present time, took place on Saturday night when a "daring" sleuth "took his life in his own hands" by effecting an "important" arrest single handed. The chief scene of the farce-comedy or tragedy, have it as you will, occurred at the Hotel Kensington, when the heroic arm of the law pounched upon two young men. Whipping out a revolver from his hip pocket, the detective dramatically shouted "You are under arrest." Two young men looked into the barrel of his gun and decided instantly that they were in a rather dangerous position if not actually "in the custody of the law."

According to eye witnesses, Charles Raney, a Newark detective, is alleged to have entered the hostelry and confronted two guests, Donald B. Wallace, of this city, and John Zanini, of New York. It is related that he accused them of being bicycle thieves and of other sundry wrong doings. Then he pointed his revolver at their heads, it is said, and told them that they were under arrest. Wallace, it is stated, replied that he guessed the detective had made a serious mistake, and he called up Police Chief Kiely on the telephone. The chief shortly afterwards presented himself on the scene of action and invited the detective and his "prisoners" to accompany him to headquarters. There, it is related, the chief informed the two young men it was "all a mistake."

That is only one chapter in the story. The first one is said at Clarence Thorne's bike shop. At that place, Wallace and Zanini had previously purchased bicycles, Wallace giving a check in payment for his. Mr. Thorne says that before accepting the check he found that it was good and that Wallace was a highly respected young man in this community. After his customers had departed, according to Thorne, the detective entered and told him that the check was a forgery. The bike man was not to be convinced so easily, he says, but accepted an invitation to visit Chief Kiely and to take the check along. It was after this visit that the detective played his important role in the hotel scene.

Incensed over the treatment he had received, Wallace consulted his lawyer, former Judge William A. Coddington, and as a result there is going to be a lot of trouble for some people, it is said. Police Chief Kiely was out of town today and his version of the affair could not be obtained. He is quoted, however, as denying responsibility for the actions of the detective. The detective could not be found either, and Judge Coddington says that he is not certain who the man is. Mr. Thorne positively claims that the detective in question is none other than Raney, who did much work for the State excise commission and later gathered the evidence which resulted in arrests here of New York department store drivers for the alleged illegal sale of liquor. It is also rumored that the detective is now doing work for the local city government. According to one story he has been engaged in running down bike thieves and on this occasion believed that he had found his men.

This impression on his part was strengthened, it is said, when he learned that Wallace had registered at the Hotel Kensington under the name of Canora. The latter is said to be his nome de plume. Wallace is an author and playwright according to his own story, which is corroborated by his friends, and he is known in the literary world almost as well as Canora as Wallace. People who know him are emphatic in their assertions that he is an exemplary young man and tradesmen vouch for the reliability of his checks. Thorne today stated that he found the check to be perfectly good and that he never had any suspicion of his customer.

Who Cooked.

A party of young men were camping, and to avert annoying questions they made it a rule that the one who asked a question that he could not answer himself had to do the cooking.

One evening, while sitting round the fire, one of the boys asked, "Why is it that a ground-squirrel never leaves any dirt at the mouth of his burrow?"

They all guessed and missed. So he was asked to answer it himself.

"Why," he said, "because they always begin to dig at the other end of the hole."

"But," one asked, "how does he get to the other end of the hole?"

"Well," was the reply, "that's your question."—Youth's Companion.

Too Trusting.

The early robin freely acknowledged that as a harbinger of spring it had been a failure this time.

"I was fooled by the boys playing marbles in the streets," pleaded the bird, in extenuation.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The way "Smiling Jimmy" Montross put them over Saturday it looks as though Jimmy was back in Hope Chapel form again. Jimmy not only pitched but saved his own game with a 3-bagger in the seventh, which tied the score. Dodge's stop in the tenth redeemed him from the part he took in the balloon ascension in the seventh as it saved the game. Outside of that one bad inning the local team put up a good game and backed Montross up in great shape.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church observed its sixteenth anniversary last night. The church was prettily trimmed in honor of the event with dog wood blossoms and ferns, the white and green making a pleasing combination. The program, which included Scripture reading and music and an address by Dr. Raymond, of Plainfield, was enjoyed by a large audience.

H. W. Herrman, of Plainfield, gave an interesting address upon "How to Make the Most of Both Worlds," at the afternoon vesper services held yesterday in the Baptist church. William Holmes Banton, of the First Baptist church choir of Plainfield, rendered pleasing baritone solos.

Men's 4-ply Collars 6 for 50c

Made in 1-4 Sizes

Thousands of dozens of men's excellent 4-ply Collars, equaling in material, workmanship and finish any 15c collars on the market; each eyelet surrounded by a buttonhole stitch which moves easily around the shank of the button without friction or unnecessary wear, with 3-thread buttonhole, forming a circular loop which is much stronger than an open or cut end, and more pliable therefore, and more easily buttoned. The styles include all the leading and most up-to-date shapes, and best feature of all, they may be had not only in the standard sizes but in Quarter Sizes as well.

No sale of collars that you have heretofore known has embraced these quarter sizes, making this sale of vast importance to careful dressers.

The price at which we are offering these collars—6 for half a dollar—is so extraordinary as to imply that there must be something wrong with the collars; but such is not the case—

EVERY COLLAR IS STRICTLY PERFECT.

When you remember that most of the 15c apiece collars on the market are of 3-ply, and that these are 4-ply, you will better appreciate the wonderful bargains we are giving you.

No less than six collars sold to a customer.

You can have as many dozens as you wish.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

A musical service will be held at the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, Watchung, May 30.

The Children's Day service will be held in the morning of June 13, at the Park Avenue Baptist church and will be an elaborate affair.

The Rosary Society of St. Joseph's church will hold a euchre at Saengerbund Hall Wednesday night. Music will be furnished for dancing by Paroubek's orchestra.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will hold a union meeting with the Juniors Friday night. The subject will be "Lessons from the Birds and Flowers," and Miss Alice Brown will be the leader.

George E. Hall, superintendent of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-school, has returned from Chicago, where he took part in a large Sunday-school conference. He was accompanied by E. Morris Ferguson, State secretary of the Sunday-school Association.

The Women's Home Mission Circle of the Park Avenue Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. D. M. Runyon, 1052 Arlington avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Wilson will be the devotional leader, and the subject, "The America of Tomorrow," will be in charge of Mrs. D. M. Runyon and Mrs. J. A. Moffett.

CAMDEN WIDOW LOSES RICHES BY SON'S DEATH.

Lebanon, Pa., May 17.—Mrs. Laura S. Crawford, of Camden, N. J., has won her fight in the local Orphans' Court to share in the distribution of a $15,000 trust estate left by the late Henry M. Crawford, of this city, for his two sons, Alexander M. Crawford, of this city, and William T. Crawford, of Philadelphia.

Judge A. W. Ehrgood, in an opinion filed Saturday, holds that the $15,000 trust estate was not an absolute gift; hence Mrs. Crawford as the widow of William T. Crawford, who died intestate, is awarded one-half the fund.

The death of William T. Crawford during the life time of his father bars the widow from sharing in the distribution of the main portion of the estate, estimated to be $100,000.

UNION CO. C. E. UNION TO HOLD TWO RALLIES

Two important Christian Endeavor rally meetings will be held this week. Tomorrow night the Endeavorers of Union county will journey to Summit to attend the annual rally of the county union. The address will be given by Rev. Walter R. Greenway, vice-president of the State Endeavor Union, and Miss Marie Jacobson will read a report of the work of the county union extension committee. The Plainfield Endeavorers will leave on the 6:45 o'clock train, which will connect with a special train at Aldene.

The Spring rally meeting of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church Thursday night at 8 o'clock. The societies will compete for the union attendance banner, now held by the Warren chapel society. The successful society will be the banner society at the coming State convention to be held here in October. State President J. T. Sproull will present the banner.

Secretary Charles F. Windham will read the annual report and officers for the coming year will be elected. The address will be delivered by State President Sproull. Rev. A. E. Finn will conduct the devotional exercises and the song service will be led by the choir of the church. It is probable that the hymnals which will be used in the meetings of the State convention and which have been ordered from the United Society, will arrive in time for this meeting.

Surprised Max Kahn.

A surprise party was arranged by the Misses Lillian and Rose Wolf, Herman Kahn and Samuel Rothberg on Max Kahn, of 306 East Sixth street, last night, who leaves May 29 for Europe. There were violin and and piano selections, the affair concluding with a dance and supper. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Kulshermer, Mr. and Mrs. M. Kaufman, of South Amboy; Mr. and Mrs. L. Drellfet, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gottleib, Miss Jeanette Schurzwald, Miss May Schonberger, Miss Lillian Edwards, Miss Lillian Wolf, Miss Rose Wolf, of New York; Samuel Rothberg, Sallo Kahn, Herman Kahn, Emil Kahn, Samuel Meyer, Leon Kahn, Victor Kahn, Harry Rothberg, Miss Ruth Weinberger, Mr. and Mrs. J. Weinberger and Mr. and Mrs. S. Hochberger, of Plainfield.

Drunk at North Avenue Station.

William Taggart, who lives on West Second street, was arrested at the North Avenue station Saturday night by Patrolman Nolan. He was intoxicated and got real abusive when the officer urged him to go home. He was fined $3 at his hearing before City Judge Runyon today.

PLAINFIELD HORSES FINISH WELL IN STEEPLECHASE MEET.

Plainfield horses got a "slice" of the money in the trial steeplechase meet, held at Elizabeth Saturday, under the direction of Louis Batjer. The meet attracted more than a thousand society folk from this city, Elizabeth and the surrounding towns and was a great success. The races were held on the old Linden track.

In the second race for the Meadow Lark cup, "Mechanic," C. E. S. Bellows up, finished second, and in the fourth race for the Woodstock cup, "Harry Baylor, Hugh Gormley up, finished third. "Maid-of-All-Work" and "Mechanic" were scratched in other races.

Their Drink Costly.

Three petty cases were tried before Borough Recorder Dolliver this morning. Mary Schibe, of Millington, was fined $3 for being drunk and disorderly on Saturday night. Hannah Vanderhoof, colored, of Warren street, was also fined $3 for taking on too much booze Saturday night and attempting to do some Salome steps that shocked the police. James Winch was fined $2. for being drunk and disorderly.

PROTESTANT ITALIAN TELLS OF HIS LABORS

Rev. Antonio Arrighi, pastor of the Evangelical church, Broom street, New York city, gave a most interesting address at the Congregational church last night in behalf of the Italian Mission, of Plainfield. There were present ten Italians from the home mission to take part in the service. The quartet sang several hymns, among them being "America," which was translated in their native tongue by Sig. Arrighi. The subject of his address was the "Italian in America." "What the Italian needs more than any thing else," said the minister, "is the gospel of Christ in its true sense. In their native country all are baptized, and all think themselves Christians. Unless the true gospel is preached to the Italian we have need to fear great trouble. The terrible 'Black Hand,' which has been doing its horrible deeds of crime can be eliminated by teaching the 'true light.'"

In conclusion Rev. Mr. Arrighi spoke of the great work done by his friend Petrosino, the well-known detective who was murdered by members of the "Black Hand" society a few months ago. During his twenty-eight years as a Protestant minister in the United States he said he has had over two thousand Italian converts, and has a Sunday-school of four hundred and fifty.

your lives by the memories of what they have done. Live so that you may keep your record clean; do what Jesus would have you do and help your fellowmen."

Of especial excellence was the music by the quartet choir of the church, which was a feature of the service. Miss Etta Raybert's rendition of the offertory solo, "Face to Face," deserves particular mention, and was fully appreciated. The quartet numbers were "Let Not Your Heart Be Troubled," by Miles B. Foster, and "More Love to Thee," by Dudley Buck. The quartet comprises Miss Etta Raybert, soprano; Miss Winifred Carroll, contralto; E. D. Young, tenor, and F. S. Cutter, bass. Arthur Titsworth was at the organ.

Bertha Laird Celebrates.

Bertha Laird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Laird, of North avenue, was tendered a party Saturday afternoon in honor of her sixth birthday anniversary. There were about a dozen young friends present and the afternoon was spent playing games. Carrie Creger was successful in putting the tail on the donkey, while Wesley Mundry received a booby prize. Refreshments were served after the games.

MAYOR DENIES BAYONNE PUPILS DRINK LIQUOR.

Bayonne, May 17.—Mayor Garven has sent a letter to the Board of Education, in which he declares the charges of Dr. Abbott that public school children attend sessions under the influence of liquor are false. In part the Mayor wrote:

"Realizing the importance of the charge, and the further fact that a member of your board places the responsibility upon me for that condition, I deemed it proper to write to Dr. Abbott to forward me a detailed report, with such information as would enable me to make a thorough investigation and report relating to those charges. Dr. Abbott has not forwarded me the information requested. This I anticipated and proceeded to make an investigation, which indicates to me that the charges are wholly unfounded in fact. I therefore respectfully request your honorable board to call a special meeting, to meet within the next week or ten days, and cite before the board all the principals of our public schools, Dr. Abbott and such other witnesses as you may deem necessary for determining the true state of affairs.

"I also respectfully ask that you extend to me the privilege of taking part in the examination."

William Anderson, one of the Republican majority on the school board, said:

"Last week the board appointed a committee to investigate this matter of school drunkenness. Why doesn't the committee report to the board tonight? What have they done about it? Nothing? Why? I say that this matter does not belong to the Mayor. He has no jurisdiction over the Board of Education, the schools or the school teachers.

"All the Mayor has to do is to meet Dr. Abbott's charges that the law concerning the sale of liquor has been violated in this town. Nobody knows this better than the Mayor, and I say he cannot hide behind the skirts of school teachers, or crucify Dr. Abbott to save himself. No politics will enter into the school board."

President of the Board James Benny said:

"This investigation must be made in a quiet, systematic way. I do not say that we should accede to the request of the Mayor, at least not until the committee has made its report. The Mayor can then participate in the punishment of those indicted. The doctor says boys are dull and behind in their studies because of drinking beer and smoking cigarettes. We all know that beer is sold to children and carried by them through the streets, and those who do not know this must keep their eyes closed."

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Martin.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Martin, colored, widow of David Martin, and mother of Edward Martin, porter at the North Avenue station, died last night, aged sixty-five years, from a complication of diseases. She had been living with her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Dunham, on Arlington avenue, where she died. Mrs. Martin was one of the best known women among her race in the city and for many years was active in religious work. She is survived by two sons, Edward Martin, of East Third street; David Martin, of Filmore avenue, and one daughter, Mrs. Jacob Dunham. The funeral service will be held at the Shiloh Baptist church, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o clock.

THEY CELEBRATE TWO HAPPY ANNIVERSARIES

Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph and Mrs. Randolph had a quiet observance of two anniversaries at their home here yesterday. With a few friends they commemorated the birthday of the former and the marriage of both.

Mr. Randolph was born May 16, 1838, and was married May 16, 1867, to Miss Emily Caroline Price, daughter of Matthias Price, of Newark. They have just returned from a four months' trip abroad.

Mr. Randolph has been a lifelong resident of Plainfield, but has been in business in New York since he returned from the Civil War. He has been president of several railroads and other institutions, and was trustee of the Tilden estate until his retirement from business life.

BRISBANE LIKES JERSEY.

Buys Another Farm to Add to Already Large Holdings.

Evidently Arthur Brisbane, editor of the New York Evening Journal, thinks pretty well of New Jersey real estate. Some time ago he bought the Allaire estate of 3,500 acres in Monmouth county, and since then he has bought the Bennett farm, a short distance away. This farm once was the property of James Bennett, the eccentric Pittsburg millionaire, who deeded it to Laura Biggar, the actress.

When asked why he was investing so heavily in New Jersey real estate, Mr. Brisbane replied that he thought the land a good investment. He also declared that he is interested in farming.

Celebrates 94th Birthday.

Mrs. S. P. Reed, formerly of Savannah, Ga., is celebrating his ninety-fourth birthday today at Truell inn, where she has resided for four years. She is the widow of a wealthy Southern planter and has many friends in this city. The guests of the resort will give a birthday party in her honor this afternoon.

Seashore Real Estate.

PORTAUPECT ON THE SHREWSBURY—The Portaupeck Realty Company is building a bungalow colony on its magnificent property which lies on the banks of the Shrewsbury and adjoins Long Branch and Monmouth Beach. This property lies high and from it there is a commanding view of the water and the green hills beyond. The beach is sandy and sloping. The water is clear and clean. The Shrewsbury is famous for its fine fishing, crabbing and boating. A handsome clubhouse, with bowling alleys and tennis courts is now under construction for the exclusive use of lot-holders. The inland lotholder has the use of the community pier, giving to them the same advantages as a water front owner at a much more moderate cost. Thirty bungalows are now under construction. This property must be seen to be appreciated. The property is highly restricted against all nuisances and deep driven artesian well water is now being installed in all the houses, which are also equipped with electric lights, and the very latest modern plumbing and bath-room fixtures. There are first class ranges in the kitchens and artistic fireplaces of stone in the reception rooms. The sizes of the bungalows range from five to eight rooms and the prices from $2,000 to $3,500, including the plot, 50x150 feet. The famous Portaupeck Inn is convenient for those wishing to avoid the cares of housekeeping. All in all an ideal spot for the home-seeker and from an investment stand-point. Convenient terms can be arranged. Send for booklets, yours for the asking. For further particulars write, or see Charles Matt, Portaupeck Realty Co., 1328 Broadway, telephone 1266-38th, New York city, or your own broker. 5 14 6

CENTRAL PARK—If you have not visited Central Park lately you will be surprised to see the many fine improvements underway, by prominent individuals. You will find them on Hillside at Prospect, also at Martine. On Kensington at Prospect and on Park avenue at Arlington place. Central Park is the attraction, the magnet, which is slowly but surely drawing the home-lover and the investor to its center. With its rigid restrictions as to style and cost of dwellings, against nuisances of all kinds, against shops, locations of stables and garages and its uniform building line it comes very near covering every point for your protection. When you buy at Central Park you do not have to live on promises. The history of past developments teems with glorious promises unfulfilled. Ours are fulfilled. Our streets are curbed and macadamized and cement walks are laid. Shade trees planted; sewer, water, gas and electric lights are all installed. Our prices are reasonable. Plots and dwellings can be purchased on most convenient terms. Send for our new booklet, free for the asking. For further particulars see Charles Matt, Central Park Realty Co., Prospect and Edgewood avenues, telephones 1355 or 486-R, Plainfield, or your own broker. 5 14 6

WANT THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY AT NEWARK

New Jersey will take an active part in the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, which will convene in its 121st session in Denver, next Thursday. Efforts will be made to have the following general assembly held in Atlantic City, and the West Jersey Presbytery will present an overture asking that the assembly meet every three years instead of every year, as at present.

Dr. James M. Barkley, formerly pastor of the Wickliffe Street Presbyterian church, of Newark, will be a candidate for the moderatorship. He is now pastor of the Forest Avenue church in Detroit.

Who shall the new moderator be? is generally the first question asked concerning any general assembly. When it is settled by ballot, other questions will come up and receive attention, but the moderatorship is the primary consideration that is now occupying a great many minds, East and West, and there are said to be a number of candidates.

Canvassing for the moderatorship is usually done by friends of ministers. Friends of Dr. Barkley in the Middle West think his candidacy ought to interest and possibly enlist the co-operation of old friends in Newark. He was the third pastor of the Wickliffe Street church, serving approximately from 1880 to 1883.

Dr. Barkley's name was before the general assembly as a candidate for the moderatorship several years ago. Another nearby name mentioned is that of Dr. Robert Mackinzie, of the Rutgers Riverside church of New York city. The Middle West is proposing at least one candidate, Professor Edgar P. Hill, of McCormick Seminary, Chicago. Then comes Pittsburg, that strongly Presbyterian centre, and there, it is said, the name of Dr. William L. McEwan, pastor of the Third church, is enthusiastically mentioned.

Of course no man can forecast to a certainty where the choice will finally alight. There is always a possibility of some unexpected candidate being elected. When no great doctrinal controversy is agitating the denomination a very little thing may turn the tide of votes.

Last year the roll of the assembly reached the round number of 800 commissioners, the increase being explained by the fact that it was the first convention of the united Presbyterian and Cumberland denominations. Those who were present testify to the fact that the feeling was harmonious, and that this was much furthered by the election last year of a Cumberland minister to the moderatorship.

The attempt to have the assembly become a triennial rather than an annual convention has been made a number of times, and whether or not anything of a nature to down it will be fashioned in the assembly this year remains to be seen. The West Jersey Presbytery has given its commissioners the overture to carry out to Denver, in the hope that it will be adopted.

From the West Jersey Presbytery will also be given the invitation to hold the next assembly in Atlantic City. A very large auditorium would be needed.

It is within the range of possibilities that the invitation will be accepted, as the last two or three meetings of the assembly have been held in the West. No doubt Seattle will urge an invitation, as that city was last year second in the race, but it may be that as the Denver mileage bill will be so large, Seattle, which will cause an enormous expense, will be scheduled for a year or two later, and Atlantic City may be chosen.

This will be the first time, if it occurs, that the general assembly of the whole Presbyterian church will have ever met on New Jersey soil, though in 1864 the old school branch of the church met in Newark. A split into old and new school took place in 1838, but a reunion was effected in 1869. It was also rumored that an invitation from Saratoga Springs is to be given to meet there next year.

The assembly will celebrate by appropriate exercises the 400th anniversary of the birth of John Calvin next Friday afternoon. The moderator will preside and the following addresses will be delivered: "Calvin as a Man," by Dr. Edgar P. Hill; "Calvin as a Theologian," Dr. Francis L. Patton; "Calvin as a Liberator," Dr. D. Schley Schaff; "Calvin and the Twentieth Century," Dr. William J. Darby.

The Newark commissioners to go to Denver are: Ministers, Rev. John McDowell, Professor Henry J. Weber and Dr. Alexander H. McKinley, and elders, William Logan, Matthias J. Price and Joseph M. Williams.

TO EXTRADITE NURSE ACCUSED OF $500 THEFT.

Extradition machinery will have to be put in motion to bring within the jurisdiction of the Union county authorities Miss Nellie Hannon, who is wanted at Summit to answer a charge of theft. Miss Hannon, who is a trained nurse and nineteen years old, was held for extradition by Judge Beall, in Yonkers, N. Y., Saturday, on a charge of having stolen $500 worth of jewelry from Mrs. Mary Bolger, of Albany, N. Y., while Mrs. Bolger was a patient in Reinle's sanitarium, at Summit, last October.

The girl had been employed in St. John's Hospital, Yonkers, for the last ten days, and within that time, according to the police, she had stolen from the other nurses a diamond ring, $24 in cash and much wearing apparel.

When Miss Hannon was employed in the sanitarium at Summit she was sent into town to make some purchases for a patient. When she failed to return an investigation showed that Mrs. Bolger's jewelry was missing.

Later Miss Hannon wrote to a nurse at Reinle's sanitarium that she (Miss Hannon) was ill in a hospital on Blackwell's Island.

Detective Murphy, of Elizabeth, found here there. She was very ill. She returned some of the jewelry, and promised to restore the rest of it. Because of the girl's plight and promise, Mrs. Bolger refused to prosecute her. Then Miss Hannon recovered and disappeared. Then, having failed to keep her word, Mrs. Bolger agreed to prosecute her. The girl was finally traced to Yonkers.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Kicked by a driving mare belonging to Thomas B. Denness, of Mt. Holly, Charles Ramsey sustained a broken jaw and the loss of several teeth.

The large new glass tank of the T. C. Wheaton Glass Company, at Millville, was placed in full blast Saturday night, with a force of over 100 men.

Stumbling downstairs, Mrs. C. Comlin, fifty-seven years old, of 526 Cedar street, Camden, severely injured her left ankle. She was taken to Cooper Hospital.

The Jersey City Bill Posting Company's shop and office at 104-106 Green street, Jersey City, was damaged to the extent of $20,000 by fire. Another fire did slight damage to the basement of the Union Trust Company building at Washington and Montgomery streets.

Robert McHenry, employed by John O'Leary, Jr., of near Vincentown, was so seriously injured when he fell from a heavily loaded wagon in Mt. Holly Thursday that he died Saturday at the hospital from the effects. The wagon that ran over him was loaded with about three tons of fertilizer.

Lured on by lights of an automobile which had entered a wider road ahead, P. J. Smith, of Bridgeton, Thursday night drove his car so close to a tree that ends were torn from both seats. Miss Jennie Baker was struck and stunned for a short time, but the other occupants of the machine escaped harm.

For seven nights past Paul Dohner, a farmer, living near Woodbury, has covered 3,700 tomato plants with baskets to prevent the cool weather from injuring them, uncovering them each morning. This exceptional care has told plainly, and he probably will be several days ahead of his neighbors with the vegetables.

A simple stumble that threw a valuable driving horse belonging to Edward Doughty, of Atlantic City, to its knees while crossing the Meadow Boulevard, snapped both front legs of the animal, which was killed after surgeons had given their opinion that the horse could not recover. The animal was worth $500.

Some of the directors of the Public Service Railway Corporation were in Paterson Saturday making an inspection of the local trolley lines. One of the sections visited was the Vreeland avenue tracks, which are said to be in a deplorable condition and which are in such shape that it is almost impossible to operate double truck cars over that route.

On the second night that he was the guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Randall, in Trenton, George Wood walked in his sleep from a window on the second floor and was so badly injured that he is now undergoing treatment at a hospital. Wood told the hospital authorities that he had a habit of walking in his sleep, but had neglected to tell his hosts of that fact in order that they might protect the windows of his room.

Thousands of men will crowd the Morris Guards' armory, Atlantic City, tonight for a rousing Men's Club farewell to Rev. Sydney Goodman, pastor of the Men's Church. Supporters of the minister have been deeply aroused by the recent attack made on his methods to draw men to Sunday night services, and the final meeting of the club before the "Man's Man" sails for Europe will be made the occasion of a notable demonstration.

Unable to get water from either of two fire hydrants in the suburbs of Asbury Park, two fire companies were helpless while the three-story frame house of John R. Bariscillo, in Myrtle avenue, burned to the ground with its contents. The house stands just over the city line and the city department was not called. No one was at home when the fire was discovered. The loss is more than $2,000. The manager of the water plant which supplies that section denies the allegation of the firemen that there was no water.

PISTOL PRACTISE FOR CONSTABLES IN UNION.

The very latest innovation at the Union County Courthouse is the introduction by Captain and Sheriff Robert J. Kirkland of a shooting gallery in the building, for the purpose of developing the court constables into expert revolver marksmen. A target had been erected by the sheriff in the sub-cellar in Elizabeth, and this being an off day, none of the courts being in session, he decided it to be the proper time to begin revolver practise. The constables, headed by the sheriff, were marched to the sub-cellar, where firing began at twenty paces.

It was amusing to see the ludicrous efforts made by some of the older constables, who are from sixty-five to seventy years old, to hit the target.

Major King, director of the Board of Freeholders, took a hand in the game, along with his son. The major, having been a National Guardsman, managed to make a fairly creditable showing. As for the others, their scoring was simply awful.

Sheriff Kirkland, while somewhat discouraged at the first day's work, is determined to keep it up until his men become proficient enough to hit something smaller than a barn door.

"Do not accuse yourself! It was inevitable from the beginning that Henry should find us. But this place seemed remote enough. I had really begun to feel quite secure—but now!"

"But now!" repeated Helen, with a little sigh.

I marveled at the girl's composure—at her quiet acceptance of the situation, when I knew well enough her shameful duplicity. Then by one of those intuitions of grace that were so charming in her she bent forward and took Miss Pat's hand. The emerald rings flashed on both as though in assertion of kinship.

"Dear Aunt Pat! You must not take that boat affair too seriously. It may not have been—father—who did that."

She faltered, dropping her voice as she mentioned her father. I was aware that Miss Pat put away her niece's hand with a sudden gesture—I did not know whether of impatience, or whether some new resolution had taken hold of her. She rose and moved nearer to me.

"What have you to propose, Mr. Donovan?" she asked, and something in her tone, in the light of her dear eyes, told me that she meant to fight, that she knew more than she wished to say, and that she relied on my support; and realizing this my heart went out to her anew.

"I think we ought to go away—at once," the girl broke out suddenly. "The place was ill-chosen; Father Stoddard should have known better than to send us here!"

"Father Stoddard did the best he could for us, Helen. It is unfair to blame him," said Miss Pat, quietly. "And Mr. Donovan has been much more more kind in undertaking to care for us at all."

"I have blundered badly enough!" I confessed, penitently.

"It might be better, Aunt Pat," began Helen, slowly, "to yield. What can it matter! A quarrel over money—it is sordid—"

Miss Pat stood up abruptly and said quietly, without lifting her voice, and turning from one to the other of us:

"We have prided ourselves for 100 years, we American Holbrooks, that we had good blood in us, and character and decency and morality; and now that the men of my house have thrown away their birthright and made our name a plaything, I am going to see whether the general decadence has struck me, too; and with my brother Arthur, a fugitive because of his crimes, and my brother Henry ready to murder me in his greed, it is time for me to test whatever blood is left in my own poor old body, and I am going to begin now! I will not run away another step; I am not going to be blackguarded and hounded about this free country or driven across the sea; and I will not give Henry Holbrook more money to use in disgracing our name. I have got to die—I have got to die before he gets it"—and she smiled at me so bravely that something clutched my throat suddenly—"and I have every intention, Mr. Donovan, of living a very long time!"

Helen had risen, and she stood staring at her aunt in frank astonishment. Not often, probably never before in her life, had anger held sway in the soul of this woman; and there was something splendid in its manifestation. She had spoken in almost her usual tone, though with a passionate tremor toward the close; but her very restraint was in itself ominous.

"It shall be as you say, Miss Pat," I said, as soon as I had got my breath.

"Certainly, Aunt Pat," murmured Helen, tamely. "We can't be driven round the world. We may as well stay where we are."

The storm was abating, and I threw open the windows to let in the air.

"If you haven't wholly lost faith in me, Miss Holbrook—"

"I have every faith in you, Mr. Donovan!" smiled Miss Pat.

"I shall hope to take better care of you in the future."

"I am not afraid. I think that if Henry finds out that he cannot frighten me it will have a calming effect upon him."

"Yes; I suppose you are right, Aunt Pat," said Helen, passively.

I went home feeling that my responsibilities had been greatly increased by Miss Pat's manifesto; on the whole I was relieved that she had not ordered a retreat, for it would have distressed me sorely to abandon the game at this juncture to seek a new hiding place for my charges.

Long afterward Miss Pat's declaration of war rang in my ears. My heart leaps now as I remember it. And I should like to be a poet long enough to write "A Ballade of All Old Ladies," or a lyric in their honor turned with the grace of Col. Lovelace and blithe with the spirit of Friar Herrick. I should like to inform it with their beautiful tender sympathy that is quick with tears but readier with strength to help and to save; and it should reflect, too, the noble patience, undismayed by time and distance, that makes a virtue of waiting—waiting in the long twilight with folded hands for the ships that never come! Men old and battle-scarred are celebrated in song and story; but who are they to be preferred over their serene sisterhood? Let the worn mothers of the world be throned by the fireside or placed at comfortable ease in the shadow of hollyhock and old-fashioned roses in familiar gardens; it matters little, for they are supreme in any company. Whoever would be gracious must serve them; whoever would be wise must sit at their feet and take counsel. Nor believe too readily that the increasing tide of years has quenched the fire in their souls; rather, it burns on with the steady flame of sanctuary lights. Lucky were he who could imprison in song those qualities that crown a woman's years—voicing what is in the hearts of all of us as we watch those gracious angels going their quiet ways, tending their secret altars of memory with flowers and blessing them with tears.

CHAPTER VIII.

A Lady of Shadows and Starlight.

It was nine o'clock before Ijima came in, dripping from his tumble in the lake and his walk home through the rain. The Italian had made no effort to molest him, he reported; but he had watched the man row out to the Stiletto and climb aboard. Ijima has an unbroken record of never having asked me a question inspired by curiosity. He may inquire which shoes I want for a particular morning, but why, where and when are unknown in his vocabulary. He was, I knew, fairly entitled to an explanation of the incident of the afternoon, though he would ask none, and when he had changed his clothes and reported to me in the library I told him in a word that there might be further trouble, and that I should expect him to stand night watch at St. Agatha's for a while, dividing a patrol of the grounds with the gardener. His "Yes, sir," was as calm as though I had told him to lay out my dress clothes, and I went with him to look up the gardener that the division of patrol duty might be thoroughly understood.

I gave the Scotchman a revolver and Ijima bore under his arm a repeating rifle with which he and I had diverted ourselves at times in the pleasant practice of breaking glass balls. I assigned him the water-front and told the gardener to look out for intruders from the road. These precautions taken, I rang the bell at St. Agatha's and asked for the ladies, but was relieved to learn that they had retired, for the situation would not be helped by debate, and if they were to remain at St. Agatha's it was my affair to plan the necessary defensive strategy without troubling them. And I must admit here, that at all times, from the moment I first saw Helen Holbrook with her father at Red Gate, I had every intention of shielding her to the utmost. The thought of trapping her, of catching her, flagrante delicto, was revolting; I had, perhaps, a notion that in some way I should be able to thwart her without showing my own hand; but this, as will appear, was not to be so easily accomplished.

I went home and read for an hour, then got into heavy shoes and set forth to reconnoiter. The chief avenue of danger lay, I imagined, across the lake, and I passed through St. Agatha's to see that my guards were about their business; then continued along a wooded bluff that rose to a considerable height above the lake. There was a winding path which the pilgrimages of schoolgirls in spring and autumn had worn hard, and I followed it to its crest, where there was a stone bench, established for the ease of those who wished to take their sunsets in comfort.

LOCAL Y.M.C.A. DEFEATS THE BROOKLYN CENTRAL

The Y. M. C. A. team defeated the Brooklyn Central Association nine, on Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, by a score of 10 to 7. Both teams put up a ragged exhibition of baseball, the fielding was anything but wat it should be. The home aggregation chalked up eight errors, while four misplays were credited to the visitors.

One of the mishaps of the game was the injury to Cather Bonaparte Burns of the home team. He was watching a runner in from third, trying to guage him as well as the ball which was being thrown in. The ball took a bound and struck him in the left eye, closing the optic for a time. He retired from the game and Finke took his place. The batting of Craig and Gilmore were the only features. The lineup and score by innings:

NEWARK'S ALL-STARS ARE NO STARS AT ALL

The Clinton Avenues and All-Stars, of Newark, came together at Crescent Oval, Saturday afternoon, in the second of a double-header, and the locals found the Newark boys too easy for an interesting contest. There was nothing to it, but Manager Dorflinger's colts, for they won out by a score of 13 to 1 in six and a half innings. Ortleib had all kinds of signs on the Newarkers, and they were like straws before a miniature hurricane. They took up the trail for home a down-hearted lot of ball players (?)

The Clinton Avenues gathered in a total of fourteen hits, every man but Seery touched the leather for safeties. The game had to be called in the seventh inning on account of darkness. The lineup and score by innings follow:

Clinton Avenue—Barnes, 1b; B. Martin, 2b; Emery, 3b; J. Martin, ss-p; Seery, c; Ortleib, p-cf; Scott, ss-cf; Schott, lf; Snyder and Gilman, rf.

R. S. ROWLAND MAKES A 67 ON P.S.C. LINKS

R. S. Rowland distinguished himself Saturday afternoon at the Plainfield Country Club by returning a net score of 67 in the weekly competition for the Spring Handicap cup, Class A, which was the best for the season. C. B. Morgan finished second with a 70, while S. D. Lounsbery captured third honors with a 72, all of which are "going some" for this time of the year. The point-winners in Class B were Harold Serrell, W. L. C. Glenney and Hugh F. Fox.

The course was never in better condition and for a player in practice, a low score was possible. There was a large field out, the day being ideal for the game and the competition was keen from start to finish. The best cards for the day were as follows:

Class A—R. S. Rowland, 76, 9—67; C. B. Morgan, 79, 9—70; S. D. Lounsbery, 82, 10—72; E. P. Goodwin, 90, 17—73; Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, 87, 14—73; J. A. Lane, 92, 17—75; E. T. Willson, 91, 15—76; S. H. Patterson, 90, 14—76; R. G. Morse, 94, 15—79; Arthur Murphy, 87, 8—79; W. Lester Glenney, 84, 4—90; Owen H. Fleming, 93, 12—81; W. L. C. Glenney, 92, 6—86.

Class B—Harold Serrell, 102, 27—75; W. L. C. Glenney, 105, 26—79; Hugh F. Fox, 103, 24—79; G. F. Eard, 106, 25—81; D. H. Rowland, 99, 18—81; W. F. Merrill, 108, 25—83; George S. Clay, 109, 25—84; A. E. Barclay, 109, 23—86.

ACTIVE SEASON BEGINS AT PARK GOLF CLUB

The active season was begun at the Park Golf Club on Saturday with the opening play for the president's cup, weekly competition. The beautiful day, with the ideal condition of the course had a tendency to bring out a large number of players. Considerable time and expense have been expended this year on the grounds and they show the result of the effort.

J. B. Betts was awarded first honors in the first day's play, returning a net score of 84; while Samuel Townsend and W. E. Lough divided the remaining points, each posting a net score of 86. Generally speaking the scores were all good, as the following scores will show:

J. B. Betts, 114, 30—84; Samuel Townsend, 106, 20—86; W. E. Lough, 107, 12—86; G. S. Fisher, 119, 30—89; W. V. Byard, 106, 14—92; W. R. Faber, 106, 14—92; C. B. Morse, 109, 17—92; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 103, 10—93; J. H. Howell, 114, 20—94; S. St. John McCutchen, 104, 10—94; C. M. Titsworth, 126, 30—96.

PLAINFIELD A. C. 11, TRINTY'S TEAM 9.

Trinity was defeated by a score of 9 to 11 Saturday afternoon by the Plainfield A. C. The feature of the game was the batting of both teams. Sofield of the winners struck out nine men. Vail and R. Doeringer played good ball for Trinity.

SCOTCH PLAINS BEATS NEWARK ALL-AMERICANS

The Scotch Plains ball team opened the season on Saturday by defeating the strong All-American club, of Newark, after a ten-inning contest by a score of 3 to 2. The contest was a hair-raiser from start to finish, from the first ball passed over the place until Allen broke the tie in the tenth inning with a smashing two-base hit to left field.

"Jimmy" Montross, who was in the box for the 'Plains, never pitched better ball. For seven innings not a hit was made off his delivery. In the seventh with the score 1 to 0 in favor of the home team, Powers placed a nice single in left field. This gave the home team infield a fright and it went up in the air, followed by several fumbles. When the "carnival" was over, the visitors had the game 2 to 1. Then Montross saved his own game by driving a three bagger to left field, sending Charles Montross from second home and tieing the score. This ended the run-getting until the tenth, when Joe Alberts placed a two bagger in centre field. Frentz flied out and Allen up, brought the winning run in by his hard drive to left field. The lineup and score by innings:

Scotch Plains—Baldwin, cf; J. Alberts, 3b; Frentz, 2b; Allen, 1b; H. Albert, c; Dodge, ss; Reick, lf; Eller, rf; C. Montross, rf; J. Montross, p.

All-American—Bayler, ss; Scanlon, cf; Powers, 3b; Quinn, 2b; Mayer, lf; Lenie, rf; Brixner, 1b; Hazel, p; McCarthy, c.

TENNIS.

The first event in tennis at the Plainfield Country Club was the women's handicap singles, which was held on the club's courts Saturday afternoon. There was a large entry list and the playing was spirited throughout. All of the matches were concluded in the first round and one in the second round. The play will be continued this week. The result of Saturday's play follows:

First round—Miss Alice Ross 30, beat Miss Louise Cragin 0, 6-3, 7-9, 6-3; Mrs. W. L. Righter 15, beat Miss Louise Finch 15, 6-1, 6-2; Mrs. Daniel Runkle 15, beat Miss Grace Burke 15, 6-4, 6-4; Miss Marion Brown 15, beat Miss Beatrice Hedges 30, 6-2, 6-0; Miss Helen aHrman 15, beat Miss Euphemia Bakewell 15, 6-2, 7-5; Mrs. Morris J. Dumont 0, beat Miss Audrey Gernon 30, 6-2, 6-0; Miss Grace Kaumanf 15, beat Miss Adele Cragin 0, 6-1, 6-2. In the second round Mrs. Dumont beat Miss Kaufman 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

FARR WINS THE GAME FOR THE OILA AGGREGATION

With two men on bases in the fourth inning, Farr of the Iola team hit a clean three bagger which was stretched into a home run, owing to a slow return home of the ball, thus causing the defeat of the Saengerbunds Saturday afternoon. With an extra run added in both the fifth and sixth innings made the final score stand 6 to 3.

Iola Club . . . . . 0 0 0 4 1 1 0 0 0 — 6

Strke outs—Kidder, 13; Suthman, 7. Two base hits—Luthman. Three base hit—Klensman. Home run—Farr.

Win in Twelfth Inning.

The North Plainfield High School defeated Somerville High School Saturday afternoon in a twelve inning game by a score of 10 to 9. Both teams played good baseball in spite of the many errors made.

HER 94TH ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. Samuel Payne Reed, Hale and Hearty, Celebrates Her Birthday.

IS A "GRAND OLD LADY."

Surrounded By Children and Grandchildren She Cuts the Big Birthday Cake.

Mrs. Samuel Payne Reed, a "grand old lady," living at Truell Inn, celebrated the ninety-fourth anniversary of her birthday on Sunday, and the event was celebrated yesterday afternoon, surrounded by her children and grandchildren. Her maiden name was Miss Eliza Breck and was born near Philadelphia. Her father, George Breck, was captain of the City Troop of Philadelphia in the early part of the last century, holding that office at the time of the visit of Lafayette in 1824 to this country and with his troops escorted the latter into Philadelphia.

Mrs. Reed remembers the event well; seeing Gen. LaFayette passing under an arch of flowers, she as a child having been placed upon a table to get a good view of the procession. Mrs. Reed was one of fifteen children. Two of her brothers were in the Episcopal ministry, one of whom was Dr. James Lloyd Breck, missionary to the Indians called "An Apostle of the Wilderness."

Miss Breck married Dr. Reed, of Beaufort, South Carolina, who died many years ago. They had ten children, eight of whom lived to grow up. Three of her daughters were present at the birthday celebration, one son, William H. Reed, and two sons-in-law, Rev. John A. Aspinwall, of Washington, and the Rev. Dr. Neilson, of this city. Mrs. Reed presided over her birthday fete with its flowers and cake of ninety-four candles, looking quite a queen. She possesses all her faculties and her brightness and vivacity might well be envied by many a young woman.

MANY ATTENDED THE BRYANT SCHOOL EXHIBIT

The exhibition of manual work and drawing held at the Bryant School Friday evening and yesterday afternoon was well attended and judging from the faces of those present was thoroughly enjoyed. Much laughter was heard about the first grade work for the ambitious little tots had constructed a house and furnished it from garret to hall. The garret was the most important room in the house for it was packed to overflowing with odds and ends a child delights to find in such a place. The second grade displayed a model farm of sand and paper and a full-fledged Easter display of hats.

The work increased in usefulness and decreased in ambition as one went up the grades. Useful little baskets, dainty sewing cases, woven rugs and hammocks and careful drawings showed how well the small hands had been trained.

The fifth grade exhibited aprons, sewing-bags and embroidered doilies which the boys declared they knew nothing about and hurried the visitor on to a well filled table of carved paper-knives, book and ink-stands and match-safes.

One mother was heard to say, "Did Margaret make this basket? I must have her show me how. I want a large work-basket like it. It will be just the kind of work for vacation days."

The teachers deserve a great deal of commendation for they guided the unskillful hands, discovered mistakes before too late for correction, mounted the drawings outside of school hours, and arranged the articles for display.

Literary and Musical Entertainment.

The literary and musical entertainment to be given at Trinity Reformed church, Thursday night, will be of exceptional interest. The program will be presented by the church quartet choir, assisted by Miss Justine Roberts, reader and entertainer, and it will be an excellent one. The affair will be held under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society.

Purchase New Hymn Books.

"Treasured Hymns," published by The Heidelberg Press, Philadelphia, have been adopted by the Sunday-school and various organizations of Trinity Reformed church for use in the lecture room and 350 copies have been purchased. It is a new book and contains many hymns suited to the use of Sunday-school and other religious bodies.

DR. DANIEL MAIN ON FIRST AID TO INJURED

Dr. Daniel C. Main, of this city, gave a twenty minute talk to Co. K last night on "First Aid to the Injured." Having served in the Spanish-American War, Dr. Main was especially qualified to speak on the subject, which he did in an interesting manner. He explained fractures and hemorrhages and told how to locate them and give quick temporary relief, and it was decided to invite Dr. Main to give three more lectures on the same subject.

Instead of a drill last night, Captain Kitchell ordered the company out for a short "hike" through Central avenue as far as Elizabeth street and return. The company went through platoon, squads, right and left about and oblique movements. The captain was well pleased with the way the boys displayed their knowledge of the manual. This form of drill is enjoyed very much by the members of the company, more so than the regular drill.

FAVOR "HOME TRADE" FOR CHARTER PROGRAM

The Plainfield Merchants' Association at its meeting, last night, received a proposition from the executive or advisory committee of the Board of Trade asking for the endorsement of the association for the publication of an official program for the Charter-Day celebration. An out-of-town concern had previously met representatives of the Board of Trade and made the proposition to print such a program and the co-operation of the merchants was desired to make the thing a success. For this reason the members were asked to waive their rule not to advertise except in publications with a paid circulation.

While the merchants favored the proposition it was the sense of the meeting that the program should be gotten out by some local concern or individuals. However, the merchants expressed a willingness to advertise in the program for a circulation is guaranteed. This matter had been discussed in the afternoon at a meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Trade and endorsement was given to the proposition.

Another matter discussed at the association meeting was that in reference to the proposed auto bus line and the members went on record as favoring it. A committee comprising Hyman Adelberg, F. A. Duttenhofer and C. B. Levy was appointed to co-operate with Milton Mendil and lend the influence of the association toward the establishment of the bus lines, believing it to be something that will directly benefit the city.

The association decided to put a float in the Charter-Day parade and engage a band of music. A committee from the association went to New York today to look after the details of securing a float and engaging a band of music.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT TEMPLE BAPTIST.

A special thanksgiving service will be held by the congregation of Temple Baptist church tomorrow night from 7 to 9 o'clock "to praise God for His goodness and grace in so abundantly blessing the work." The meeting will be conducted by four leaders, with different topic, each half hour: From 7 to 7:30, leader, L. W. Randolph, topic, "Prayer;" 7:30 to 8:00, U. B. Crane, topic, "Worship," or "The Privileges of the Sanctuary;" 8:00 to 8:30, F. Stewart, topic, "Thanksgiving;" 8:30 to 9:00, J. W. Musson, pastor, topic, "Consecration."

At this meeting the church will make its annual offering to missions.

Baptists to Meet Here.

The East New Jersey Baptist Association which meets with the Peddie Memorial Baptist church, Tuesday, June 8, will be invited to meet at the First Baptist church, this city, in 1910. The association has not met here since 1880. It is composed of 36 independent church organizations, the two oldest being the one at Scotch Plains, constituted 1747, and the one at Mt. Bethel, 1767. The two youngest are Metuchen Baptist church, constituted 1908, and the Temple Baptist church, this city, constituted 1909

Ralph Leonard Mowen.

Ralph Leonard Mowen, aged seven years, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Mowen, of 1219 West Third streeet, died this morning after a short illness. The funeral services will be held from the residence of the parents, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

RENDER OLD-TIME SONGS

English, Scottish and Irish Tunes are Well Received by a Big Audience.

SOME TALENTED SOLOISTS.

Mrs. Edith Chapman Goold, Miss Ellen Learned, John Young and Carl Dufft Artists.

Rendering the semi classic songs of long ago in a manner that won the hearty applause of the large audience for each number on the program, a mixed quartet of New York musical artists, assisted by Miss Gertrude Ina Robinson, harpist, were well received at the concert of old favorite songs held at the Plainfield High School auditorium last night. The singers were Edith Chapman Goold, soprano; Ellen Learned, contralto; John Young, tenor, and Carl Dufft, basso. Joseph McIntyre acted as accompaniest at the piano.

The program comprised twenty of the old time songs, including airs from the old English, Scottish and Irish, and in addition Miss Robinson played two selections on the harp. The first of these, a transcription of Irish airs, comprised "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms," "The Wearing of the Green," and "The Last Rose of Summer." The harpist later rendered a ballade, and was recalled for an encore.

The singing of Carl Dufft, the basso, was especially appreciated, and he and Mr. Young, the tenor, were in exceptionally fine voice. Miss Goold's singing of her numbers, and especially "Katherine Mavourneen," showed her voice to an excellent advantage, and Miss Learned's numbers were also received with enthusiastic applause. The three quartet numbers developed some excellent harmony. The program follows:

Quartet, "Come Where the Lilies Bloom;" bass, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," "The Minstrel Boy;" soprano, Within a Mile of Edinboro Town," "Kathleen Mavourneen;" harp, transcription of Irish airs, "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Wearing of the Green" and "Last Rose of Summer;" contralto, "Annie Laurie," "Bonnie Doon;" tenor, "Sally in Our Alley," "Drink to Me Only;" quartet, "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Nellie Gray;" soprano, "Scenes That Are the Brightest" and "Darby and Joan;" bass, "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Beademeer's Stream;" harp, Ballade; tenor, "My Pretty Jane" and "Killarney;" contralto, "Castles in the Air" and "Swanee River;" quartet, "Home, Sweet Home."

TAKES THE PLEDGE FOR FIFTY-TWO YEARS

Danie Valentine, a boroughite, spent $2 for booze yesterday and got so fuddled with numerous beers that he went to the back porch of 527 Plainfield avenue and went to sleep. He scared the servants pretty badly, but refused to go away. Patrolman Sweeney arrested him late in the evening, and he pleaded guilty at his hearing before City Judge Runyon. He said that he was fifty-two years old and had never been arrested before.

The Judge told Valentine that he would be privileged to get drunk again if he lived to be 104, preserving his same record. If he appears at the city court before fifty-two years have rolled by, he will be fined.

WOMEN PLAY BRIDGE FOR THE DAY NURSERY.

Playing bridge whist for charity, about seventy-five society women of the Netherwood section netted nearly $45 for the benefit of the Day Nursery yesterday afternoon, when they met for play at Truell Hall. There were seventeen tables, and a prize was awarded to the player having the highest score at each table.

At the conclusion of the play, refreshments were served at the card tables. The committee in charge of the affair comprised Mrs. E. E. Iremonger, chairman; Mrs. A. B. Davies, Mrs. W. L. Lockwood, Mrs. W. W. Coriell, Mrs. L. M. Archer, Mrs. H. C. Keknatel and Mrs. H. K Tetsuka

Traynor Out On Bail.

The case of Patrick Traynor, of Oxford place, who is charged with severely beating his wife on Sunday afternoon, did not come up before Borough Recorder Dolliver this morning. Through his lawyer, Robert Newton Crane, the trial was postponed until Thursday night. Traynor was released on a cash bond of $20. Mrs. Traynor appeared in court but was not represented.

WOMAN SLEUTH'S PLAINT

Alleged Plainfielder Accuses Three Men of Taking $48 from Her.

TELLS OF TATTERED HOSIERY.

Says She Works For Philadelphia Police, Though She Has Black Eye—Battery Dan Fines Her $5.

Magistrate Finn has no use for a woman detective who goes to New York from Philadelphia to look for thieves' fences and stolen property and then permits herself to be robbed of $48 when the depository for her cash capital is, by her own admission, the stocking on her left leg. Neither has he any use for such a detective who wanders into Minetta lane, Manhattan, and gets so close to intoxicating liquor that breathing the fumes makes her act as though she really had been drinking the liquor instead of merely inhaling it in the performance of duty. A woman who said she is Mabel Hughes, 32 years old, "of Plainfield, N. J.," and also a private detective in the employ of the Chief of Police of Philadelphia, found that out yesterday, when "Battery Dan," sitting in judgment in the Jefferson Market Court, fined her $5. He discharged three white men who, the Hughes woman said, not only had robbed her, but also had torn a big hole in her stocking and blackened one of her eyes. She added that they had been assisted by a negress, who was not in court.

"So you're a stool pigeon, eh?" Magistrate Finn inquired, looking the prisoner over critically. "And intoxicated, too? My, how shocking! I'll have to fine you $5 for that."

The Philadelphia sleuth did not like that at all, and she said so. Unfortunately for her, she had no credentials from the Chief of Police of Philadelphia and no witnesses against the men who, she said, had robbed her and torn her stocking. Her eyes flashed with indignation when she saw the men, who said they were John and Patrick Bradley, brothers, and William Mohr, all of No. 21 Minetta lane, leave the courtroom after they had been discharged.

It was a pathetic story the Plainfield-Philadelphia detective with the black eye and teh torn stocking told in court. The Chief of Police in Philadelphia, she said, was desirious of finding thieves and thieves' fences in this city, and employed her to come over and do the work for him. Finally she wandered into Minetta lane, she informed the Magistrate, and entered No. 21. When she came to she discovered the depleted condition of her treasury, the tattered condition of her hosiery and the fact that she had one black eye and a blue one. That is, she says so. Anyway, the Philadelphia detective went to the Mercer street police station and made a complaint. Detectives McLaughlin and Keller went into Minetta lane and arrested the three men. That was on Sunday night.

The detectives told the Magistrate that when they questioned the Hughes woman about her mission in Minetta lane she was so reticent they lodged a complaint of intoxication against her and locked her up so she would be sure to appear in court against the three men. It was not until yesterday morning that she broke the news to the Mercer street detectives that she was here in the interest of the Chief of Police of Philadelphia. That led them to try and smooth over the trouble. Unfortunately for her, Magistrate Finn took another view of the situation and placed on the Philadelphia sleuth the burden of proof and responsibility.

Notable Musicale Event.

One of the most delightful musical events, which will probably bring the season to a close in Plainfield, will be the recital by Arthur Hochman on May 25. The musicale will be given at Mrs. John P. Stevens' home on Hillside avenue, and will afford an opportunity to hear Mr. Hochman in the famous Liszt concerto for two pianos. Miss Hulda Laschon, the Russian soprano, will be heard for the first time in Plainfield.

P. A. Archbold Surprised.

Prinston A. Archbold, the fifteen-year-old son of Mrs. L. L. Archbold, of Jefferson avenue, was given a birthday surprise party at his home last night. The affair was arranged by his sister, Miss Lillian M. Archbold, and there were twenty-six guests. The evening was spent in dancing, playing games, after which refreshments were served. The young man received a number of gifts.

DR. G. C. LEE'S LECTURE

Baltimore Man Speaks Before the Monday Afternoon Club at the Casino.

OUR "NATION TRIUMPHANT."

Three Things Are Necessary to the Nation's Prosperity, He Declares.

"A Nation Triumphant" was a fitting subject for the concluding lecture of the Monday Afternoon Club, whose study for the past year has been "Our Country—A Century of Progress." The lecture in the Hartridge Auditorium yesterday afternoon was delivered by Dr. Guy Carleton Lee, of Baltimore, who described the folly of agitators in delivering Jeremiahs on the present condition and future outlook of the country.

Dr. Lee said that three things were necessary to the prosperity of a nation, a land of opportunity, money to work with and men to work, all of which conditions are found in America. The basis of prosperity in this country he considered broad and everlasting. The productiveness of soil and mines was constantly increasing, he affirmed, and materials were being utilized with new and added worth. The pessimist, he argued, accepted the foundations of our greatness, but found fault with the superstructure, alleging that dishonesty was rampant. He acknowledged that one-half the dishonesty had not been told, but claimed that the rank and file of business men were sound. Referring to some of the public exposures of fraud, he said that a democracy could not wash its dirty linen in proviate and the very exposure argued for better things in the future. Dr. Lee contrasted life in Colonial days with the present, showing that not only in great inventions but in modern conveniences that we regard as trifling, most of the comfort of our daily life depends.

After describing the advancement in music, art and literature, Dr. Lee spoke of the spirit of thrift, the Puritan faith and brotherly helpfulness that characterized the men and women of colonial days and claimed that the same spirit had been handed down to the present generation. In proof of his position that America is a national triumphant, Dr. Lee quoted Mr. Bryce as saying that in the last twenty-five years the moral uplift had been greater in America than in any other country, affirming that the strongest nation is the religious nation.

Dr. Lee closed with a remarkable vision of passing countries, in which America, unhampered by entanglements and traditions, was the nation triumphant.

The meeting was presided over by the new president, Mrs. Eugene Hamlin Hatch, elected at the last meeting, and a report given by Mrs. Isaac Miller, delegate to the annual meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs held at Atlantic City May 7 and 8, preceded the lecture.

PLENTY OF GOOD SEATS LEFT FOR "THE MAGISTRATE."

The members of the Park Comedy Club, who will present "The Magistrate," at the New Plainfield theatre, Friday night, wish to inform their friends that the rumor that there are no seats left is false. While the advance sale of seats has been most gratifying, yet there are many seats, and good ones, that may be secured.

The members of this club urge their friends to take nothing for granted in regard to the seat question, but to go to the box-office and here they will be able to get as many seats as desired.

Arrested Twice in a Week.

Arrested for drunkenness for the second time within a week, Mrs. Robert Hart, of Plainfield avenue, was given a severe reprimand by City Judge Runyon at the session of court today. A plea for clemency was made by Mrs. Hart's daughter and a sixty-day sentence was suspended. "Your daughter has interceded for you," said the Judge to Mrs. Hart, "and you may go. Try and be decent for your family's sake, for the next time you're arrested you'll get sixty days."

Exhibition of School Work.

The annual exhibition of the work of pupils at the North Plainfield High School this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon, will continue until 6:30 instead of 6 o'clock. One of the features will be the work of the manual training department.

SNEAK THIEF GETS $500. IN SILVERWARE

Entering the apartments of Ralph Willis, in the New Bristol apartments, some time yesterday afternoon, a sneak thief ransacked the rooms and got away with jewelry and silverware valued at $500. The valuables taken include a costly diamond brooch belonging to Mrs. Willis, scarf pins and spoons. Mrs. Willis was in New York yesterday and the loss was not discovered until late in the afternoon, when a list of the missing articles was furnished the police. Mr. Willis is an employe in the banking house of Harvey Fisk & Sons, of New York.

A sneak-thief also entered the apartments of Miss Katherine Finger in The Sterling yesterday afternoon, and made a haul of jewelry and silverware valued at $200. The loss includes a valuable collection of old coins belonging to Mrs. Ward, who shares the apartments with Miss Finger.

CYCLIST SMASHES INTO ROTH'S AUTOMOBILE

Crashing head-foremost into a big touring car owned by Simon Roth, of Newark, Harold Hand, a fourteen-year-old cyclist, was thrown heavily at Front street and Park avenue yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock, when the boy's wheel was wrecked and he was severely bruised by the collision and fall on the brick pavement. The injured boy was taken to police headquarters by Mr. Roth in his automobile, and was later taken to his home. The bicycle, a brand new one, was wrecked.

The accident happened when Hand turned into East Front street from Park avenue behind a main line trolley car. Mr. Roth's big touring car, driven by a colored chaffeur, was coming slowly westward along Front street, and the cyclist crashed squarely into the front of it. He was riding at a fast clip and the force of the collision threw him over on the sidewalk. Mr. Roth sprang from the machine and picked the boy up. "My new wheel is all broke," he cried, and it lated developed that the bicycle was being ridden by the lad for practically the first time, he having secured it in the morning. The loss of his wheel seemed to effect Hand more than any injuri s, but Mr. Roth said he would make good teh loss.

DR. WOODS HUTCHINSON TO SPEAK ON CONSUMPTION.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson, of New York, will be the speaker at the third annual meeting of the New Jersey Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis to be held in the lecture hall of the Public Library, Newark, on Thursday afternoon. Dr. Hutchinson takes the stand that the present economic conditions, affecting the class of people most afflicted with tuberculosis, make sunshine, fresh air, diet and rest the prescribed cures for the disease next to impossible. He argues that these requisites are luxuries that the poor cannot afford, and he will endeavor to show in his address on "The Social Responsibility in Tuberculosis, A Wider Scope for Attacking the Disease."

While invitations have been issued to members of the association and its co-operating bodies, the general public is invited. Dr. Hutchinson is a speaker of rare charm and is sure to interest his audience.

Birthday Party at the Hotel.

Because she was born just fourteen years ago yesterday, Marie Wilson, a guest at Truell Hall, entertained fourteen of her young friends at the hotel in the afternoon. The time passed quickly with games and dancing, which were followed by a dainty supper. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Jones, wife of Col. W. A. Jones.

Two Baseball Accidents.

Local baseball casualties include a broken leg and a broken arm today, for two player fans suffered accidents. John Flaherty, of Pond place, has the broken arm, his left wing having been smashed in playing. Vincent Lee, a fifteen-year-old boroughite, has a broken leg, and Dr. A. H. Dundon is in charge of both cases.

Seniors Play Freshmen.

Much interest is being taken in the inter-class baseball championship game between the teams of the Plainfield High School team. This afternoon the freshmen and seniors will play its second game of the season at the Crescent Oval.

HONOR POPULAR PRIEST

On the Eve of His Departure, Father Bogan Receives Tokens of Esteem.

FROM HIS PARISHIONERS.

Division No. 4, A. O. H., Presents Field Glass and School Children a Traveling Bag.

Another pleasing incident preliminary to the proposed trip abroad of Father B. M. Bogan, the popular pastor of St. Mary's church, was the presentation of a pair of LeMaire field glasses to him last night by Plainfield Division, No. 4, Ancient Order Hibernians. Father Bogan and Father Daniel F. Hogan, his assistant, were invited to the meeting of the organization, where the presentation took place, greatly to the surprise of Father Bogan.

John J. Gallagher, the president, made the presentation in a short speech in which he referred to the high regard in which the priest is held by the members and the cordial relationship which has always existed between them and Father Bogan. In accepting the glasses the recipient made a happy response in his usual humorous vein. Father Hogan also made a few remarks. Mr. Gallagher was chairman of the committee of arrangements for the surprise.

Yesterday afternoon, Father Bogan was invited to the Parochial School, where the children gave him another surprise. Following a fine program of fancy drills, music and recitations, the pastor was presented with a large handsome traveling bag. The presentation speeches were made by Frank Donnelly and John Connolly. There were also recitations by Madeline Seaman and Mary McMahon. Father Bogan thanked the children heartily for the gift. Last week at the State convention of the Knights of Columbus held at Atlantic City, Father Bogan was elected State chaplain of the order. Last Friday night the men of the parish presented him with a purse of gold.

G. H. ALLEN TALKS ON TREE CULTURE

G. Howard Allen, of the firm of Munson & Whittaker, New York, a graduate of the Yale Forestry School and now actively engaged in preventing and curing tree diseases, gave an illustrated lecture at the Plainfield High School at the close of the morning session. The object of the talk was to explain what kind of trees could be planted in different territory, how to plant them and how to take care of them.

The speaker indicated what soils are best for the local trees and advocated the planting of slow growing varieties, instead of short lived ones. Mr. Allen also gave directions for the care and prevention of common pests and diseases. He explained that there are usually three kinds, fungal formations, root diseases and injuries incurred by misplanting and careless pruning.

Pruning, Mr. Allen said, should be done by experts who understand the requirements for healing dead limbs and tree roots. The roots of a tree are important from the fact that they sap in the water that nourishes the upper growth. A large elm can consume 250 gallons of water on a summer day, said Mr. Allen. He cited many cases where trees, almost dead, have been restored by proper care and attention. The speaker refuted the statement that many trees die of old age and said that most varieties should live at least hundreds of years.

Plainfielders On Petit Jury.

The following Plainfielders were drawn yesterday for petit jury work commencing Monday: William M. Sandford, Albert E. Park, Clifford A. Braider, Robert L. Lee, Bateman Thatcher, George Belcher, Thaddeus Doane, Jr., Salmon F. Baker, Harry Werner, Floyd T. Woodhull and Frank McInnery.

The largest reduction in the history of the church was occasioned by dismissing 106 members to form the Temple Baptist church on East Third street. The local current expenses, including salaries, repairs and improvements, were $7,809.73, making the total contributions a little more than $22,500 for the past year.

ARGUE WHITTIER SUIT AGAINST INSURANCE CO.

Trenton, May 18.—The suit for $20,000 instituted by Edmund A. Whittier against the Washington Life Insurance Company of New York, in which Whittier alleged that certain financiers manipulated the company for private profit, was argued for a second time on demurrer before Judge Lanning and Judge Cross in the United States Circuit Court yesterday. Following the argument the court allowed William Mayo Atkinson, counsel for Mr. Whittier, five days within which to file a brief. The demurrer was to an amended declaration to which exceptions were taken by Henry A. Rubino, of New York, counsel for the insurance company.

Mr. Whittier was formerly an agent for the insurance company, his district including New Jersey, and, under certain conditions, New York and Philadelphia. He claimed that the insurance company had violated its contract with him by withdrawing credits and otherwise making it impossible for him to write insurance.

His contention, in effect, was that the company was run, not in interest of the policy holders, but to serve the selfish ends of a syndicate consisting of Thomas F. Ryan, Harry Payne Whitney and Levi P. Morton, who used it virtually as a private bank. Mr. Rubino attacked the declaration upon the ground that the pleadings lacked certainty and that it fell within the condemnation expressed by the court when the demurrer to the original declaration was sustained.

R. F. Hinman, of Brooklyn, has returned home after spending the week-end with his sister, Mrs. J. E. O'Mara, of Rockview avenue.

John Burns, the catcher for the Y. M. C. A. baseball team, who was struck in the eye with a ball on Saturday, has fully regained the sight of his eye and the swelling has disappeared.

$4 to $14 Pieces Will Be Sold at

-$2.98-

We anticipate the usual big rush at the opening of the store.

We know that people are hungry for cut glass.

We know this because of the many inquiries we have received by mail and otherwise asking when we would have another similar sale to those we have had the past few months.

And there will be the usual great demand for the larger pieces—and we want to say here and now that in no previous sale have we had a greater proportion of the larger pieces.

So many people have wanted Punch Bowls that we have provided more than ever for this sale, and we have always been generous with our pieces.

But this time we are going to ask you to buy not only the Punch Bowl and stand but with it six lemonade or sherbet cups to match, the punch bowl being $2.98, the half dozen cups being $2.98, making $5.96 complete.

Punch Bowls will not be sold without the cups, but you can buy cups without the punch bowl if you already have a punch bowl.

Another addition to the collection offered in this sale will be electric Table Lamps or Electroliers—a beautiful design as you will see; nice size—about 14 inches high, beautifully cut; a lamp that you could not buy ordinarily under $10.

Candlesticks are also a new addition, and they are very beautiful, indeed.

Other things included in this sale will be—

Ice Water Jugs—3, 3½ and 4 pint sizes.
Tall Claret Jugs.

ALLEGE THAT TEACHER SLAPPED GIRL PUPIL.

Hoboken, May 18.—Miss Mary Downey, a teacher in the local public schools, was summoned to appear before the Committee on School Government last night to answer charges that she treated a pupil with physical violence. The child, Mamie Schroeder, eleven years old, is the daughter of J. Schroeder, of 409 Washington street, inspector of weights and measures of this city. It is said that Miss Downey was told that the child had suffered from a fractured skull some time ago and therefore must be treated with special consideration, as she had never fully recovered from the injuries and was subject to violent headaches. Despite this, Miss Downey, according to the child's story, "boxed her head" Tuesday. Since then the Schroeder girl has been at home under a physician's care.

The matter was brought to the attention of Superintendent-Principal A. J. Demarest, who investigated. He says that Miss Downey admitted to him that she slapped the child's face, but this was all. The slap, she asserted, according to Mr. Demarest, was not a severe one. Mr. Demarest preferred the charges.

TWO UNDERTAKERS IN SQUABBLE FOR BODY.

West New York, May 18.—Whether the police or the relatives of a suicide have the right to decide as to the undertaker who is to take charge of the body will be the question in a suit which William Schumann, a local undertaker, says he will bring against the estate of John Stindler. Stindler was a butcher here. He committed suicide Saturday, by inhaling illuminating gas in his shop at Fifteenth street and Watson avenue.

The police turned the body over to Schumann, whose place adjoins the station. Later Mrs. Stindler and her son engaged Undertaker S. R. Sharpe, of Union Hill, but Schumann refused to give up the body. Finally young Stindler ordered Schumann to take the body to the Stindler home. This done the young man ordered Schumann out and gave the case to Sharpe. Schumann says he will sue to recover for his services.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Following the Eastern attraction will come the invitation tournament at the Nassau Country Club on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. This tournament will be more pretentious than last year's two-day contest, and as a large field is expected provision has been made for five sixteens.

The championship tournament of the Ladies' Golf Union of Great Britain is the chief attraction this week at Birkdale, England. There are no American entrants this time. Miss Titterton won the title last year at St. Andrews, but rumor has it that Miss C. Leitch, a girl in her teens, is the most likely aspirant. Her first insight to golf is said to have been gleaned while acting as a caddie at the Carlisle and Silloth club.

The new clubhouse of the Saegkill Golf Club, of Yonkers, was opened to the members on Saturday. It is a handsome two story structure of white stucco construction, and contains abundant locker room in the basement. A wide piazza overlooks the links, and on the first floor is a central living hall, a dining room, offices and the women's locker room. Sleeping rooms occupy the second floor.

The course is still of nine holes, but the addition of twenty acres of land has enabled the golf committee to improve it vastly. The round is now 2,720 yards and is much more varied than of old. A pond has been put in to make a water carry from the ninth tee, the green being just below the clubhouse. Bogey for the new course is 37.

H. B. McFarland had a 75 last week at the Huntington Valley Country Club and Marion P. Wright, an early Southern Cross champion for two seasons, is again back in the game at Philadelphia. George B. Hapgood was the leader of the thirty-four starters at the Dyker Meadow Golf Club last Saturday with 83, 8—75. At the Crescent A. C. handicap the same net score won. A. A. Adams returned the card, which was 82, 7—75.

M'ADAMS THE MAN.

The Union County Democratic Committee tomorrow night will decide upon a candidate to succeed Robert H. McAdams, of Elizabeth, as a member of the Union County Board of Registry and Elections. Mr. McAdams, whose term expires at this time, were civil service or good government rules applicable, would undoubtedly be the unanimous choice, but some petty factional feeling in the Democratic party in the county has prompted some members of the committee to bring out a rival candidate.

Patrick J. Reville, of this city, has become a contestant for the place, according to advices from Elizabeth. This is unfortunate in many respects. There is probably, in the whole county, no better qualified man for the place than the present incumbent, Mr. McAdams. A lawyer of ripe experience, possessing a thorough knowledge of the duties of the office, he has reflected great credit not onty upon himself but upon the county by the services he has rendered in this capacity. Particularly is this the case since he has been the able president of the body. If the Democratic Party in Union wants to show that it is pledged to work for the best interests of the county and not for a few individuals it will unanimously endorse the Elizabethan. If not, it will cast its vote with the Plainfielder.

The appointment is made by the Governor on the recommendation of the county committee. Let us hope that the minority party's representatives will have the good sense to endorse a man who has "made good."

PLAINFIELD THEATRE.

The Plainfield theatre still continues to pack them in at every performance which is positive proof that the people know when they are getting the goods. The show which will be presented here for the first half of the week is made up from a bill of incomparable excellence, the keynote of which is variety of greatness which the following program will verify; Douglas Flint and company in their one act comedy, "The Mixers;" Chester and May, who have been headliners in all the principal houses, the American Comedy Four, known as the original laugh producers, Francis and Rogers, The Socios, and George Devere, an old-time minstrel man. The show is simply getting better all the time; so don't miss it.

Reception at Fanwood.

Miss Harriet Manning, of King street, Fanwood, gave a reception at her home, Saturday night to Plainfield, Westfield and Fanwood friends, at the home of Bernard Walsh, of Martine avenue, Fanwood, where the latter has just erected a fine summer boarding-house. The hall is a spacious one and dancing was continued until 12 o'clock, after which refreshments were served.

Advanced Vaudeville Makes a Hit.

The program of advanced vaudeville inaugurated at Proctor's yesterday made a hit, it being necessary to display the "S. R. O." sign. All four acts and the pictures being the best. The patrons had lots of fun last night singing the big song hit, "La La Oo La La La," by Al. Murphy. It was put on by the management to promote congenialty of the patrons and was repeatedly encored.

Captain Curtis Dead.

"Warm weather is coming on fast," remarked Captain Asa Curtis, of Manasquan, yesterday afternoon as he mopped his brow. Then he fell at the feet of Frank Deo, with whom he was talking. He died in an automobile on the way to a physician's office. Captain Curtis followed the sea and was master of a coast vessel for many years.

Soon to Wed, Found Dead.

The body of Thomas Brennan, of Trenton, was found in the canal there yesterday by men who were searching for the body of Edward A. Burke, missing since Saturday. Young Brennan was to have been married next month to Miss Josephine Miller, a Trenton girl, who is prostrated by his death.

HEAR REV. DR. F. E. DAGER

Philadelphia Minister Addresses the Sunday School Teachers' Institute.

AT ITS ANNUAL MEETING.

Miss Josephine Baldwin, of Newark, Speaks at Afternoon Session.

The Fourteenth Annual Institute of the Plainfield Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union, which was held in the lecture room of the Trinity Reformed church yesterday afternoon and evening, was well represented by the Plainfield Sunday schools. There were also representatives from the Mount Pleasant chapel, Westfield Baptist and the Bound Brook Congregational and Presbyterian churches. The object of the meeting was for the discussion of Sunday-school work; how to make it more profitable, more interesting and more modern.

The reports of last year showed the growing interest that is now being taken in the work, said Miss Minna Bock, secretary of the union. The outlook is now far brighter than ever and every meeting brings more interesting reports.

The afternoon session was opened with a prayer and praise service, led by Mrs. J. A. Powlison, superintendent of the Primary Department of the First Baptist church. She also spoke briefly of the meaning of Children's Day.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Josephine L. Baldwin, of Newark, president of the Elementary Council of the Sunday-school Association of New Jersey. During her brief address, Miss Baldwin took the subject of "The New Graded Lessons for the Elementary Grades, telling of their work and what effect they had upon the student. Graded lessons grow up with the child and open the road for Bible study in the future. Before the afternoon session closed, Lawrence and Elmer French played a piano duet.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Dr. Forrest E. Dager, pastor of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church of Philadelphia. Dr. Dager first spoke on "The Council at Jerusalem," the lesson for next Sunday. "This council," said Dr. Dager, "was nothing more than a dispute over the subject of circumcision. The Jews claimed that unless the Gentile became one of them and went through the same ceremony as the cutting of flesh he could not be saved. The apostles denied this by stating that Christ had improved the old law as laid down by Moses and through the purity of the heart had offered salvation to the Gentiles who were anxious to receive it. In this conference at Jerusalem all entered into it with a spirit that showed interest and in the end came to a decision that has never yet been disputed to any extent. This conference has in later years been the real cause of all the International Peace Conferences.

"One of the greatest mistakes today with our Christian people is that they often boast of the crown they are going to wear in heaven. There are many to stick to creed and condemn some other church. Now just so long as a church does good and accomplishes results we should never talk about other denominations or creeds. Here is a great mistake we Christians make; that is going to places that will perhaps do us no harm but will lead our weaker brother into a trap."

His other address was "My Best as a Teacher." I believe that God had in store a Trinity to dominate this world. It is the English language, the American flag and the Bible. Now the public school will take care of the English language; the citizenship will uphold the flag and it is the duty of the Sunday-school teacher to uphold the Bible and put it into the hearts of the future generations. Work like this calls for the best in a person. This is necessary in the act of teaching.

There were also short addresses by James E. Church, F. E. Smith and Miss Nettie Beeching.

Between the hours of 6 and 7 dinner was served to the visitors. On the supper committee were: Mrs. C. F. French, Mrs. J. M. Tier, Mrs. L. R. Schofield, Mrs. Harry Cooke, Mrs. Harold Sewell and Miss Lownesberry. Reception: Miss Mabel Wilson, Mrs. E. J. Van Name and Mrs. George Ballantyne. Decorating: Mrs. Frank Jones.

Plainfield Driving Club Meets.

The Plainfield Driving Club held a short and informal meeting last night, it being impossible to accomplish much owing to the absence of one or two members. It was decided to meet again Monday night, when all details for the complete organization of the club will be arranged and plans for the forthcoming race meet decided.

Call for Rev. G. J. Russell.

The Rev. George Jeffrey Russell, son of Thomas Russell, of Montclair, has received a call to the Presbyterian church in Southampton, Long Island, and will go there in June. Mr. Russell, who is a graduate of Princeton, has been stationed in Pittsburg for some time.

RADEL THOUGHT HE WAS KING OF HIGHWAY.

Edward Radel, the trolley "magnate," and a Hebrew pedler, on their way to Bound Brook, this morning, are reported to have engaged in a lively tilt, which threatened the arrest of Radel. According to the story, Mr. Radel headed for Bound Brook in his big touring car, when he met the pedler, who was driving a wagon. Mr. Radel blew his horn, and the pedler not being in a hurry to get out of the way, annoyed the uatoist, who, it is said, ran his machine alongside the horse and wagon and gave the Hebrew a sever shaking by the neck.

This action on the part of Mr. Radel so aroused the ire of the pedler that when he reached Bound Brook he sought to have him arrested. Up to a late hour he was unsuccessful, although he was still looking for someone in authority who would invoke the arm of the law.

Will Present Comic Opera.

The Cranford Choral Union, assisted by William Tallamy, William N. Runyon, Arthur Chamberlain and several other well-known male singers in this city, will give William E. MacClymont's opera, "The Peasant Prince," at Cranford tonight and tomorrow night. Miss Ethel Moore, who formerly sang in this city, will take the leading part. This will be the first production of the opera since its initial presentation at the New Plainfield theatre.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between Martin Hertz and Marcus Silbert of the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, under the firm name and style of HERTZ & SILBERT, was dissolved on the fifteenth day of May, Nineteen Hundred and Nine by mutual consent. All debts owing to said partnership are to be received by said Martin Hertz and all demands on said partnership are to be presented to him for payment.

RED CROSS LABEL AN EXCUSE FOR SPEEDING

Dr. W. H. Anthony, founder and president of the Plainfield Motorcycle Club, was arrested on Park avenue near Muhlenberg Hospital Sunday afternoon for speeding his motor cycle. The police say the benzine bike was running at a speed of thirty-five miles an hour. Sentence was suspended with a warning at the physician's hearing before City Judge William N. Runyon today.

Residents in the vicinity of the hospital have been making frequent complaints about the speeding of physicians' automobiles on the way to and from the hospital. The machines all bear the "red cross" speed sign, but it is said that speeding is not solely confined to "errands of mercy."

GRAND ARMY VETERANS ENCAMPMENT THURSDAY

A large delegation of Plainfield veterans will attend the forty-second annual encampment, which will be held in Atlantic City, on Thursday and Friday. Most of the Plainfield veterans, accompanied by their wives and families, will leave for Atlantic City tomorrow night, when active electioneering for the State offices will be begun. It is practically conceded that the office of State commander will be given to James Connolley, city clerk of Newark, who will go to the encampment with his followers in a special train.

The heaviest vote of any post in the State will be cast by Aaron Wilkes Post, of Trenton. The right of ballot is only given to delegates and past commanders of posts, and as Aaron Post has the largest number of past commanders, it must be seriously reckoned with when a proposition is put to vote.

ARE THE AUTOMOBILE LAWS VIOLATED HERE?

It is reported that J. B. R. Smith, State Commissioner of Automobiles, is to be notified that the automobile laws are being violated in this city, especially as regards drivers without licenses and under the age limit of 16 years. If this action is taken, Commissioner Smith will have his deputies pay especial attention to this district and arrests may follow.

The law governing the driving of motor cars states that person must be at least 16 years old before taking out a license. It is said that there are several in this city under the age who are driving large touring cars through the streets, menacing lives because of their inability to handle the machine properly, especially in a tight place. It is said also that this is true of a number of women drivers.

The State commissioner is the only one who can act in such a case, as it is not within the jurisdiction of a police officer to demand to see a license. Should a driver be arrested for speeding or having a car not properly lighted, when taken before a magistrate, the latter can demand the license. The arrest has to be made, however, on some charge other than that of having no license.

Miss Garretson Surprised.

A pleasant birthday surprise party was tendered to Miss Edna Garretson at her home on Sherman avenue, last night. Miss Garretson was unexpectedly summoned to the door, where she was greeted by about thirty of her friends, who showered her with congratulations. She was the recipient of many handsome gifts. The evening was spent in playing cards and parlor games, dancing, vocal and instrumental music, after which refreshments were served.

PORTAUPECT ON THE SHREWSBURY—The Portaupeck Realty Company is building a bungalow colony on its magnificent property which lies on the banks of the Shrewsbury and adjoins Long Branch and Monmouth Beach. This property lies high and from it there is a commanding view of the water and the green hills beyond. The beach is sandy and sloping. The water is clear and clean. The Shrewsbury is famous for its fine fishing, crabbing and boating. A handsome clubhouse, with bowling alleys and tennis courts is now under construction for the exclusive use of lot-holders. The inland lotholder has the use of the community pier, giving to them the same advantages as a water front owner at a much more moderate cost. Thirty bungalows are now under construction. This property must be seen to be appreciated. The property is highly restricted against all nuisances and deep driven artesian well water is now being installed in all the houses, which are also equipped with electric lights, and the very latest modern plumbing and bath-room fixtures. There are first class ranges in the kitchens and artistic fireplaces of stone in the reception rooms. The sizes of the bungalows range from five to eight rooms and the prices from $2,000 to $3,500, including the plot, 50x150 feet. The famous Portaupeck Inn is convenient for those wishing to avoid the cares of housekeeping. All in all an ideal spot for the home-seeker and from an investment stand-point. Convenient terms can be arranged. Send for booklets, yours for the asking. For further particulars write, or see Charles Matt, Portaupeck Realty Co., 1328 Broadway, telephone 1266-38th, New York city, or your own broker. 5 14 6

CENTRAL PARK—If you have not visited Central Park lately you will be surprised to see the many fine improvements underway, by prominent individuals. You will find them on Hillside at Prospect, also at Martine. On Kensington at Prospect and on Park avenue at Arlington place. Central Park is the attraction, the magnet, which is slowly but surely drawing the home-lover and the investor to its center. With its rigid restrictions as to style and cost of dwellings, against nuisances of all kinds, against shops, locations of stables and garages and its uniform building line it comes very near covering every point for your protection. When you buy at Central Park you do not have to live on promises. The history of past developments teems with glorious promises unfulfilled. Ours are fulfilled. Our streets are curbed and macadamized and cement walks are laid. Shade trees planted; sewer, water, gas and electric lights are all installed. Our prices are reasonable. Plots and dwellings can be purchased on most convenient terms. Send for our new booklet, free for the asking. For further particulars see Charles Matt, Central Park Realty Co., Prospect and Edgewood avenues, telephones 1355 or 486-R, Plainfield, or your own broker. 5 14 6

Bishop McFaul will confirm a class of about three hundred children in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, Gloucester, tonight.

A sturgeon weighing 500 pounds was caught at the Washington Park fishery Saturday. One of 425 pounds was caught there last Thursday.

James McDonald, a Bayonne patrolman, has been suspended by Chief Yore on the charge of failing to pay for a pair of shoes he purchased from Max Sachs.

Former Senator Solomon H. Stanger, of Glassboro, who has been very ill, is slowly convalescing. He has recently been re-elected president of the Glassboro Building Association.

George McLaughlin, of Hudson street, near Willow, Gloucester, was attacked and severely bitten on the hand by a dog yesterday. The wounds were cauterized by Dr. MacLennan.

The new pipe organ of the St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, Millville, was used for the first time Sunday. Andrew Carnegie paid half the purchase money for the instrument.

Casper O. Ware, of Bridgeton, has a rat catcher in his dog Fritz, which is keeping him busy. Every time the dog catches a rat the prize is carried home to Ware, who has to bury it. Thus far he has dug fifty "graves."

A fox terrier owned by Walter H. Gantz, of 124 West Fifth street, Bayonne, has dispossessed the mother of three Angora kittens in the house and is caring for the little ones. They take kindly to the terrier, but the mother cat doesn't like it.

In Jersey City yesterday eleven-year-old Thomas T. Ryan, of 254 Railroad avenue, was attacked by a bulldog while playing near his home. He was bitten on the left side of the back. He was carried to a drug store by his mother and the wound was cauterized.

A crippled vagrant, describing himself as William Schroeder, of Philadelphia, was released penniless from jail in Trenton Saturday. A few hours later he was arrested charged with begging. When searched every pocket was filled with small coins. His receipts aggregated $20.

The body of a man supposed to be R. M. Thornton, about fifty years of age, of Philadelphia, was found with his right hand tightly clasping a fishing line yesterday in the Delaware river at Washington Park pier by Henry Angelin, of 801 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, a hook and line fisherman. It was taken to the morgue at Woodbury for identification.

The watchman at the Van Kirk mill, Paterson, telephoned to Paterson police headquarters about 7 o'clock Sunday night that a drunken man had made several attempts to throw himself in front of passing Erie trains. When officers arrived there he was recognized as Patrick Walsh, of 136 East Twentieth street. He was taken to his home, after promising to behave himself.

When he saw a train approaching while he was walking along the elevated road in Camden Sunday afternoon, James Gilligan, seven years old, of Eighth and Federal streets, jumped to the street at Haddon avenue. Pedestrians thought he had been seriously hurt, but at the Homeopathic Hospital physicians found that no bones had been broken. The boy was hysterical from fright.

All roads led to old Friendship church, at Beuna, Atlantic county, near Vineland, Sunday, where was celebrated the one hundred and first anniversary of the founding of Methodism in southern New Jersey. There in the woods, twenty-four years after the great Methodist Episcopal church was organized in 1784, the Methodists gathered and built the first church in this part of the State, and, it is believed, in the State.

CRAMP'S FASTEST SHIP OFF FOR A SPEED TRIAL.

Philadelphia, May 18.—The fastest vessel ever built on the Delaware river, the United States torpedo boat destroyer Lieutenant Smith, left the Cramp shipyard yesterday for a three days' trial trip at sea. The builders have no doubt that the new vessel will develop twenty-eight and one-half knots an hour, the government requirement.

There are 100 picked men aboard the Smith and the trial will take place off the coast of the Delaware peninsula, between Cape Henlopen and Cape Henry.

'WILD MAN' SWATS TORMENTOR

Hackensack, May 18.—Declaring that Harris Wyant, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., who has been undergoing temporary daily confinement for the past two weeks at a summer park as a wild man, should be complainant instead of defendant in an assault case, Assistant Prosecutor Mackay released Wyant yesterday.

Wyant was prancing about Saturday night laden with chains, and a group of young men, among whom was William Muldoon, began to annoy him. Wyant finally swung one of the chains and struck Muldoon across the face, blacking one eye and cutting his nose. Muldoon had Wyant arrested, and he was locked up.

SEIZED TWO WOMEN; IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

Elizabeth, May 18—William Shannon, eighteen years old, was arrested by Detective Ward, Saturday evening, in William street, for assaulting Mrs. Mary Duelli, thirty years old, of 164 Spring street, and Miss Elsie V. Huey, eighteen years old, who is a servant at 1027 William street. Mrs. Duelli, who is the wife of an Elizabeth postal clerk, was the first one attacked.

She managed to break way from her assailant, but in the struggle lost her pocketbook containing a small sum of money.

Her screams caused Shannon to release his grasp on her and she fled from the spot. The woman is in a delicate condition.

Miss Huey encountered Shannon shortly afterward just after leaving her employer's house. There is a very dark spot in William street where there are vacant lots, and it was there she was attacked. Her assailant hugged and kissed her but the girl's shrieks brought some men to her rescue and Shannon fled. He was overtaken, when he put up a desperate fight, but was overpowered and held a prisoner while one of his captors hastened to police headquarters several blocks away and notified the authorities.

Detective Ward was then sent to take the young man into custody. Miss Huey then identified him and yesterday morning in police court both women positively identified the prisoner as the man who held them up.

Shannon had evidently been drinking heavily and seemed to be in a dazed and stupefied condition when arraigned in police court. Judge Mahon committed him to the county jail without bail, to await the grand jury's action.

Since he has sobered up and begun to realize the serious scrape he has got into the prisoner has done scarcely anything but cry. He was only recently discharged from the Alexian Brothers' Hospital here where he was a patient for a few weeks.

It is the opinion of the police authorities that he is partly demented and he will be subjected to a medical examination to determine his sanity. His widowed mother is housekeeper here for Calvin B. Orcutt, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company. She at present is a patient in St. Elizabeth Hospital here.

TRAMPS BIND OPERATOR TO ROB RAILROAD TOWER.

Belvidere, May 18.—Detectives of the Pennsylvania and Lehigh and Hudson railroads have been put to work along the roads near here in an effort to round up the perpetrators of a number of recent holds-ups, including that at "K" tower, when J. M. Yontes, the operator, was bound by a gang of tramps who ransacked the office and stole a small sum of money. Since the advent of the mild weather the "hoboes" have found this locality much to their liking and their presence has caused no end of alarm among the residents here who are obliged to pass near where the nomads hang out.

The attack on Yontes was an evidence of the daring of the tramps. Fully fifteen or twenty, according to Yontes, were in the party which visited the tower. They surrounded him and after giving him rough treatment forced open the windows and doors of the office and for a few minutes had things all their own way. They then disappeared and had made their escape when officers arrived in response to an alarm sent out by Yontes on the telegraph wire. Following this robbery a number of foreigners were arrested, but soon they proved their innocence and were released. Only a short time ago De Witt Wolverton, employed on the Lehigh and Hudson road, was held up near Dempsey's siding by tramps, who searched him but found nothing of value. An order has been issued to the operators on both roads to provide themselves with revolvers.

Robe Corset.

The up-to-date corsetiere understands giving her customers ample width of chest; she makes their corsets very narrow in the back, so as to force erectness of carriage upon their clients. For similar reasons the new corsets are cut high at the back, but rather low in front, following the form of the gown. The robe-corset is the ideal for clinging gowns. The skirt can be divided or otherwise, and as it is fastened on to the edge of the corset it does not make for lumpiness around the waist or immediately below it, as the petticoat with strings or buttons invariable does. As for the corset, pure and simple, it is boned all the way down in the back.

ROSALIND AT RED GATE

The path that rose through the wood from St. Agatha's declined again from the seat, and came out somewhere below, where there was a spring sacred to the schoolgirls, and where, I dare say, they still indulge in the incantations of their species. I amused myself picking out the pier lights as far as I had learned them, following one of the lake steamers on its zigzag course from Port Annandale to the village. Eleven chimed from the chapel clock, the strokes stealing up to me dreamily. A moment later I heard a step in the path behind me, light, quick, and eager, and I bent down low on the bench, so that its back shielded me from view, and waited. The steps drew closer to the bench, and some one passed behind me. I was quite sure that it was a woman from the lightness of the step, the feminine quality in the voice that continued to hum a little song, and at the last moment the soft rustle of skirts. I rose and spoke her name before my eyes were sure of her.

"Miss Holbrook!" I exclaimed.

She did not cry out, though she stepped back quickly from the bench.

"Oh, it's you, Mr. Donovan, is it?"

"It most certainly is!" I laughed. "We seem to have similar tastes, Miss Holbrook."

"An interest in geography, shall we call it?" she chaffed, gayly.

"Or astronomy! We will assume that we are both looking for the Little Dipper."

"Good!" she returned on my own note. "Between the affairs of the Holbrooks and your evening Dipper hunt you are a busy man, Mr. Donovan."

"I am not half so busy as you are, Miss Holbrook! It must tax you severely to maintain both sides of the barricade at the same time," I ventured boldly.

"That does require some ingenuity," she replied, musingly, "but I am a very flexible character."

"But what will bend will break—you may carry the game too far."

"Oh, are you tired of it already?"

"Not a bit of it; but I should like to make this stipulation with you: That as you and I seem to be pitted against each other in this little contest, we shall fight it all out behind Miss Pat's back. I prefer that she shouldn't know what a—" and I hesitated.

"Oh, give me a name, won't you?" she pleaded, mockingly.

"What a beautiful deceiver you are!"

"Splendid! We will agree that I am a deceiver!"

"If it gives you pleasure! You are welcome to all the joy you can get out of it!"

"Please don't be bitter! Let us play fair, and not stoop to abuse."

"I should think you would feel contrite enough after that ugly business of this afternoon. You didn't appear to be even annoyed by that Italian's effort to smash the launch."

She was silent for an instant; I heard her breath come and go quickly; when she responded with what seemed a forced lightness:

"You really think that was inspired by—" she suddenly appeared at a loss.

"By Henry Holbrook, as you know well enough. And if Miss Pat should be murdered through his enmity, don't you see that your position in the matter would be difficult to explain? Murder, my dear young woman, is not looked upon complacently, even in this remote corner of the world!"

"You seem given to the use of strong language, Mr. Donovan. Let us drop the calling of names and consider just where you put me."

"I don't put you at all; you have taken your own stand. But I will say that I was surprised, not to say pained, to find that you played the eavesdropper the very hour you came to Annandale."

A moment's silence; the water murmured in the reeds below; an owl hooted in the Glenarm wood! a restless bird chirped from its perch in a maple overhead.

"Oh, to be sure!" she said at last. "You thought I was listening while Aunt Pat unfolded the dark history of the Holbrooks."

"I knew it, though I tried to believe I was mistaken. But when I saw you there on Tippecanoe creek, meeting your father at the canoe-maker's house, I was astounded; I did not know that depravity could go so far."

"My poor, unhappy, unfortunate father!" she said in a low voice; there was almost a moan in it.

"I suppose you defend your conduct on the ground of filial duty," I suggested, finding it difficult to be severe.

"Why shouldn't I? Who are you to judge our affairs? We are the unhappiest family that ever lived; but I should like you to know that it was not by my wish that you were brought into our councils. There is more in all this than appears!"

"There is nothing in it but Miss Pat—her security, her peace, her happiness. I am pledged to her, and the rest of you are nothing to me. But you may tell your father that I have been in rows before and that I propose to stand by the guns."

"I shall deliver your message, Mr. Donovan; and I give you my father's thanks for it," she mocked.

"Your father calls you Rosalind—before strangers!" I remarked.

"Yes. It's a fancy of his," she murmured, lingeringly. "Sometimes it's Viola, or Perdita, but, as I think of it, it's oftener Rosalind. I hope you don't object, Mr. Donovan?"

"No, I rather like it; it's in keeping with your variable character. You seem prone, like Rosalind, to woodland wandering. I dare say the other people of the cast will appear in due season. So far I have seen only the Fool."

"The Fool? Oh, yes; there was Touchstone, wasn't there?"

"I believe it is admitted that there was."

She laughed; I felt that we were bound to get on better, now that we understood each other.

"You are rather proud of your attainments, aren't you? I have really read the play, Mr. Donovan; I have even seen it acted."

"I did not mean to reflect on your intelligence, which is acute enough; or on your attainments, which are sufficient; or on your experience of life.

"Well spoken! I really believe that I am liking you better all the time, Mr. Donovan."

"My heart is swollen with gratitude. You heard my talk with your father at his cottage last night. And then you flew back to Miss Pat and played the hypocrite with the artlessness of Rosalind—the real Rosalind."

"Did I? Then I'm as clever as I am wicked. You, no doubt, are as wise as you are good."

She folded her ams with a quick movement, the better, I thought, to express satisfaction with her own share of the talk; then her manner changed abruptly. She rested her hands on the back of the bench and bent toward me.

"My father dealt very generously with you. You were an intruder. He was well within his rights in capturing you. And, more than that, you drew to our place some enemies of your own who may yet do us grave injury."

"They were no enemies of mine! Didn't you hear me debating that matter with your father? They were his enemies and they pounced on me by mistake. It's not their fault that they didn't kill me!"

"That's a likely story. That little creek is the quietest place in the world."

"How do you know?" I demanded, bending closer toward her.

"Because my father tells me so! That was the reason he chose it."

"He wanted a place to hide when the cities became too hot for him. I advise you, Miss Holbrook, in view of all that has happened, and if you have any sense of decency left, to keep away from there."

"And I suggest to you, Mr. Donovan, that your devotion to my aunt does not require you to pursue my father. You do well to remember that a stranger thrusting himself into the affairs of a family he does not know puts himself in a very bad light."

"I am not asking your admiration, Miss Holbrook."

"You may save yourself the trouble!" she flashed; and then laughed out merrily. "Let us not be so absurd! We are quarreling like two school children over an apple. It's really a pleasure to meet you in this unconventional fashion, but we must be amiable. Our affairs will not be settled by words—I am sure of that. I must beg of you, the next time you come forth at night, to wear your cloak and dagger. The stage setting is fair enough; and the players should dress their parts becomingly. I am already named Rosalind—at night; Aunt Pat we will call the Duchess in exile; and we were speaking a moment ago of the Fool. Well, yes; there was a Fool."

"I might take the part myself, if Gillespie were not already cast for it."

"Gillespie?" she said, wonderingly; then added at once, as though memory had prompted her: "To be sure, there is Gillespie."

"There is certainly Gillespie. Perhaps you would liefer call him Orlando?" I ventured.

"Let me see," she pondered, bending her head; then: "O, that's a brave man! He writes brave verses, speaks brave words, swears brave oaths and breaks them bravely, quite traverse, athwart the heart of his lover; as a puisny tilter, that spurs his horse but on one side, breaks his staff like a noble goose; but all's brave that youth mounts and folly guides.'"

"That is Celia's speech, but well rendered. Let us consider that you are Rosalind, Celia, Viola and Ariel all in one. And I shall be those immortal villains of old tragedy—first, second and third murtherer; or, if it suit you better, let me be Iago for honesty; Othello for great adventures; Hamlet for gloom; Shylock for relentlessness, and Romeo for love-sickness."

Again she bent her head; then drawing a little away and clasping her hands, she quoted: "'Come, woo me, woo me; for now I am in a holiday humour and like enough to consent. What would you say to me now, an I were your very, very Rosalind?'"

BIG BOWLING TOURNEY AT MADISON SQUARE

Just as soon as Buffalo Bill and his Indians made their exit from Madison Square Garden on Saturday night an army of expert carpenters attacked the big building and began work, putting it into shape for the world's bowling championship which begins on next Monday night. Twenty-four perfectly constructed alleys are to be built and put into the best of condition before the tourney opens. A new set of pins will be used on each of the two dozen alleys every day. Some extra pins will be on hand to take the place of damaged ones, so that about 250 pins will be made expressly for each of the seventeen days that the tourney will last. It is expected that over 5,000 bowlers will take part in the games which will begin about 9:30 every morning and continue until midnight.

Class B Point-Winners.

In the report of the result of the golf play at the Plainfield Country Club, on Saturday, some of the names according to handicap were in error in Class B. E. T. Wilson and R. G. Willson divided first honors, while E. P. Goodwin and J. A. Lane each received one point. Class A players are those with handicaps of 14 or under and Class B those with handicaps of 15 and over.

Retprn Twenty-four Indictments.

The Grand Jury came into the Union county court this morning with twenty-four indictments, one of which it is believed may be against those engaged in a cock-fight at Scotch Plains several weeks ago. The Grand Jury still has much work to do before it completes its labors.

COMMUTERS' CARD CLUB SINGS "AULD LANG SYNE"

S. C. Baker, J. S. Higham, Jacob Kirkner and S. P. Joseph.

Among the many card clubs on the Plainfield commuters' train which pulls out of North avenue every morning at 8:30 and returns to the same station at 6:10 in the evening, none is more familiar to the little army of "Jersey skeeters" that make "the city beautiful" their home than that composed of four well known members of the Masonic fratenity, Jacob Kirkner, ex-Councilman Salmon C. Baker, J. Stephen Higham and Stephen P. Joseph. This quartette of whist devotees is in fact one of the "institutions" of local commuter life. It was organized more than five years ago and because of a change in residence of one of its members, Mr. Baker, disbands this week. There will probably be a reorganization as there are many candidates for the vacancy.

As a reminder of the many pleasant times they have had over the card table during these five years, Mr. Baker's "cronies" have presented to him a handsome picture, of which the above is a reproduction. Mr. Baker, who is the proprietor of a large printing and engraving establishment in New York, removes from Plainfield on Friday and will make his future home at Cape Cod, Mass. Mr. Baker is one of the most popular men in the city, and he will be sincerely missed.

Jacob Kirkner is a New York broker and is a past grand commander of the Knights Templar of New Jersey. Some years ago he was a member of the Board of Education. J. Stephen Higham is an expert accountant and a few years ago was a member of the Common Council. S. B. Joseph is a flour merchant and is prominent in borough affairs. At one time he was a member of the North Plainfield Board of Education.

25 MILE BIKE RACE FOR NORTH PLAINFIELD

It has been practically been decided that the twenty-five mile bicycle race, formerly known as the historic Irvington-Millburn event, will not be held in Plainfield, because Mayor Charles Joel Fisk wil not permit the race to be held unless it is run off before 8 o'clock in the morning. This is impossible for it would be difficult for a majority of the riders to reach the city and be ready for the event by that hour.

The Plainfield Cycle Club, under whose auspices the race is to be held, is now trying to gget the permission of the North Plainfield authorities to hold it there. The club has also been informed that the sanction of the Somerset County Board of Freeholders will be necessary as the county roads will be used

The twenty-five mile race was origginally instituted by the League of American Wheelmen, and it always attracted thousands of persons to the course for the past ten years. The reason given for its discontinuance is lack of support.

PERSONAL.

TO BLOW OPEN A SAFE

"Deafy" Hunt Teaches it All in One Lesson on a Plainfield Make.

BY MEANS OF A CIPHER.

"Deafy" Now Occupies a Cell In the Tombs For Smashing a Safe in New York.

How to "crack" the safes made by the once Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Company, of this city, is the missing chapter in an otherwise complete exposition on "The Art of Safe-Cracking," written by George Hunt, an old-time crook, burglar and safe-blower, and yesterday translated from cypher by the New York police. Hunt, who is known to the police as "Deafy," now occupies a cell in the Tombs, held under $1,000 bail as a "bad man" and he will have to face an additional charge of having smashed a safe in a Third avenue, New York, store on April 10, when he made a big haul.

The cypher used in the document is not a very complex one. It consists in substituting for each letter of the alphabet another letter, the arrangement being simple and reciprocal. A, for example, stands for U, and in its turn U stands for A.

The part of the manuscript dealing with the Plainfield made safes has been translated as follows:

"Say, W, if there is any safe you can think of that I have not given you please let me know. I will give you Herring's and also Marvin's next, after which I will give you all the remaining American makes I can think of and also three Canadian makes that I am familiar with. I don't know anything of the Corliss of Providence or the Hibbard, Rodman & Ely of Plainfield, N. J., as I have never been against either of them. They are about the only two that I can think of now that I am ignorant of."

The author discourses at length and in great detail upon his subject, discussing various makes of safes by name, giving directions for cracking them with reference to the peculiarities of the different treasure boxes and also writing down a recipe for the concoction of a usual explosive, which he invariably describes as "soup."

The cipher revealed among other things the folowing recipe for "soups:" "First take ten or a dozen sticks of dynamite, crumble it up fine and put it in a pan or washbowl, then pour over it enough alcohol, wood or pure, to cover it well. Stir it up well with your hands, being careful to break all the lumps. Leave it set for a few minutes.

"Then get a few yards of chese cloth an dtear it up in pieces and strain the mixture through the cloth into another vessel; wring the sawdust dry and throw it away. The remains will be the soup and alcohol mixed. Next take the same amount of water as you used of alcohol and pour it in. Leave the whole set for a few minutes."

Other sections of the manuscript warn the reader not to confuse the different makes of safes, and directions are given by which several kinds may be told apart even if the name does not appear on the box. There are fifty different kinds of safes made in the United States and Canada says our author.

Antler A. C. Dance.

The Antler A. C. gave an enjoyable dance in St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall last night, there being about 250 guests present. The affair was one of the best of the season and all were pleased with the fine program. At 11:30 o'clock the members of the club assumed the part of waiters and served refreshments. The committee in charge comprised James Fitzgerald, Charles Eller, William Bazac, George Taylor, Thomas Bebout, Patrick Warren, Joseph Cullen, H. Forrestel, William Brown, Thomas Harding and Edward Carty, who acted as floor-manager. Music was furnished by Charles Suhr's full orchestra.

New Dog Ordinance in Effect.

The new dog ordinance, recently adopted by the Common Council, went into effect today, and the city clerk's office is equipped with all the necessary tags, applications, blanks, etc. The dog tax is now $2.50 per annum and those who pay this amount will not be assessed any additional sum.

SHOWER PARTY GIVEN FOR THE BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Beatrice Miner, whose engagement to F. C. Lounsbury, of Plainfield avenue, has been announced, was given a surprise parcel shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ballantyne, on East Sixth street, last night. She and Mr. Lounsbury were invited to spend the evening at their home, and soon afterward a company of about forty young people called, each one bringing a gift for Miss Miner.

Among the presents were cut-glass, silverware, bric-a-brac, and household utensils. Miss Miner was completely surprised and overcome by the shower and took occasion to thank one and all for their kind remembrances. During the evening there was an informal musical program, including piano selections by Miss Miner and later refreshments were served. The guests were members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church, and the affair was arranged by Mrs. Ballantyne.

NEWARK'S TUXEDOS TO BOWL PLAINFIELD

Local bowling enthusiasts will see some high class bowling at Campbell's alleys tomorrow afternoon and evening when the Tuxedo Bowling Club of Newark will engage in individual, two-man, three-man and five-man match games with representatives from the Plainfield Bowling Club.

In the individual match William Weingarth, who for many years was the undisputed State champion, will meet Johnny Campbell in a five game series, after which Nash and Campbell will roll a two-man series with Nack and Weingarth.

Following this, Chief Kiely, Chauncey Stout and Frank Blatz will meet Noack, Meyer and Weingarth in a three-man match.

In the evening the five-man match will be bowled in which Kiely, Blatz, Stout, Nash and Campbell will represent the local club and Noack, Pierson, Meyer, Hoagland and Weingarth the visitors.

GOVERNOR'S DAY DREW BUT FEW POLITICIANS.

Yesterday was Governor's Day at the State House, but only a sprinkling of the lawmakers and politicians were on hand. More got off the train, however, than got to the State House, but many "got lost" en route from the depot, probably because the city has a circus for its chief attraction yesterday. Theodore Strong was there, however, and while he stood sphinx-like at one end of the executive corridor, his Middlesex political enemy, County Clerk Conger, stood waiting at the other end to see the Governor. Neither had anything to say.

Senator Bradley was also on hand to urge the appointment of former Sheriff "Billy" Brown, of Camden, for secretary of the Civil Service Commission. Brown was formerly a red-hot Baird man, but aroused the leader's ire by running for sheriff last fall.

Subsequently there was a truce, and now Baird and Bradley want to land him in another job. The Governor let it be known, however, he had nothing to do with this place. It is understood, however, he wants to see a good man land it, and is also much interested in finding an eligible secretary for the recently appointed Board of Railroad Appraisers.

Senator Gaunt was another caller on the Executive, as was also former Governor Werts. Senator Hand headed a delegation of South Jerseymen, who had something to say about the proposed inland waterway from Sandy Hook to Cape May.

Freeholders on a Junket.

The Union County Board of Freeholders and friends to the number of about forty left Elizabeth this morning at 8:40 o'clock for Gloucester, where the annual plank-shad dinner will be enjoyed. Among those in the party are Freeholders J. Hervey Doane and S. P. T. Wilbur and County Attorney William R. Codington, of this city.

Pleaded Non Vult.

Gifford and La Grande Beers, of this city, who were charged with selling liquor without a license, was arraigned in the Union County Court this morning. Through their counsel, Robert Newton Crane, they entered a plea of non vult, and sentence will be pronounced on Wednesday, May 26.

COUNTY C. E. ELECTION

Purdy F. Benedict Chosen President at the Quarterly Meeting.

PLAINFIELDERS ARE PRESENT.

Clarence B. LaRue Selected As a Vice President of Organization.

The Union County Christian Endeavor Union held its yearly rally and election of officers in the Central Presbyterian church, Summit, last night. It was the largest attended rally held in the county in five years, there being over three hundred Endeavorers present, including a large delegation from Plainfield.

Rev. Minot C. Morgan, pastor of the Summit church, made the welcome address, speaking earnest words to the Endeavorers. After singing a hymn, he offered prayer. Miss Berglund, of Elizabeth, the secretary, presented an interesting report of the state of activity of the societies in the Union. As chairman of the Union County Extension Committee, Miss Marie Jacobson, of Elizabeth, gave a splendid report of the work of the committee, which held ten group meetings in various parts of the county. Miss Jacobson in her report showed an intimate knowledge of every phase of the work.

After Miss Berglund called the roll, Miss Nellie K. Foote, of Elizabeth, presented the report of the nominating committee, which was adopted. The officers, as presented by the committee, were elected without a dissenting vote as follows:

President, Purdy F. Benedict, First Baptist church, Roselle; first vice-president, William D. Newton, First Baptist church, Summit; second vice-president, Clarence B. La Rue, Congregational church, Plainfield; third vice-president, Frederick L. Mintel, Second Presbyterian church, Elizabeth; secretary, Harry F. Brewer, First Congregational church, Elizabeth; treasurer, Frederick E. Wodruff, First Presbyterian church, Cranford.

Frederick E. Woodruff, who acted as chairman of the meeting, introduced the newly-elected president, Mr. Benedict, in a short speech. The latter made a happy response. The county banner was then presented to the Greystone Presbyterian church Eneavorers of Elizabeth, with an attendance of 31 out of 33. This is the society of which Miss Jacobson is an active member.

Rev. Walter B. Greenway, of Jersey City, gave an extemporaneous address on "Our Rights," in which he presented many illustrations. The address was of interest because of the spirit of earnestness. State President J. T. Sproull also made a few remarks on the subject of "Look Unto Jesus." The honor of being sent to the St. Paul Endeavor convention, July 6-12, was conferred upon Miss Nellie K. Foote by a rising vote. The meeting then adjourned to the chapel where refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

HUNT CLUB BALL TEAM TO PLAY SOUTH ORANGE F. C.

The Watchung Hunt Club's recently organized baseball team will play its first game at the club's grounds Saturday afternoon, when the opposing nine will be the South Orange Field Club. Captain Morris J. Dumont has been busy getting together a good team of players, many of them former college stars and they will undoubtedly put up a good game. Anyone interested in the contest will be welcome to the grounds.

The club's battery will be Duncan Bulkley and Morris J. Dumont. The former was the star twirler on the Columbia College team and can be depended upon to hold down the opposing batsmen, while Dumont will do the receiving in his usual excellent manner. The other positions will be filled as follows: A. L. Otterson, 1b; W. L. Righter, 2b; Ben. Wood, ss; Wylie Brown, 3b; Gilbert Fletcher, lf; W. B. Tyler, rf; Harvey Fisk, cf.

The South Orange Field Club nine will include several former college stars and it is said that they are especially anxious to defeat the local aggregation in the first contest here.

Entertainment at Trinity.

The quartet choir of Trinity Reformed church, assisted by Miss Justine Roberts, reader, will give a fine musical and literary entertainment at the church tomorrow night. The affair will be under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society and a program of exceptional interest will be given.

BOROUGH SCHOOL PUPILS' WORK IS ON EXHIBITION

Nearly four hundred parents and friends of the North Plainfield High School teachers and pupils visited the school yesterday afternoon to witness the work of the pupils. Prof. Krebs said this morning it was the most successful exhibition ever held by the borough school.

Of the work on exhibition nothing caused more interest than that of the manual training department. There could be seen all kinds of tables, desks, bookcases, canoes and row boats, built by the pupils. Much credit was given the girls for the clever work they had done. A desk made by Miss Mildred Bellis, of the fifth grade, was one of the best pieces of manual training work shown. Among the boys who made a good showing were Louis Bennett, P. Bailey, Walter Walker, Carlton Smith and George Hartfelder. The cooking and sewing department was observed with much interest by the mothers. In this department the work of Miss Jennie Nelson was much admired. She had on exhibition several copied pictures of Charles Dana Gibson. The work of the kindergarten was also much admired.

The room was prettily decorated with wisteria, arranged in an arbor effect. In the windows and along the walls were scenes from other lands. All this work was done entirely by the little folks.

The exhibition closes this afternoon and it is expected that several teachers throughout Somerset county will be present to witness the work.

CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Reports of exceptional interest together with the election of officers and a social hour combined to make the annual meeting of the Women's Society of the Congregational church, a pleasing and profitable one yesterday afternoon. The report of Mrs. D. Foster Updike, secretary, was especially inspiring and enthusiastic, showing that during the year the meetings have all been largely attended, and the teas, suppers and sales a great success.

Mrs. John M. Whiton, as treasurer, gave an excellent report, showing that $735.25 was raised and expended for foreign and home missions, the church enlargement and other church enterprises. Then followed the reports of the missionary, music, social, visiting, local charities and sewing committees, all being very active during the year. Two very successful suppers and as many luncheons have been held and two boxes have been packed with clothing and other useful articles for mission fields.

These officers were elected for the year:

President, Mrs. C. L. Goodrich; vice-president, Mrs. Charles A. Rice; recording secretary, Mrs. D. Foster Updike; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles Bentley; treasurer, Mrs. John M. Whiton; chairman missionary committee, Miss Florella Clark; music, Mrs. F. A. Weeks; social, Miss Jessie McIntosh; entertainment, Miss Lulu Fuller; afternoon tea, Mrs. J. R. Morton, assisted by Mrs. E. M. Laing; visiting, Mrs. William Van Alystyne, assisted by Mrs. L. B. Morgan; local charities, Mrs. George P. Fisher; sewing, Mrs. William Hand; communion service, Mrs. George Raynolds; house, Mrs. H. V. Hubbard.

After the business of the afternoon there was a social hour and refreshments were served by the women of the society.

Exhibition of School Work.

There will be an exhibition of the work in manual training and drawing at the Irving School tomorrow afternoon and evening. All parents and friends interested in the work of the school are urged to attend. There will be music during the evening and the teachers will be present to show the work of the individual pupils and to receive and introduce the visitors.

Henry H. Rogers Dead.

H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil magnate, died in New York this morning after a short illness. He was highly respected by his colleagues and employes, among whom were O. T. Waring, John D. Bushnell, Charles L. Nicholl, William Clark, Joseph H. Howell, Henry McGee and Walter MsGee, all of Plainfield.

TO ILLUMINATE THE CITY

Public Service Corporation will Help to Make Charter Day a Big Success.

PRESIDENT McCARTER'S OFFER.

Corporation Will Light Streets in Business Section Nightly During the Celebration.

Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, Mayor Samuel Townsend and President A. E. Force, of the Merchants' Association, held a conference yesterday at Newark with President Thomas McCarter, of the Public Service Corporation, relative to the company having a part in the Charter-Day celebration. The Plainfielders suggested to Mr. McCarter that the concern illuminate the business section of the city on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights, July 5, 6 and 7, for the celebration.

The suggestion was favorably received, and the committee was informed that the company would illuminate Front street, from Grove street to Watchung avenue; Somerset street, from Craig place to Front street, with numerous incandescent lights, placing them along the curb lines; also across these thoroughfares at intersections of streets and between the blocks, illuminating every dark recess in that territory.

Mr. McCarter told the Plainfield men that the company would stand the entire expense of the work of erecting poles, stringing wires and illuminating the street, and in consequence they were much gratified and pleased with the generosity of the company. Public recognition of the company's courtesy will be made later.

KING'S DAUGHTERS' CIRCLE WILL HOLD A COUNTRY FAIR

All arrangements are now complete for the Country Fair which the Cheerful Workers' Circle of the King's Daughters will give at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead on East Front street, Wednesday afternoon, May 26. Friends of the organization are reminded not to forget to attend and bring the children, for there are specialties for the juveniles of almost every variety, including boat rides, pony cart rides, lolly-pops and ice cream to eat and arfem boys from whom you can get a wonderful present.

Another attraction will be the ping-pong picture man, who will supply you with a lasting memento of the old-fashioned country fair. The officers of the circle are president, Miss Dorothy Fleming; vice-president, Miss Grace Kaufman; secretary, Miss Euphemia Bakewell; treasurer, Miss Margaret Mead.

Missionary Work at Ellis Island.

Miss Coltarti, a missionary among the Italian emigrants at Ellis Island, gave an interesting account of her labors there at the meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room. Miss Coltarti, who was born in Rome, Italy, came to this country when fourteen years of age and was educated for Christian work at the Chicago Training School, Chicago. She has been employed for the past two years at Ellis Island, ministering to the needs of the incoming Italian women and children. Her story of the missionary's influence over home-sick women in a strange land, their kindness in cases of illness, their helpfulness in exchanging their money and securing them situations and boarding houses was full of absorbing interest.

Baptists to Hold Praise Service.

In recognition of the establishment of the church as an independent body a special thanksgiving service will be held by the congregation of the Temple Baptist church tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock. L. W. Randolph, U. B. Crane and Frank Stewart will have charge of the program and speak, while the pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson will give a talk on "Consecration." The annual offering to missions will also be made.

Will Hold Class Initiation.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, will have class initiation at its meeting Saturday night, when the State officers and representatives from the councils at Westfield, New Brunswick and Mt. Bethel will be present. Among the State officers expected are State Councilor Philip Handschuck, of Elizabeth, and State secretary, Mrs. A. S. Van Sciver, of Riverside.

MRS. ARTHUR MURPHY GIVES A BRIDGE WHIST

Mrs. Arthur Murphy, of Watchung avenue, gave a brilliant social function at the Park Club, yesterday afternoon from 3 to 6, when she entertained about one hundred friends at a bridge party. The attractive clubhouse looked more so than ever with its lavish decorations, consisting of palms, cut flowers and lilacs and sweet peas of lilac color. The numerous tables were also handsomely decorated for the occasion, as well as the stage.

Mrs. Murphy was assisted in receiving her guests by Mrs. Robert Rushmore. At the conclusion of the play, which was spirited, announcement was made that the following had scored the greatest number of points in the order given: Mrs. W. T. W. Maxwell, Mrs. John B. Dumont, Miss Agnes Taylor, Mrs. Harry F. Johnson, Miss Jessie Munger and Miss Annie Murphy. After the play supper was served by Maresi.

ENDEAVORERS' UNION WILL HOLD A RALLY

The Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union will hold its annual meeting and rally at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night. The program will be as follows:

8:00-8:10, Song service. The new hymn books for the State convention have arrived and will be used for the first time. 8:10-8:20, devotional exercises conducted by Rev. A. E. Finn; 8:20-8:30, communications and reports of the secretary and treasurer; 8:308:35, election of officers; 8:35-8:50, roll call of societies and presentation of attendance banner; 8:50-9:30, address by John T. Sproull, president of the State Christian Endeavor Society.

Miss Florence Hawkins, Miss Cora Brokaw, Benjamin F. Hadley and Charles F. Dayton will render an anthem and there will be a selection by the chorus choir of the church. Purdy F. Benedict, the newly-elected county president, will be present to greet the Endavorers.

JERSEY'S SONS OF THE REVOLUTION TO MEET.

The annual meeting of the New Jersey Society, Sons of the Revolution, is being held at Morristown today at Washington's headquarters. Luncheon was served in Lafayette Hall.

Since the annual meeting last May, held at the Trenton Country Club, the State society has had a large addition made to its membership, and the attendance at the meeting this year was large.

Among the prominent guests are Chancellor Mahlon Pitney and Vice-Chancellors John R. Emery and Frederic W. Stevens.

The annual address of the president and the reports of the secretary and treasurer are prominent features of the meeting.

The officers are: President, Judge Garrett Dorset Wall Vroom, of Trenton, who has held the office since the death of the first State president, S. Meredith Dickinson, vice-president, Richard Fowler Stevens, South Orange; recording secretary, Professor William Libby, Princeton; corresponding secretary, Robert Chambers Belville, Trenton; treasurer, Neil Robert Montgomery, Trenton; registrar, Frederick Hatfield Clark, Trenton; historian, Bayard Stockton, Princeton; chaplain, Rev. Dr. Charles Martin Perkins, Vineland. There are now 200 members enrolled in the society.

Robert J. McAdams the Choice.

The Union County Democratic Committee, at its meeting in Elizabeth, last night, nominated Robert J. McAdams to succeed himself as a member of the County Board of Elections. The recommendation will be made to Governor Fort who has the power of appointment. Patrick J. Reville, of this city, was also a candidate for the place, but McAdams received a majority of the votes. The committee decided to hold the annual outing on August 18, the destination being Witzel's Grove.

Ege Will Case Postponed.

Judge E. S. Atwater being detained at home by illness today, it was necessary to postpone the hearing of the Mrs. Emma F. Ege will case. Craig A. Marsh expected to offer the instrument for probate today, but the action will be delayed for a day or two. In the absence of Judge Atwater his place on the bench was taken by Judge Adrain Lyon, of Perth Amboy.

FOR PUBLIC PLAYGROUND

Mayor Fisk and Other Representative Citizens Endorse the Movement.

PLAINFIELD CAN AFFORD.

Impetus Given Plan At Union Meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Enthusiastic impetus was given the movement for local playgrounds at a union meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of city and borough held at the Franklin School auditorium last night, and Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, of the city schools, who presided at the meeting will shortly announce the personnel of a committee to be named by him to take the matter up at once. The general opinion at last night's meeting, which was attended by several hundred parents, and addressed by Mayor Fisk, and former Mayor Smalley, of North Plainfield, out-of-town playground enthusiasts, and clergymen, was that Plainfield needs at least one public playground.

"The children are the city's most valuable asset," said Dr. Maxson, in opening the meeeting, "and the aim of this playground movement is to cultivate that asset to its highest state of efficiency and see that it is developed to the utmost state of efficiency for the city."

The principal address of the evening was by William J. McKiernan, through whose efforts as playground commissioner of Newark, the public playgrounds of that city have been brought to their present state of efficiency. Mrs. Stephen Voorhees, president of the union Parent-Teacher Association, presided at the meeting, but the various speakers were introduced by Superintendent Maxson.

Mr. McKiernan spoke of the Newark playgrounds and the benefits accruing to the city from the system. He showed stereopticon slides of the various playgrounds and of the land before its conversion to this use by the city. Former Sheriff Frank Sommer, of Essex county, told of the real value of the playgrounds in cutting down the city's crime among the young men and boys.

In the course of his remarks, Mayor Fisk said that he had long been in favor of public playgrounds for Plainfield, and he believed that the city should take the matter up at once and arrange to secure the land. "Plainfield can afford playgrounds," he said, "and in the long run their value will be conclusively proved." Former Mayor N. B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, endorsed Mr. Fisk's support of the movement, and said that the expense must be figured on a "long run" basis. He urged immediate action for the securing of land.

Two clergymen, Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, and Rev. Edward Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, spoke in hearty endorsement of the playground movement. Rev. Mr. Goodrich urged that the city look ahead and plan for the future in this particular, and Rev. Mr. Shaw emphasized the need of supervision on the playgrounds. C. C. Burke, of Belvidere avenue, also spoke.

Chief Kiely, who has for several years been an advocate of playgrounds, was unable to attend the meeting, but spoke enthusiastically of the movement. "After the schools close for the summer," said Chief Kiely, in speaking about the matter today, "lots of boys are forced to make their streets their playground for the summer months. We get lots of complaints here at headquarters about the mischevious boys, but the young fellows are not wholly to blame, for they have no place to play. There ought to be a place where they can go, under the supervision of some older person, and play ball and exercise freely out of doors. There ought to be a swimming pool, too."

After the speaking a resolution was passed empowering Dr. Maxson to appoint a committee to take up the matter of playgrounds for the city and to consult with the Common Council for the furtherance of the playground project.

Julien Linke Again a Prize-Winner.

Energetic work on the part of Julien Linke, the fourteen-year-old son of Frank Linke, of West Front street, has won him another prize in the subscription-getting contest of a New York newspaper. He was today presented with box seats for the Hippodrome as one of a dozen contestants to make the largest gains. The young Plainfielder now has 63,434 votes toward the prize trip around the world, and ranks eighth in the contest.

Public's Profit From The Public Service

PUBLIC SERVICE has told during the last three weeks about the amount of money it has expended, since the corporation was formed in 1903, for street pavements, for trolley franchise taxes and for the franchise taxes on its gas and electric business.

Combined, the three sums reach the very handsome total of $4,308,082.93, representing in round figures, $718,000 a year, every cent of which was paid into the public treasuries or expended for the direct benefit of the municipalities in which PUBLIC SERVICE does business.

PAYING FOR RIGHT TO EXIST.

And it must be remembered that all of this great sum of money went, not for the purpose of paying dividends on stock or interest on bonds, not for the accumulation of profits, not even for extensions or improvements, but as a payment to the public for the privilege of doing business; for the right to operate street cars and to sell gas and electricity to those who want to buy.

Putting it another way, $4,308,082.93 of the company's receipts was returned to the public as payment for certain rights, granted by the public, in the form of laws and ordinances.

THINK WHAT IT MEANS.

Now try to realize what $4,308,082 really means! It is easy enough for you to read figures, but this is an age of such big things and you are so used to reading about millions that a statement involving the payment of $4,300,000 might be passed over without its full significance impressing itself on your mind. That is, unless the money, or a part of it, was coming to you direct.

Very often an illustration helps one to a clearer conception of a fact of great magnitude; and PUBLIC SERVICE will try two or three illustrations in this case.

All the PUBLIC SERVICE revenue comes from street car fares and from the sales of gas and electricity.

GETTING THE CASH TO PAY.

To get $4,308,082.93 from street railway receipts, PUBLIC SERVICE would have to carry 86,161,638 passengers at five cents each. That's equal to 14,360,273 a year for six years, or about 40,000 a day for every day that PUBLIC SERVICE has been in business.

If $4,308,082.93 had to come from the revenues of the gas department it would be the same as taking the total amount of the monthly gas bills paid by something like 144,000 householders during an entire year.

If the $4,308,082.93 were to be paid from the income of the electrical department it would require every dollar that would be received for the lighting, by electricity, of some 108,000 homes for a whole year.

This shows, in a way, that $4,308,000 is certainly a lot of money. But great a sum as it is, it doesn't come near showing how much taxes, special and otherwise, PUBLIC SERVICE pays in the aggregate. PUBLIC SERVICE will show that later.

GOLF.

The spring tournament of the Eastern Trade Golf Association will be held over the links of the Nassau Country Club on June 3. As usual, a varied program has been mapped out, consisting of a four ball foursome handicap in the morning, an approaching and putting contest at noon and an eighteen hole medal play handicap in the afternoon.

The tournament committee consists of J. Barton Garfield, captain; Richard B. Hunt, William H. Thayer and M. E. Danforth. C. N. Brize is president of the association and A. S. Armagnac the secretary.

In the one-day East Jersey Golf League tournament at the Canoe Brook Country Club on Saturday the Forest Hill Field Club quartet won the team contest with a total of 697 for thirty-six holes. Glen Ridge was second, with 708, and Canoe Brook third, with 733. The morning handicap was won by T. G. Smith, of Glen Ridge, with 83, 12—71. In the gross score competition at thirty-six holes, H. D. Smith, of Glen Ridge, and Harry Allsopp, of Forest Hill, led with 166.

A thirty-six hole professional match has practically been arranged between Alec Smith, of the Wykagyl Country Club, and Isaac Mackie, of Fox Hills. It is the result of a remark made by a Fox Hills member to the effect that he did not believe there was a golfer living capable of beating Mackie over his home links at Fox Hills. Others thought differently, so that the chances are the Eastern professional champion and the former national title holder will meet early in June at Fox Hills.

Merritt E. Haviland, of the Republican Club, has offered a cup to be played for by members of the club on the Dunwoodie links within the next few weeks. The contest will be a thirty-six hole match against par, with no handicaps. H. H. Buckley is secretary of the committee. Some of those who are expected to compete are Luther B. Little, Charles H. Young, Moses M. McKee, Representative Parsons, Job E. Hedges, William H. Evans, William Leary and Henry Birrell.

Miss Ethel Stone, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting here, has returned home.

Miss Harriett Wall, of New York, has returned home after a visit with Plainfield friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Phillips, of New York, are visiting William F. Hamilton, of Verdon street.

1780—"Dark day" in New England; darkness commenced at 11 a. m. and covered the country from New York city to Maine.

1790—General Israel Putnam, famous Revolutionary soldier, died; born 1718.

1906—George McNeil, noted labor leader, called the "father of the eight hour day," died; born 1827.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

Sun sets 7:10, rises 4:34; moon sets 7:39 p. m.; 6:26 p. m., moon in conjunction with Venus, passing from west to east of the planet 1 degree south thereof; a beautiful close conjunction, too near the sun to be seen; 10:30 p. m., all Jupiter's four outer satellites seen evenly spaced, close to planet on west; 11 a. m., planet Mercury at greatest elongation east of the sun, hence plainly visible for several evenings, low in west, after sunset.

Plainfield, N. J., May 19, 1909.

COMING EVENTS.

May 29—Steeplechase. Fourth annual meet of Watchung Hunt Club on its grounds. Six events. Cups and purses.

June 10, 11 and 12—Horse Show. Sixth annual exhibition of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club on its park. Fifty-four classes. Twenty cups, including those offered by Reginald C. Vanderbilt and Thomas W. Lawson, and many cash prizes.

June 19—Bench Show. First annual exhibition of the Plainfield Kennel Club at the Horse Show grounds. 746 classes. Over 100 trophies, including numerous cups.

July 5, 6 and 7—Charter Day. Biggest celebration of its kind ever given in New Jersey. Conducted by the Board of Trade. July 5—Industrial, civic, fraternal, benevolent, social organizations parade and athletic events; July 6—Automobile, motorcycle and bicycle parade and sports; July 7—Firemen's parade and mummers' parade. Handsome prizes offered in every event. Fireworks and band concerts nightly.

CHARTER DAY!

Nothing of the kind that has ever taken place in New Jersey can be compared with the promised program for the Charter Day celebration to be held here on July 5, 6 and 7, under the supervision of the progressive Board of Trade. This is the assurance given by the chairmen of the committees working most energetically for the success of the greatest undertaking ever attempted in "The City Beautiful," whose claim to greatness as a model and advanced municipality is not confined to the State in which it is situated.

Plainfield has ever been known for superb civic pride and for its consequent unexcelled government. Two months hence, the municipality will have reached its fortieth year as a chartered city and it is to appropriately commemorate this fact that the demonstration is planned. In truth, the project is on a broader scale for the ultimate aim is to tell it out among the homeseekers in other parts, particularly among the cramped apartment-dwellers in New York what we have to offer. The campaign of publicity inaugurated by the Board of Trade in New York papers, particularly in the Herald, has had results that have surpassed the most sanguine expectations. There will be no let-up in that policy, but in addition this celebration is arranged to draw attention to our city.

Readers of The Daily Press have been kept informed of the elaborate plans for the huge demonstration. It is, therefore, useless to rehearse here the programs for parades, band concerts, fireworks' display and the multitude of other attractions. What we want our readers to do is to open up their purse strings and contribute, according to their means, the few thousands that will be needed to defray the expense. This appeal will not be in vain, as experience has demonstrated. We want them also to write to their friends extending an invitation to visit this city during the Charter Day celebration. Do it now!

"THE CITY BEAUTIFUL."

Of the many booklets advertising Plainfield as the ideal suburban community, none equals in attractiveness the recent publication of the Central Park Realty Company. The booklet in question, "The City Beautiful," presents in a concise, interesting and convincing form the multitude of advantages offered to home-seekers; advantages that certainly cannot be offered by any other city in New Jersey and in all probability by any other municipality in the East. This may seem like a vain boast, but certainly none who has resided within our gates or who has visited this queenly city will dare dispute the assertion. If this reads like an advertisement for the Central Park Realty Company, all the better. It is entitled to all the free publicity it can get for it has heralded abroad in a most effective manner the grandeur of "The City Beautiful."

Perhaps we sometimes think that Plainfield can learn a good deal from New Brunswick x x x—New Brunswick Home News.

Evidently someone's think-tank is out of order.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

During the past year the First Baptist church has lost twelve members by death.

The Sunday-school of the Temple Baptist church is preparing and rehearsing a fine program for Children's Day.

Danish Lutheran services will be held in the W. C. T. U. rooms tonight at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Beck, of Brooklyn, will preach.

Copies of the minutes of the Newark Conference have been received at the First M. E. church and can be obtained of the pastor.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel will hold a Pilgrim's Progress service tonight. The subject will be "At the Cross."

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed church will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Mrs. Kuenlen's home, 912 West Front street.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will hold an all-day sewing meeting at the Park Golf Club, Friday. Each member will furnish her own lunch.

Ascension Day services will be held Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at St. Peter's Lutheran church, in charge of Rev. John Duerschner, pastor. It will be a German service.

SMOKERS' PASTOR GIVEN BIG SEND-OFF BY MEN.

Smoking during sermons may be resumed in the new Men's Church at Atlantic City, to be placed in charge of the Rev. Sydney Goodman, according to his announcement, which arouse enthusiasm among the 2,000 men who gathered in Morris Guards' Armory last night at the meeting of the Men's Club, another enterprise of the up-to-date pastor, held last night to bid the Rev. Goodman goodbye before his coming trip to Europe.

Business and hotel men, political leaders and heads of local professions joined in the applause, and promised financial aid to the new enterprise. The church is to be located in North Ohio avenue, where ground with a temporary building has already been secured to start the work early in the fall.

The meeting las night was one of the greatest demonstrations ever given any man in Atlantic City. Speakers, including President Joseph Salus, of the Business League; Exalted Ruler Theodore Schimpf, of the Elks, both of which had big delegations present. State Labor Commissioner Lewis T. Bryant and Judge Williamson were also among the speakers.

Admirers of the doughty pastor, who has forced surrneder of critics who objected to his introduction of pipes and vaudeville in his Men's Church, made up a purse of gold, which was presented to him to pay the expenses of his coming trip.

"This smoking idea has not been abondoned by any means," declared the Rev. Mr. Goodman. "A great deal of good fellowship comes from the pipe. We are trying our best to wipe out class lines in the work of building a higher brotherhood of man, and we shall use anything that serves to that purpose.

The Acme Sleeve Board

One of the handiest little articles for household and laundry use. Can be adjusted to the ironing board or table and is just the thing for ironing and pressing sleeves, yokes, baby garments, etc. It saves ½ the labor in ironing shirt waists, and does away with the crease in the sleeve, as the sleeve slips over the board and don't have to be ironed double as heretofore.

NOVEL SCHEME TO AID RECTOR.

Jersey City, May 19.—In order to enable the rector of St. John's Episcopal church to visit all of his 3,400 members of the parish oftener than three years, as has been the average visits, the "Lend-a-Car" Guild of auto owners has been formed, the object being for each car owner to lend his car to the rector one afternoon in each month from October until June.

The car is to be used exclusively by the rector in making calls. A schedule has been prepared and the plan of service is for each member to have a definite week of each month assigned, and on Sunday or Monday of that week to notify the rector as to which afternoon the car will call for him. If he chances to have some other engagement he forfeits the car for that week.

HASTE TO REACH WORK FATAL

Frederick Harrison is dead at Trenton as the result of a fall down stairs yesterday. He tripped over a rug and plunged to the bottom of the flight of steps, sustaining a fractured skull.

Harrison held the record with his employers for prompt appearance every morning. Yesterday morning he slept late and his haste to keep up his good record brought about his death.

Y.M.C.A. BOYS' GYM. LEADERS AND BASKETBALL TEAM

Y. M. C. A. Boys' Leaders.

The boys' basketball team of the Y. M. C. A. has completed its season and out of thirty-two games the youngsters were victors in all but two. They were defeated by the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A. and the Battin High School, of Elizabeth. The success of the five was due to excellent team work. Captain Ulmer deserves much credit for his interest and fine playing. Naylor, Manley and Vail are also entitled to credit for good work, while Campbell and Miller were considered the two best members of the team. The five will probably be rivals for places on the senior team next season. The team is composed of Clifford Vail, Louis Ulmer, captain; Richard Campbell, Bergen Baylor, Russell Miller, Alfred Manley, with George Listman, manager.

One of the special departments of the association established for the boys was that of gymnasium leaders. Each class picked from its members boys who excelled in their work, and made leaders of them. The boys met once a week and once a month were treated to a dinner. Alfred Manley was president and Clifford Vail secretary. Those in the class are Henry Kenney, Clifford Vail, L. W. Ulmer, Bergen Naylor, Ruskin Watts, Alfred Manley, Andrew McDonough, Raymond Manley, Russell Miller and Theodore Champlin.

FANCY DRESS BASEBALL GAME FOR ELIZABETH.

Elizabeth society is deeply interested in the coming fancy dress baseball game between the bachelors and the benedicts of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club. The game will be played on the club grounds on the afternoon of May 21. It promises to be one of the most novel events the Entertainment Committee has ever planned.

Because Mr. Barrett Littell and Mr. "Gus" Brown will be the battery for the bachelors, the odds favor that team. The benedicts, however, have plenty of good baseball material and promise a surprise. John A. Cissel is captain of the benedicts' team, and Norman F. Charlock is captain of the bachelor nine. Hugh Nelson and Archibald W. Mackintosh will be the umpires.

The Dutch Arms to Meet.

The regular meeting of The Dutch Arms of Trinity Reformed church will be held Friday night. An entertainer will be present and an evening of enjoyment will be given all who attend.

G. A. R. MEN TO DEDICATE BATTERY ARROWSMITH.

Two pieces of artillery at the entrance to the North Shrewsbury river were dedicated as Battery Arrowsmith with proper ceremonies by Arrowsmith Post today at Red Bank. The post learned that the government intended to place two cannon on the Sandy Hook jeninsula and after correspondence with the War Department, Captain Charles B. Parsons, of the post, received sanction to so name the cannon.

On Decoration Day details from the post will decorate the graves of departed comrades in the cemeteries at Middletown, Fair View, Little Silver, Shrewsbury and Holmdel.

Among them will be those of six comrades who died during the past year—Harvey Jenkins, John Warneker, Rev. Charles E. Hill, department chaplain; Benjamin S. Payne, Thomas Havens and John Vanderbilt.

—Miss Culberson, of this city, has been admitted to the training school of Muhlenberg Hospital as a pupil nurse.

STONE ROAD!

Sealed proposals will be received by the County Road Committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., at the Court House, Elizabeth, New Jersey, at 3:00 p. m., on Thursday, June 10, 1909, for the construction of a Macadam Road on Terrill Road, beginning at South Avenue and extending to Raritan Road.

The length of the roadway between said points is about 9,982 lineal feet. The width of the stone-work is sixteen (16) feet.

The estimated quantities of the work are as follows:

Excavations	27,367 cubic yards
Excavations outside road	2,306 cubic yards
Macadam	17,900 square yards
Macadam driveways	240 square yards
Belgian Block gutters	44 square yards

Plans, profiles and specifications for this work may be examined at the office of the County Engineer, 201 Park Avenue, Plainfield, New Jersey.

Bidders must enclose with their proposals a certified check for One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) made payable to the order of Benjamin King, Director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., as a guarantee that if the contract be awarded to such bidder, the bidder will enter into an agreement with the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union for the performance of the work according to the specifications.

The said Board of Chosen Freeholders or its Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the County.

Seashore Real Estate.

PORTAUPECT ON THE SHREWSBURY—The Portaupeck Realty Company is building a bungalow colony on its magnificent property which lies on the banks of the Shrewsbury and adjoins Long Branch and Monmouth Beach. This property lies high and from it there is a commanding view of the water and the green hills beyond. The beach is sandy and sloping. The water is clear and clean. The Shrewsbury is famous for its fine fishing, crabbing and boating. A handsome clubhouse, with bowling alleys and tennis courts is now under construction for the exclusive use of lot-holders. The inland lot-holder has the use of the community pier, giving to them the same advantages as a water front owner at a much more moderate cost. Thirty bungalows are now under construction. This property must be seen to be appreciated. The property is highly restricted against all nuisances and deep driven artesian well water is now being installed in all the houses, which are also equipped with electric lights, and the very latest modern plumbing and bath-room fixtures. There are first class ranges in the kitchens and artistic fireplaces of stone in the reception rooms. The sizes of the bungalows range from five to eight rooms and the prices from $2,000 to $3,500, including the plot, 50x150 feet. The famous Portaupeck Inn is convenient for those wishing to avoid the cares of housekeeping. All in all an ideal spot for the home-seeker and from an investment stand-point. Convenient terms can be arranged. Send for booklets, yours for the asking. For further particulars write, or see Charles Matt, Portaupeck Realty Co., 1328 Broadway, telephone 1266-38th, New York city, or your own broker. 5 14 6

CENTRAL PARK—If you have not visited Central Park lately you will be surprised to see the many fine improvements underway, by prominent individuals. You will find them on Hillside at Prospect, also at Martine. On Kensington at Prospect and on Park avenue at Arlington place. Central Park is the attraction, the magnet, which is slowly but surely drawing the home-lover and the investor to its center. With its rigid restrictions as to style and cost of dwellings, against nuisances of all kinds, against shops, locations of stables and garages and its uniform building line it comes very near covering every point for your protection. When you buy at Central Park you do not have to live on promises. The history of past developments teems with glorious promises unfulfilled. Ours are fulfilled. Our streets are curbed and macadamized and cement walks are laid. Shade trees planted; sewer, water, gas and electric lights are all installed. Our prices are reasonable. Plots and dwellings can be purchased on most convenient terms. Send for our new booklet, free for the asking. For further particulars see Charles Matt, Central Park Realty Co., Prospect and Edgewood avenues, telephones 1355 or 486-R, Plainfield, or your own broker. 5 14 6

MANY ENTRIES FOR THE WHIPPANY RACES

Extensive preparations are being made by the Whippany River Club for its race meet at its course near Morristown on Saturday afternoon. The entry list is almost completely filled and the club looks forward to an excellent day's sport.

The flat course is unchanged from previous years, but the steeplechase course has been lengthened, the horses now starting and finishing on the polo field immediately in front of the grandstand, and in addition there are two jumps on the polo field in plain view of the parking spaces and club inclosure. This makes the start and finish of all races plainly visible from the parking spaces, club inclosure and grandstand, and affords a fine view of the greater part of the cross-country races. The fences, rails and jumps are all being renewed this year with new timbers.

Luncheon has been arranged for several hundred persons. 'Buses will meet trains to transport passengers to the Whippany River Club, and at the end of the meet will take them to the station. The club's officers are: Benjamin Nicoll, president; Leslie D. Ward, vice-president; George E. Dadmun, secretary; Francis H. Kinnicutt, treasurer.

The list of events follows:

First Race, Farmers' Race—Horses regularly worked on farms in Morris or Somerset county.

Second race, for half-bred bona-fide hunters.

Third race, for galloways, fifteen hands or under.

Fourth race, Whippany Cup, for bona-fide hunters, regularly hunted with the Essex Hounds.

Fifth race, hacks and hunters, four years old or over.

Sixth race, for thoroughbred bona-fide hunters.

GOVERNOR MAY NAME MR. BAIRD'S SUCCESSOR

Attorney General Wilson has prepared an opinion in which he holds that Governor Fort can name ad interim a man to the State Board of Assessors. In conformity with this opinion, the Governor will today name another man than David Baird to the board.

Thus at last the South Jersey leader, the so-called "boss" for so many years, will be put out in the cold. The turndown of Baird is regarded at Trenton as a rebuke to those in charge of the Public Service Corporation dinner to Baird and other politicians on Saturday night at Rumson Hill. This dinner was intended to show the Governor how powerful friends Baird had, but it had the opposite effect of that intended.

The Constitution says the Governor may make ad interim appointments to all boards. Nothing has been allowed to leak out as to who Baird's successor will be.

The machine leaders now threaten that if Baird is turned down the Republican leaders will be driven together as they have not been together since Governor Fort came into office, and that they will fight him solidly during the rest of his term. The Governor's friends say he is not averse to a conflict if one is sought.

ARREST YOUNG THIEF; CONFESSES HIS GUILT.

William Kelley, Jr., better known as "Doc" Kelley, aged 16 years, was arrested by the Westfield police Sunday night in a barn belonging to S. D. Winter, on Rahway avenue, Westfield. "Doc" was wanted by the police, who believed that he knew about some of the recent robberies in the town.

Chief O'Neill and Sergeant Caufield have been bsuy looking for Kelley ever since the robbery at Albert E. Snyder's storm on Elm street, Westfield. Kelley admitted to the police that he robbed the Snyder store of $15, and C. F. W. Wittke's store of $3.

After robbing the Snyder store and while the police were scouring the town in search of the thief, Kelley lay down alongside the brook under Broad street, where he slept until morning.

The boy journeyed to New York several times and spent the money which he stole. The police are inclined to believe that Kelley knows something about the other robberies at Westfield. Kelley was an inmate of the Jamesburg Reform School for fourteen months and only recently left that institution.

When arraigned before Judge Toucey Sunday night he pleaded guilty to robbing the Snyder and Wittke stores. He will be sent to the county jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

HELPFUL WORDS.

From a Plainfield Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?

Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region?

These symptoms indicate weak kidneys;

There is danger in delay.

Weak kidneys fast get weaker.

Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.

They strengthen weak kidneys.

Read this Plainfield testimony.

Mrs. Oliver Voorhees, 21 Stone street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Mr. Voorhees publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills in 1905 and I am now glad to confirm all he said at that time. He suffered from attacks of backache for years and the trouble would not yield to any treatment. His whole body was often very lame and sore and he had quite a bit of trouble from the irregular action of the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills, which he procured at Randolph's pharmacy, helped him from the first and in a short time drove all sypmtoms of kidney complaint from his system. Since then he has never ceased praising this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PATENTED

This is the Square Pot of the BOYNTON FURNACE

that saves fuel and dollars and will heat the whole of a house. In every great engine and under every big boiler you'll find a square fire box. Ever noticed it? Well—we have adapted that principle to our furnaces. A square pot gives a clean, hot, clinkerless fire without waste of fuel. It requires the least attention and responds instantly. BOYNTON furnaces only have square fire-pots. It is our patent. There are other improvements. A square ash pit that improves the draft and makes removal of ashes easier. A pure air supply—for health's sake. A dust flue that saves the rooms above.

Look up the BOYNTON dealer in your town and talk it over.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

ROSALIND AT RED GATE

MEREDITH NICHOLSON

Copyright, 1907, by Bobbs-Merrill Company

I stammered a moment, dimly recalling Orlando's reply in the play. I did not know whether she were daring me; and this was certainly not the girl's mood as we had met at St. Agatha's. My heart leaped and the blood tingled in my finger-tips as memory searched out the long-forgotten scene; and suddenly I threw at her the line:

"'How if the kiss be denied?'"

She shrugged her shoulders.

"The rehearsal has gone far enough. Let us come back to earth again."

But this, somehow, was not so easy. Far across the lake a heavy train rumbled, and its engine blew a long blast for Annandale. I felt at that instant the unreality of the day's events, with their culmination in this strange interview on the height above the lake. Never, I thought, had man parleyed with woman on so extraordinary a business. In the brief silence, while the whistle's echoes rang round the shore, I drew away from the bench that had stood like a barricade between us and walked toward her. I did not believe in her; she had flaunted her shameful trickery in my face; and yet I felt her spell upon me as through the dusk I realized anew her splendid height, the faint disclosure of her noble head and felt the glory of her dark eyes. She did not draw away, but stood quietly, with her head uplifted, a light scarf caught about her shoulders, and on her head a round sailor's cap, tipped away from her face.

"You must go back; I must see you safely to St. Agatha's," I said.

She turned, drawing the scarf close under her throat with a quick gesture, as though about to go. She laughed with more honest glee than I had known in her before, and I forgot her duplicity, forgot the bold game she was playing, and the consequences to which it must lead; my pulses bounded when a bit of her scarf touched my hand as she flung a loose end over her shoulder.

"My dear Mr. Donovan, you propose the impossible! We are foes, you must remember, and I cannot accept your escort."

"But I have a guard about the house; you are likely to get into trouble if you try to pass through. I must ask you to remember our pledge, that you are not to vex Miss Pat unnecessarily in this affair. To rouse her in the night would only add to her alarm. She has had enough to worry her already. And I rather imagine," I added, bitterly, "that you don't propose killing her with your own hands."

"Is it a Bargain?"

"No; do give me credit for that!" she mocked. "But I shall not disturb your guards, and I shall not distress Aunt Pat by making a row in the garden trying to run your pickets. I want you to stay here five minutes—count them honestly—until I have had time to get back in my own fashion. Is it a bargain?" She put out her hand as she turned away—her left hand. As my fingers closed upon it an instant the emerald ring touched my palm.

"I should think you would not wear that ring," I said, detaining her hand, "it is too like hers; it is as though you were plighted to her by it."

"Yes; it is like her own; she gave it—"

She choked and caught her breath sharply and her hand flew to her face.

"She gave it to my mother, long ago," she said, and ran away down the path toward the school. A bit of gravel loosened by her step slipped after her to a new resting place; then silence and the night closed upon her.

I threw myself upon the bench and waited, marveling at her. If I had not touched her hand; if I had not heard her voice; if, more than all, I had not talked with her of her father, of Miss Pat, of intimate things which no one else could have known, I should not have believed that I had seen Helen Holbrook face to face.

CHAPTER IX.

The Lights on St. Agatha's Pier.

On my way home through St. Agatha's I stopped to question the two guards. They had heard nothing, had seen nothing. How that girl had passed them I did not know. I scanned the main building, where she and Miss Pat had two rooms, with an intervening sitting room, but all was dark. Miss Helen Holbrook was undeniably a resourceful young woman of charm and wit, and I went on to Glenarm House with a new respect for her cleverness.

I was abroad early the next morning, retracing my steps through St. Agatha's to the stone bench on the bluff with a vague notion of confirming my memory of the night by actual contact with visible, tangible things. The lake twinkled in the sunlight, the sky overhead was a flawless sweep of blue, and the foliage shone from the deluge of the early night. But in the soft mold of the path the prints of a woman's shoe were unmistakable. I bent down and examined them; I measured them—ungraciously, indefensibly, guiltily—with my hand, and rose convinced that the neat outlines spoke of a modish bootmaker, and were not apt to be explained away as marking the lightly-limned step of a fairy or the gold-sandaled flight of Diana. Then I descended to St. Agatha's and found Miss Pat and Helen loitering tranquilly in the garden.

They gave me good morning—Miss Pat calm and gracious, and Helen in the spirit of the morning itself, smiling, cool, and arguing for peace. Deception, as a social accomplishment, she had undoubtedly carried far; and I was hard put to hold up my end of the game. I have practiced lying with postmasters in the art—the bazar keepers of Cairo, horse dealers in Moscow and rug brokers in Teheran; but I dipped my colors to this amazing girl.

"I'm afraid that we are making ourselves a nuisance to you," said Miss Pat. "I heard the watchmen patroling the walks last night."

"Yes; it was quite feudal!" Helen broke in. "I felt that we were back at least as far as the eleventh century. The splash of water—which you can hear when the lake is rough—must be quite like the lap of water in a moat. But I did not hear the clank of arms."

Randolph Got His Bumps.

Clifford Randolph, the Plainfield boy, who started with the Newark Eastern League Club this season and was afterward sold to the Williamsport Tri-State League club, and more recently sold to the Binghamton, New York League club, was given his first try-out in the box yesterday against Scranton, and he surely did get "his bumps." The opposing team gathered fourteen hits off his delivery and he did not seem to have a thing which could not be easily solved. Binghamton was defeated by a score of 10 to 1, Randolph fanned five and blanked Scranton in four innings.

Injured by Corn-Cutting Machine.

Rudolph Machtigal, aged seventeen years, employed by Archibald Steengrafe at South Plainfield, caught his right hand in a corn-cutting machine at the latter place, yesterday afternoon and injured it to such an extent that it was necessary to amputate the first finger at the first joint, which was done at the hospital. The young man returned home later in the day.

"TRAFFIC COP" IS INSANE

W. W. Elliott, Piscataway Man Who Stopped Vehicles, Sent to Asylum.

A NUISANCE TO THE POLICE.

Aged Former Postoffice Employe Was Only Released From Morris Plains Last Fall.

Plainfield's self-appointed traffic "cop," William Wallace Elliott, was arrested yesterday afternoon on West Front street by Patrolman Charles Flynn, and was today committed to the State asylum for the Insane at Morris Plains. Examined by City Physician C. B. Lufburrow and Dr. J. H. Carman at police headquarters last night, the man was declared insane. Elliott's himself is heart-broken over the action of the police in interrupting his duties as controller of the traffic in the business section of the city. For the past week he has been on his job day and night, although the police have urged him to return to his home in South Plainfield.

Arraigned for creating a disturbance in the brick pavement section about a week ago, Elliott told City Judge William N. Runyon that he felt it his duty to secure better traffic arrangements. He secured a whistle and a section of a broom-handle for a club and went right on the job. He would dart into the street in front of an automobile or trolley car, stand directly in its path and signal it to stop. Some sudden stops had to be made and Elliott, who is more than fifty years of age, had some narrow escapes from being run down. When the vehicle would stop, the "traffic cop" would stand aside, blow his whistle, and with a lordly bow, allow the driver to proceed.

Elliott is songful, too. When he would become tired from his duties as policeman, he would seat himself on the curbstone and start singing. Upon the completion of his "selection," he would applaud himself loudly and long, and these subjective encores always resulted in more singing.

The "traffic cop," who told Judge Runyon that he has been crazy since he has been eleven years old, was discharged from Morris Plains last fall. He is a widower and has a son and a married daughter. When Postmaster Wallace Vail was in charge of the local postoffice, Elliott was an employe. Freeholder Bunting, of Piscataway, Overseer of the Poor John M. Dayton, of Piscataway, and Dr. Whitford, of Dunellen, were at police headquarters today, when the commitment papers were completed. Elliott spent a sleepless night in his cell, talking about his plans for regulating traffic much to the disgust of a fellow-prisoner.

PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE FOR CHURCH BUILDING FUND.

The progressive euchre given by the Rosary Society of St. Joseph's church in Debele Hall, last night, was attended by over 300 people. The affair was the largest and most successful ever given by the society and all who attended were more than pleased with the evening's entertainment. The proceeds will go to the building fund of the church.

The largest number of points were scored by Mrs. Andrew Kenney, Miss Sarah Gilligan, Mrs. Thomas Goff, David Doyle and C. R. Kirkner. At the conclusion of the play the balance of the evening was spent in dancing. The music was furnished by Paroubeck's orchestra.

Those on the committee of arrangements were Mrs. Andrew Kenney, Mrs. James Bailey and Mrs. Arthur Cannon.

Assessors Begin Their Work.

The Plainfield Board of Assessors began its work yesterday of making the annual assessment of both real and personal property. Assessors H. C. VanEmburgh and Asa F. Randolph made the rounds of the First and Second wards, while Assessors William T. Kirk and H. C. Runyon looked after the Third and Fourth wards. They found a large increase in real estate to assess, a great many new buildings having been erected during the past year and now in course of construction.

For a Spanish War Organization.

Planning the formation of union of Spanish War veterans in this city, Dr. Harold D. Corbusier has issued an invitation to all army and navy veterans, reguars and volunteers, who served between the years 1898 and 1902, to attend an organiation meeting to be held on the top floor of the City National Bank building tonight. There are about seventy-five former soldiers in this city.

ANNUAL STEEPLECHASE OFFICIALS ANNOUNCED

All the details for the annual steeplechase meet of the Watchung Hunt Club on Saturday afternoon, May 29, are rapidly being perfected and it promises to be the best in the history of the club. Considerable interest is being shown in the meet for the fact that it will be held for the first time at the club's grounds, where a fine course has been laid out. The entries are coming in rapidly and they include the best horses throughout this section of the State and New York.

The club has selected the following officials to serve at the meet:

Stewards for the meeting—J. Searle Barclay, Jr., of Morristown; Frederic Bull, of New York; H. L. Herbert, of Lakewood; Charles Pfizer, master of the hounds, Bernardsville. Judges—W. C. Cammann, of New York; Henry C. Collins, master of the hounds, Pittsburg. Paddock and patrol judge—Frederick W. Jones, Jr., of Gladstone. Starter—John Shields, of Bound Brook. Clerk of the couhse and scales—E. C. Smith, of New York.

This is the race committee from the hunt club: C. E. S. Bellows, chairman; Rufus C. Finch, Charles W. Fisk, Charles F. Wildey, Jr., and Lewis E. Waring, master of the hounds.

COMMISSION SOON TO SPRAY ELM TREES

The Shade Tree Commission is now making preparations to begin the annual spraying of the elms on the city streets to protect them from the elm-leaf beetle. This year the work will be done by two gangs of men instead of by the one that did the work last year, so that the whole city can be covered promptly and all the trees sprayed at the right time.

Arrangements have been made by which trees on private grounds may be sprayed at the same price that it costs to spray the street trees, if the commission is notified in advance, so that the spraying of such trees can be done when the men are working in the street near which such trees are located. An extra price may have to be charged if the men have to come back to do private spraying after they have sprayed the street trees in that section. Application should be made to the Shade Tree Commission at 151 North avenue. It is understood that R. P. Gay and some other local men will also do private spraying.

MAY DAY DANCE AT HOLY CROSS PARISH HOUSE.

The May Day dance given at the parish house of the Church of the Holy Cross, last night, by Miss Eva Kelly, was a success. About sixty couples attended the affair. The parish house was attractively decorated with dogwood, which with its white flowers and green branches was very effective.

The gowns worn by the young women were attractive and the men with light trousers and dark coats, combined to make a prety picture. While all the dances were enjoyed, the May Pole Cotillion was undoubtedly the best one on the card. With the May pole in the centre, with long streamers attached and sixty couples executing this figure, the young people had a jolly time.

Miss Eva Kelly and Leslie Stewart were the cotillion leaders and many of the figures they introduced were original. The young women brought baskets of lunch and ice cream and lemonade were served by the committee in charge.

Local Friends' Delegate.

At the Plainfield monthly meeting of the Religious Society of Friends held last evening several items of special interest claimed attention. This meeting is one of a number in the east contributing a sum to defray the cost of providing seatts for a new meeting house in Pasadena, Cal., the only church belonging to the Liberal Friends in the Pacific coast. T. Frances Stryker was appointed to represent the local meeting at a summer school for religious and social stury to be held at Swarthmore College, Delaware county, Pa., for two weeks in June.

Street Committee to Meet.

The Councilmanic street committee will meet tonight when steps will be taken to undertake some of the proposed improvements. It was planned sometime to thoroughly repair West Front street, but as yet nothing has been done. That thoroughfare is in very bad condition and greatly in need of repairs. There is also important work to be done in other parts of the city.

MUST DELIVER DEED TO PISCATAWAY FARM

Charles Brickoff, of Piscataway township, succeeded yesterday in his suit in the Court of Chancery against the executors and twenty heirs of the Taylor Jelliffe estate to compel them to reorganize a contract which he had made with Taylor Jelliffe for the purchase of the farm which he had occupied for a number of years in Piscataway township.

Jelliffe came into the ownership of the property eight or nine years ago by the foreclosure of a mortgage. The Brickoff family then occupied the place, and Charles Brickoff proposed to Jelliffe to buy the place on installments and agreed to pay them the amount of money which Jelliffe had in the place. Jelliffe agreed to this proposition, and Brickoff continued to occupy the farm and paid moneys to Jelliffe from time to time. Before the entire amount was paid, however, Jelliffe became insane and later died.

As there was no written contract the executors of the Jelliffe estate refused to recognize to give him a deed when the small balance due was tendered them. They also claimed that there were certain trust provisions in the will and the rights of infant heirs in the estate which prevented them from recognizing the agreement.

Brickoff then brought suit in the Court of Chancery through his lawyer, Henry S. Suydam, to compel the executors and heirs to give him a deed to the property, and the case came to trial yesterday in Jersey City before Vice-Chancellor Garrison. The defendants were represented by Tennant and Haight, of Jersey City; Clark and Case, of Somerville, and Vredenburgh, Wall and Carey, of Jersey City. The complaint's interests were looked after by Counsellor Henry C. Suydam and Counsellor W. S. Angleman, of this city.

After hearing the testimony the Vice-Chancellor gave a decree in favor of the complainant and directed that a deed be given the complainant by the defendants on the complainant paying the balance of between $300 and $400 due under the agreement.

CONGREGATION GIVES THANKS FOR PROSPERITY

The thanksgiving service held at the Temple Baptist church, last night, in recognition of the success attained in establishing an independent church, was largely attended and at the close it was announced by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson, that $100 had been contributed by the members and friends of the church for home and foreign missions, and this was the cause of much rejoicing.

Rev. J. W. Musson was in charge of the service and he made an earnest address on "Consecration," which was followed with short addresses by U. B. Crane, Frank Stewart and Superintendent L. W. Randolph, of the Sunday-school. The tenor of the remarks was optimistic and there was also a special musical program. A little later another recognition service will be held of a more pretentious character, in which Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss and members of the First Baptist church will take part.

AND THE PRESS AGENT VOUCHES FOR THIS TALE.

While testing the sights of a new rifle to be used by her in the vaudeville act billed at Proctor's theatre as "Pastimes of the Western Plains," Miss Bessie Harding shot oc the tip of the second finger of the right hand of Bert Gudgeon, a performer in the act with her. The accident happened yesterday afternoon in the rear of the theatre building.

Gudgeon had previously been using the rifle, which was a new one, and had found it to be all right. Miss Harding took the weapon and after firing it several times, declared that the sights were not true. To prove the weapon, Gudgeon held a cartridge between his fingers and urged Miss Harding to shoot at it. She took careful aim and fired. The bullet went nearly an inch high, and clipped off the tip of Gudgeon's finger. The man was able to appear in the act at the performance last night.

Seek Other Quarters.

Washington Camp, No. 30, Patriotic Sons of America, met last night and discussed the proposition to lease other quarters for regular meetings. At present the camp meets in Junior Hall, but for several reasons a change is desired. The matter will be decided at the next meeting.

TRUSTEE FOR SAFE CO

Directors of Defunct Manganese to Wind Up the Concern's Affairs.

ARGUE FOR AN INJUNCTION.

Application Made to Permanently Restrain Sale of Company's Assets.

While Vice Chancellor Walker was making an order in the Court of Chancery, Trenton, advising the appointment of the directors of the Manganese Steel Safe Company, of this city, as trustees to wind up the affairs of the concern, final argument was heard before Vice Chancellor Howell in Trenton, on an application to make a temporary injunction permanent to prevent the sale of the assets as a whole. Decision was reserved. The petitioners are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rodman minority stockholders, who are represented by George Ball and Winfield S. Angleman.

The company has a plant here said to be worth $440,000, and the directors are Alexander C. Humphreys, Robert E. Jennings, Henry D. Hibbard, Howard D. White, James H. Sullivan, Knox Taylor, Lewis H. Taylor, Jr., Edward J. Jennings and Clifton P. Williamson.

The application for the appointment of the trustees was made by Pitney, Hardin & Skinner, of Newark, counsel for Henry D. Hibbard, of this city, complainant in the action, and was consented to by McCarter & English, of Newark, for the company. In the argument before Vice Chancellor Howell, John R. Hart, Judge Skinner and former Attorney-General McCarter represented the company.

The order directs the trustees to take charge of the assets of the company, to collect the debts and perform other duties necessary to the dissolution of the corporation. They are not to make any disposition of the assets except as directed by the Court of Chancery.

On March 5 last the directors resolved that the company should be dissolved as a corporation and that action was indorsed by the stockholders. Subsequently the certificate of dissolution was filed with the Secretary of State. The action for the appointment of trustees was taken to dispose of the property and other assets to the best advantage.

BASEBALL CARNIVAL WILL BEGIN SATURDAY

The Graybill Amusement Company, of Philadelphia, which will have charge of the carnival to be held at West Front street and Clinton avenue, under the auspices of the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club, arrived in the city this morning and the management is now busy getting everything in shape for the opening of the big affair on Saturday afternoon. The carnival will continue until Monday, May 31.

The carnival promises to be one of the best yet seen here and there will be at least thirty first-class attractions, many of them absolutely new in this part of the country. The amusement company is one of the best known and has a reputation for giving a high-grade entertainment. David B. Martin, captain of the ball team, is chairman of the general committee, and is assisted by all the members of the baseball club.

The Magistrate.

All who have been fortunate enough to witness the late rehearsals of "The Magistrate," to be given by members of The Park Comedy Club tomorrow night at the New Plainfield theatre, are enthusiastic in their praise of the efforts of the cast. Never before have the members of this club given such conscientious labor to any of their past productions. A Broadway cast could not be more perfect in all the details that the members of the club have been perfcting and when the eventful night comes and the curtain goes down for the last time, it is predicted that Plainfield will have seen one of the best amateur performances in its history.

Dog Ordinance in Effect.

The new dog ordinance went into effect in the borough today, but owners of canines will be given until Monday to procure the proper tags and to pay the $2 license fee. Owners, who fail to fulfill these requirements by that time, will be fined $20, according to Borough Clerk Fred Martin, who adds that all untagged dogs will be shot.

—Charter Day Celebration, July 5, 6 and 7.

N. J. EXEMPT FIREMEN ELECT JAMES MANNING

James Manning, of Elizabeth, was elected president at the twenty-third annual convention of the New Jersey Exempt Firemen's Association at Phillipsburg yesterday. The meeting was held in Parochial Hall at 11 o'clock, followed by dinner at Ortygia Hall and a parade of twenty-seven organizations. State President D. W. Littell, of Plainfield, presided.

After prayer by Monsignor Connelly, Mayor Firth welcomed the visiting firemen and extended the freedom of the town. The chief feature of the convention was the contest for the presidency between Manning and D. W. Littell, of this city, the incumbent. It was won by Manning by two votes out of a poll of 324. E. T. Humphrey, of Nutley, secretary, and Nicholas Snyder, of Trenton, treasurer, were re-elected without opposition.

The following vice-presidents were named for the ensuing year: Fred Kruston, J. L. Agnew, John Clancy, John Kenkle, J. E. Booth, H. R. Scott, E. H. Paulus, D. C. Benedict and John A. Burn.

The new executive committeemen are George Kenkle, H. G. Adams, P. W. Walsh, C. A. Howlett, W. J. Hagerman, James McDonald, James Fitzpatrick, J. C. Tier and John D. Perchner.

Seventy-one associations are enrolled in the organization, an increase of forty-one during the incumbency of the present secretary and of eight during the past year.

The treasurer's report showed receipts for the year of $913.71 and expenses of $549.87, with a cash balance May 18, 1909, of $381.90.

The selection of a place for holding the next convention was left to the executive committee.

The parade was viewed by hundreds of spectators an decorations and displays of the national emblem all along the route of the march gave the town a holiday appearance.

The feature of the parade that was most applauded and appreciated was the Newark Exempt Firemen's delegation of forty-two men, ranging in age from 62 to 83 years, with their unique hand pump of a hundred years ago.

The festivities closed with a ball at Ortygia Hall last night.

FATHER BOGAN STARTS ON EUROPEAN TRIP

Father B. M. Bogan, the popular pastor of St. Mary's church, was given a royal sendoff today noon, when he left on the Steamer Carpathia for Naples and an extended trip in foreign lands. Accompanying Father Bogan from this city were choir girls from the church, a delegation of children from the Parochial school, and representatives from Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, and the Ancient Order of Hibernians, all being present to wish him "bon voyage."

Father Bogan is one of a number of graduates of the American College in Rome, who went abroad, and they occupied the entire first cabin on the Carpathia, and while abroad they will visit the Eternal City and also receive an audience by the Pope. Father Bogan has assured the members of his parish that when he returns he will bring with him a blessing from the Pope for them. He will be abroad about three months and hopes that the change will fully restore him to health and strength.

Christian Alliance to Elect.

The annual election of the Christian and Missionary Alliance will take place at the meeting to be held tomorrow in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue. There will be a service of prayer and praise followed by reports from the superintendent and treasurer. The State superintendent, Rev. J. D. Williams, will be present.

Kitchen Shower for Bride-elect.

An all day sewing meeting of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church was held yesterday at the Park Golf Club. A special feature of the day's pleasure was a kitchen shower given to one of the members, Miss Ada Fountain, whose marriage to Robin C. Brown will take place in the near future.

CHARLES B. OVERBAUGH, AN INVENTOR, IS DEAD

Charles B. Overbaugh, of this city, an inventor of some note, died this morning following a long illness from a complication of disease. During the past year he was under treatment in a sanitarium, but his condition was such that the best of medical skill was unavailing. Mr. Overbaugh was born at Scotch Plains and spent his early life in this vicinity. After his marriage he lived in Baltimore for a time, later moving to Plainfield, where he continued to reside until about a year ago.

During recent years he turned his attention to works of invention, and among his most notable achievements were the invention of a non-refilliable bottle and a non-clogging salt-cellar, both being a success. The salt-cellar is used in hotels and restaurants throughout the entire country.

Mr. Overbaugh is survived by one daughter, who lives in New York; two sons, Charles F. and Paul Overbaugh, of this city; also four sisters, Mrs. Amos Gray, of this city; Mrs. Charles Dow, of Elizabeth, and two residing in Washington Territory, and two brothers, Sergeant Herbert L. Overbaugh, of the local police department, and T. W. Overbaugh, also of this city.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his son, Charles F. Overbaugh, 148 Fifth street, Friday night at 8 o'clock.

LINCOLN SCHOOL'S ANNUAL EXHIBITION

The pupils of the Lincoln School received their parents and friends this afternoon to see what has been accomplished during the year in sewing, wood-cutting, basketry, rug-making, drawing, etc. Since there is no assembly room in the building, the work of each class was shown in its own room.

In the Fifth grade the girls have sewing and the boys wood-cutting for the first time. The products exhibited showed not only painstaking work on the part of the teachers but interest in and love for the work on the part of the pupils. Many of the drawings would reflect credit on much more advanced pupils.

The manual training in the Fourth grade for both boys and girls is basketmaking. Some of the baskets with nicely fitted covers, show the deftness that the pupils have acquired—a skill which may be applied in a very practical way later in life.

The Third grade exhibited hammocks which made one long for summer days and shady trees. They also showed a great variety of rugs—in these as well as the hammocks, each child was allowed to follow his own fancy in arrangement of color and design. In addition to this work each pupil had a large card on which were mounted specimens of his own work, thus giving an excellent chance for comparison. The work of the little Second grade boys and girls was to furnish a house—constructing the furniture from heavy paper, decorating the wall paper, and weaving the floor covering. The completeness and daintiness with which the houses were furnished brought forth exclamations of admiration and surprise from old and young alike.

The mothers of the little people in the Firt grades were justly proud of their work. In one room a model farm and in the other a model village were represented on sand tables, everything made from paper from the pretentious churches and school buildings to the pump and watering-trough and the gay borders of tulips, sunflowers, fields of cabbage, etc.

The kindergarten had no formal exhibit although the room was made most attractive by the work which has been mounted from time to time during the year.

PROUD LITTLE BOW-WOW GREETS HANDSOME COP.

A black and white dog, wearing a neat fitting leather muzzle and a sporty-looking collar from which dangled a little brass tag, trotted cheerfully up to Patrolman Charles Flynn on Front street this morning and wagging his tail stood by the policeman. He is the first dog to be seen on the streets with one of the new license tags, and whereas last week he would have skulked past the officer on the other side of the street, today he acted as if he knew no one could find any fault with him.

The new licenses were issued for the first yesterday, and several dog-owners of this city secured them. The total cost is $2.50, and a muzzled canine wearing one of the little tags is now immune from the dog-catcher's net,—a member of the canine "Four Hundred."

BACON KILLED BY TRAIN

Real Estate Broker Mortally Hurt at the North Avenue Station.

HE DIES IN THE HOSPITAL.

The Victim, Francis M. Bacon, Aged Seventy-two Years, a Familiar Figure In This City.

Struck by the west-bound local train due in this city at 3:27 o'clock in the afternoon, Francis M. Bacon, a real estate broker, of 419 West Fifth street, was mortally injured at the North Avenue station yesterday, and died at Muhlenberg Hospital twenty minutes after being taken there in an ambulance. The victim, who was 72 years of age, sustained a severely crushed foot and was bruised and cut about the head. The hospital physicians say that death resulted from shock; the aged man never recovered consciousness.

Mr. Bacon, who was negotiating the deal for the sale of the A. C. Bechstein place at Holly Park, had been in consultation with J. T. Vail at his North avenue office for half an hour before the accident. He left the broker to go to the station where he said he was to meet a man. As he approached the track, an east-bound train drew in, and Mr. Bacon, recognizing a friend in one of the cars, went out to the fence to talk with him at the window. His first intimation of the approaching 3:27 train was the warning whistle of the engine. Seeing the train, the old man became confused, and realizing that he could not escape injury by squeezing close to the fence, he tried to cross to the west-bound platform again. The train, which was moving very slowly, struck his foot, crushing it, and throwing Mr. Bacon. Bystanders rushed to his assistance as the train stopped, but shock and pain rendered the old man unconscious. He was removed to the hospital, where he died as an examination was being made.

Mr. Bacon had been a resident of this city for thirty-eight years, living at 419 East Fifth street. He was at one time a Republican, later a Greenback in politics, but of recent years has supported the Democratic party. He was one of the few Plainfielders who knew President Lincoln well. Mr. Bacon was a member of the Asbestos Club. His only living relative is a brother, residing in California. He was a familiar figure in the business section of the city for many years.

The accident is very similar to the one in which Mrs. I. V. Bond, of Newark, met her death, in 1901. She was struck and instantly killed by a fast train as she was about to take a train for home, after being here for the wedding of a niece.

The funeral service will be held from his late residence, 419 West Fifth street, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

KING'S DAUGHTERS.

Annual Meeting to Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon.

The City Union of King's Daughters will hold its annual meeting in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The devotional exercises will be lead by the Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church.

The meeting will be open to the public and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. The reports of last year's work will be read at the meeting.

Old-Time Minstrel Here.

George M. Devere, who appeared in a comedy act at the New Plainfield theatre, this week, is one of the old-timers, and will be remembered as one of the famous "Devere Brothers" in minstrelsy. He played last season with the Clansman Company and has been engaged for next season to appear in "The Traveling Salesman," he will take the part of the negro waiter. Mr. Devere is making a big hit in his black face work, giving one a true picture of the old-time minstrel. He played under the management of Harry S. Sanderson, of Proctor's theatre, when the latter was manager of Tony Pastor's theatre in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart's Plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, of West Seventh street, will leave Saturday for an extended trip abroad. They will visit France, Germany and various parts of England and will not return until early in the fall.

—It is a real pleasure to be able to get strictly fresh vegetables, such as Neuman Bros. offer, and in such a wide variety. The firm is very particular in its selections and patrons always get the pick of the market.

MR. AND MRS. EARL WED FIFTY YEARS.

Elizabeth, May 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Benton Earl last night celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding by entertaining a host of friends and relatives at their home on Conant street, in the suburbs of the city. All day there was a constant stream of wagons which contained gifts for the couple, both of whom are still alert and in good health, although past 70.

The Earl home, which at this time of the year is surrounded by lilacs and other spring blooms, was gaily arrayed with flowers and shrubbery and palms. The guests were received between 6 and 9 p. m. These came from Elizabeth, Newark, New York city, Staten Island, Morristown, South Orange, East Orange, Roselle, Brooklyn, Springdale, Pa., and elsewhere.

At 6 o'clock the house was well filled with guests and supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Earl were assisted in receiving by Miss Anna M. Crane, a sister of Mrs. Earl, and by Mrs. Henry H. Crane. Mrs. Earl wore a gown of silver gray silk, and with her husband actively participated in the function. Music was furnished by Taylor, of Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl were married on January 19, 1859, at their home in Magie street, Elizabeth, by the Rev. Nichols Murray, of the old First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Earl's maiden name was Marietta Allen, and she was born in New York city, 72 years ago. Mrs. Crane was born at Hawthorne and Elizabeth avenues, Newark, 73 years ago. They have lived thirty-eight years in their present home. The Earl family has resided in New Jersey since colonial times. The couple have eight children, eleven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Miss Sarah Maxwell, of Brooklyn, was one of those whose absence from the affair was greatly regretted. She was the bridesmaid of fifty years ago, and sent her regrets. There were several present who attended the ceremony in 1859. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. C. Earl, of Elizabeth; Miss Sarah Crane, of Morristown; Mrs. Wilbur Hedden, of South Orange, and Miss Anna M. Crane.

"INFANT" IN LAW BUT ASKED FOR ALIMONY.

Miss Bertha Masterson and Clifford Masterson, her husband, of Hightstown, both of whom are under twenty-one years of age and therefore infants in the sight of the law, were before the Court of Chancery Tuesday at Trenton. Mrs. Masterson sues for maintenance and alimony, on the charge of desertion. The feature of the suit is that being under age a guardian had to be appointed for each of them before Vice-Chancellor Walker could pass on the case. Mrs. Melvina Nowland, of Hightstown, mother of the complainant, was named by the court as guardian for her. Samuel K. Robbins, clerk in Chancery, was appointed guardian for Masterson.

After these preliminaries had been arranged, Vice-Chancellor Walker made an order directing Masterson to pay his wife alimony of $2.50 a week pending the final disposition of the suit. He also allowed her a counsel fee. They were married January 19, 1908. Mrs. Masterson claimed her husband deserted her soon afterward.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

James Fenner, the local hardware merchant on North avenue, made a lucky find of $6 yesterday morning while cleaning out the gutter in front of his store. Mr. Fenner saw a soiled envelope and curiosity caused him to pick it up.

James Vail, of Front street, who returned from the Muhlenberg Hospital a few days ago, was taken back yesterday. He was operated upon for appendicitis and upon returning home it was found the operation had not proved successful.

Mrs. Herbert L. Pearce, of New Market, who was operated upon a few days ago at the Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia, is reported to be recovering.

The reception to be given the Rev. Ernest Brown, the new pastor of the Presbyterian church, will take place tonight in the chapel.

George Huff, the expressman, is building a new ten-room house on Lincoln avenue. Theodore Apgar is doing the work.

SOMERVILLE.

An election of three members of the board of trustees of the Methodist church will be held on Wednesday evening May 26.

Miss Lewis, of Colorado Springs, reached Somerville yesterday afternoon, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Sartherwaite.

Lewis A. Thompson, who is spending the summer at his home at Lake Hopatcong, was in Somerville on Monday.

Dr. A. L. Stillwell, of North Bridge street, is ill at his home with a severe attack of rheumatism.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harper Smith, of Altamont place, left yesterday for Atlantic City.

WESTFIELD.

Westfield Council has ordered a special election for June 29 to decide on the retention of the voting machine in the First ward.

The Westfield Park Commission has secured options on several small pieces of property which they wish to convert into parks.

Street Superintendent Winters has put on a force of men to clean up all of the Westfield macadamized streets.

Sewer work on Harrison avenue extension will be completed this week and the street opened again.

Westfield Riding and Driving Club will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at Westfield Inn.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Congratulations.

We desire to congratulate Plainfield on the way in which it does many things. We have now before us the prize list of the sixth annual Plainfield Horse Show, which will be held by the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club on June 10, 11 and 12.

The prize list before us is a good illustration of the progress that has been made in the printing art, and of the progress that Plainfield is making toward becoming an ideal city.

Perhaps we sometimes think that Plainfield can learn a good deal from New Brunswick, but in our more modest moments we are willing to concede that perhaps we can learn a little from Plainfield. Both cities, in their own ways, are striving to make progress. Circumstances have forced them to proceed along somewhat different lines. Our ideals are not the same. But in many things Plainfield sets us an example that we can with advantage follow. Is the Horse Show, which will inevitably attract to Plainfield some very desirable persons, one of them?—New Brunswick Home News.

Automobilists Fined in Montclair.

Bruno Daree, of New York; Edward A. Brown, of East Orange, and John H. Irving, of Newark, were fined $5 at Montclair Monday on a charge of speeding their automobiles along Orange road last evening. Three other automobilists, Walter H. Walsh, of Newark; C. C. Groel, of Orange, and Chester Rogers, of Short Hills, who were also arrested last night, failed to appear for a hearing. The $20 cash bail which each deposited will be forfeited if they do not appear for a hearing within thirty days.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

The initial play for the Park Golf Club cup, scratch event, will be held on the club course Saturday, and there promises to be a large number of contestants. In the opening play for the President's cup, handicap event, last Saturday, there was a big entry list. Tennis play will also be started this week.

The event of interest at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday will be the continuation of play for the Spring Handicap cups, which started off two weeks ago so auspiciously.

The active members of the Plainfield Country Club are now playing in mid-season form. This was indicated last Saturday, when R. S. Rowland put up a net score of 67 in the weekly play for the Spring Handicap cup, Class A.

Among the players at the Plainfield Country Club who are almost to the top of their game is W. Lester Glenney. He is especially strong in his approaching and putting, while his drives are accurate.

Jerome D. Travers, the amateur golf champion of the United States, will be pitted against W. A. Henderson, a strong member of the St. Andrews Club, in the first round in the British amateur championship tournament over the Muirfield course, which begins on May 25.

The drawings for the tournament were held yesterday and the American player is in a hard section and will have to meet the best men early in the tournament. The entries number 167, as against 197 a year ago.

Travers, with T. G. Stevenson, of Boston, as a partner, lost a foursome yesterday by one up. Their opponents were Edward Brickett and A. R. Altkin, Scotch amateurs.

fielders on the New York team did not have a chance on a fly ball.

Roger Bresnahan is "making good" with the St. Louis Nationals. He is not only manager and captain, but is responsible for most of the victories.

The Y. M. C. A. team will play the Orange association team on Crescent Oval, Saturday. This will be the hardest proposition for the locals this season. Decoration Day morning the association team and the Clinton Avenues will clash.

The Clinton Avenues will not play Saturday on account of the opening of the carnival. The management is arranging for another game with the McNulty Bros.' team, of New York. In the last game, the New Yorkers were victorious by a small score.

FOUNDER BRADLEY AND TAXES.

Asbury Park, May 20.—To guard against private parties buying up the lawn lying south and east of the Coleman House, on the ocean front, which will be offered for sale to satisfy back taxes amounting to $600 next Monday, Council Tuesday night appointed a committee to confer with James A. Bradley, the owner of the property. It will be the endeavor of the committee to secure title to the property, which is one of the beauty spots of the ocean front, and turn it into a public square or park. Mr. Bradley, who owns the property, allows it to be used by the hotel provided it is not obstructed with a building. In view of the fact that the hotel owners have a taxable interest in the land, Mr. Bradley refuses to pay the taxes. At previous sales Mr. Bradley has bought the property in himself, but it is said that he will make no attempt to do so at the coming sale. If Mr. Bradley is not disposed to give up his claim to the land the sale will be adjourned next Monday, and an effort will be made by the city to purchase the property. The city cannot bid at the sale if there are other bidders in competition.

Slips Barrel Over His Prisoner.

With an empty barrel Policeman Richard Schott, of Newark, Tuesday caught William Hughes, fifty years old, who was released from an asylum a few weeks ago, after having been confined for a year. Hughes was waving a cleaver about his head and defying any one to come near him. Schott talked with him and when an opportunity came seized the barrel and with a single movement swung it in such a manner that it went over the head of Hughes and fastened his arms to his side. With the assistance of a citizen the policeman then disarmed Hughes and took him to the station.

W. G. Mangan, of South avenue, who has been suffering with a severe affection of the left eye, is much improved.

Mrs. A. D. Edgar, of East Front street, who recently underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, returned home on Tuesday and is now rapidly improving.

DON'T BE DECEIVED.

New Yorkers should not be misled by misleading advertisements in Metropolitan papers apparently offering Plainfield realty at ridiculous prices. One concern is running a display advertisement which reads in bold type, "Plainfield, one-quarter acre for $95," and in small type through the word "Plainfield" is run the word "South." The offer is also made of five "city lots" at $19 per lot. South Plainfield is not a city; not even a borough. It is a village in Middlesex county, which has no means of communication with this city, three miles distant, except over a wagon road. Plainfield property is not and never has been on the realty bargain counter. We say this in response to inquiries from New York investors who might have been gulliable enough to believe that they were buying Plainfield property. Many of these advertisements, of other concerns, have appeared recently, and it is only fair to warn the public that South Plainfield is as near being Plainfield as the Hackensack meadows are to be being New York city.

ORDERS ISSUED FOR SEA GIRT ENCAMPMENT

Major General P. Farmer Wanser has issued the following orders, carrying out the encampment of the national guard at Sea Girt this summer. The full details of the plans have been worked out and the orders provide for a five weeks' camp.

A feature of this order is that no man, unless he has been elisted prior to March 31, is eligible for service at the camp. Men who have not had experience have gone there in the past, proving themselves the rawest kind of recruits, not knowing the first duties of a soldier, and the United States war department has asked that this thing stop.

The full order carrying out the 1909 encampment follows:

"Pursuant to special orders No. 6, office of the adjutant general, dated January 21, 1909, the several commands comprising the Division National Guard will encamp upon the State camp grounds at Sea Girt, N. J., as follows:

"First brigade—First Infantry and First Troop, Cavalry, Monday, July 19, to Saturday, July 24, inclusive; Fourth Infantry and Signal Corps, Monday, July 26, to Saturday, July 31, inclusive; Fifth Infantry and Battery A, Field Artillery, Monday, July 12, to Saturday, July 17, inclusive.

"Second brigade—Second Infantry and Battery B, Field Artillery, Monday, August 9, to Saturday, August 14, inclusive; Third Infantry and Second Troop, Cavalry, Monday, August 2, to Saturday, August 7, inclusive.

"The several organizations may enter camp on Saturdays, July 10, 17, 24, 31, and August 7 respectively; provided, it is understood that the troops so ordered will receive no pay for the additional two days.

"No enlisted man (original enlistment) unless enlisted prior to March 31 this year will be taken to encampment. Regimental, troop and battery commanders will cause their commands to be mustered each day of the encampment, and will allow no man to be present in uniform and as a part of the command who has not been regularly enlisted.

"Transportation, camp equipage and substitence will be furnished by the quartermaster general and commissary general, upon requisition duly approved.

"The troops so encamped will be paid by the paymaster general, as provided for in paragraph 123 of 'An act concerning the militia of the State,' approved May 16, 1906. Company pay rolls must show the correct names of the entire command, whether present for duty or not; the absentees will be marked 'absent with leace, 'absent without leave,' or 'absent sick,' as the case may be. No man will be paid for duty at camp whose name is not of record in the office of the adjutant general. To avoid delay in payment for services at camp, regimental, troop and battery commanders will cause the pay rolls to be audited and see that they are properly and correctly made before forwarding.

"The commanding officers of brigades, with their staffs, will encamp in the time of the organizations of their respective brigades and be in command of the camp during that period.

"The commanding officer of the First brigade will detail one commissioned officer, one corporal and four privates from Battery A, Field Artillery, for the purpose of firing salutes at the encampment, July 17 to 31, inclusive.

"The commanding officer of the Second brigade will detail one commissioned officer, one corporal and four privates from Battery B, Field Artillery, for the purpose of firing salutes at the encampment, July 31 to August 7, inclusive.

"The encampment hereby ordered will be named 'Camp Fort.'

"By command of Major General Wanser.

"Colonel, Chief of Staff.

STATEN ISLAND COURT REPRIMANDS MR. RADEL.

Stapleton, S. I., May 20.—Edward Radel, who resides near Bound Brook, N. J., was arraigned here Tuesday before Police Magistrate Marsh on a charge that on Sunday last he violated the auto speed law. He was reprimanded and the case dismissed.

Mr. Radel, with a number of companions, mostly from New Brunswick, N. J., had come over to Staten Island from New Jersey for an outing at Grant City. The Radel machine was spinning along the road near Tottenville when it was halted by a bicycle policeman. At Tottenville Rr. Radel was called on to furnish $100 security for appearance at Stapleton. He didn't happen to have the century with him, but he and his friends managed to scrape up the amount afer a while.

Mr. Radel is he present foreman of the Middlesex county (N. J.) Grand Jury.

The Acme Sleeve Board

One of the handiest little articles for household and laundry use. Can be adjusted to the ironing board or table and is just the thing for ironing and pressing sleeves, yokes, baby garments, etc. It saves ½ the labor in ironing shirt waists, and does away with the crease in the sleeve, as the sleeve slips over the board and don't have to be ironed double as heretofore.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION LEAGUE IS FORMED

Before adjournment last night the New Jersey State Branch of the National League for Industrial Education elected these officers at Elizabeth: H. G. Stoddard, of the Trenton Iron Company, Trenton, president; Dr. S. E. Robertson, of the Newark High School, vice-president; L. Johnson, of Cranford, secretary, and William Fellows Morgan, of Short Hills, treasurer.

In addition to these a Board of Trustees, composed of forty-five members, was also named. The nominating committee was composed of Professor J. J. Savitz, Superintendent of Union county schools; Richard E. Clement, Superintendent of Elizabeth schools, and Dr. Albert A. Snowden, national secretary of the Industrial League.

The formation of the State branch of the league was the principal feature of the session this afternoon. This was preceded by a visit of the delegates to the Singer and Standard Oil plants at Elizabeth, and the formation of a temporary organization, with Charles H. K. Halsey, of Elizabeth, as chairman, and William F. Groves as temporary secretary. Mayor Victor Mravlag welcomed the delegates. Other speakers both from before and after the banquet were Dr. George B. Hodge, secretary of the International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, of New York city; Thomas M. Balliot, of the School of Pedagogy, of New York city; Dr. William M. Hays, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, and Hugh D. King, of Bloomfield.

A constitution similar to that of the national body was adopted without a dissenting voice. This outlines the object of the organization and states that it is to obtain national, State and local co-operation in the promotion of industrial education.

STATE COMMISSION TALKS OVER THE AMENDMENTS

Fourteen of the twenty one counties in New Jersey were represented at th meting of the Republican State committee yesterday afternoon in house of ex-Governor Franklin Murphy, the State chairman. Notices were received from representatives of the missing counties stating that, owing to other pressing engagements, they were unable to be present.

Secretary Edward W. Gray, of the committee, after the meeting, said:

"The meeting of the State committee was called in accordance with the by-laws, which provide for quarterly meetings. There was a general interchange of views upon matters affecting the welfare of the party, and a concurrence of oponion that after the nominations next fall the State committee should work for the election of he party nominess and not be idle on the ground that this is an 'off' year.

"The constitutional amendments were discussed with a view to making clear the doubtful clauses therein. It was decided to get an opinion from some eminent legal authority as to the effect of the amendments, if adopted, and what terms of office, legislative or county, would be thereby extended. The committee deemed it unwise to take any action for or against the amendments, whatever their meaning may be, as these amendments are matters for nonpartisan consideration.

"There was an informal discussion of the act known as chapter 106, laws of 1910, which provides for the election of members of county committees at the primaries. The object of this discussion was to ascertain definitely how to comply properly with the provisions of the act."

JUDGE W. W. MENDELL WANTS HIS JOB BACK.

Judge W. W. Mendell, who has been a justice of the peace in Cranford for nearly forty years, and a veteran of the Civil War, intends to contest his removal from the office of Police Court judge in Cranford, under the provisions of the veteran's act of 1900.

The Township Committee appointed Judge Toucey, of Westfield, to the office last month.

Judge Mendell, through his counsel, T. M. Kelly, of Elizabeth, has had notice served upon the town committee asking for his immediate reinstatement.

EMERSON SAID

Something about it being unnecessary to advertise if you did something or had something or made something better than your neighbor. But Emerson should have excepted Bungalow Colonies. Here we are, with the finest bungalow site around New York with the most beautiful surroundings; with Asbury Park and Long Branch almost in sight; with the best of fishing, boating, crabbing; with four miles of water frontage on the beautiful Shrewsbury; with everything, in fact, to idealize PORTAUPECK to the lover of bungalow life—and we have to advertise.

But not for long. Locations are going fast; over thirty bungalows now in course of erection. Better take a look at our colony of good homes and good neighbors—and soon. You'll hate yourself if you locate somewhere else and then see PORTAUPECK. Send for booklet.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Excelsior H. & L. Co. have received an invitation to participate in the firemen's parade which will be held during the Plainfield Charter Day celebration, will no doubt accept the invitation. Excelsior has a new apparatus and should make a good showing.

The representative team will no doubt be accompanied by a loyal band of rooters Saturday afternoon when they go to Bound Brook to play the Bound Brook team on the latter's grounds.

The work of macadamizing Park avenue will soon be completed and the automobile owners as well as those who still drive the old family horse will be happy once again.

Mrs. William B. Noble, who underwent a serious surgical operation in one of the New York hospitals several days ago, is reported as doing very nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Clark, who have been visiting Mr. Clark's mother, Mrs. Benjamin Clark, have returned to their home in Newark.

Lynus Marsh, who has been seriously ill for several months, is able to be out of doors now for a short time each day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ianson, of Park avenue, have been entertaining relatives from Newark.

HE OFFERS PRINCETON HALF MILLION DOLLARS

Princeton University has just received an offer of a gift of $500,000 for the proposed Graduate college. Although not officially announced it is known that the donor is William Cooper Proctor, '83, of Cincinnati, O.

The gift, which is given on certain conditions, is the largest the university has received in a long time. The conditions are that an equal sum of $500,000 be pledged by May 1, 1910, and that a site satisfactory to the donor be chosen instead of the "Prospect site." The Prospect site referred to is that on which President Woodrow Wilson's home is located.

There have been a great many objections to the location for the Graduate college, and the alumni of Princeton generally will be glad to learn of the new plan. There is little doubt that the additional $500,000 will be subscribed. Already $100,000 is practically assured, and the remainder will probably be forthcoming in less than a year.

SLAYER OF WIFE SAYS HE KILLED ANOTHER.

New Brunswick, May 20.—George Ves or Vees, who confessed he had murdered his wife at Perth Amboy, Monday morning, and who was brought up to the Middlesex county jail here yesterday handcuffed to Detectives Long and Huff, has confessed to Chief Burke of the Perth Amboy police, that he committed another murder in Toledo, Ohio, in 1905, when he killed Joseph Ivan.

Ves is also suspected of having murdered a little girl at Franklin Furnace, N. J., where he lived before coming to Perth Amboy and where he married the woman he killed on Monday. Chief Burke is now making inquiry about these other crimes.

This cold-blooded murderer is a tall, slim Hungarian, with light hair and eyes and a rather intelligent face. He appears to be about 35 or 40 years old. He was glad to get behind the bars, as if he were anxious to have the ordeal over with. He did not speak a word after being brought to jail.

Girl Saved Baby Brother.

Asbury Park, May 20.—When three-year-old Raymond Farry, of Ocean Grove, fell in Wesley Lake neck deep Tuesday his five-year-old sister Marion threw herself down at the lake's edge and, reaching out, caught the little fellow by the hand, crying: "Hold on brother; some one will get you out." Then she screamed until E. J. Brown, living nearby, pulled the lad out of the water.

At Proctor's.

The comedy playlets at Proctor's theatre are making a big hit. "Am I Your Wife," given yesterday and which will be on today, is one of the best, Geo. Winfield & Co., being exceptionally clever. The other specialties are fine, while the "Proctorites Song" is as popular as ever. There will be an entire change of program tomorrow.

Miss R. L. Walduck, of Truell Inn, will leave Saturday for an extended visit with friends in Hackettstown.

This school has an army of 15,000 young men and women, holding responsible positions in the best business houses of New York and New Jersey, which is Drake's best testimonial.

CENTRAL PARK—If you have not visited Central Park lately you will be surprised to see the many fine improvements underway, by prominent individuals. You will find them on Hillside at Prospect, also at Martine. On Kensington at Prospect and on Park avenue at Arlington place. Central Park is the attraction, the magnet, which is slowly but surely drawing the home-lover and the investor to its center. With its rigid restrictions as to style and cost of dwellings, against nuisances of all kinds, against shops, locations of stables and garages and its uniform building line it comes very near covering every point for your protection. When you buy at Central Park you do not have to live on promises. The history of past developments teems with glorious promises unfulfilled. Ours are fulfilled. Our streets are curbed and macadamized and cement walks are laid. Shade trees planted; sewer, water, gas and electric lights are all installed. Our prices are reasonable. Plots and dwellings can be purchased on most convenient terms. Send for our new booklet, free for the asking. For further particulars see Charles Matt, Central Park Realty Co., Prospect and Edgewood avenues, telephones 1355 or 486-R, Plainfield, or your own broker. 5 14 6

Seashore Real Estate.

PORTAUPECT ON THE SHREWSBURY—The Portaupeck Realty Company is building a bungalow colony on its magnificent property which lies on the banks of the Shrewsbury and adjoins Long Branch and Monmouth Beach. This property lies high and from it there is a commanding view of the water and the green hills beyond. The beach is sandy and sloping. The water is clear and clean. The Shrewsbury is famous for its fine fishing, crabbing and boating. A handsome clubhouse, with bowling alleys and tennis courts is now under construction for the exclusive use of lot-holders. The inland lot-holder has the use of the community pier, giving to them the same advantages as a water front owner at a much more moderate cost. Thirty bungalows are now under construction. This property must be seen to be appreciated. The property is highly restricted against all nuisances and deep driven artesian well water is now being installed in all the houses, which are also equipped with electric lights, and the very latest modern plumbing and bath-room fixtures. There are first class ranges in the kitchens and artistic fireplaces of stone in the reception rooms. The sizes of the bungalows range from five to eight rooms and the prices from $2,000 to $3,500, including the plot, 50x150 feet. The famous Portaupeck Inn is convenient for those wishing to avoid the cares of housekeeping. All in all an ideal spot for the home-seeker and from an investment stand-point. Convenient terms can be arranged. Send for booklets, yours for the asking. For further particulars write, or see Charles Matt, Portaupeck Realty Co., 1328 Broadway, telephone 1266-38th, New York city, or your own broker. 5 14 6

COUNTY PARK SITE FOR LYONS FARMS

Residents of Lyons Farms have under way a well-defied movement looking to the purchase of a tract of land in that vicinity by Union county for the formation of a public park. There is a section containing about twenty-eight acres adjoining the quaint little village, which is ideally situated and naturally laid out for park purposes, and the residents have succeeded in arousing strong sentiment in favor of the plain. The tract referred to runs into Weequahic Park on the north, and those interested in the present movement argue that it would be possible to merge the properties and afford a continuous stretch of park land from the cemetery at Lyons Farms to Meeker avenue in Newark, and extending from Elizabeth avenue on the west to the old Lower road on the east.

The site can be reached by the Elizabeth-Newark or Main Line cars in a ten-minute ride from the Broad street arch. The promoters of the park scheme refer to the fact that the improvement would benefit this city and all the territory between Elizabeth and Newark. Two years ago an amusement company made an effort to secure the tract mentioned for a pleasude resort. The staid villagers were greatly perturbed over the prospect of merry-go-rounds, shoot-the-chute attractions and the other amusement features being set in the heart of their natural Eden and a remonstrance was framed. The opposition was so strong that the plan of locating at Lyons Farms was abandoned. It is explained that the tract would not be suitable for building lots and that its geographical make-up fits it for nothing so much as a park. On the property there is a chain of small spring-led lakes and the beauty of the site could scarcely be enhanced. There are wooded sections and a gentle undulating country throughout the twenty-eight acres.

It is shown that the section is really a continuation of the surface scheme of Weequahic Park, which the Essex County Park Commission is now beautifying at a heavy outlay. The Lyons Farms residents have always been proud of their natural park, which is referred to as "The Cove," and they will oppose any movement which aims to sacrifice the beauty of the spot for an amusement or manufacturing site.

STATE CONVENTION OF INDUSTRIAL EDUCATORS.

Indications are that there will be a large attendance at the organization meeting and State convention of the National League for Industrial Education, was held at Elizabeth yesterday. Trolley cars, furnished by the Public Service Corporation, will conduct the party to the plant of the Singer Sewing Machine Company at Elizabethport, for inspection of the manufacturing processes and the relation of industrial education thereto.

Dr. Albert A. Snowden, the national secretary of the league, will be the temporary presiding officer of the meeting to follow the inspection. Dean Thomas M. Balliet, of the school of pedagogy of New York University, and Hugh D. King, a builder, of Bloomfield, will speak briefly.

The convention dinner will be given in Arcanum Hall. President Walter B. Timms, of the Elizabeth Board of Education, will preside. Speakers at the dinner are Dr. Willett M. Hays, assistant United States Secretary of Agriculture, of Washington, D. C.; Superintendent Richard E. Clement, of the Elizabeth schools, and Director Frank Forrest Frederick, of the State Board of Industrial Arts at Trenton.

An evening session will be held in Arcanum Hall, with President C. H. K. Halsey, of the local Board of Trade, as the presiding officer. Congressman Charles R. Davis, of Minnesota, will be the principal speaker at this meeting. Others scheduled for brief addresses are President George R. Howe, of Newark, of the State Commission on Industrial Education; Superintendent Addison B. Poland, of the Newark public schools, and President Andrew Dickinson, of the State Master Builders' Association.

Somerset W. C. T. U. Spring Meeting

The spring institute of the Somerset County W. C. T. U. will be held Friday in the Methodist church at Gladstone. Miss Caroline Melick will deliver the wellcome from the local union, while Miss Gertrude Sutphen will make the response. Miss Lillian Wikoff will sing and Mrs. Theodore Naugright will read a paper, "The Stranger Within Our Gates." In the afternoon the only address will be by Mrs. Emma Bourne, State president. At the night session, besides a musical program, there will be an address by Miss Elizabeth H. Goodwin.

State officers and delegations from other councils will visit Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. of A., at its meeting Saturday night. There will be class initiation.

STATE NEWS BRIEFLY TOLD

Samuel Kean, of Mantua, started Monday on his eleventh trip to Alaska, where he has interests in gold mines.

A. C. Dalton, for thirty-four years editor of the Newfield Item, was badly bitten by a vicious dog. Howard Downs was also bitten by the dog, which escaped.

Stumbling over a rail at Woodstown, Frank R. Smith, thirty-three years old, of Salem, was badly injured about the head. He was taken to Cooper Hospital.

A dog belonging to Mary Green, in West street, Bordentown, bit four persons. They were Joseph Good, Edward Eckman, Walter Letts and a colored man, whose name could not be learned.

Dr. James Inglis reported to the Paterson police that thieves had entered his office at Main and Ellison streets, that city, and stole gold, silver and platinum fillings to the value of $150.

Falling at the bungalow of her son, in East Millville, Mrs. Mary Williams, eighty-nine years old, sustained a fractured hip. Owing to her advanced age the physicians give no hope of her recovery.

The Millville Board of Health has issued notice that it will prosecute any vendor of fruit, vegetables or produce who does not at once comply with the ordinance against exposing their wares to flies and dust.

When Camden City Council holds its next meeting plans will be placed before the members for the building of a municipal ice plant, which will supply ice at cost to dealers who will agree to sell it at reasonable rates, or much below that asked by the trusts.

Summoned to his meal, Frederick Harrison, fifty-six years old, of Trenton, tripped at the top of a flight of stairs and fell headlong to the bottom. He was picked up unconscious and died before medical aid reached him. A fractured skull was the cause of death.

As Clement Tweed was driving to Malaga Station he gave a stranger a ride. When the stranger had left the carriage Tweed missed his gold watch and chain and $60 in money. Constable Harris arrested David Charles, who is now in jail at Woodbury, where he will be held for court.

With his right arm badly mangled by machinery at the Camden coke plant, Miles Shannahan, twenty-seven years old, of 930 Jersey avenue, Gloucester City, was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, Camden. It was with great difficulty that the mangled arm was released from the machinery, and the injured man suffered terrible agony.

To avoid arrest on a charge of "shooting crap" two youths jumped overboard and escaped by swimming across Cooper's Creek, opposite Forest Hill Park, Camden. Arriving safely on the other side of the creek, the badly-soaked youths waved their wet shirts and defied the policemen to arrest them, but there was no further performance.

HENRY B. HOWELL LEFT $35,000 FOR CHARITIES.

Of the $100,000 estate left by Henry B. Howell, of Trenton, the non-agenarian toy dealer and philanthropist, whose funeral was held Monday, over one-third of it is bequeathed to charities. The estate includes a large amount of property in Ocean City and Atlantic Highlands, with several houses in Trenton and securities of considerable value. The remainder of the estate is bequeathed to relatives, a housekeeper and a domestic.

The gifts to charity amount to $35,000, and every charitable institution in Trenton is benefited. The executors of the will are James Buchanan, Archibald Updike and Thos. J. Sawyer. The nucleus of his estate was made in conducting a toy store and in investments at Ocean City.

The funeral of Mr. Howell was so largely attended Monday afternoon that instead of being held at 2 o'clock, as arranged, the services were delayed until late in the day. The services were largely attended by members of the Sons of Temperance, Concordia Lodge, I. O. O. F., and the volunteers of the old Goodwill and Hand-in-Hand fire companies, with all of which he was affiliated. The speakers at the services were Francenia Cubberley, of the East Hanover Street Meeting House; James R. Perrine, of Westfield; Edward Drake, of Elizabeth, and Rev. C. Meade, of New York. Mr. Meade represented the Sons of Temperance. Interment was in Riverview cemetery.

No Opposition to Farrand.

Princeton, May 20.—J. W. Barr, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., has decided not to compete against Wilson Farrand, of South Orange, for the office of trustee of Princeton University, at the coming election. Mr. Barr was nominated to represent the alumni of the southwest and a hot campaign had been anticipated, with the odds in favor of Mr. Farrand. Learning recently that Mr. Farrand withdrew his name at the last election to avoid a sectional contest, Mr. Barr wrote to him on April 8, that he had sent a withdrawal of his name to Secretary McAlpin. This will, it is expected, make Mr. Farrand's election unanimous.

"No," I observed, dryly. "Ijima wears blue serge and carries a gun that would shoot clear through a crusader. The gardener is a Scotchman, and his dialect would kill a horse."

Miss Pat paused behind us to deliberate upon a new species of hollyhock whose minarets rose level with her kind, gentle eyes. Something had been in my mind, and I took this opportunity to speak to Helen.

"Why don't you avert danger and avoid an ugly casastrophe by confessing to Miss Pat that your duty and sympathy lie with your father? It would save a lot of trouble in the end."

The flame leaped into Helen's face as she turned to me.

"I don't know what you mean! I have never been spoken to by any one so outrageously!" She glanced hurriedly over her shoulder. "My position is hard enough; it is difficult enough, without this. I thought you wished to help us."

I stared at her; she was difting out of my reckoning, and leading me into uncharted seas.

"Do you mean to tell me that you have not talked with your father—that you have not seen him here?" I besought.

"Yes; I have seen him—once, and it was by accident. It was quite by accident."

"Yes; I know of that—"

"Then you have been spying upon me, Mr. Donovan!"

"Why did you tell me that outrageously foolish tale about your chess game, when I knew exactly where you were at the very hour you would have had me think you were dutifully engaged with your aunt? It seems to me, my dear Miss Holbrook, that that is not so easy of explanation, even to my poor wits."

"That was without purpose; really it was! I was restless and weary from so much confinement; you can't know how dreary these late years have been for us—for me—and I wished just once to be free. I went for a long walk into the country. And if you saw me; if you watched me—"

I gazed at her blankly. The thing could not have been better done on the stage; but Miss Pat was walking toward us, and I put an end to the talk.

"I came upon him by accident—I had no idea he was here," she persisted.

"You are not growing tired of us," began Miss Pat, with her brave, beautiful smile; "you are not anxious to be rid of us?"

"I certainly am not," I replied. "I can't tell you how glad I am that you have decided to remain here. I am quite sure that with a little patience we shall wear out the besiegers. Our position here has, you may say, the strength of its weakness. I think the policy of the enemy is to harass you by guerrilla methods—to annoy you and frighten you into submission."

"Yes; I believe you are right," she said slowly. Helen had walked on, and I loitered beside Miss Pat.

"I hope you have had no misgivings, Miss Pat, since our talk yesterday."

"None whatever," she replied, quickly. "I am quite persuaded in my own mind that I should have been better off if I had made a stand long ago. I don't believe cowardice ever pays, do you?"

She smiled up at me in her quick, bright way, and I was more than ever her slave.

"Miss Holbrook, you are the bravest woman in the world! I believe you are right. I think I should be equal to ten thousand men with your spirit to put heart into me."

"Don't be foolish," she said, laughing. "But to show you that I am not really afraid, suppose you offer to take us for a drive this evening. I think it would be well for me to appear to-day, just to show the enemy that we are not driven to cover by our little adventure in the launch yesterday."

"Certainly! Shall we carry outriders and a rear guard?"

"Not a bit of it. I think we may be able to shame my brother out of his evil intentions by our defenselessness."

We waited for Helen to rejoin us, and the drive was planned for five. Promptly on the hour, after a day of activity on my part in cruising the lake, looking for signs of the enemy, we set forth in an open trap, and plunged into country roads that traversed territory new to all of us. I carried Ijima along, and when, after a few miles, Helen asked to take the reins, I changed seats with her, and gave myself up to talk with Miss Pat. The girl's mood was grave, and she wished to drive, I fancied, as an excuse for silence. The land rolled gradually away into the south and west, and we halted, in an hour or so, far from the lake, on a wooded eminence that commanded a long sweep in every direction, and drew into the roadside. Ijima opened a gate that admitted us to a superb maple grove, and in a few minutes we were having tea from the hamper in the cheeriest mood in the world. The sun was contriving new marvels in the west, and the wood that dipped lakeward beneath us gave an illusion of thick tapestry to the eye.

"We could almost walk to the lake over the trees," said Miss Pat. "It's a charming picture."

Then, as we all turned to the lake, seeing it afar across the tree-tops through the fragrant twilight, I saw the Stiletto standing out boldly upon the waters of Annandale, with a languid impudence that I began to associate with its slim outlines and snowy canvas. Other craft were abroad, and Miss Pat, I judged, spoke only of the prettiness of the general landscape, and there was, to be sure, no reason why the sails of the Stiletto should have had any particular significance for her. Helen was still looking down upon the lake when Miss Pat suggested that we should go home; and even after her aunt called to her, the girl still stood, one hand resting upon the trunk of a great beech, her gaze bent wistfully, mournfully toward the lake. But on the homeward drive—she had asked for the reins again—her mood changed abruptly, and she talked cheerily, often turning her head—a scarlet-banded sailor hat was, I thought, remarkably becoming—to chaff about her skill with the reins.

"I haven't a care or trouble in the world," declared Miss Pat when I left them at St. Agatha's. "I am sure that we have known the worst that can happen to us in Annandale. I refuse to be a bit frightened after that drive."

"It was charming," said Helen. "This is better than the English lake country, because it isn't so smoothed out."

"I will grant you all of that," I said. "I will go further and admit—what is much for me—that it is almost equal to Killarney."

There seemed to be sincerity in their good spirits, and I was myself refreshed and relieved as I drove into Glenarm; but I arranged for the same guard as on the night before. Helen Holbrook's double-dealing created a condition of affairs that demanded cautious handling, and I had no intention of being caught napping.

From the window of my room I saw the Japanese boy patrolling the walks of St. Agatha's. A buckboard of youngsters from Port Annandale passed in the road, leaving a trail of song behind them. Then the frog choruses from the little brook that lay hidden in the Glenarm wood sounded in my ears with maddening iteration, and I sought the open.

The previous night I had met Helen Holbrook by the stone seat on the ridge, and I cannot deny that it was with the hope of seeing her again that I set forth. She was beautiful with a rare loveliness at all times, yet I found myself wondering whether, on the strange frontiers of love, it was her daring duplicity that appealed to me. I set myself stubbornly into a pillory reared of my own shame at the thought, and went out and climbed upon the Glenarm wall and stared at the dark bulk of St. Agatha's as I punished myself for having entertained any other thought of Helen Holbrook than of a weak, vain, ungrateful girl, capable of making sad mischief for her benefactor.

Ijima passed and repassed in the paved walk that curved among the school buildings; I heard his step, and marked his pauses as he met the gardener at the front door by an arrangement that I had suggested. As I considered the matter I concluded that Helen Holbrook could readily slip out at the back of the house, when the guards thus met, and that she had thus found egress on the night before.

At this moment the two guards met precisely at the front door, and to my surprise Sister Margaret, in the brown garb of her sisterhood, stepped out, nodded to the watchmen in the light of the overhanging lamp, and walked slowly round the buildings and toward the lake. The men promptly resumed their patrol. The sister slipped away like a shadow through the garden; and I dropped down from the wall inside the school park and stole after her. The guards were guilty of no impropriety in passing her; there was, to be sure, no reason why Sister Margaret should not do precisely as she liked at St. Agatha's. However, my curiosity was piqued, and I crept quietly along through the young maples that fringed the wall. She followed a path that led down to the pier, and I hung back to watch, still believing that Sister Margaret had gone forth merely to enjoy the peace and beauty of the night. I paused in a little thicket, and heard her light step on the pier flooring; and I drew as near as I dared, in the shadow of the boathouse. She stood beside the upright staff from which the pier lights swung—the white lantern between the two red ones—looking out across the lake. The lights outlined her tall figure distinctly. She peered about anxiously several times, and I heard the impatient tap of her foot on the planks. In the lake sounded the faint gurgle of water round a paddle, and in a moment a canoe glided to the pier and a man stepped out. He bent down to seize the painter, and I half turned away, ashamed of the sheer curiosity that had drawn me after the sister. Nuns who chafe at their prison bars are not new, either to romance or history; and this surely was no affair of mine. Then the man stood up, and I saw that it was Gillespie. He was hatless, and his arms were bared. He began to speak, but she quieted him with a word; and as with a gesture she flung back her brown hood, I saw that it was Helen Holbrook.

"I had given you up," she said.

He took both her hands and held them, bending toward her eagerly. She seemed taller than he in the lantern light.

"I should have come across the world," he said.

"You must believe that I should not have asked this of you if I had not believed you could do it without injury to yourself—that it would impose no great burden on you, and that you would not think too ill of me—"

"I love you; I am here because I love you!" he said; and I thought better of him than I had. He was a fool, and weak; but he was, I believed, an honest fool, and my heart grew hot with jealous rage as I saw them there together.

"If there is more I can do!"

"No; and I should not ask you if there were. I have gone too far, as it is," she sighed.

"You must take no risks; you must take care that Miss Pat knows nothing."

"No; I must see father. He must go away. I believe he has lost his senses from brooding on his troubles."

"But how did he ever get here? There is something very strange about it."

"Oh, I knew he would follow us! But I did not tell him I was coming here—I hope you did not believe that of me. I did not tell him any more than I told you."

He laughed softly.

"You did not need to tell me; I could have found you anywhere in the world, Helen. That man Donovan is watching you like a hawk; but he's a pretty good fellow, with a Milesian joy in a row. He's going to protect Miss Pat and you if he dies at the business."

She shrugged her shoulders, and I saw her disdain of me in her face. A pretty conspiracy this was, and I seemed to be only the crumpled wrapping of a pack of cards, with no part in the game.

Gillespie drew an envelope from his pocket, held it to the white lantern for an instant, then gave it to her.

"I telegraphed to Chicago for a draft. He will have to leave here to get it—the bank at Annandale carries no such sum; and it will be a means of getting rid of him."

"Oh, I only hope he will leave—he must—he must!" she cried.

"You must go back," he said. "These matters will all come right in the end, Helen," he added, kindly. "There is one thing I do not understand.

"The thing that troubles me is that your father was here before you."

"No—that isn't possible; I can't believe it."

"He had engaged the Stiletto before you came to Annandale; and while I was tracing you across the country he was already here somewhere. He amuses himself with the yacht."

"Yes, I know; he is more of a menace that way—always in our sight—always where I must see him!"

Her face, clearly lighted by the lanterns, was touched with anxiety and sorrow, and I saw her, with that prettiest gesture of woman's thousand graces—the nimble touch that makes sure no errant bit of hair has gone wandering—lift her hand to her head for a moment. The emerald ring flashed in the lantern light. I recall a thought that occurred to me there—that the widow's peak, so sharply marked in her forehead, was like the finger-prints of some playful god. She turned to go, but he caught her hands.

"Helen!" he cried, softly.

"No! Please don't!"

She threw the nun's hood over her head and walked rapidly up the pier and stole away through the garden toward St. Agatha's. Gillespie listened for her step to die away, then he sighed heavily and bent down to draw up his canoe. When I touched him on the shoulder he rose and lifted the paddle menacingly.

"Ah, so it's our young and gifted Irish friend!" he said, grinning. "No more sprinting stunts for me! I decline to run. The thought of asparagus and powdered glass saddens me. Look at these hands—these little hands still wrapped in mystical white rags. I have bled at every pore to give you entertainment, and now it's got to be 20 paces with bird-guns."

"What mischief are you in now?" I demanded, angrily. "I thought, I warned you, Gillespie; I thought I even appealed to your chivalry."

"My dear fellow, everything has changed. If a nun in distress appeals to me for help, I am Johnny-on-the-spot for Mother Church."

"That was not the sister, it was Miss Holbrook. I saw her distinctly; I heard—"

RUTGER "PREPS" DEFEAT HOLY CROSS BY 7 TO 4

The Holy Cross baseball team proved an easy victim for the Rutgers Prep. nine at the Cricket Field yesterday afternoon, being defeated by a score of 7 to 4.

For the Preps. Zeiger, who won many laurels on the gridiron last year, pitched a magnificent game. At no time during the contest did he give his opponents a chance to win, even when his support was ragged he never lost his head but kept cool and steady. His batting was also a feature. Todd caught a pretty game. Hoe at second accepted many hard chances in grand style.

The weakness of the home boys was due to the switching of players from one position to another. For Holy Cross, Nash at third, put up a good game as did Coyle at short. The "Preps." got at Harriman early in the contest and for three innings touched him up in lively fashion. In the fifth inning they added three more runs. In the sixth, Russell was sent to his relief and for the next three innings stopped the slaughter. The final score ended 7 to 4. The line up:

BOROUGH HIGH DEFEATS ROSELLE HIGH SCHOOL

North Plainfield High School added another victory to its list yesterday afternoon by defeating the Roselle High School by a score of 9 to 6. The feature of the game was the pitching of Smith who fanned twelve batters. "Tone" Overton wielded the willow in lively fashion. The fast second baseman also made three runs. For the visitors Detitz pitched good ball. Besides fanning ten men he allowed but two men to walk to first on balls.

WILLETT AND SKINNER DEFEAT STOUT AND WATERS.

Willett and Skinner defeated Stout and Waters in the two-man tourney on Campbell's alleys last night. Skinner was the only man to bowl over 200. As Britton and Conklin failed to show up they forfeited their games.

Willett	164	182	192
Skinner	153	158	201
	317	340	393
Stout	168	149	174
Waters	175	156	186
	343	305	360

Britton and Conklin forfeited to Willett and Skinner, Stout and Waters.

Great Game Expected.

The baseball game between the teams of the Watchung Hunt Club and the South Orange Field Club to be played Saturday afternoon at the hunt club's grounds, will be well worth witnessing. The local team has been putting in a lot of hard practice and the contest will be a good one. Captain Morris J. Dumont feels sure that his star twirler, Duncan Bulkley, will hold down the hard-hitting opponents.

Roosevelt in the Jungle.

By special arrangement the first life motion pictures of Roosevelt hunting wild animals in the jungles of Africa, will be shown at Proctor's theatre on Monday and Tuesday. As soon as the pictures were taken they were hurried to this country by express steamer, and are exclusively shown on the Proctor circuit.

FACULTY TO PLAY THE HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS

Pedagogic baseball, played according to the latest mathematical, geometric and psychological formulae, will be the attraction at Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon, when the faculty nine of the Plainfield High School will meet the ball-players of the senior class. All the "degree team" members declare that they will win.

Lindsey Best, the Faculty pitcher, who teaches science, says he has perfected a new curve, which, however, he refuses to describe in any detail, lest "Doc" Robins, who will be on the mound for the seniors, write up an "A" head on it and "Rube" Marquard, perfecting it, use it against Pittsburg and pull the Giants out of last place. Mr. Best says that the speed of his new ball is so great that no member of the faculty can catch him in tomorrow's game. He has arranged to have "Bennie" Dodwell, of the P. H. S. nine, behind the plate with the big mitt.

Principal Ira W. Travell will fully demonstrate the "playground movement" for the first time as a contortion valuable in catching wild throws to first. Dr. Maxson, the superintendent of the schools, will support the movement in right field, and a delegation of the Parent-Teacher Association will be on hand for the game. Two members of the team who play ball in the real old-fashioned way are "Ben" Evans, who will be at second, and George Broadbent, of London, who will be at short-stop. In the faculty line-up will be "Pat" Riley, at third, "Elbert" Hubbard, in centre field, and "Jimmie" Macnab out in left. The seniors will put this team in the field: Robins, p; Durar, c; Parsons or Randolph, 1b; Knowlton, 3b; Beeken, 2b; Wilcox, ss; and S. Parsons, A. Randolph and Schenck in teh outfield.

Lincoln A. C. Winners.

The Lincoln A. C. defeated the Netherwood Juniors yesterday afternoon by a score of 20 to 16. Somerset and Dodd were in the firing line for the Lincolns, while Hankerson and Campbell officiated for the Netherwood nine.

THE DISTRICT COURT HOLDS A TWENTY-MINUTE SESSION.

Another short session of the District court was held this morning, it requiring less than twenty minutes to dispose of the legal business before the court. Judge Newcorn was on the bench, although he did expect to be away and it was previously arranged that in that event, Isaac P. Runyon, the newly-appointed District Court Judge in Somerset county, should take his place.

The time of the court was chiefly taken up in giving two or three judgments in cases of minor importance, while a majority of the cases were put off for one week. There were no contested actions, the interested parties not being ready for trial.

NORTH PLAINFIELD SCHOOL EXHIBIT SEEN BY MANY.

The exhibition of school work which closed in the Borough Public Schools, yesterday, was largely attended by parents and friends of the pupils. It was considered one of the best in the history of the schools, the work of the pupils being of a high character.

The work of the manual training department attracted especial attention and was greatly admired, that of Miss Edna Dilts, of Duer street, receiving special praise. Among the visitors yesterday were W. A. Ackerman, of Somerville; George A. West, of Rahway, and Gaius Hoffman, of Bound Brook.

MRS. ARTHUR D. STOUT HAS PASSED AWAY.

Mrs. Arthur D. Stout, of North Plainfield, died at Muhlenberg Hospital this morning, following an operation. She was Miss Elsie Brokaw, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. De Witt Brokaw, of Sycamore avenue, the borough. She was a member of the First Baptist church and for many years was active in the Sunday-school and other departments of church work. Her marriage to Arthur D. Stout occurred about two years ago. Mrs. Stout is survived by her parents, a husband and one brother, De Witt P. Brokaw. The notice of funeral will be announced later.

43 ARE PAROLED BY COURT OF PARDON.

Three Restored to Citizenship—Essex County Convicts Among Those Favored.

Trenton, May 20.—At yesterday's meeting of the Court of Pardons there were forty-three paroles granted, one fine remitted and three restorations to citizenship granted.

Upon the recommendation of John J. Gascoyne, chief probation officer for Essex county, Hugh Brunghal, Edwin Ruffen and James Beringer, who are also confined in the Essex County penitentiary, the court granted a parole in each case.

Angelo Becinenge, of Essex county, who was convicted in 1905 and sentenced to fifteen years and subsequently paroled, was restored to citizenship. Joseph Caratozzol and George C. F. Wolf, of Passaic county, was also restored to citizenship.

Ambrose Brennan, of Middlesex county, who was convicted on a charge of larceny in 1908 and sentenced to the Rahway Reformatory and whose mind became deranged after reaching the institution, was granted a parole in the custody of his mother. Soon after being received at Rahway the authorities had the young man transferred to the New Jersey Hospital for the Insane, where it is said his mind has been restored. The authorities at the asylum, it is understood, were of the opinion that if he was returned to the reformatory his mind might become deranged, hence the action of the Court of Pardons.

SENT TO CHAIR, HE ASKS FOR SMOKE.

Bridgeton, May 20.—Richard Donegan, slayer of Joseph Somerfield and Mrs. Madge Kinkle, was yesterday found guilty by the jury of murder in the first degree. Immediately after the verdict was announced Justice Trenchard imposed the death penalty, the electrocution to occur in Trenton during the week of July 5. Donegan made no sign when the jury returned its verdict or when the death penalty was imposed.

There was no defense save that of insanity, but the evidence along that line was not convincing. Experts for the State declared that Donegan was not insane.

When Donegan was returned to the jail an officer said: "Well, Dick, it's all over."

Without the slightest show of emotion Donegan replied: "No, it's not all over. It's just begun. If they would give me a big drink of rum and a pack of cigarettes they could kill me tonight, and I would be better off. I wouldn't lixe six months if they turned me loose, and I'm better dead than alive."

FLAMBEAU, TURF STAR, DEAD.

Newton, May 20.—Flambeau, which twenty years ago was one of the best known racing horses in the United States, was put to death Tuesday at Robert H. McC. Potter's Pequest Farm, near Andover. The horse was twenty-four years old and was being used as a sire by Mr. Potter. Several days ago he stepped on a round stone where he was turned out in a field, and fell, smashing his shoulder. He was chloroformed.

During his first year as a racing star Flambeau won twenty six races, and continued winning until retired from the track. His winnings for owners amounted to many thousands of dollars. He was the sire of many winners on the Pacific slope and in other part of the West. Flambeau was by Wild Idle—Flirt. Mr. Potter secured him at the consignment sale of the Leland Stanford Stock Farm in California some years ago.

Elizabeth Court Item.

Jacob Martin, of this city, engaged in an altercation with the woman station agent at the Spring street, Elizabeth, station of the New Jersey Central, this morning, and when directed by the woman to leave the property, refused to do so, saying that he had a right to stay there. There were several children about at the time and the woman, it is said, got the impression that they belonged to Martin. Matters grew worse because of the unruly actions of the children. Upon the complaint of the woman, Martin was arrested and haled before the city magistrate, who imposed a fine of $4 and costs. The fine was paid.

'Plains Hotel to Be Sold.

The Central Hotel, one of the small hostelries at Scotch Plains, will be sold by Sheriff Robert Kirkland at the Court House, Elizabeth, on Wednesday, June 2, to satisfy claims against the property. Further particulars concerning the property can be obtained from E. L. Hand, of Scotch Plains.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Columbia Lodge, No. 50, A. U. O. W., will initiate one new candidate at its meeting tomorrow night. After the meeting the members from North Plainfield will play the city members a match game of euchre.

The fourteenth annual reception of Union Lodge, No. 4026, Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, colored, will be held at the Plainfield Dancing Academy, West Front streetfi Thursday night, June 17.

"AVENGER" WM. JONES ADMITS THE KILLING.

Washington, May 20.—William ("Bill") Jones, who many years ago attracted national interest when he attempted to avenge the killing of President Garfield by shooting at Charles Guiteau, the assassin, while the latter was being removed from the courthouse to the jail in this city, was placed on trial yesterday charged with the murder of John A. McPherson, a former marine, who was employed by Jones as a farm hand. McPherson was killed October 11, 1908, in Jones' home, about two miles from this city, during a quarrel. Jones pleaded self-defense.

It was during Guiteau's trial that Jones created a nation-wide sensation. One day while the trial was nearing its close, Guiteau had been placed in the prison van to be taken to the jail. Jones, mounted upon a spirited animal, dashed through the crowds toward the wagon, and, whipping a revolver from his hip pocket, fired several shots at the assassin, one of the bullets grazing his head. Jones made his escape into the country. Later he was captured and brought back to the city, but was never prosecuted. For years afterward he practically lived the life of a hermit on the outskirts of the city, and interest in his career was revived only by his arrest in connection with the killing of McPherson.

BOY DROWNS FIRST DAY AT SCHOOL.

Morristown, May 20.—Stopping to play while on the way to his first day in school, Stephen Bishop, the 5-year-old son of Michael Bishop, of Malapardis, three miles from here, fell into the reservoir at the McEwan Brothers' paper mill and was drowned.

When the lad did not come home for dinner his mother became worried and sent an elder brother after Stephen. In going to the school he had to pass the reservoir. On the bank he found the missing boy's hat.

He ran back home and told his father. With the aid of neighbors the reservoir was dragged with rakes, and the little body soon recovered.

This was at 1 o'clock. Efforts to find Dr. Francis Glazebrook, a coroner, were unavailing, and at 6 o'clock the body still lay on the bank.

As it was growing dark Dr. Geo. L. Johnson, another coroner, arrived. He issued a burial permit, and the body was taken home.

FOUND GUILTY OF FEDERAL CHARGES.

Trenton, May 20.—A jury in the United States District Court yesterday afternoon gave a verdict of guilty in the case of Vincent Daly, of Paterson, on an indictment charging him with breaking into the postoffice at Haskell, Passaic county. The youth, who is but 20 years old and an expert ribbon weaver, said that he had been the day before to a celebration and was drunk at the time he broke into the postoffice.

In the same court Thomas Wynnyk, of Jersey City, pleaded guilty to passing counterfeit coin, and George Smith, of Hackensack, pleaded guilty to altering an obligation of the United States.

The case of Frank Manfra, of Paterson, was on when the court adjourned for the day. Manfra is charged with passing two $5 counterfeit bills.

Drunken Waiter Arrested.

Nathan Johnson, a colored waiter, was inspired to extreme jocularity by numerous "hookers" yesterday and was arrested late last night by Patrolman Sagron, who brought him to police headquarters in the patrol wagon. Sentence was suspended by City Judge Runyon at his hearing today.

Police Inspection May 29.

Because of the absence from town of one of the members of the Council, the police inspection will not be held Saturday afternoon, but Chief Kiely has announced that the "finest" will hold their annual inspection and review at police headquarters Saturday afternoon, May 29.

C. E. UNION'S ELECTION

Clarence B. La Rue is Chosen President of Local Endeavorers.

STATE PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

Temple Baptist Wins the Banner—Purdy F. Benedict Makes Address

About two hundred Endeavorers attended the annual mass meeting and business session of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, when reports, election of officers and an address by State President J. T. Sproull were the features. These societies were represented: Park Avenue Baptist, 27 delegates; New Market Baptist, 3; Seventh-Day Baptist, 10; Temple Baptist, 46; Warren chapel, 16; Trinity Reformed, 3; Hope chapel, 22; Congregational, 4; First Presbyterian, 6; Wilson Memorial, 10.

The Temple Baptist church society won the banner for the best attendance, with 80 per cent., having 46 members present out of an active list of 53. Hope chapel was second with 68 per cent. President Sproull presented the banner and Frank T Stewart made a response for his society. After the singing of a hymn, Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, conducted the devotional services.

The report of the secretary of the union was of special interest. It showed that the executive committee had held five meetings, the Congress has had five regular and two special meetings, and the Union has held the three regular mass meetings. There have also been nine meetings of the convention committee, making in all twenty-four for the year. The convention committee is representative of all the societies in the Union and the Epworth Leagues and Young People's Societies of other churches. This committee is now preparing for the entertainment of the State convention here in October.

The report also called attention to the fact that the Union has again put itself on record in favor of local option and protested against the weakening of the existing laws governing Sunday observance. Grateful acknowledgment was made of the courtesy of the Y. M. C. A., alto to the local papers for the large amount of space given for announcements.

In reviewing the work of the year it was found that all the efforts has been concentrated upon the preparations for the State convention. William LaTourette, treasurer, reported a balance of fifty-eight cents with a convention fund of $149.05.

Purdy F. Benedict, the newly-elected county president, spoke about raising funds to send the delegate chosen at the Summit meeting to St. Paul, and spoke a few words commendatory of Miss Sara Curry's work at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. Greetings were received from Miss Nellie K. Foote, district secretary; the Sussex and Warren county conventions held at Hackettstown; from the Hudson county conference and the Paterson Endeavorers. Greetings were sent to the above.

The election of officers resulted in the following being chosen unanimously: President, Clarence B. La Rue; vice-president, Frank T. Stewart; treasurer, William LaTourette; secretary, Charles F. Windham; assistant secretary and chairman press committee, Alexander Galloway; chairman lookout committee, R. C. Burdick; chairman prayer-meeting committee, Allen Snyder. President La Rue made a few remarks thanking the Endeavorers for the honor conferred.

The address of the evening was made by State President J. T. Sproull, whose subject was "Practical Lines of Christian Endeavor Work." Among the excellent thoughts suggested by the speaker were loyalty, knowledge of service and how to serve, spirit of prayer, the prayer-meeting and what it means, the individual work of the Endeavorers and to know Jesus better. Rev. A. E. Finn announced the benediction.

Enjoying Life at Sea Shore.

Captain and Mrs. William C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Coriell, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Struthers, Commander and Mrs. H. Craig Smith, are among some of the members of Post, No. 73, and the Women's Relief Corps attending the annual conventions of the two organizations at Atlantic City this week.

H. W. Rankin to Entertain.

The "Dutch Arms" will meet at Trinity Reformed church tonight and H. Warren Rankin, the sleight-of-hand performer, will entertain the men with his clever work.

IRVING SCHOOL EXHIBIT IS ENJOYED BY PARENTS

The exhibit at the Irving School held yesterday afternoon and evening was pronounced one of the best ever shown at that building. There was a large number in attendance in the afternoon and in the evening the crowd was so great as to prevent many from getting as near the work as was desirable. The manual training exhibit consisted of basketry and woodwork, and also card-board construction in various forms, all of which were skilfully done. The sewing and drawing was pronounced the best, as a whole, ever exhibited by this school. During the evening music was furnished by Miss Miner, assisted by Miss Mary Radford, and consisted of instrumental duets. These were thoroughly enjoyed.

The officers of the Parent-Teachers' Association kindly furnished refreshments, which were greatly enjoyed and sincerely appreciated. The whole affair was a pronounced success and reflects great credit upon all who are in any way associated with the school.

DELIGHTFUL EVENING AT TRINITY CHURCH

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, an enjoyable en successful literary and musical entertainment was held last night in the church lecture room. The affair, which was liberally attended, was marked by the excellent readings by Miss Justine Roberts, of New York city. Miss Roberts is a general favorite as an entertainer here, and her selections last night showed her talent at its best.

Augmenting Miss Roberts' numbers on the program were vocal selections by Miss S. Etta Raybert, Miss Winifred Carroll, E. D. Young and F. S. Cutter, members of the quartet choir of the church. Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Hush Thee, My Baby," a lullably rendered by the quartet, was especially appreciated, and there was delightful harmony in the duet, "O That We Two Were Maying," as sung by Miss Carroll and Mr. Cutter. Miss Carroll's voice has seldom been heard to better advantage than in Chadwick' "Allah," the rendition of which won enthusiastic applause. Miss Raybert sang "When Song Is Sweet" and "The Little White Sun," and her rendition won an encore. Mr. Young was at his best in Denza's "The Sweetest Song," while Mr. Cutter won genuine applause by his singing of "The Bandolero," by Stuart. Miss Lillian A. Force was the accompanist of the evening.

The lecture room was beautifully decorated for the concert, dogwood, wild flowers and palms being used to excellent advantage by the decorating committee, which comprised Mrs. J. Beckman, Mrs. George W. Cole, Mrs. E. J. Cooley and Mrs. L. B. VanCamp.

FREEMAN STRAIT WINS TENANTCY LITIGATION.

Reversing the decision of Justice of the Peace David D. Smalley in the dispossess proceedings instituted by Annie H. and Gerard Underhill against Freeman Strait, Chief Justice Parker of the Supreme Court at Trenton has ruled that the constable may continue as the tenant of Fairview Farm at Watchung. Justice Smalley gave his decision in the matter on April 14, in favor of the Underhills.

Upon the advice of his counsel, Francis H. McGee, Mr. Strait commenced certiorari action, and appealed the case to the higher court. The contention was that the justice of the pease had no legal power to judge in such a case, and this was sustained by the higher court.

Dr. M. B. Long Injured.

Dr. M. B. Long is confined to his bed today the result of a peculiar accident at his home last night. He was standing on a chair in the kitchen reaching for something, when theih chair tipped and threw him backward. In the fall he struck his head on the sink and then landed on the floor on his back, sustaining contusions of the muscles. He was assisted to his room, where he will be detained for some time. The injuries are not considered serious

Seventh-Day Baptist Meeting.

The Seventh-Day Baptist Eastern Association, comprising New Jersey, Rhode Island, and southeastern New York, will hold the annual meeting at Shiloh May 27-30. Asa F. Randolph, of the local church, will be the president of the association. Rev. Dr. T. L. Gardiner and Patsor Edwin Shaw and others from the Plainfield church will attend.

—Charter Day Celebration, July 5, 6 and 7.

URGE MODERN METHODS FOR LAYING THE DUST

The Councilmanic street committee met last night and discussed informally plans for street work to be done during the season. Several citizens appeared to urge the adoption of some patent preparation for macadam streets throughout the city as a relief from the present dust nuisance. The committee listened attentively to the request and promised to look into the matter and do something.

There was also a discu sion relative to the repairs to be made on West Front street, between Madison and Clinton avenues. It is believed that this work will be accomplished early in the season. Other matters of minor importance were talked over and the committee decided to purchase a new attachment to be placed on the street sprinkling wagons so that they can be used to place oil preparations on the streets.

ASCENSION DAY SERVICE FOR KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T.; Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. A. M.; Jersualem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., and Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. & A. M., attended Ascension Day services at the Church of the Holy Cross last night. They were accompanied by the New Brunswick Commandery, escorted by a brass band, of that city.

The services were in charge of Rev. George A. Warner, rector of the church, who delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion, in which he lauded the noble purposes of the organizations present. There was special music by the vested choir of the church.

After the service the Masonic bodies returned to the Masonic hall, where a banquet was served under the direction of a committee appointed for the occasion. The whole affair was one of the most satisfactory in recent years and the attendance was the largest since the Masonic bodies have observed the day.

HIGH SCHOOL JUNIORS' FARCE-COMEDY "PRO-TEM."

"Pro Tem" the farce-comedy to be given by the members of the junior class of the North Plainfield High School at the Park Club next Friday night is now having its final rehearsals. Miss Annie Clauder is the coach. Fred Becker, who will play the part of "Dr. Blank," will be seen to advantage in the heavy role.

Leon Zeglio will play the part of a wealthy man who is as generous as a Standard Oil magnet, while Miss Dorothy Randall as Mrs. Shepherd, his wife, is also a cheerful giver. Miss Marjorie Cooley will be the heroine of the piece, playing the part of "Bessie Martin," and will tell "Henry Leslie," who in real life is Preston Dunning, how much she loves him. Alan Overton as "Oscar Walcot" will do the funny stunts and William Giese will do the man servant act. Miss Helen George as "Lena Bailey" will be the good natured woman endeavoring to make everybody happy and contended. Della Klein will be seen in the part of Mrs. Rachel Shepherd.

"The Magistrate" Tonight.

Pinero's great comedy, "The Magistrate," will be given at the New Plainfield theatre tonight by the "all-star cast" off the Park Comedy Club. The rehearsals have been eminently successful and a finished production is assured. The play will be given under the stage direction of Frederick C. Patterson, of New York, and every character is a good one and faithfully portrayed. It is believed that tonight's play will be the greatest achievement of the club.

Y. W. C. A. Junket.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. will go to Washington Rock tomorrow afternoon for their weekly tramp, leaving the rooms on East Front street at 3 o'clock. If the weather is not favorable the trip will be postponed.

"Tom" Muir Testimonial.

Judge Runyon has issued a call for a rehearsal of the 120 who will appear in the minstrel part of the "Tom" Muir testimonial to appear at the Elks' Club tonight for a rehearsal. Be on hand promptly at 8 o'clock.

CHARTER DAY PROGRESS

Executive Committee Plans to Issue Handsome Brochure Souvenir Program.

PARADES TO BE THE FEATURE.

Celebration to Eclipse Anything of the Kind Ever Attempted In New Jersey.

A proposition for the publication of a handsome brochure souvenir program and guide to city and borough, submitted by a New York firm, was favorably considered at a meeting of the Charter Day celebration executive committee held at the celebration headquarters last night. It is planned to make this booklet a handsome souvenir, containing up-to-date information about the city and borough and profusely illustrated with new photographs. The cover will be a special design, in colors, and the souvenir will be prepared with a special end of making it worth preservation as a memento of the big celebration.

The various organizations of city and borough, the manufacturing industries, labor, fraternal and social organizations are making plans already for representation by floats in the parade to be held the first day of the celebration, Monday, July 5. The Master Builders' Association, the W. C. T. U., and various lodges have already arranged to be represented, and it is expected that about twenty-five floats will be in line. Five brass bands will furnish the music for this parade, and the line of march will include many of the principal business and residential streets.

Automobile clubs from all parts of the State have been invited to take part in the motor parade, which will be held the second day of the celebration. Local automobile dealers form a committee in charge of the affair, and the display of elaborately decorated automobiles will be a feature. The motorcycle section will be a large one, and will be headed by the Plainfield Motorcycle Club, commanded by Dr. W. H. Anthony, its president. Local pedalers will have a place in line, too, for the cycle section will be a feature, including a large delegation of riders from the Plainfield Cycle Club, headed by Captain "Jack" Horner. The line of march for this parade will be the longest of that for any of the celebration parades, for even the bands will be "mounted." It is planned to make a tour of the residential section of city and borough.

The display of the Amity silver hose cart, valued at $10,000, which will be in charge of the Exempts, will be a feature of the parade of firemen and police the final day of the celebration. Invitations have been sent to exempt, volunteer and paid fire departments all over the State, and many of the paid companies will bring their apparatus. The four companies of the city department will be represented with apparatus and there will be a delegation from the borough. Chief T. O. Doane and Chief Engineer Howard Woolston of the borough will be in charge of the fire fighters. The marching of Chief Kiely with a squad of "the finest" will be a feature, and Chief Marshal Weiss will head the police representatives from "over the brook."

But this celebration isn't all going to be parading. Physical Director George L. Listman has been making plans for the games and sports, to be held at Crescent Oval the afternoon of the second day of the celebration. There will be all sorts of contests, running and field events, and races of various distances. A baseball game is being arranged for. These contests, like the parades, will be made occasions of especial interest because of the facts that cups and medals are to be presented to the winners of the various events and trophies will also be awarded as prizes for decorated floats and automobiles in the parades.

Bandmaster Benjamin La Veve is active arranging his programs for the nightly band concerts, and well-known singers will render selections at each one. In conection with each concert, there will be an elaborate display of fireworks. It is probable that the request of a New York Amusement company to hold a carnival here during the celebration will be favorably considered. And then there's the "Mummers' Frolic."

THE WEATHER.

Unsettled weather with showers tonight and Saturday. Maximum, 56; minimum, 48.

COST HIM TEN DOLLARS FOR BRUISING HIS WIFE

Patrick Traynor, of the borough, who was arrested on a charge of beating his wife last Sunday, was fined $10 by Recorder Dolliver in the borough court last night. He was represented by Robert Newton Crane. The complaint was made by Marshal Keller. Traynor was not put on the stand and no defence was made. Mrs. Traynor was unable to be present.

The hearing brought out the information that Mrs. Traynor was seen following her husband on Farragut road, and when near the bridge, was seen to strike her husband and follow him across the street, it was said. Then Traynor struck his wife, knocking her down. Facts leading up to the assault and what caused it were not brought out in the testimony.

DISORDERLY HOUSE RAID RESULTS IN 15 ARRESTS

Roundsman Maurice Higgins and five patrolmen raided No. 214 New street at 2 o'clock this morning and as a result there are thirteen negroes at police headquarters awaiting trial on a charge of disorderly conduct. Two more alleged wrongdoers will also appear before Judge Runyon tomorrow morning when the cases are heard. For some time, it is said by the police, the house has been watched and this morning afforded a favorable opportunity for a raid.

Eight women and five men, all colored, are incarcerated at headquarters and as no bail is forthcoming they will be the guests of the city until the cases are disposed of tomorrow morning. A white man, aged sixty-five years, who was brutally beaten by a negro at the resort on Tuesday night, was in too bad shape to be removed to headquarters and he was left there by the police in charge of a colored woman, who was caught there with two children. A North Plainfield man owns the house and it is probable, according to the police, that he will be called upon tomorrow morning for some needed information.

DUNELLEN CONGREGATION WELCOMED ITS NEW PASTOR.

Welcoming Rev. Ernest R. Brown as new pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, about three hundred Dunellenites gathered at the church to meet the new pastor and his wife and the reception proved a great social success. During the evening, some clever character sketches were given by J. Wesley Gangloff, and refreshments were served.

The reception committee comprised Mrs. Silas Naylor, Mrs. S. Schnieder, Mrs. Robert Bogardus, Mrs. Frank Wynkoop and Mrs. James Touzeau. Mrs. Morris Rarick, Mrs. Harry Swackhamer and Mrs. Wilson J. Frederick formed the refreshment committee.

Progressive Euchre Party.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Tier, of East Front street, entertained a number of friends at their home last night at a progressive euchre party. There were five tables. At the conclusion of the play it was annunced that Mrs. John M. Lewin and Mrs. Obadiah Crane had scored the greatest number of points for the women, and E. E. Ripley and Peter A. Van Fleet for the men. During the evening there was a program of instrumental and vocal music and refreshments were served.

A china shower was given to Mr. and Mrs. William W. Milligan at the home on Orchard place Tuesday night. The gifts included china and cut-glass. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Holder, Mrs. Esther Milligan, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Cubberley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Milligan, Mrs. Meires, Miss Caroline Martin, Harold Sipe, William Cubberley, Miss Harriet Walker, George Smith, Arthur Ferris and Master Craig Holder.

Will Witness Amateur Production.

Several Plainfield graduates of Princeton University will attend The Triangle Club's amateur production of "The Duchess of Bluffshire," to be given in the Casino, Princeton, tonight. It is the opinion of those who have seen the performance that it will be the best in the history of the club. Four out-of-town performances have been given with success.

—Neuman Bros.' choice assortment of vegetables for today and tomorrow include fancy Jersey asparagus, green and wax beans, green peas, fresh tomatoes, Boston lettuce and summer squash.

TROLLEY CAR USED AS AN AMBULANCE

A Netherwood trolley car was pressed into service as an ambulance late last night, when Stephen Waldron, eighteen years old, was hurt in jumping from the car at Hillside and Putnam avenues. The injured man, who is employed as a butler at the home of Councilman W. B. Tyler, of Evergreen avenue, was taken to the office of Dr. A. H. Pittis in the car and after treatment was taken to Hillside avenue in the car, which made an extra trip for the purpose.

The trolley car, which was coming toward the terminal, was in charge of Conductor Johnson and Motorman James Regan. According to the conductor's story, Waldron, who but recently came to this country from Ireland, signalled for a stop at Hillside avenue, but before the car reached the corner, rushed to the platform and jumped. He fell heavily, severely bruising his left knee and spraining his left thumb. His injuries are not serious.

TO TRANSFORM PARISH HOUSE INTO A CAFE

A novel entertainment has been arranged by a number of the residents of the Netherwood section, to be given at St. Stephen's parish house on Tuesday night. The famous Cafe Chantan's of Paris have been taken as a model for the arrangements. The audience will be seated at small tables, where eatables and drinkables, temperance only, will be served by young women in the chic costumes of the Parisian waitresses.

A vaudeville entertainment will take place on the stage, with a varied program of comedy and musical numbers. The well-known Van Eps Brothers, Fred and Will, are to render their popular selections on the banjo and mandolin. George H. Smith and Frederick J. Pope, tenor and baritone soloists, will be heard in duets and solos. Jack Vandeventer will perform a characteristic clog dance, accompanied on the piano by Dudley Strong. Professional talent will be represented by Beck, Scott and Crawford, who will give a melange of humorous songs and sketches, and Harry E. Hayden, who has pleased so many large audiences with his dialect humor. It is hinted that there is to be a special feature added which will be a surprise and delight to those present. Tickets may be procured at Armstrong's drug store.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST SERVICES TOMORROW.

The weekly prayer-meeting service will be held at the Seventh-Day Baptist church tonight at 8 o'clock. The topic will be "A verse of Scripture that has been helpful to me." There will be the preaching service tomorrow morning at 10:30 by the pastor, Rev. Edwin Shaw, the theme being "Burden Bearing." The Sabbath-school will be held at the close of this service in charge of Superintendent O. S. Rogers.

There will be a union meeting of the Junior and Senior Christian Endeavor societies at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, the leader being Mrs. Theodore G. Davis. At the close there will be a vesper service. The thought word will be "Cheerfulness." Miss Jessie Utter will be at the organ.

Gave a Charming Musicale.

The pupils of Miss Jeanie May at the Plainfield Seminary gave a charming musicale at the home of the Misses Mabel B. and Ray Hooley, on Rockview avenue, the borough, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Edwin S. Hooley and her daughters received the guests and following the fine program refreshments were served. Among those taking part in the program were the Misses Burke, Dorothy Burke, Ray Hooley, Marian Hall, Ruth Waldo, Elizabeth Benton, Augusta and Elizabeth Burke, Eleanor Hatch, Alma McCormick, Louise Booth, Margaret Leal, Florence Nichol and Margaret Mead.

Miss Griscom's Wedding.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Jean Whitelock Griscom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Griscom, of Sycamore avenue, to Raymond Van Vranken Miller, to be held at the Crescent Avenue church Thursday evening June 10. The ceremony will be at 6 o'clock. Mr. Miller is the son of Major and Mrs. W. D. W. Miller, of East Seventh street. Following a wedding trip, the couple will make their home at Buffalo, N. Y.

TOWNSEND COMMANDER

United Spanish War Veterans' Camp is Formally Organized Here.

MANY MEMBERS ENROLLED.

Dr. Corbusier, U. S. A., Surgeon in "Boxer" Uprising, Is Selected As the Adjutant.

A camp of the United Spanish War Veterans was formed here last night, at a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of eligibles held in the City National Bank building. Commander J. W. Desmond, of Jersey City, and Department Inspector G. E. Spittlehouse, of Elizabeth, were present. It was decided to apply to the national headquarters for a charter and the name of the camp was left to be decided later.

These officers were elected: Commander, William R. Townsend; senior vice commander, Dr. D. C. Main; junior vice commander, Daniel J. Shea; officer of the day, T. E. Martin; officer of the guard, F. S. McCarthy; chaplain, Irving Weaver; surgeon, Dr. W. J. Guthrie, U. S. Navy; trustees, one year, John Scott; two years, Charles A. Flynn; three years, Michael D. O'Keefe. The commander appoined Dr. H. D. Corbusier as adjutant and James D. Macnab as quartermaster.

There are now nearly one hundred names of men in Plainfield and vicinity who are veterans of the Spanish War, Philippine Insurrection and Chinese campaign. Any man who served in the army or navy, regulars or volunteers, during the above campaigns prior to July 4, 1902, is eligible. Those who have not been notified should send their names to Adjutant Dr. Harold D. Corbusier, 612 Park avenue, so that they may become charter members. The charter roll will close Thursday night, June 3, the date of the next meeting.

Article 3, of the constitution of the organization, provides that all honorably discharged officers, soldiers, sailors and acting assistant surgeons of the regular and volunteer army, navy and Marine Corps of the United States who honorably served during the war with Spain or in the incidental insurrection in the Philippines prior to July 4, and all officers or enlisted men, in the U. S. Revenue Cutter service, on any vessel assigned to duty under the control of the U. S. Army or Navy Departments during such war or insurrection, prior to said date, are eligible to membership.

The Department Encampment will be held in Bayonne, Saturday, June 19, and the local camp is anxious to get in shape to attend the affair. The veterans will among other things, see that the graves of departed members in Plainfield and vicinity are cared for and appropriately decorated.

SOPHOMORES DEFEATED THE P. H. S. FREHMEN.

The Plainfield High School sophomores won their fifth straight game yesterday afternoon, defeating the juniors by a score of 8 to 4. Terry of the "Sophs" pitched a great game allowing but four hits and striking out eleven batters. He also got three assists.

Sophomores—Wilson, cf; Vandeventor, ss; Miller, 3b; Rubenstein, 1b; Bristol, 2b; Terry, p; Van Zandt, lf; Ulrick, c; Carr, rf; Banks, lf.

Juniors—Rickets, p; H. Runyon, c; Gano, 1b; Davis, ss; Putnam, 3b; Earl, lf; Hamilton, 2b; Bullich, cf; K. Runyon, rf; Knowlton, 3b.

Carnival Opens Tomorrow.

Everything is in readiness for the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club carnival which opens tomorrow at West Front street and Clinton avenue. The thirty or more attractions are all of the best and in addition arrangements have been made whereby the people of the city will have an opportunity to vote for the most popular organization. Ballot boxes will be placed at Timbo's restaurant and Harry Dreier's store on West Front street.

P. C. C. Girls' Tennis.

Entries close at 6 o'clock tonight for a girls' tennis tournament to be begun at the Plainfield Country Club courts tomorrow moring at 10 o'clock. Girls of eighteen years of age and younger are eligible to enter, and a cup will be awarded the winner. Entries must be made with Miss Elizabeth Goddard, of East Ninth street.

—A little ripe pineapple, some French chocolate ice cream, topped with whipped cream and dusted with powdered cholocate. Try it. Ritz special sundae, 10c. ***

FIRE DESTROYS ASPHALT PLANT.

The large plant of the Barber Asphalt Company, located at Warner's N. J., in Linden township, on Staten Island Sound, and opposite Chelsea, Staten Island, was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning. The damage, it is estimated, will exceed $40,000.

The fire broke out shortly after 5 o'clock. Its origin is not known. The main building was a frame structure about 100x150 feet, one and one-half stories high. The engine room was in a separate brick structure, and escaped the flames. Several thousand barrels of asphalt were consumed. The flames swept over the entire plant, which covers an area about 200x400 feet, and extends back to the sound shores branch of the Jersey Central.

A MINUTE FROM MARKET ST.

Directing Your Attention to McGregor Made Suits at 20.00, 22.00 and 25.00.

20.00, 22.00 and 25.00 are about the prices the business man of today pays for a suit of clothes—this same man not many years ago patronized the high priced custom tailor. Not today—he cannot afford to waste his time waiting for a tailor guess. He recognizes the superiority of modern McGregor-made, ready-to-wear garments.

We invite inspection of our Men's Suits at 20.00 to 25.00. We especially invite the man that still clings to "his tailor." If he is reasonable we can convince him that he can wear garments that are correctly styled, rich in quality and faultless in fit, can be a better dressed man without vexatious delays and at about one-third the tailor's price.

Saturday we exhibit a specially tailored range of single breasted sack suits, three distinctly different models are shown, making it possible to please men of varied ideas concerning style.

Fabrics are finished and unfinished worsteds, color design, show shadow stripes, neat mixtures, gray combinations, taupe and the latest shades of blue.

THE WORLD OF WHITE

Economies Rare and Timely in Great New Stocks of Undermuslins, Waists, Dresses, White Yard Goods and Cotton Goods.

Immense new shipments of undermuslins, garments and white goods are now marshalled for a week of enthusiastic special selling.

This store has many brilliant white sales to its credit, but the World of White is destined to over-top them all. We forecasted the recent decline in the cost of these lines and waited to purchase till we could place heavy orders at "touch-bottom" prices. Alert watchfulness also secured for us a number of very extraordinary special purchases at big concessions. Thus it is possible for us to offer—

MAGNIFICENT NEW LINES OF WAISTS AND DRESSES, UNDERMUSLINS, INFANTS' WEAR, YARD GOODS OF ALL KINDS, EMBROIDERIES, LACE CURTAINS, ETC., AT REMARKABLE PRICE SAVINGS.

Qualities are the kind you would choose if you paid regular prices—our regular kinds, but very irregular prices.

Timeliness is the essence of a bargain. Bargains in White Goods at this season are like drinks to the thirsty; needs for the coming summer months are many and great, and we are certainly justified in anticipating a week of record-breaking White Goods selling.

Sale Begins Tomorrow---Saturday Morning---and Continues for One Week.

The Watchung Hunt Club baseball team is all ready for the contest with the South Orange Field Club tomorrow afternoon. The game will be called at 3 o'clock and it is expected that there will be a large crowd present to witness the fray. This will be the first contest for the hunt club team this season.

The Y. M. C. A. team will cross bats with the Orange association team, at Crescent Oval, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Russell and Burns will be the battery for the home team.

Larry McLean's shin pads fit him like a glove. Must have had them made by Paquin.

The New York Americans have been in four 4 to 3 games this season, winning three of them.

Schulte of the Cubs didn't have a single chance in right field in the recent series at the Polo Grounds.

Giving Jimmy Austin a permanent berth on the team gives the Highlanders one of the fastest runners in the game.

Jack Powell is pitching strong ball for the St. Louis Browns of late. In the matter of ease of delivery he always was an artist.

Talk about your Speakers and Crees, young Mr. Oakes of the Cincinnatis seems to be something of an outfielder and all around performer.

"Pennsylvania appears to have the champion college baseball team this year," says a paragraph. Don't see that she has anything on Harvard.

It isn't often that men are bounced from exhibition games, but that's what happened to O'Hara and Latham at the hands of Umpire Klem in Jersey City recently.

Last Saturday's New York-Cincinnati game was noteworthy for the number of assists. There were forty-four in all, twenty-five by New York and nineteen by Cincinnati.

Kicking outbreaks seem to go in waves. The Elberfeld-Hurst, Lennox-Knabe-Gleason and Roth-Cusack affairs came in a bunch. Just the same the general ethical tone as to behavior on the field has been better this season.

Baseball isn't improving a bit along the bunting line and one reason is that too many batters don't pick out the right sort of ball at which to offer when they bunt. The ball to be bunted has to be selected with the greatest of care.

GOLF.

A notice from the committee—J. Barton Garfield, captain; R. B. Hunt, W. H. Thayer, M. E. Danforth and A. S. Armgnac—states that the spring tournament of the Eastern Trade Golf Association will be held on the course of the Nassau Country Club on Thursday, June 3. No player will be allowed to start in the afternoon competition without first having his handicap assigned him by the captain.

This is the program: 10 a. m., four ball handicap, medal play, prizes for lowest net scores; 12 m., approaching and putting contest, prize for winner; 1 p. m., luncheon at clubhouse; 2 p. m., spring tournament handicap, eighteen holes medal play, prizes for lowest net scores.

Alec Smith, who a few months ago transferred his allegiance to the Wykagyl Country Club, won the championship of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association, for the second time in four years, over the Scarsdale links Wednesday. Always out in front, the genial Smith led the field in the morning round with a capital 73, only two strokes more than the par, and supplementing this with a 74 later he was able to return 147 for the thirty-six holes. This led Gilbert Nichols, the second man, by the comfortable margin of five strokes.

Jerome D. Travers, the American amateur golf champion, defeated Edward Blackwell by one up, at Muirfield Wednesday, and halved with H. D. Gillies in a three-ball match. This victory by Mr. Travers has greatly enhanced his reputation in the estimation of the numerous golfers who are practising here preparatory to taking part in the championship that begins on May 25.

Blackwell and Gillies are both first class players. The former contested in the final round with Walter J. Travis when the American won the British golf championship, at Sandwich, in 1904.

HOMER DAVENPORT TO QUIT JERSEY.

Cartoonist Disposes of His Rare Birds and Will Breed Horses in York State.

Morristown, May 21.—Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, has removed his Arabian horses and other stock from Davenport Farms, at Morris Plains, to a newly purchased farm of about 300 acres, near Goshen, Orange county, New York. All of his rare birds, including eighty pheasants, 160 geese and ducks, many of the family of wading birds, pea fowl, etc., were sold to a dealer, who has been on the place for several days catching the free birds and crating the whole lot, which numbers about 300.

Mr. Davenport has disposed of his great herd of Angora goats, Persian lambs and other animals and will devote his outdoor attention to breeding Arabian horses and crossing them with American trotting and running stock.

PROGRESS OF THE DAY ALL OVER THE WORLD.

Australia covers twenty-six times as much area as the British Isles, but its population is less than that of London.

Concrete railway ties, costing $1.48 each, are a success on the Italian railways. The first lot of 300,000 proved so satisfactory that a similar lot has been ordered.

It is again urged that communications shall be addressed "American Consul" or "American Consulate," omitting the Consul's name, because of frequent changes in the offices.

Plymouth, England, plans an extensive deep water harbor for big ships. The water will be deep eough for use at all times, irrespective of tides. The work is to cost $10,000,000.

The exportation of Para rubber to the United States from the Amazon river district in March amounted to 1,930,728 kilos (kilo equals 2.2 pounds), against 1,419,083 kilos in March, 1908.

The Australians eat an average of 129 pounds of sugar each every year, the United States 89 pounds, Germany 36 pounds, France 32 pounds and Great Britain 81 pounds, but in the latter country the ratio is going up.

American ready-made clothing might be sold to advantage in the Dominican republic. The needs of the climate must be studied. Two-piece suits of linen or cotton are suitable for the day time, and dark cassimeres of light or medium weight for evening. Made to order suits of these characters sell from $7 to $15 and $20 to $40 respectively. The duty on the former is $11.07 a odzen two-piece suits, and on the latter $2.22 a suit. Further and full details may be found in Consular Report 3,464, free on application to Bureau of Manufactures, Washington, D. C.

An Obliging Target.

The cowboy lifted a long lock from his tankard and nonchalantly wrung it out.

"As I was saying," he resumed, pushing the lock behind his ear, "anybody can shoot a rattlesnake. The critter itself takes aim.

"You point a stick or a gun muzzle," he explained, "at a rattler and he'll get his head right in line with it—so as to strike, you know. Move your muzzle to the right, Mr. Snake moves, too; to the left, and it's just the same.

"Many a bet I've won, holdin' a gun about ten feet from a rattler, that I'd shoot his head off with my eyes shut; I always done it."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

July 5—Industrial, civic, fraternal, benevolent, social organizations parade and athletic events; July 6—Automobile, motorcycle and bicycle parade and sports; July 7—Firemen's parade and mummers' parade. Handsome prizes offered in every event. Fireworks and band concerts nightly.

THE DUST NUISANCE.

In recommending to the street committee at a hearing last night that some practical patent preparation be used to allay the dust nuisance, the public spirited citizens who appeared before that body correctly reflected public opinion. The day of the water wagon sprinkler is gone for all time and it behooves the local authorities to adopt a modern and satisfactory means of laying the dust. Never has the sprinkler system been a success. In more than one instance, it is said, our forty odd miles of improved macadam roads have been damaged by it. What is needed, and without delay, is the introduction of a modern method. Assurance is given by road experts that the cost would be practically the same and the results would be vastly superior. Results are what we want and we are not getting them by continuing the expensive and unsatisfactory sprinkler system.

DO IT NOW!

It is roughly estimated that some eight or ten thousand dollars will be needed to defray the expenses of the Charter Day celebration and as a means of raising this amount the finance committee has addressed an appeal to the residents of both city and borough urging prompt contributions. Past experience has amply demonstrated that such appeals have never been made in vain and the Board of Trade is confident that there will be a favorable response to its committee's request. It is important, however, that the fund be obtained as speedily as possible in order that the various commtitees may be guided in making contracts. Don't put this matter off, mail your check today to Engene M. Laing, chairman finance committee, Charter Day headquarters or hand it to the duly authorized collector, Wm. H. Drayton.

That seismographic disturbance probably emanated from the jungle when The Mighty Hunter let loose a special message branding the Nairobi staff correspondents as "nature fakirs."

The report that James E. Martine's float in the Charter Day celebration will be a hearse labelled "the lost cause" is lacking of confirmation.

Ascension Day Services.

Ascension Day services were held at the Church of the Heavenly Rest at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, when holy communion was observed, after which the Ladies' Guild adjourned to the parish house and held an all-day session on missionary work. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Much work was accomplished in preparation for the barrel to be sent to "St. Mary's School on the Mountain," at Swannee, Tenn.

City Clerk James F. Connelly, of Newark, was yesterday elected department commander of the G. A. R., at the annual encampment in Atlantic City. He succeeds Commander Foran, of Flemington. It is expected that some formal action will be taken by the old soldiers upon the plan to invite the national encampment next year, for which the State has appropriated $25,000 to help pay the expenses.

The soldiers are all enthusiastic over the proposed national reunion in New Jersey.

Killing Borough Dogs.

A strict enforcement of the new dog license ordinance in North Plainfield has resulted in the destruction of three dogs already. The ordinance went into effect yesterday, and the police and dog catcher rounded up the animals in the afternoon. All borough dogs not tagged with a license are now being "tagged" with a bullet.

SOUTH ORANGE MEN HURT IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Elizabeth, May 21.—James McGowan, twenty-two years old, and Henry Miller, thirty-five years old, both of South Orange, were brought to the Alexian Hospital here yesterday as the result of a runaway accident. The yame to Elizabeth with a horse and road wagon. The animal got frightened and dashed away. Both men were pitched out in the horse's wild flight.

McGowan landed on his head and received a scalp wound, and was knocked insensible. His companion sustained body bruises and was scratched about the face. After being fixed up at the hospital, Miller was able to go home. McGowan will have to remain a few days at the institution. He is married, and lives at 83 Riggs place, South Orange. The runaway horse was caught. The rig was not damaged.

The Difference.

At one time both Montague Matthews and Matthew Montague were members of the British House of Commons. Mr. Matthews was a big, powerful giant of a man. Mr. Montague was thin and emaciated. The Speaker frequently confused the two.

"I can't understand it," said Montague Matthews. "There's as much difference between us as there is between a horse chestnut and a chestnut horse."—Everybody's.

Paterson's Excise Crusade.

Chief of Police Bimson, of Paterson, will ask the Common Council of that city to increase the excise fine from $50 to $500. The Chief says his men are unable to cope with the situation because of the smah fine imposed upon proprietors for selling liquor without a license, which does not defer them from taking the chance of being discovered.

Sykes Gets Sixteen Years.

John Sykes, lawyer and prominent church member, was this morning sentenced by Judge John Rellstab at Trenton to sixteen years at hard labor in the New Jersey State prison. He will be delivered to the prison today.

Charter Day Collector.

William H. Drayton, collector for the finance committee of the Charter Day celebration committee, started on his work today. He is authorized to collect subscriptions. It is estimated that $10,000 is needed for the purpose.

—The contract case of V. W. Nash, Jr., trustees for W. H. Kirch, against William Olmsted, is on in the Union County Court today. The plaintiff is represented by Judge William Newcorn, while Nelson & William N. Runyon represent the defendant.

CLOSED PORTALS.

CENTRAL PARK—If you have not visited Central Park lately you will be surprised to see the many fine improvements underway, by prominent individuals. You will find them on Hillside at Prospect, also at Martine. On Kensington at Prospect and on Park avenue at Arlington place. Central Park is the attraction, the magnet, which is slowly but surely drawing the home-lover and the investor to its center. With its rigid restrictions as to style and cost of dwellings, against nuisances of all kinds, against shops, locations of stables and garages and its uniform building line it comes very near covering every point for your protection. When you buy at Central Park you do not have to live on promises. The history of past developments teems with glorious promises unfulfilled. Ours are fulfilled. Our streets are curbed and macadamized and cement walks are laid. Shade trees planted; sewer, water, gas and electric lights are all installed. Our prices are reasonable. Plots and dwellings can be purchased on most convenient terms. Send for our new booklet, free for the asking. For further particulars see Charles Matt, Central Park Realty Co., Prospect and Edgewood avenues, telephones 1355 or 486-R, Plainfield, or your own broker. 5 21 2

Seashore Real Estate.

PORTAUPECT ON THE SHREWSBURY—The Portaupeck Realty Company is building a bungalow colony on its magnificent property which lies on the banks of the Shrewsbury and adjoins Long Branch and Monmouth Beach. This property lies high and from it there is a commanding view of the water and the green hills beyond. The beach is sandy and sloping. The water is clear and clean. The Shrewsbury is famous for its fine fishing, crabbing and boating. A handsome clubhouse, with bowling alleys and tennis courts is now under construction for the exclusive use of lot-holders. The inland lot-holder has the use of the community pier, giving to them the same advantages as a water front owner at a much more moderate cost. Thirty bungalows are now under construction. This property must be seen to be appreciated. The property is highly restricted against all nuisances and deep driven artesian well water is now being installed in all the houses, which are also equipped with electric lights, and the very latest modern plumbing and bath-room fixtures. There are first class ranges in the kitchens and artistic fireplaces of stone in the reception rooms. The sizes of the bungalows range from five to eight rooms and the prices from $2,000 to $3,500, including the plot, 50x150 feet. The famous Portaupeck Inn is convenient for those wishing to avoid the cares of housekeeping. All in all an ideal spot for the home-seeker and from an investment stand-point. Convenient terms can be arranged. Send for booklets, yours for the asking. For further particulars write, or see Charles Matt, Portaupeck Realty Co., 1328 Broadway, telephone 1266-38th, New York city, or your own broker. 5 21 2

DAINTY SANDWICHES

FORM AN INVALUABLE HELP TO THE HOUSEWIFE.

Solve Many Problems That Arise to Plague the Busy Woman—Suggestions That May Be New to Readers.

The housewife who learns the art of making dainty sandwiches is always well fortified against the problem of what to have for an informal tea, a little supper in her own dining room after the theater, or variety in her child's lunch basket.

The bread used in making sandwiches should be close-grained and not too fresh. The kind that is baked in round tins is good, and for cheese and fish sandwiches rye and graham bread is mostly used.

All the crusts should be cut from the bread with a sharp knife, fresh butter used which has been melted, and one should avoid having the sandwiches soggy.

Made of Fish—Pieces of fried halibut or any firm unsalted fish may be made into delicious sandwiches. Shred the fish, season and mix thoroughly with mayonnaise dressing. Spread on toasted rye bread, garnish with a bit of watercress and serve.

An Indian Sandwich—Cut the white meat of a cooked chicken in small pieces. Take the same quantity of boiled ham and four freshened anchovies and mince. Mix two cups of veloute sauce with one dessertspoonful of curry powder thinned with a little water. Stir over the fire until it becomes a thick sauce. Add the chicken and the ham and the juice of half a lemon. Cut slices of bread and fry them in butter until a light brown. Spread on the mixture and cover the sandwiches, serving while hot.

Of Nuts and Cheese—Use the meats of English walnuts, pecans and almonds. Cut into fine pieces and mix with a cream cheese. Spread the paste on toasted crackers and serve with olives.

Made of Peanuts—Peanuts mixed with mayonnaise dressing are popular, and chopped olives and small crisp cucumber pickles seasoned with capers and mixed with mayonnaise are also good.

Dates and figs chopped very fine and mixed with lemon juice may be spread on thin slices of bread and sprinkled with finely chopped nuts. An odd mixture for sandwiches is Oriental preserved ginger softened with a little cream. All kinds of candied fruits may also be used for filling.

A Kitchen Adjunct.

A useful article for the kitchen is a small microscope. Show the cook how to use it. She will be horrified if once shown dates, prunes or figs that are germ-infested that she will take special pains in washing them.

The microscope is also useful to examine cereals, cornmeal, buckwheat and other things, which unless kept airtight, may be unpleasantly infected.

If part of every order that comes in from the grocer is carefully examined so that if not in good condition it may be returned at once, the loss will be his and not the buyer's.

Puree of Beets.

Wash and boil until tender six red beets. Mash through a sieve and season with two saltspoonfuls of salt and one of pepper, one tablespoonful of butter and one grated onion. Put one quart of milk into a double boiler, add half a cupful of stale bread crumbs, two cloves and a bay leaf. Cook for 15 minutes, then pour in the beets. Pour the soup through a sieve and serve with squares of toasted Graham bread.

Popped Wafers.

Slice a round ten-cent roll of cream cheese. Place a slice of cheese on a butter-thin wafer and press into the cheese the half of an English walnut meat. If the cheese is the snappy kind they will be delicious with ale; are very pretty to look at.

Lemon Dumplings.

Half a pound of bread crumbs, half a pound of finely chopped suet, a quarter of a pound of dried flour, the rind and the juice of one lemon and two eggs. Mix all together well, form into dumplings, tie in cloths and boil two hours.

Minnehaha Filling.

One cup white sugar, wet with three spoonfuls of hot water. Boil until it will wax when dropped into cold water, then stir into it the whites of two eggs, which have been well beaten, and one cup of chopped raisins.

Lyonnaise Potatoes.

Cut cold boiled potatoes in small cubes and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown an onion in a tablespoonful of butter and add the potatoes; stir and cook five minutes. Add a little minced parsley and serve.

Sausage Dumplings.

Boil four or five potatoes, mash and season with salt and pepper, add about one-half cup of flour and milk to make a thick paste. Roll it out. Pour hot water over one pound of sausage and take off the skins. Roll each one in a piece of the potato crust and bake about one hour. Have the crust nicely browned.

Hard Sauce for Pudding.

One cup powdered sugar, one-quarter cup butter, creamed; one tablespoonful coffee, one teaspoonful of vanilla.

EVIDENTLY HAD LOST IT.

"Are you sure that was a correct report about the gentleman at the right of the chairman, Mr. Scadds, being born with a silver spoon in his mouth?" whispered one of the diners to his neighbor at a trade banquet in a western town.

"Most assuredly he was," replied the interrogated party.

"Well, then," said the first speaker, "he must have lost it—and his fork along with it. The only table implement I have noticed in his mouth since we sat down to dine is his knife."—Judge.

The Past.

Tommy—Papa, I wish you would tell me something.

Papa—Well, what is it?

Tommy—When you were a little boy who was my papa?

SOMETHING SOULFUL.

"You are going to say something soulful," declared the fiance. "I see it in your lovely eyes."

"What I was going to say is this," responded the fiancee. "Won't you wear a rubber band around your head nights, so as to train your ears not to stick out?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

No Cook.

"I am not much of a cook," he said,
With one of his foolish grins,
"But it does beat all, when the fire glows red
How I can toast my shins."
—Detroit Free Press.

The New Deal.

"You see," said the man with curious whiskers, "I am inclined to be a socialist."

"And what is your idea of socialism?"

"A system of government in which I would stand a chance of assuming far greater personal importance than I can enjoy under present conditions."—Washington Star.

Annoyed.

"Mrs. Brown is terribly worried. Her husband came home sick the other day."

"Is she afraid he's going to die?"

"No, it isn't that. You see she's afraid he won't get well before Friday, when she's due to entertain the afternoon card club."—Detroit Free Press.

A Practical Suggestion.

"It's all nonsense," said Mr. Chuggins, as he went around a corner at high speed, "to have a policeman following an automobile on a bicycle."

"That's right," answered the nervous friend. "What good is a bicycle? They ought to have us followed with a motor ambulance."—Washington Star.

Having Fun with a Native.

Facetious Foreigner—Aw, me good man, pardon my ignorance of geography, but will you kindly tell me what the capital of this country is?

Solemn Faced Yankee—I've forgot how much it is, mister, but Pierp Morgan has the handlin' of most of it, I believe.—Chicago Tribune.

Harsh Punishment.

Mr. Scrubbs (indignantly)—Sir, I have just discovered that your son has engaged himself to two of my daughters.

Mr. Grubbs (stupefied)—The young rascal! He should be compelled to marry them both.—New York Weekly.

One Crumb of Comfort.

"I see that the shoemakers are going to print the real sizes on women's shoes," said Phyllis.

"Well, we still have our ages to lie about," remarked Gladys, who was disposed to take a philosophic view of affairs.—Detroit Free Press.

Charming Frankness.

"Myrtle, is your mother opposed to my coming to see you?"

"No, Percy; since I told her there was no—er—likelihood of your ever proposing to me she has withdrawn her objections."—Chicago Tribune.

Facts in the Case.

Her Mother—Mabel, dear, do you ever feel timid about asking your husband for money?

The Bride—No, indeed, mamma; but he seems to be rather timid about giving it to me.—Chicago Daily News.

Still Sore.

Mrs. Scrappington—To-morrow is the fourteenth anniversary of our wedding.

Mr. Scrappington—Well, you need not taunt me with it.—Puck.

Stern Reality.

"What do you think is the real mental attitude of college men toward frivolous girls?"

"I rather think it is sentimental."—Baltimore American.

FOR MEN

Men's and Youths' Suits

Naturally enough our best lines of clothing in the smartest models and the handsomest cloths are the first into which our patrons make inroads and the first to become broken in sizes.

We find ourselves now with a number of lines considerably disturbed in this particular and we are eager to close out the remaining numbers, and though our regular prices were low enough to satisfy almost any one we have cut the prices to make the selling lively tomorrow.

The reductions are real—depend upon that.

Men's and Youths' Suits, $5 to $8 kinds, at $4.50.
Men's and Youths' Suits, $8.50 to $10 kinds, at $7.50.
Men's and Youths' Suits, $10.50 to $15 kinds, at $10.
Men's and Youths' Suits, $18 to $20 kinds, $14.75.
Men's and Youths' Suits, $22 to $33 kinds, $19.50.

It is worth your while to know that these are all new suits this season—worsteds, plain and fancy cassimeres, invisible plaids and stripes, in both conservative and ultra-fashionable models, without being old-fashioned nor freakish.

Boys' Suits

These suits are all of this season's make—cut in snappy styles of clothes in neat patterns, and are all from our regular splendid stock of boys' clothing for which we have made such an enviable reputation. You'll be glad to buy them so cheaply, we are sure.

Some Reefers and Overcoats are included with the suits at these reduced prices:

Boys' Suits that were $1.98, at $1.55.
Boys' Suits that were $2,98, at $2.25.
Boys' Suits that were $4.00, at $2.98.
Boys' Suits that were $5.00 to $6.00, at $4.00.
Boys' Suits that were $6.50 to $8.00, at $5.00.
Boys' Suits that were $8.50 to $11.00, $7.50.

Straw Hats

Every kind of straw hat that you could wish for is here and ready for you. Our straws come from makers of the highest repute—makers upon whom we can depend not only for the best styles but the most dependable straws—makers who have stood the test of years and who supply only the best houses.

There is a wide difference in straw hats, you know, and you should be careful in the buying, and not be empted by price alone.

Split Straws in yacht shapes, $1.50 to $4.00.
Soft Split Rolled Brim Straws, to turn down, $1.50 to $2.50.
Sennit Braids—very dressy, $1.50 to $2.50.
Mackinaw Braids—New shapes, $1.50 to $3.00.
Bankok Braid Hats—Lightest of all, $5.00.
Children's Straws—Most up-to-date of all is the Jack Tar shape, of which we have a great variety to choose from, and there are many other ginds, including all the newest braids and color combinations, as well as plain white—50c to $5.00.

Men's Ties

Beautiful Silk Crochet Ties—In plain colors, including reseda, garnet, gray, brown, navy, green, black and white—a kind that many a store would ask you 50c for; just in, ready for you tomorrow at only 25c.

Second Ave., Main Floor.

Collars—Six for 50c

The big lot with which we started this great collar sale enables us to invite you to come again tomorrow to share in this biggest collar bargain of the season.

Think of it—4-ply collars, equaling in material, workmanship and finish to any 15c collar on the market, with 3-thread buttonholes; any style and shape, in such variety as to please all who come, in not only the standard sizes but in quarter sizes as well, selling at six for half a dollar.

No one should miss these splendid collars—fine for those who go vacationing, fine for travelers, fine for everyone.

Why, one could afford to buy these collars and throw them away when they are soiled rather than bother with laundering them.

No less than six sold to a customer.

First Ave., Main Floor.

Douglas Shoes, 2.59

The Douglas Factories turn out enormous quantities of men's shoes which retail all over the country at $3.50. They are claimed by the makers, and we think justly, to be as good shoe values as can be produced for the money. The Douglas reputation is built on good quality and the inspectors are extremely careful that no shoe goes out to the Douglas stores that will not pass the most critical inspection. Likely some of these fellows are fault finders and find flaws where ordinary eyes would never detect them. The shoes they refuse to pass are put to one side and called "factory rejects."

These shoes we have contracted to dispose of for the Douglas factories, and every week we get fresh shipments. The styles are new, the models the best that can be devised, the leathers splendid and the shoes are to all appearances and in wearing quality perfect—the slightest faults bring them to us under prices; we pass them on to you at $2.50.

Shoe Department, Second Floor.

2.00 White Summer Waists - - $1

75 Dozen New and Pretty Waists in probably twenty-five smart tailored models, made of Linon, Crossbar, Lawn, Batiste and the sheerest of Lawns in attractive Dutch neck and Peter Pan styles; lace and embroidery trimmed; sleeves full or three-quarter lengths; also many pretty dressy styles with high collars and long sleeves; sizes 34 to 44; good value at $2; to sell tomorrow at $1.

Back Combs

SIDE COMBS, BARRETTES AND TUCK COMBS

Suppose one of the biggest makers of combs came to you with his sample cases and laid out his big line of sample combs from which he has taken orders for many thousands of dollars worth—combs in shell and amber, all hand sawed and carved; each tooth finished as smooth as velvet; plain combs and fancy carved ones, all highly polished; back combs, side combs, barrettes and tuck combs—and you were told to take your pick of the lot at 25c and 50c, wouldn't you jump at the chance? Wouldn't you think you were lucky to have such an offer made to you?

Yet we make you just such a proposition tomorrow, for we have secured a maker's sample lines and divided them into two lots—

One lot including values up to $1.50 we will sell for 25c.
Another lot including values up to $3.00 we will sell for only 50c.
We advise you to come early and get first choice.

HOMESICKNESS.

Had the yaller jaundice an' recovered awful slow,
I've suffered from the quinsy an' the grip has laid me low;
I've rassled with dipthery an' I've shook with ague chills;
In my time of life I reckon I have had my share of Ills.
But the worst of human ailments, when a feller starts to roam,
Is the hankerin' an' yearnin' for the little place called home.

There's no mortal sickness like it, there's no pain that cuts so deep
As that longin' for the cottage where the mornin' glories creep;
An' that little flower garden, with the hollyhocks in bloom,
Or the singin' of the kettle in the kitchen dining-room;
Though the sun is shinin' brightly where you are, you long to see
The smilin' face of mother just the way it used to be.

How the tall gray buildings chill you, how the bustle of the town
Fairly fills your heart with loathin', every smile becomes a frown;
How you hate the throngs of people as they hurry to an' fro,
For they seem to blur the picture of the spot you used to know;
When the night comes on an' weary an' alone you tread the street,
How you wish the path led homeward, you would go with flying feet.

There's no medicine can cure it, time alone subdues the sting,
And even then in after years relapses come each spring.
When the violets are bloomin' and the crocus peeping through,
Then your soul begins to hanker for the old home that you knew;
And you stifle in the city and you want to get away
To the place where mother's sleepin', if it's only for a day.
—Edgar Guest, in Detroit Free Press.

Out of the Dim Past.

Methuselah, having made his will, was giving a few verbal directions concerning his funeral, whenever that might happen.

"I don't care for much music," he said, "but I think I should like to have the familiar hymn sung, 'I Would Not Live Alway.'"

Then, to show that this was no josh on his part, the old gentleman deliberately forbore to follow the rules prescribed by the life insurance companies whereby he might have added 15 years to his life, and he passed away at the untimely age of 969.—Chicago Tribune.

HER BOWLING SOUVENIRS.

Maude—No, I'll never take Edith to the bowling club again. She's got the souvenir craze until it's dangerous to go out with her.

Gertie—Why, what did she do at the club?

Maud—She carried home one of the biggest balls she could find.

The Endless Chase.

The melodrama heroine,
It seems we cannot lose her;
It used to be in cab or train
That she escaped from being slain,
And now auto or aeroplane—
But "the villain still pursues her."
—Chicago Daily News.

The Truthful Customer.

"I see there are over 5,000 parts to a modern locomotive," said the restaurant man.

"Well," replied the customer, putting on his hat, "a locomotive is different from one of your steaks, for a locomotive has a tender part!"—Yonkers Statesman.

A Refuge for the Sensibilities.

"Art is a wonderful thing," said the critic.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "The very word 'art' is of great advantage when you have been a little shocked and fear to admit it."—Washington Star.

Misunderstood.

"When is your daughter to have her coming out party?"

"My goodness, she's had one a long time. That young man's been taking her to the theater for a year or more now."—Detroit Free Press.

A Physical Impossibility.

"Brightleigh must be something of an acrobatic writer, isn't he?"

"No; his specialty is psychology."

"I didn't mean that. To-day, when I asked him what he was doing he said he had some foot notes on hand."

The Proper Thing.

Myer—In writing to the secretary of the navy, would it be proper to address him as "your excellency?"

Guyer—No. "Your warship" would be more appropriate.—Chicago Daily News.

The Usual Way.

Just about the time a woman makes up her mind to get into society, her husband usually spoils things by making a dreadful break at the dinner table.—Detroit Free Press.

Caution.

Host—Just another drink, old man, before you go?

Guest—Not on your life. I've just moved into my new flat and I'm not very certain yet about the keyhole!

GOOD EXERCISE MEANS HEALTH FOR WOMEN.

There has been so much said of late regarding a woman and athletics that it behooves us to look it up at least.

There are more athletic girls in this age than there were in the time of our grandmothers. In those days they had more physical exercise in household duties, for these were less luxuries in housekeeping, if the family lived in the country and had little means.

What would grandmother have said to the child who wished to wrestle or throw her brother over her back, and she should manage the double arm lock or the armlock which the policeman has to understand.

There are many opinions on the subject still among women, but grandmother would have been horrified; she knew how to lift the ax to chop wood and how to climb a tree to perfection. She could doubtless jump a fence as well as her brother and she rode a horse better, generally speakeing. Nowadays the girls live sedentary lives and need something more strenuous than walking or playing tennis. To belong to a gymnasium is really a good idea if you do not understand the dumbbells, swinging clubs and exercises that will make you supple and healthy.

It is seldom a woman is called upon to act in self-defense, but she can do herself no harm by understanding these points. It seems unnecessary, when we have protectors with us; but there is never any harm in knowing things, even if we never have to use them.

We are becoming too feminine again, many of us, and the fact makes us very helpless in many ways. Try to take up one hour of each day in learning exercises and practising them so that you can benefit yourself in every particular of health as well as to keep a little knowledge under cover to surprise yourself in time of need, says Diana in the Philadelphia Inquirer. Practise on your friends at home; your girl friends would be surprised to know that you were shorter and slighter and still had a power which does not come of strength alone, but a knowledge of how to use your muscles after they are strengthened and hardened.

Mannish practises of gymnasts are never attractive to any gentle woman, and it is often for that reason the necessary amount of exercise is not indulged in. Make it a point to do something. If you play golf, all right. If you prefer good old tennis, all right again; if you are given to the delights of equestrienne sports, that's a joy unexcelled, to my mind; for you have the pleasure of seeing nature at her best, and a beautiful animal to share this exercise with you, if you care for horses—and most women do.

The dumbbells and calisthenics, which most women practise before breakfast, are good enough, too, for any one if persisted in; but then you can still find more help in a gymnasium if you have a keen zest for this exercise, and it is there you will learn these rules for making yourself a woman of resource in time of trouble.

WHAT MY LADY WEARS.

Veils of white figured net are modish.

Narrow suede belts fastening with a small buckle are good. Patent leather belts are also worn this summer.

All the very pale tan and yellowish shades are apparently to be fashionable. Blone, pale ale, "pain bis," champagne, "pain brule," and various names they are called. The popularity of these shades will do much to make natural pongee particularly elect.

Bronze green is modish for the tailored suit, and another fashionable green of the gray quality is known as "dried pea" color.

The short tailored packet is rarely seen this spring. A long hip length, three-quarter fashion, or seven-eighths are the approved lengths.

Foulards are really fashionable. The woman who always has a "little foulard dress" in her wardrobe can, this season, rejoice in both its usefulness and its modishness.

Many a fashion is set by the French stage, and just now, because of the vogue of Rostand's play, "Chanticleer," in Paris, a cock's head is appearing on many a French hat.

GENESIS OF GHOSTS.

Although it might be difficult for Elliott O'Donnell to find a haunted house today, in the seventies one stood ready to hand almost in the very heart of London. Every one then knew the famous haunted house in Berkeley square., the subject of many stories and speculative articles. Three people are said to have died as a result of their experiences while sleeping in a certain room, one, at any rate, of them being a skeptic bent on solving the mystery. The late Bishop Thirwall is credited with finally laying the ghost, just as Bishop Wilberforce dealt with another spirit in a Kensington mansion—by bell, book and candle.

The genesis of ghosts was well understood by Scrooge. You may be an undigester bit of beef, a blot of mustard, a crumb of cheese, a fragment of underdone potato," he said to the ghost of his whilom partner, Marley, to its face on that memorable Christmas eve told of in "A Christmas Carol." And the association of ghost stories with the Christmas season may in this be traced to its origin.

Sweets with the "Licking."

A minister one day found a little boy in tears and questioned him as to the cause of his distress. The youngster replied that his father had punished him for being naughty, and he was mighty glad that his mother hadn't done it.

"Why do you prefer to have your father whip you?" questioned the minister. "Is it because he is less severe than your mother?"

"No," replied the boy, "but when he licks me ma says he's a brute, and always gives me money to buy sweets.."—Scottish-American.

Lights from Crystals.

Many crystals when split or crushed give a faint flash of light visible in the dark. Sugar is one of the substances, which do this. The cause of this behavior is not very well understood.—June St. Nicholas.

Not an Authority.

Jones—Is your wife fond of the society of gentlemen?

Brown—I asked her that question once and she said that without experience she could not say.—June Smart Set.

Unsophisticated.

"Were you ever held up in a stage coach?"

"No. Do they have porters in those things, too?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

All the newest gloves have the stitches of the self-same color. They fasten with pearl buttons.

M. & B. Suit Sale

Ends Saturday Night

Men's $16 to $30 Spring Suits at - 13.75

Mr. Man, have you taken advantage of this Extraordinary Opportunity to provide a smartly tailored high-grade Suit for $13.75 that you would ordinarily have to pay $16 to $30 for?

Hundreds of men have, and they saved enough coin by the operation to pay for a good time on Decoration Day. If you haven't benefited by this sale, you still have till Saturday Night to do it.

Even this unusual store has never quite equaled this Suit Sale. In both suits of our own make and those which we acquired from a leading manufacturer at a big price concession, the patterns are a bit more attractive than we have ever shown.

Every garment is unquestioned in quality and style. Not a suit was made to sell for less than $16 and from that up to $30. There are conservative as well as radical models, in this season's new gray shades and tans, as well as blacks.

Remember, the Sale Ends Tomorrow Night. There'll be the usual rush and wisdom suggests that YOU come in early.

Men's Silk Neckwear at Half

Regular 50 Cent 4-in-Hands . . 25c

This opportunity to get two regular 50c Silk Scarfs for the price of one is being taken advantage of by men who know a good thing when they see it.

The patterns are this Spring's newest colorings, in stripes, plaids, pin checks and figures.

These are the slickest lot of silk four-in-hands you've ever seen. Just the same quality that you've paid 50c for many a time. That's what we sell them for regularly. Your choice, special at 25c each.

Women's Semi-Annual Shoe Sale

Regular $4.00 Oxfords & Pumps 2.85

CHORUS OF THE WINDS.

We have swept o'er the frozen Antarctic,
Floated over the ice-bounded Arctic,
From the poles of the earth;
From the storm-harried, keel-ripped Atlantic.
We have hastened unshackled and frantic
In our turbulent mirth;
From the laboring, frenzied Pacific,
That we left in the travail terrific
Of a hurricane's birth;
We have blown where the planter was sowing
Over plains with the sugar-cane growing
By the globe's torrid girth;
From a mountain that wallowed in fire,
And the dust of a smouldering pyre,
That we fanned with our breath;
Over battle fields crimson with corses,
Lying stark by the trunks of their horses,
And the guns spitting death;
We have cooled with the balm of our lotion
Cities fevered with lust and emotion,
From the land and the sky and the ocean,
At our call we assemble,
O Spirit of Earth!

—Gunter's for June.

SHE HAD TALENT.

Louise Closser Hale had the advantage of her own stage experiences in writing "The Actress," her novel which had proved one of the Harper successes of the season. One of these experiences leads to a good story which Mrs. Hale tells on herself. It seems that behind the counters in every shop are many girls who are sure that their true place is the stage. "If they recognize me when I am shopping," says Mrs. Hale, "they tell me all about it while I wait for change, and I restrain myself and merely advise them not to give up their present position, for a while at least.

"'I should have went on the stage,' one of them said to me one day.

"I strove to be interested. 'But see how tired I am,' I said to her. 'I have to work very hard as it is, and I have had to work much harder to gain what little recognition I have had.'

"'Oh, yes,' she responded, complacently, gazing at herself in the mirror. 'But, you see, I have talent.'"

Very Slangy.

Lorde de Broke—What do you think of Miss Gotrox's language?

Lord de Busted—Hardly language, old chap. It's really "slanguauge."

WHAT THE VAN ARSDALE STORE OFFERS TO MEN

When a man is buying his Summer Footwear he likes to have the game as well as the name. In many cases, he doesn't---simply because most Shoe Stores show the same old Oxfords made up in the same old way. It's different here; when we say new styles we mean new. We have the latest ideas in lasts, patterns and materials copied from the ultra-fashionable lasts of the swell custom bootmakers. Our Oxfords are classy and you might just as well have the new and fashionable effects as some old hand-me-down from two seasons ago. Just look in our windows if you want to see shoes that are right in price—right in quality and right in style. You can't beat 'em. If you can, come in and get your money back. All shapes, from the most conservative straight last with a broad round toe to the other extreme. And the price? Why that's just what you care to pay, we have them at 3.00, 3.50, 4.00, 5.00 and 5.50

NEWARK'S TUXEDOS WIN ON CAMPBELL'S ALLEYS

The Tuxedos of Newark won nine out of the fourteen games rolled against the Plainfield B. C. at Campbell's alleys yesterday afternoon and last night and although beaten the locals were not by any means disgraced. Johnny Campbell was successful in three out of five games against Weingarth, the Newark crack, and this was the only series that went to the locals credit.

The visitors took all three games in the two-man, two in the three-man and two in the five-man. All in all it was a splendid exhibition but best effort was that of Meyer who participated in six games, in all of which he reached the 200 mark, and made high individual score, 265. Weingarth too made good with the fans who crowded the alleys, and did some sensational bowling.

The averages of those who rolled in the games are as follows: Meyer, 219.5; Campbell, 205.3; Blatz, 204.1; Weingarth, 201.6; Oppel, 191.5; Hoagland, 184.4; Quinn, 183; Stout, 180.2; Nash, 176.3; Kiely, 169.4.

THE FALSE-FACE DANCE.

Iroquois Custom That Survives in New York State.

There are between 5,000 and 6,000 Iroquois Indians in the State of New York and many of their ancient customs are still in existence. Their famous long-house, for example, face a communal building, is now a council house and dancing hall and the centre of their ceremonial life.

Usually situated near the ball (lacrosse) ground and village square, and surrounded by a cluster of log-cabins, the long-house is always found in the pagan section of the reservation. Here at various seasons of the year the green corn dance, the New Year's festival and its attendant ceremonies, the war and great feather dances are held, while all the year round there are other dances, councils and pleasure festivals. Of these perhaps the most famous is the false-face dance of the False-Face Society, an interesting account of which is given by Alanson Skinner in the Southern Workman.

It seems that years ago, before man was made, the earth was created by Ha-wen-i-yu. As he was walking about his new domain a monster, like a flying head with staring eyes and flowing hair, came into view.

"What do you do on earth?" cried the monster.

"It is not your earth but mine," retored Ha-wen-i-yu.

"You lie," said the monster. "I have lived here ever since the world began."

"But I made the world!" cried Ha-wen-i-yu.

"Prove it," said the monster, and to show his force he turned and called to a mountain which stood beside them.

The mountain approached and stood near by, but Ha-wen-i-yu bade the monster turn about, and as it did so he caused the mountain to come up so swiftly and so close that it struck the monster upon the side of his face and knocked his mouth awry, just as you sometimes see it carved on false faces nowadays.

The monster saw that the mysterious power of Ha-wen-i-yu was far greater than his, so he begged for mercy. Ha-wen-i-yu told him that he must die, for a race of beings called men were about to appear on the earth and the monster was so horrible he would frighten them.

The monster begged to be permitted to live and offered if mankind would keep his memory and that of his people sacred and do them honor, to aid them in the curing of the sick. Ha-wen-i-yu permitted the false face people to live at the ends of the world where they may never be seen, and the Indians keep up a society in their honor, which holds a great dance for them every New Year.

The dancers are clad in nondescript clothes with hideous wooden masks. The organization is semi-secret, but almost every one knows pretty well who the dancers are. They go through their dance with ludicrous antics to the time of a turtle shell rattle and blow ashes upon the doctor such sick people as are present and desire it.

The Iroquois still keep up many primitive customs besides the ceremonial life. Corn is still ground in huge wooden mortars with long, heavy, double ended pestles, and it is very amusing to see in a well regulated Iroquois house the mortar in one corner and the ice cream freezer in the other. Almost as amusing is it to stand on the ball ground and hear Caruso singing from a phonograph while not 100 yards away the Long House rocks and swings to the stamp and yell of the war dance.

KNOX'S REMARKABLE MEMORY

Senator Knox has a remarkable memory. He never forgets anything. Another peculiarity of the Secretary of State is his ability to go to sleep at any time he pleases and to wake at any minute that he desires. Few men have his faculty. Napoleon Bonaparte and General B. F. Butler were able to sleep and waken at will, and Senator Knox can throw himself down on a lounge and sleep for half an hour any time he likes. If he wants to catch an early train he can waken himself at 6 o'clock in the morning, or at any other time he desires, but it would be impossible for him to explain how he does it.

He is an early riser by habit. He is usually up at 6 o'clock in the morning and takes a two hours' drive before breakfast behind the most famous team in Washington. This is his exercise and recreation. He returns to his house for an 8 o'clock breakfast with his family and then the work of the day begins.—Washington Star.

A Miss, Sure.

The young clubman had been introduced to a beautiful Russian actress. He was charmed, entranced, and he finally led her to the conservatory, where they might have a quiet minute to themselves.

"Pardon me," he said, "I did not quite catch your name."

"What is that you did not do?"

"Catch your name."

"Oh, your language is so strange. Do you want to know my name?"

"Yes, your own full name."

"Will you cacth in this time?"

"I'll do my best."

"Well, it's Vera Federovina Kommisajewskaya."

Plainfield in . . . . The Olden Days.

Re-printed from The Weekly Constitutionalist

June 30, 1870.

Bald Heads—There is a town in Georgia where they shave the heads of all who are found drunk in the streets.—Crackey! What a lot of bald headed chaps there would be on our streets if our City authorities were to adopt the system here.

We have several times, while mentioning the improvements in and around the City, omitted to mention the decided improvement which has been made in the Bakery establishment of George Mehl on Second Street. We are glad to learn that he is doing a flourinshing business.

Mr. A. D. Cook has made a decided improvement in his residence on Cherry Street, it having been remodeled and repainted.

Have you noticed the neat Time Table and Business Card issued by H. Cutler & Sons, on Cherry Street, and printed by Force Bros. Messrs. Cutler are an enterprising firm and are not afraid to advertise, which accounts, in a measure, for their prosperity.

We this week complete the publication of the Laws of New Jersey, and will now endeavor to furnish our readers with a greater variety of miscellaneous reading matter than we have for the past few weeks.

We learn that two laborers working on the Railroad, in the lower part of the City, were overcome by the heat on Tuesday last.

Hosiery and Linen Towels, 12 cts. and upwards. Handkerchiefs, Cotton Trimmings, &c.; very cheap at Wm. H. Sebring's, Jr.

Please call at the Old Bakery—Wooden & Bro.—and examine their large and extensive stock of cake of all kinds. French and American Rolls fresh every morning.

The regular Annual Examination of the Academic Department of the Plainfield Public School takes place on Wednesday, June 28th, beginning at 8:30 a. m., and closing at 4:30 p. m.

EDUCATION IN THE ORIENT.

To most of us the Orient is like a sealed book—books of wonders and mysteries and legions, clothed in the adjectives of "The Arabian Nights." It is with something of a shock that we learn that the enrolment of the Calcutta colleges is greater than that of Harvard, Yale, Princeton and the University of Chicago combined, and that in addition to these 10,000 students there are over 30,000 boys numbered in the various high schools of the city.

Tokio leads the globe so overwhelmingly in this direction that we could take the entire population of the city of Los Angeles without reaching the student enrolment of the Japanese capital.

More than 100,000 students are numbered in the colleges of Tokio, and the list represents practically every country of the Orient. The most significant feature of the situation, however, is not the bulk of numbers, but the elements below the surface. Ten years ago there were but two Chinese in the schools of Tokio. Today there are more than 5,000. China, beaten by the force of Japanese arms and cunning, is sitting at the feet of her conqueror in the effort to imbibe the secrets of her learning and power.

Never in the history of the world has such a migration of students been recorded as that which the past five years has seen from the Chinese Empire. Often we have sent 2,000 of our young men and young women to the European universities in a year's period; Japan at one time had 1,700 of her youth in our colleges; during the Middle Ages hundreds of students of all walks of life and all countries left their homes to study under the leadership of Abelard and other intellectual giants of his time. These figures, however, even when doubled, will not give us the number of Chinese students received at Tokio in a single year. Yet less than ten years ago China was accounted the most secluded nation in the world and less than twenty years ago scores of provinces refused to allow the telephone and the telegraph on the argument that they were instruments of the evil one.

But we have not completed the circle of our statistics. To reach Tokio over 600 of our Chinest students were forced to complete a journey longer in point of time than that around the world!

China is awake with a vengeance.—Circle Magazine.

Preferred a Mortgage.

This story is being told in Kansas now. A Swede bought a farm, and when he put up the money the owner of the land told him he would make him a deed. The Swede refused to accept the deed. He said he wanted a mortgage. "I bot farm once and took deeds," he said, "but anoder feller com round with a mortgage and took it. I tank I take mortgage this time."—Kansas City Journal.

THE JUNKET AND THE PASTY

Characteristic Dishes of Cornwall That Are Fit to Serve by American Cooks.

The Junket.—Dictionary men are respectfully informed that the word junketing as signifying merrymaking arose from the custom of Cornish villagers to walk out in pleasure parties to farms, order junkets, bread and butter and tea and merrymake with all their might while the junkets were setting.

To make a junket put a pint of new milk in a presentable dish and stand on the back of the stove until at blood heat. Sweeten slightly, add a few drops of any flavoring preferred or leave it without flavoring. Add a teaspoonful of rennet, obtainable of grocers and druggists. Stand away to cool and "set." It should be smooth like clabber without visible whey. Cream may be scattered over the surface, or sugar or nutmeg.

The Pasty (peculiarly Cornish.)—It consists of a turnover pie, filled with raw beefsteak, onion and potato, chopped in bits not larger than a marble. Naturally onions and potatoes must be cut thin to bake well. Cornish pastry is made of fine chopped suet, flour and water, but Americans will prefer their own pastry. Cornish fishermen like to take pasties out for their suppers in the boats and indeed it would be difficult to think of any one article so well suited for picnics.

SKIM MILK TO WASH LACE

Nothing Better Can Be Found, and Its Cheapness Is Also a Recommendation.

There is nothing so good to wash lace as plenty of skim milk. It can be had for small cost, so that the lace if much soiled can be put through several fresh supplies.

Most persons make the mistake of rinsing out the milk. Instead do not use water at all and iron while still damp. This gives just enough stiffness, does away with the necessity of starch or gum arabic and prevents the limpness that follows if the lace is ironed dry without stiffening.

The best way to dry lace that you do not wish to iron is to stretch it tight on a table covered with a clean white cloth, pull out the edges and pin into place with many pins. When dry it will look soft and almost like new.

Apricot Sherbet.

To make it, drain the liquor from a can of apricots and set aside. Press the fruit through a colander. Soak a tablespoonful gelatin for one-half hour in cold water then add a cupful of boiling water and stir until dissolved. Make a sirup by cooking together two cupfuls of sugar and one of water. strain the apricot juice, add to it the juice of two oranges or an orange and a lemon, and turn over the pulp. Then add the soaked gelatin and the sirup that should have been chilled. Put into the freezer and when partially frozen add the stiffly whipped whites of two eggs and finish the freezing.

Dutch Applecake.

Separate two eggs; add the yolks to a cupful and a half of milk, a tablespoonful of butter melted and half a teaspoonful of salt. Mix and add two cupfuls of flour that have been sifted with three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, beat quickly, fold in the well-beaten whites of the eggs, and turn into a shallow greased baking tin. Cover the top with apples that have been pared, cored and quartered, putting the rounded sides up, and dust over with powdered sugar. Bake in a moderately quick oven for half an hour, or until the apples are tender. Serve with rich cream.

Individual Meat Pies.

To use up cold roast beef or lamb, grind the meat up with a little onion, salt and pepper, to taste, and add a little gravy to make it moist. Butter as many cups as you will need, and half fill them with the meat mixture. Then fill the cups up with mashed potatoes, and sprinkle bits of butter on the top. Put in the oven and bake until heated through. I generally leave them in about 15 minutes. Serve tipped out on a platter, with the left over gravy poured over them, or if you have no gravy, use tomato sauce.

Shred the Eggshells.

Eggshells put into the coffee without crushing after the beverage is made don't clear it thoroughly. Wash the eggshell carefully before breaking the egg.

In making the coffee shred the shell fine with the fingers and mix with the grounds before pouring on the water. The result is a clear, delicious looking cup with the use of even a small part of a shell.

Cottage Cheese Pie.

One cup of fresh cottage cheese mashed fine, two well-beaten eggs and enough rich milk or cream to make the whole of the consistency of thin batter, add a handful of currants and flavor with nutmeg or cinnamon. Pour over single crust as for custard pie and bake in a moderate oven.

Flour Dumplings.

Mix together one pint flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt. Stir in gradually one scant cup of milk to make soft dough. Drop by spoonful into kettle. Contents must be boiling. Cover closely and boil ten minutes without lifting cover. Serve.

Makes Delicious Flavor.

Some people like the unsweetened juice of a pineapple added to mayonnaise, especially when the mayonnaise is used on a fruit salad.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

Short prayers often last longest.

Friends do not freeze to a frozen heart.

Easy times often account for hard habits.

Nothing is really sacred until all things are.

Big plans do not balance small performances.

Short cuts to fortune are often bottomless cuts.

If wishes were wings good works would soon cease.

DIAMOND POINTS.

The fool who is silent often passes as wise.

The worst swindler is he who cheats himself.

Kindness quickly spoils, unless kept in circulation.

Silent men never have occasion to eat their words.

If you would keep your friends don't let them envy you.

It is easier to rest too much than it is to work too much.

We must all pay for experience; there are no "passes."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 23, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Lessons from the birds and flowers.—Luke xii, 24-28. (Union meeting with the Juniors.)

There is nothing in all the universe that God has made which does not praise Him and teach us useful lessons about Him. The psalmist says, "The heavens declare the glory of God," and the prophet declares that "He shall be as the dew unto Israel." The greatest and the least works of nature therefore teach us lessons concerning Him. And between them come the birds and the flowers, which teach us many profitable truths.

The one great lesson that Christ in the topical reference teaches us is that of God's watchful care over His people. It is a lesson on divine providence taught by the care which God takes of these lower forms of creation, which are as nothing when compared in value and in importance to man, who was created in God's own image and still retains it, though marred more or less by sin.

1. Christ teaches us a lesson on God's providential care over us through the birds: "Consider the ravens, for they neither sow nor reap, which neither have storehouse, nor barn, and God feedeth them. How much more are ye better than the fowls?" The ravens! Of all birds in Palestine they were the most undesirable—about as worthless as the English sparrow in our country. Yet God feeds them, and not one of them falleth to the ground without His notice. How can we doubt God's care for us, His provision for our physical needs, when He thus provides for the least desirable of fowls? Convalescing from an attack of sickness some years ago, I was at an ocean resort in the winter. I arose one morning to find that it had snowed during the night and was cold and dreary. What worse than such a day at the seashore? I felt downhearted and depressed. Suddenly I heard the chattering of birds and, looking out a window, saw an unusual sight.

There were scores of English sparrows eating and chirping on the ground below. I thought of this reference in the Scriptures, pulled myself together, and the blues departed. But I wondered at the provision made for them and inquired about it. I was told that on such days an abundance of food was thrown out on the snowy ground for the sparrows and that they always came for it on bad days. God, through some one's kind heartedness, was feeding the sparrows! Can you doubt him? Need we worry about our future? Never! "The Lord will provide."

2. Christ teaches us a lesson in God's providential care over us through the flowers. "Consider the lilies how they grow. They toil not, they spin not, and yet I say unto you that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like unto one of these. If, then, God so clothe the grass, which is today in the field and tomorrow is cast into the oven, how much more will He clothe you, O ye of little faith!" What a lesson from the lilies for trusting God for clothing and all the necessary material things of life! Only our little faith makes the present or the future seem dark and foreboding when we realize what God has done for the flowers. What we need is more faith and less doubt and worry.

In these two illustrations we are assured that God will provide food, home and raiment for us and what more we ask. Does the millionaire get more? When it's all over and life is ended he has had food and a home and clothing, which the humblest on earth also possesses and which God promises to all His children. He will not feed us with a silver spoon, but will open up the way for our procuring food, and so with all other necessary things. Never doubt Him, only trust Him, and He will bring it to pass.

Samoa and Japan.

The pioneer Christian Endeavor society in Samoa has established sixteen others and has sent from its own number more than 100 missionaries to evangelize other islands, most of them going to the difficult field of New Guinea, where some have already died.

Once the Juniors of the Christian Endeavor orphan asylum in Okayama, Japan, decided to perform at least one Christly act each week and report it. Here is a sample of what they did. Three of the Endeavor girls were out walking when they met some drunken women. They mustered up courage to go to them and beg them to stop drinking. "See what drink has done for us," they pleaded. "It has made us all orphans." The women were moved to tears, poured out on the ground the liquor they were carrying and gave the children $20 as a thank offering.

"Brave Virtue."

A Christian Endeavor Chinese girl was to be married and refused to take part in the usual idolatrous ceremonies, though her relatives struggled with her all of one night. She insisted on observing the Christian Sabbath, and when her mother-in-law would not let her have money enough to pay the ferry fare over to the Endeavor meeting place her Endeavor friends paid the way. At last she started a Christian school in her house, and a church has grown out of it. Her name, translated into English, is "Brave Virtue."

"By Jove, this is gallant of you, Donovan! You are a marvelous fellow!"

"I have a right to ask—I demand to know what it was you gave the girl."

"Matinee tickets—the American girl without matinee tickets is a lonely pleiad bumping through the void."

"You are a contemptible ass. Your conduct is scoundrelly. If you want to see Miss Holbrook, why don't you go to the house and call on her like a gentleman? And as for her—"

"Yes; and as for her—?"

He stepped close to me, threateningly.

"As for her, she may go too far!"

"She is not answerable to you. She's the finest girl in the world, and if you intimate—"

"I intimate nothing. But what I saw and heard interested me a good deal, Gillespie."

"What you heard by stealth, creeping about here at night, prying into other people's affairs!"

"I have pledged myself to care for Miss Pat."

"It's noble of you, Donovan!" and he stepped away from me, grinning. "Miss Pat suggests nothing to me but 'button, button, who's got the button?' She's a bloomin' aristocrat, while I'm the wealth-cursed child of democracy."

"You're a charming specimen!" I growled.

It was plain that he saw nothing out of the way in thus conniving with Helen Holbrook against her aunt, and that he had not been struck by the enormity of the girl's conduct in taking money from him. He drew in his canoe as I debated with myself what to do with him.

"You've got to leave the lake," I said. "You've got to go."

"Then I'm going, thank you!"

He sprang into the canoe, driving it far out of my reach; his paddle splashed, and he was gone.

"Is that you, sir?" called Ijima behind me. "I thought I heard some one talking."

"It is nothing, Ijima."

CHAPTER X.

The Flutter of a Handkerchief.

The next morning at eight o'clock I sent a note to Miss Pat, asking if she and the other ladies of her house would not take breakfast with me at nine; and she replied, on her quaint visiting card, in an old-fashioned hand, that she and Helen would be glad to come, but that Sister Margaret begged to be excused. It had been in my mind from the first to ask them to dine at Glenarm, and now I wished to see this girl, to test, weigh, study her, as soon as possible after her meeting with Gillespie. I wished to see how she would bear herself before her aunt and me with that dark transaction on her conscience.

Breakfast seems to be, in common experience, the most difficult meal of the day, and yet that hour hangs in memory still as one of the brightest I ever spent. The table was set on the terrace, and its white napery, the best Glenarm silver and crystal, and a bowl of red roses still dewy from the night, all blended coolly with the morning. As the strawberries were passed I felt that the little table had brought us together in a new intimacy. It was delightful to sit face to face with Miss Pat, and not less agreeable to have at my right hand this bewildering girl, whose eyes laughed at me when I sought shame in their depths. Miss Pat poured the coffee, and when I took my cup I felt that it carried benediction with it. I was glad to see her so at peace with the world, and her heart was not older, I could have sworn, than the roses before her.

"I shall refuse to leave when my time is up!" she declared. "Do you think you could spend a winter here, Helen?"

"I should love it!" the girl replied. "It would be perfectly splendid to watch the seasons march across the lake. We can both enroll ourselves at St. Agatha's as post-graduate students, and take a special course in weather here."

"If I didn't sometimes hear trains passing Annandale in the night, I should forget that there's a great busy world off there somewhere," said Miss Pat. "I am ashamed of myself for having been so long discovering this spot. Except one journey to California, I was never west of Philadelphia until I came here."

Helen stood by the line of scarlet geraniums that marked the balustrade, at a point whence the best view of the lake was obtainable—her hands clasped behind her, her head turned slightly.

"There is no one quite like her!" exclaimed Miss Pat.

"She is beautiful!" I acquiesced.

Miss Pat talked on quickly, as though our silence might cause Helen to turn and thus deprive us of the picture.

"Should you like to look over the house?" I asked a little later, when Helen had come back to the table. "It is said to be one of the finest houses in interior America, and there are some good pictures."

"We should be very glad," said Miss Pat; and Helen murmured assent.

"But we must not stay too long, Aunt Pat. Mr. Donovan has his own affairs. We must not tax his generosity too far."

"And we are going to send some letters off to-day. If it isn't asking too much, I should like to drive to the village later," said Miss Pat.

"Yes; and I should like a paper of pins and a new magazine," said Helen, a little, a very little eagerness in her tone.

"Certainly. The stable is at your disposal, and our entire marine."

"But we must see the Glenarm pictures first," said Miss Pat, and we went at once into the great cool house, coming at last to the gallery on the third floor.

"Whistler!" Miss Pat exclaimed in delight before the famous "Lady in the Gray Cloak." "I thought that picture was owned in England."

"It was; but old Mr. Glenarm had to have it. That Meissonier is supposed to be in Paris, but you see it's here."

"It's wonderful!" said Miss Pat. She returned to the Whistler and studied it with rapt attention, and I stood by, enjoying her pleasure. Helen had passed on while Miss Pat hung upon the Whistler.

"How beautifully those draperies are suggested, Helen. That is one of the best of all his things."

But Helen was not beside her, as she had thought. There were several recesses in the room, and I thought the girl had stepped into one of these, but just then I saw her shadow outside.

"Miss Holbrook is on the balcony," I said.

"Oh, very well. We must go," she replied, quietly, but lingered before the picture.

I left Miss Pat and crossed the room to the balcony. As I approached one of the doors I saw Helen, standing tiptoe for greater height, slowly raise and lower her handkerchief thrice, as though signaling to some one on the water.

I laughed outright as I stepped beside her.

"It's better to be a picture than to look at one, Miss Holbrook! Allow me!"

In her confusion she had dropped her handkerchief, and when I returned it she slipped it into her cuff with a murmur of thanks. A flash of anger lighted her eyes and she colored slightly; but she was composed in an instant. And, looking off beyond the water-tower, I was not surprised to see the Stiletto quite near our shore, her white sails filling lazily in the scant wind. A tiny flag flashed recognition and answer to the girl's signal, and was hauled down at once.

We were both silent as we watched it; then I turned to the girl, who bent her head a moment, tucking the handkerchief a trifle more securely into her sleeve. She smiled quizzically, with a compression of the lips.

"The view here is fine, isn't it?"

We regarded each other with entire good humor. I heard Miss Pat within, slowly crossing the bare floor of the gallery.

"You are incomparable!" I exclaimed. "Verily, a daughter of Janus has come among us!"

"The best pictures are outdoors, after all," commented Miss Pat; and after a further ramble about the house they returned to St. Agatha's, whence we were to drive together to Annandale in half an hour.

I went to the stone water-tower and scanned the movements of the Stiletto with a glass while I waited. The sloop was tacking slowly away toward Annandale, her skipper managing his sheet with an expert hand. It may have been the ugly business in which the pretty toy was engaged, or it may have been the lazy deliberation of her oblique progress over the water, but I felt then and afterward that there was something sinister in every line of the Stiletto. The more I deliberated the less certain I became of anything that pertained to the Holbrooks; and I tested my memory by repeating the alphabet and counting ten, to make sure that my wits were still equal to such exercises.

We drove into Annandale without incident and with no apparent timidity on Miss Pat's part. Helen was all amiability and cheer. I turned perforce to address her now and then, and to find that the lurking smile about her lips, and a challenging light in her eyes, woke no resentment in me.

I left Miss Pat and Helen at the general store while I sought the hardware merchant with a list of trifles required for Glenarm. I was detained some time longer than I had expected, and in leaving I stood for a moment on the platform before the shop, gossiping with the merchant of village affairs. I glanced down the street to see if the ladies had appeared, and observed at the same time my team and wagon standing at the curb in charge of the driver, just as I had left them.

While I still talked to the marchant, Helen came out of the general store, glanced hurriedly up and down the street, and crossed quickly to the post-office, which lay opposite. I watched her as I made my adieux to the shopkeeper, and just then I witnessed something that interested me at once. Within the open door of the post-office the Italian sailor lounged idly. Helen carried a number of letters in her hand, and as she entered the post-office—I was sure my eyes played me no trick—deftly, almost imperceptibly, an envelope passed from her hand to the Italian's. He stood immovable, as he had been, while the girl passed on into the office. She reappeared at once, recrossed the street and met her aunt at the door of the general store. I rejoined them, and as we all met by the waiting trap the Italian left the post-office and strolled slowly away toward the lake.

"There is No One Quite Like Her!"

I was not sure whether Miss Pat saw him. If she did she made no sign, but began describing with much amusement an odd countryman she had seen in the shop.

"You mailed our letters, did you, Helen? Then I believe we have quite finished, Mr. Donovan. I like your little village; I'm disposed to love everything about this beautiful lake."

"Yes; even the town hall, where the Old Georgia Minstrels seem to have appeared for one night only, some time last December, is a shrine worthy of pilgrimages," remarked Helen. "And postage stamps cost no more here than in Stamford. I had really expected that they would be a trifle dearer."

I laughed rather more than was required, for those wonderful eyes of hers were filled with something akin to honest fun. She was proud of herself, and was even flushed the least bit with her success.

As we passed the village pier I saw the Stiletto lying at the edge of the inlet that made a miniature harbor for the village, and, rowing swiftly toward it, his oars flashing brightly, was the Italian, still plainly in sight. Whether Miss Pat saw the boat and ignored it, or failed to see, I did not know, for when I turned she was studying the cover of a magazine that lay in her lap. Helen fell to talking vivaciously of the contrasts between American and English landscape; and so we drove back to St. Agatha's.

Thereafter, for the matter of ten days, nothing happened. I brought the ladies of St. Agatha's often to Glenarm, and we went forth together constantly by land and water without interruption. They received and dispatched letters, and nothing marred the quiet order of their lives. The Stiletto vanished from my horizon, and lay, so Ijima learned for me, within the farther lake. Henry Holbrook had, I made no doubt, gone away with the draft Helen had secured from Gillespie, and of Gillespie himself I heard nothing.

CHAPTER XI.

The Carnival of Canoes.

I had dined alone and was lounging about the grounds when I heard voices near the Glenarm wall. There was no formal walk there, and my steps were silenced by the turf. The heavy scent of flowers from within gave me a hint of my whereabouts; there was, I remembered, at this point on the school lawn a rustic bench embowered in honeysuckle, and Miss Pat and Helen were, I surmised, taking their coffee there. I started away, thinking to enter by the gate and join them, when Helen's voice rose angrily—there was no mistaking it, and she said in a tone that rang oddly on my ears:

"But you are unkind to him! You are unjust! It is not fair to blame father for his ill fortune."

"That is true, Helen; but it is not your father's ill fortune that I hold against him. All I ask of him is to be sane, reasonable, to change his manner of life, and to come to me in a spirit of fairness."

"But he is proud, just as you are; and Uncle Arthur ruined him! It was not father, but Uncle Arthur, who brought all these hideous things upon us."

I passed rapidly on, and resumed my walk elsewhere It was a sad business, the shadowy father; the criminal uncle, who had, as Helen said, brought ruin upon them all; the sweet, motherly, older sister, driven in desperation to hide; and, not less melancholy, this beautiful girl, the pathos of whose position had struck me increasingly. Perhaps Miss Pat was too severe, and I half accused her of I know not what crimes of rapacity and greed for withholding her brother's money; then I set my teeth hard into my pipe as my slumbering loyalty to Miss Pat warmed my heart again.

"It's the night of the carnival, sir," Ijima reminded me, seeking me at the water-tower.

"Very good, Ijima. You needn't lock the boathouse. I may go out later."

The cottagers at Port Annandale hold once every summer a canoe fete, and this was the appointed night. I was in no mood for gayety of any sort, but it occurred to me that I might relieve the strained relations between Helen and her aunt by taking them out to watch the procession of boats. I passed through the gate and took a turn or two, not to appear to know of the whereabout of the women, and to my surprise met Miss Pat walking alone.

FIND WORK FOR PRINCETON MEN

New York Alumni Have Committee to Place Graduates of Old Nassau in Positions.

New York, May 21.—The Princeton Club, of New York, has organized a comittee whose mission is to find business positions for Princeton graduates. The committee is composed of William F. McCombs, Jr., '98, chairman; Louis Stearns, '87; George Whitefield Betts, Jr., '92; Andrew C. Imbrie, '95; Edward R. Otheman, '95; and O. de G. Vanderbilt, Jr., '006.

All employers, whether they are Princeton graduates or not, having positions open are invited to communicate with this committee, stating requirements of the positions they have to fill. In securing these positions, however, the committee does not refer applicants to prospective employers unless, in their judgment, they are capable and well qualified in every respect to fill the positions that have been offered.

The advantages of this plan for securing positions for Princeton men is twofold. The committe offers to employers an opportunity to communicate with capable and energetic young colege men. And on the other hand it brings Princeton graduates in close touch with business or professional men who have positions to be filled.

Any comunications on the subject may be addressed to the secretary of the committee, in care of the Princeton Club, New York city.

WOMAN'S CHILDREN TAKEN FROM HER.

Accepting testimony that Mrs. Ellen Rollinson, of Elizabeth, had wilfully neglected her three children, Judge Mahon Wednesday placed them in the care of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

When the mother was arraigned yesterday she vigorously denied the neglect charge, but she was confronted with the testimony of Miss Josephine Kremm, of the S. P. C. C.; Miss Louise Braun, principal of School No. 5, and other witnesses. All told of wretched conditions in the Rollinson home as they had found them.

Mrs. Rollinson was arrested several weeks ago on the charge, but at the time was so under the influence of liquor that it was found necessary to commit her to jail. The children at that time were taken by the agents of the S. P. C. C. and looked after.

NEW FREAK FOR MONTCLAIR.

Mrs. Walter B. Brewer, of 391 Orange road, Montclair, has a curio in the form of a four-legged chicken. The little oddity was one of a batch of twelve which were hatched out Monday night. When Mrs. Brewer went to remove the old hen from the nest she found the freak chick lying dead in the midst of its brothers and sisters, its four little legs sticking out from the body.

The strange chick is the Plymouth Rock variety and appeared normal in all other respects except the extra pair of legs. Mrs. Brewer thinks the old hen must have stepped on it, shortly after it came out of the shell and crushed it in that way.

The extra limbs are not fully developed, especially the feet, which contain only two toes each. They appear both on one side and present an odd appearance.

Passaic Blackmailer in Jail.

Passaic, May 21.—Alexander Shonoffski, who was arrested Monday night as a blackmailer of Rev. Valentine Chlebowski, pastor of St. Joseph's Polish Catholic church, is still in jail, having been unable to procure a bondsman. So far as can be learned the prisoner has no home. Friday and Monday Father Chlebowski received letters threatening him with death if he did not deposit $1,000 between two stones at a certain spot on the canal bank. Frederick Paulison disguised himself as a priest and went to the spot and deposited an envelope. About an hour later Shonoffski appeared and secured the envelope. Then he was seized. He was taken before Justice of the Peace Richmond and committed to jail. A former attempt to blackmail the same priest resulted in the offender's capture in New York, where he is awaiting extradition.

Brick Wall Halted Flames.

It has been found that the fire which destroyed six houses at Keasbey, a suburb of Perth Amboy, Monday night, was prevented from sweeping away more than a dozen houses that were saved by a brick wall erected by Lawrence Christy last fall in compliance with the orders of the Tenement-house Commission of the State. Christy had a four-family house, and he was ordered to put in improvements to comply with teh law. He evaded complying with the order by erecting a brick wall from the ground to the roof through the middle of the house, making it rate as two two-family houses. The fire burned to that wall Monday morning, in spite of al that could be done to check it, but it could not go farther. More than $50,000 was saved by the ending of the fire here.

Don't Wrestle With Furnace Clinkers

Clinkers just naturally pass right through the grate of the Boynton.

If they hesitate, the cutting bar smashes them. There is no chance of clogging. The intense and uniform heat of the reduces nearly everything to the finest ash. That's because a square pot develops more heat per unit of fuel than any other kind. That's economy.

The Boynton has some other exceptional features too—the fresh air supply—the dust flue—the square ash pit. Any BOYNTON dealer will be glad to explain how these points reduce the care and cost of up-keep.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

WOULD CLOSE DRUG STORES ON SUNDAY.

Paterson, May 21.—A State-wide program, having for its object the ultimate closing of drug stores on Sundays, had its inception at a meeting of the Paterson Pharmacentical Association Tuesday evening. The association is the only one of its kind in New Jersey and is the oldest in the country. It has the membership of more than 100 registered clerks.

A number of pharmacists from from Newark, Jersey City and Elizabeth were present, and pledged their support in the closing movement. Steps were taken to have an association formed in Newark on lines similar to the Paterson organization, but the plans are still in an embryo state. Another joint meeting will be held in the course of a week.

THOMAS S. LOESER.

New York Editor Dies at His Morristown Home.

Morristown, May 21.—Thomas S. Loeser, editor of Bonfort's Wine and Spirits Circular, of New York, died at his home here Wednesday. Mr. Loeser had been ill for only a few days with stomach trouble. A New York specialist was called in on Tuesday, but could not save him. He was 45 years old.

Mr. Loeser was a member of the Loyal Legion, Scittish Rite, the New York Yacht Club and was also connected in a business way with the New York Journal of Commerce. He was a son of Colonel McKay Loeser, a graduate of West Point. He leaves a widow and two sons.

What He Called to Say.

"Mr. President," said the caller at the White House, "I do not wish to boast, but I thought you might like to know that I was the original"—

"Really, you must excuse me, my dear sir. I have a pressing engagement."

"Ah, I am very sorry. I merely called to say that I am the first man that ever"—

"I a msorry, sir, but really I must beg that you will excuse me."

"Certainly, Mr. President, certainly. I merely wished to say that I am the first golfer that ever made a 275-yard drive with a niblick."

"Oh, I thought you were going to tell me you were the first man that ever supported me for the Presidency. Sit down! Sit down! By the way, can't you have lunch here and go out and have a game with me this afternoon?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Divorce for Mrs. C. H. Rue.

Trenton, May 21.—Chancellor Pitney Tuesday signed a decree nisi divorcing Dena L. Rue, of this city, from her husband, Charles H. Rue, on the ground of desertion. The children of the couple, Leata and Charles, are ordered to the custody of the mother. The Rues are Trenton people, the wife showing that they were married in Camden, February 2, 1890. The evidence taken before Master in Chancery W. Holt Apgar was to the effect that the husband never supported the wife; that she was frequently compelled to earn money for their food, and always their clothing, and that he deserted his family more than two years before.

Mean Joke on a Parrot.

An ardent golfer, by way of a joke, dropped a golf ball into a nest his ancient parrot had built in the corner of its cage. Polly sat with egg, and appeared pretty well heartbroken when the weeks went by and she found herself unrewarded. At last parrot flesh and blood could stand it no longer. A terrible scheeching brought her owner downstairs at 3 o'clock one morning.

"What's the matter, Polly?" he asked, as he noticed the bird's beak was chipped trying to get at the egg's interior.

"Matter!" screached the bird, "Great Scot! I'm bunkered!"—Tit-Bits.

Origin of "Sterling."

The word "sterling" has a curious origin. Among the early minters of coin in Europe were the inhabitants of Eastern German. These people were such skilful craftsmen that numbers of them were invited to England to manufacture the coin of the realm. They were known as "easterlings," and in time the word became contracted to "sterling." In this contracted form the word has come to imply what is genuine in money, plate or character.—Scottish-American.

A Gentle Reminder.

"There!" growled Mr. Suburbanite, as he stored the snow shovel in the furthest corner of the basement. "Ding you, I won't have to wrestle with you for a few months, anyway!"

Turning suddenly around in the dark, he fell over something that gave forth a nerve-tearing rattle and click. With a wild shriek he fled up the cellar stairs before the lawn mover could catch him.—From Judge's Library.

Among the Ancients.

The Romans had just received Paul's epistle.

"Why, he scolds us as if he were a President of the United States and we were nothing but a Congress!" they said.

Consequently they paid no attention to his recommendations.—Chicago Tribune.

THE MAGISTRATE SCORES

Park Comedy Club Makes Decided Hit in Pinero's Great Comedy.

SOCIETY THRONGS THEATRE.

Most Pretentious Show Yet Presented By Talented Amateurs to Be Reproduced.

The presentation of A. W. Pinero's famous three-act comedy, "The Magistrate," by the Park Comedy Club at the New Plainfield theatre, last night, was the most notable achievement of this ambitious organization. The performance was witnessed by a capacity audience of enthusiastic and admiring friends, that was generous in its applause of the praiseworthy work of the cast. The play was by far the most pretentious thing yet undertaken by the club and was a success in every detail.

While every member of the cast scored heavily, the leading honors were divided by Miss Elizabeth Goddard, as "Agatha Posket;" Charles H. Lyman, as "Mr. Posket," and Walter Vaughan McGee, as "Mr. Bullamy," magistrates of the Mulberry Street Police Court; Alson M. Abbott, "Cis Farringdon," Mrs Posket's son by her first marriage; Miss Frances L. Vandeventer, Mrs. Posket's sister; Alson M. Abbott, as "Popham," a servant; Miss Helen Ray Hooley, as "Beatie Tomlinson," a young lady reduced to teaching music, and John P. Myers, as "Isadore," a waiter, and "Mr. Worthington," chief clerk at Mulberry street.

The entire cast was line perfect and acted with an ease and grace that made it impossible to distinguish between the amateur and professional. The play furnished one great big laugh from the first act, when "The Family Skeleton," at Mr. Posket's home starts the trouble. Mrs. Posket and her sister are called away, under pretence to see a sick friend, but in reality go to see an old friend, Colonel Lukyn, to warn him not to divulge the correct age of her son, "Cis Farringdon." The two women meet Col. Luykn and Captain Horace Vale at the Hotel des Princes, and while there Mr. Posket and his step-son, who have gone out for a lark, occupy an adjoining room at the hotel, although Mrs. Posket believes that they are at home. The amusing situations that follow, trying to keep the women in ignorance of the presence of the two men in the other room, while they themselves are endeavoring to prevent their identity becoming known, is well carried out. Col. Lukyn has a troublesome time entertaining the women, while his friend, Captain Vale, is compelled to stand outside on the balcony in a driving storm.

The women stay so long that the closing hours have been violated, and the hotel is "pinched," by the police. When the officers of the law arrive they find the whole party in one room, except Mr. Posket and his step-son, who escape. The rest of the men and the women are arrested, taken to jail, where they are held to await appearance before Mr. Posket, as magistrate. The fact that he does not know that one of the women is his wife, only complicates matters. His son has led him a fearful chase and when he appears the next morning in police court he is "all in, down and out." He is still in ignorance of the predicament of the two women, until he faces them and then the whole party becomes hysterical.

The women are given seven days, but Magistrate Bullamy is called in, reopens the case and releases the women on their own recognizance, and they return home to learn the true facts, that Mr. Posket and the step-son were implicated in the night's celebration.

Mr. Lyman as "The Magistrate" could not be improved upon. His interpretation of the character was such as to call forth the loudest praise. In the first act he was very prone to disregard the wishes of his wife, even when she insisted that he remain at home, instead of going to the club. But his stepson persuaded him to go to the Hotel des Princes. His appearance at the hotel and upon his return the next morning after his escapade, brought down the house. He had a black eye, and was the most woe-begone looking person imaginable as he tried to get straightened out for the session of court.

Col. Lukyn tried his best to persuade Mr. Posket to release the women before he saw them, but he was obdurate and scorned any interference with court affairs, explaining that justice must not be tampered with. Mr. Lyman was very much at ease in his part and one would think that he had been a "Magistrate" for years.

NEW JERSEY STATE BAR ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The eleventh annual meeting of the New Jersey Bar Association will be held at the Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel, Atlantic City, on June 11 and 12, the call having been just issued by William J. Kraft, the secretary.

Associate Justice David J. Brewer, of the United States Supreme Court, will deliver an address to the meeting, as will Clarence L. Cole, president of the association.

Governor Fort will be present, and invitations have been extended to United States Senators Kean and Briggs, ex-Governors Stokes, Murphy, Voorhees, Griggs and Werts; Chancellor Mahlon Pitney, Chief Justice William S. Gummere and all the associate justices of the Supreme Court and vice chancellors and judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals.

A large and interesting meeting is anticipated.

SPRING MEETING W.C.T.U. OF SOMERSET COUNTY

The spring institute of the Somerset County Woman's Christian Temperance Union was begun in the Methodist church at Gladstone yesterday. Nearly all the unions throughout the county are represented with delegations, and many of the State officers are in attendance. The following are the officers of the county organization, who are in charge of the different sessions of the institute: President, Mrs. Deborah P. Peeke, of East Millstone; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lewis M. Codington, of Somerville; recording secretary, Mrs. Leonard C. Davis, of Somerville; treasurer, Mrs. Kate K. Brown, of South Bound Brook.

The morning meeting began promptly at 10:30 o'clock, with devotions, led by Mrs. Thomas M. Simanton, of Peapack. Committees were appointed to simplify the work. The address of welcome from the Peapack and Gladstone Union was made by Miss Caroline Melick. Miss Gertrude Sutphen, of Millstone, responded. The reports of the different officers were made, showing an increase in the work all along the line. Mrs. Deborah P. Peake, of East Millstone, made a short address, Miss Lillian Wyckoff, of Gladstone, sang a solo, and a paper on "The Stranger Within Our Gates" was read by Mrs. Theodore Nauright, of Far Hills.

The noontide prayer was conducted by Miss Elizabeth H. Goodwin, of Cumberland county, who is the State secretary of the Young Woman's branch.

At the session yesterday afternoon Mrs. Kate K. Brown, of South Bound Brook, conducted a memorial for Mrs. Henrietta L. Caninade. Pastors of neighboring churches extended greetings, Miss Beulah Gibb, of Basking Ridge, recited, and a duet was sung by Misses Jennie Wikoff and Lizzie De Mott, of Gladstone. Mrs. Emma Bourne, of Newark, the State president, made an address.

Last evening the service began at 7:30 o'clock. Devotions were conducted by the pastor of the Gladstone Methodist church. Rev. E. M. Compton, Miss Elizabeth Gulick, of Peapack, sang, and Miss Goodwin made an address.

Will Make It a "Ladies' Night."

On account of the weather and the small attendance of men at the meeting of the Dutch Arms of Trinit Reformed church, last night, the affair was postponed to Thursday night, May 27, when H. Warren Rankin, sleight-of-hand performer, will furnish the program. It will also be made a "ladies' night" affair.

S. A.'s Special Service.

Staff Captain and Mrs. Burrows, recently of Cleveland, Ohio, and now connected with the Provincial headquarters in New York, will conduct a special service at the Salvation Army hall, East Second street, tomorrow evening at 8 p. m. A special invitation is extended to all to hear these talented officers speak and sing.

Verdict For Complainant.

After a few minutes deliberation the jury in the contract case of V. W. Nash, Jr., trustee for W. H. Kirch, against William Olmsted, in the Union county court, yesterday, returned a verdict for the complainant for $602. Judge William Newcorn represented Mr. Nash and Nelson and W. N. Runyon and S. S. Swackhamer the defendant.

College Club Affair.

The College Club will entertain the girls of the senior and junior classes of the North Plainfield High School at the Hartridge School auditorium next Friday afternoon.

WHITE PLAGUE CRUSADE

Dr. W. H. Murray Chosen a Vice President of State Tuberculosis Society.

ANNUAL ELECTION FOLLOWS.

Dr. Hutchinson's Talk—Dr. B. Van D. Hedges Member of the Executive Committee.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson, of New York, who is recognized as one of the leading experts of the country in the cure of tuberculosis, was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the New Jersey Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, held in the Free Public Library at Newark. Dr. Hutchinson's talk was plain and straightforward, laying the blame for the spread of the disease upon the community in which it exists.

"The medical profession," he said, "has found what causes consumption and how it may be cured. What will the community do? We have pointed the way in which the disease may be stamped out. The question is, 'Is the community willing to spend the time and the money?'"

The annual election of officers and directors resulted as follows: President, Dr. George K. Dickinson; vice-presidents, Dr. William G Schaffler, Lakewood; Dr. William H. Murray, Plainfield; the Hon. J. Franklin Fort, Trenton; the Right Rev. James A. McFaul, Trenton; Woodrow Wilson, Princeton; secretary and treasurer, Fred Edson Clerk, Trenton.

Executive committee—Dr. G. K. Dickinson, Fred Edson Clerk, Dr. William H. Murray, Dr. B. Van D. Hedges, of Plainfield; Mrs. C. B. Alexander, Dr. James A. Exton, Professor E. H. Loomis, Dr. T. W. Corwin.

Directors for four years—Philip La Tourette, North Branch; Dr. Philip Marvel, Atlantic City; John D. Prince, Ringwood; Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Raritan; William W. Smalley, Bound Brook; Dr. G. B. Philhower, Nutley; William M. Daniels, Princeton; Edmund Wilson, attorney general, Red Bank; Dr. William E. Ramsay, Trenton; J. William Clark, Newark.

To fill places of resignations, Miss M. Pierson, two years, Dr. Addison B. Poland, Newark; Bleecker Van Wagenen, four years; Mrs. William Brumstead, Jersey City; James Abercrombie, five years; Thomas H. Williams, Jersey City.

MR. AND MRS. WM. GRAY GIVEN SUPRISE PARTY.

A surprise party was given to Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, of 827 West Third street, last night, when an enjoyable evening was spent in playing games, dancing and music, after which refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hendry, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McInnes, Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. J. Heron, Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. S. Cratsley, Mrs. J. A. Riley, Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. F. Rushton, Mrs. Neil Head, Sr., Mrs. Neil Head, Jr., the Misses Gray, Field, Head and Jones and Messrs. Gray, Hahn, Dorwood and Master David W. Hendry.

Will Hold a Lawn Fete.

Under the auspices of the Benevolent Band, King's Daughters, a lawn fete will be held Thursday afternoon, June 3, at the home of Mrs. Stephen Ginna on Watchung avenue. Elaborate plans for the affair are now underway and there will be a sale of candy, cake, ice cream and novelties of all kind. The decorations will be especially attractive.

Lakeside Council to Celebrate.

Lakeside Council, Daughters of Liberty, of New Market, will celebrate its fourteenth anniversary Tuesday night, June 1. Invitations have been sent to Old Glory Council, of Plainfield, and Rockview Council, of Dunellen, to attend. J. W. Gangloff will furnish the entertainment.

Plainfield Horses in Race Meet.

Among the entries for the Whippany River Club race meet at Morristown, today, are R. C. Finch's "Demi-Tasse;" Hugh Gormley's "Harry Baylor;" Charles W. Fisk's "Apple Jack," and R. C. Finch's "Lady Potentate."

John Murphy Innocent.

John Murphy, aged eighteen, of No. 213 Spooner avenue, accused of assault, was released this morning by Judge Runyon in police court, the complainants, Samuel Rogoff and Benjamin Roseman, failing to prove their charges.

—Charter Day Celebration, July 5, 6 and 7.

BABY CAMP'S "TAG DAY"

City Union of King's Daughters Adopts Popular Plan to Raise Funds.

AT THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Mrs. F. W. Jones Re-elected President and Mrs. F. W. Butler Vice President.

The City Union of The King's Daughters at its annual meeting in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday, decided to make good use of the Charter Day celebration to be held here July 5, 6 and 7, by holding a "tag day" on the first day of the affair, similar to the one held at Paterson and proposed at Elizabeth. All the proceeds from this souce will be used for the summer work of the King's Daughters.

There were eleven circles represented at the meeting, the Benevolent Band, Charity Circle, Cheerful Workers, the Cup Bearers, the Brightside, Golden Rule, Loyal Daughters, Daughters of the Cross, Whatsoever, Silver Cross and the youngest circle, In His Name.

After the devotional exercises, which were conducted by Rev. Dr J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, these officers were chosen for the coming year: President, Mrs. Frank W. Jones; vice-president, Mrs. F. W. Butler; recording secretary, Mrs. A. N. Lagren; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. F. Feickert; treasurer, Mrs. Anna M. Most.

The reports from each circle showed that much was accomplished during the past year both at the summer camp on the mountain and The Day Nursery, where thousands of children have been cared for through the means of charity. The report of the treasurer was most gratifying. On December last there was a cash balance of $169.29, and the balance at present is $755.60, due to several benefits given. "The Chorus Lady" netted $245; "The Blue Stocking Tea" $263 and the recital by W. T. Carlton $77, while the balance, $160, represent cash donations.

Each circle represented yesterday renewed its pledge for the coming year, according to the annual custom, and this giving a working cash capital to carry on the various charitable enterprises in which the union is engaged. The necessity for more money was urged as The Day Nursery is an expensive proposition, while the summer camp work demands are always great. About $1,300 was subscribed.

VETERANS NOT TO SEEK ANY STATE PENSIONS

The Legislative Committee of the State Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic in session at Atlantic City reported that the heads of the departments in the organization were not favorable to further pressing the demand for a State pension in addition to the one received from the government.

The statement was made that the committee found both Houses indisposed to consider an appropriation because of the lack of funds, and the committee did not believe it advisable to again seek it.

The State Encampment gave its enthusiastic indorsement to the State invitation to have the next national encampment in Atlantic City, for which the State has appropriated $25,000.

Popular Manager Remembered.

Max Kahn, manager for Schiller Bros., skirt manufacturers on West Front street, who leaves Saturday, May 29, on the Steamer Kaiser Auguste, for his old home at Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, was given a surprise by the women employes at the factory today, when he was presented with a handsome silk umbrella with a sterling silver handle and a sterling silver matchbox, with his initials engraved thereon. The presentation was made by Miss Agnes Vardon on behalf of the employes. Mr. Kahn thanked the women expressing his appreciation of their good wishes for a safe voyage.

Proctor's New Curtain.

The handsome and costly new drop curtain at the Proctor theatre was shown for the first time yesterday and won instant favor with the great crowds at both the matinee and evening performances. The scene contains the announcements of the leading merchats and business houses and reflects credit on the advertiser as well as the management.

DINNER AT GRACE M. E.

Sunday School Officers and Teachers Guests of William J. Conroy.

SPEECHES AFTER THE REPAST.

Pastor and Others Give Informal Talks — Music Enlivens Occasion.

The Sunday-school officers and teachers of Grace M. E. church were given a banquet at the church, last night, by the superintendent, W. J. Conroy, in connection with which there was a general discussion of work and plans for the future. The affair was a most enjoyable one, bringing together those who have worked so successfully for the best interests of the school.

The church was decorated throughout with dogwood and wild honeysuckle. The color scheme in the decoration of the table was yellow and white with ferns. During the evening there were musical numbers furnished by Miss Edith Major and Miss Edna Sebring.

At the conclusion of the banquet several addresses were made as follows: "The Pastor's Relation to the Sunday-school," Rev. Ora J. Shoop; "The Young Men of the Church," W. J. Cochran; "The Growth of a Sunday-school Through Its Social Life," J. L. Bennett; "How to Develope Sunday-school Pupils into Christians," Miss Jesse Billett; "General Discussion of Year's Work and Plans for Future in All Lines of Activity," W. J. Conroy.

The speeches resulted in bringing out a number of valuable suggestions which will be of help in Sunday-school work during the coming year. The committee of arrangements comprised Mis Emma Smalley, Miss Stella Vermeule, Miss Della Voehl, Miss Mary Steiner, Miss Mary Hoagland and W. J. Conroy. Benjamin Schuck, Raymond Miller and David Smalley had charge of the decorations.

The officers of the Sunday-school are as follows: Superintendent, W. J. Conroy; first assistant, W. J. Cochran; second assistant, A. B. C. Bodine; secretary, Benj. Schuck; treasurer, David Smalley; pianist, Miss Mary Steiner; primary department superintendent, Miss Belle Lunger; assistant, Miss Alice Carroll; home department superintendent, Miss C. J. Barnes.

GREAT CONTORTIONIST TO JOIN BIGGEST CIRCUS.

As he will join the Ringling Brothers circus on Monday, the "Great Inman," the world's greatest contortionist, will be seen for the last time tonight in advance vaudeville. He will make his farewell appearance at the New Plainfield theatre where a crack-a-jack show is on. Maybelle Rothan, the singing comedian; Cravetta and Bu, the European novelty artists; Riley & Company in a singing, dancing and talking sketch; the Bennett Triz, comedy acrobats, and The Ashers in "Going to a Dancing Carnival" are also on the bill.

One of the big screams is Stockton & Company in a capital sketch entitled "Tribulations." And then there are moving pictures.

Miss Fannie McAlvanah.

Miss Fannie McAlvanah, aged twenty-six years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McAlvanah, formerly of East Fifth street, but now of Woodbrook Farm, where Mr. McAlvanah is the superintendent, died this morning from heart failure, with which she had been afflicted for a long time. The funeral will be held from the late residence Monday morning at 8 o'clock, and at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's church, where solemn mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of her soul

Funeral of Charles B. Overbaugh.

The funeral service of Charles B. Overbaugh, who died on Wednesday, was held last night at 8 o'clock from the residence of the son, Charles F. Overbaugh, 148 East Fifth street. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends. Rev. A. E. Finn, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, conducted the service, and also officiated at the burial, which took place this morning in the Baptist cemetery, Scotch Plains.

Surprised Miss Wheeler.

A birthday surprise party was tendered to Miss Ida Wheeler, of Stone street, Thursday night, by a number of friends. The evening was spent playing games. Music was furnished by Allen Squier, after which refreshments were served. Miss Wheeler received a number of gifts.

HE PLEADS GUILTY TO CRIMINAL CHARGES

Andrew Wagner, of this city, a truckman employed by the American News Company in New York, was one of two prisoners arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Breen, in the Tombs Court, charged with the petty larceny of magazines and receiving stolen goods. The other prisoner was Martin McNamara, of 574 Broome street, who has a newsstand at Desbrosses street ferry. The newsdealer pleaded guilty and was held in $500 bail for trial. Wagner was held in a similar amount.

In explaining the prosecution of the driver and newsdealer, Superintendent W. H. Eckelston of the packing department of the news company, said that the crimes were serious ones, inasmuch as the company is under heavy bonds to prevent magazines or their contents from being placed in the market before the date of publication.

TOM MUIR TESTIMONIAL TICKETS READY MONDAY

Tickets will be placed on sale at the box office of the New Plainfield theatre on Monday morning at 9 o'clock and as they will sell like hot cakes," a "word to the wise is sufficient." Reserved seats are fixed at seventy-five cents, one dollar and one dollar and a half, according to location. Because of popular demand for seats, as already announced by Judge N. Runyon, the testimonitl will be given on two nights, June 18 and 19.

The rehearsal last night gave ample demonstration as to the enthusiasm with which the 125 volunteer minstrel men have entered into the splendid undertaking. Great progress was made and it will not be long before Judge Runyon will be able to put the finishing touches on the crack-a-jack amateur show. Prof. William E. MacClymont is busily engaged improvising some tuneful songs, and others equally well known in musical circles are giving their time in an effort to make the demonstration a big event

If you want to see the show, get your tickets on Monday morning.

N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE OUT WITH CONSOLIDATED

The New York Stock Exchange authorities, who have been trying to minimize the connection of exchange members with the Newark Consolidated Exchange, in both of which many Plainfielders are members, has entered into an aggressive campaign to sever every relation by prohibiting any business intercourse at all between active members of the two boards.

At the same time is put forward another resolution, yet to be passed, which asks for an investigation of the curb market, and implies a chance for a like sundering of relations with the curb.

It is said that if this contemplated prohibition becomes effective it will be put through with the design of driving several good curb securities, such as Standard Oil, to apply for listing on the Stock Exchange.

E. S. Mendels, agent of the curb market, said yesterday that the curb would keep on doing business as hitherto.

Farmer Gets Verdict.

After a trial that lasted two days in the Union County Circuit Court before Judge Vail and a jury, Albert J. Knoll, a farmer from Mountainside Borough, was awarded a verdict for $3,000 against the Public Service Corporation yesterday morning at Elizabeth by the jury for injuries he received in Newark in 1905 while taking a load of farm produce to Centre Market, Elizabeth.

Dist. Superintendent to Preach.

Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, district superintendent of the Elizabeth district of the Newark Conference, will preach at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church tomorrow morning. Miss Anna Hess will lead the Epworth League meeting at 7:15 o'clock and in the evening the pastor, Rev. C. S. Kemble, will preach on "The Despised Man and Jesus."

To Present a Play.

The members of the North Plainfield High School Athletic Association are rehearsing the "The Merchant of Venice," which will be produced in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Phillips, of Grandview avenue, are the proud parents of a son.

NEGROES SENT TO JAIL

Ten Women and Three Men Branded as Dogs Given Thirty Days Each.

WERE CAUGHT IN A RAID.

Two Others Taken by the Police to Be Given Hearings Next Saturday.

Thirteen negroes, ten of them women, were sentenced today by Judge Runyon to thirty days in the Union county jail, the court branding them as "a disgrace to themselves, their race and the community," adding that their depravity showed that they had no respect "for the laws of God or the laws of man," and that their "morality is no better than that of dogs." They were caught in a raid made by the police early yesterday morning on No. 214 New street. Two others found by the police at the time, William Hackett and James Scott, were each held in $200 by request of their counsel, for a hearing next Saturday.

The inmates of the place sent to Elizabeth were Charles Carr, Robert Brokaw, Harry Parker, Henrietta Lewis, Ennie Carr, Mittie Jones, Margaret Brown, Annabel Wilson, Hattie VanByke, Julie Fleming, Emiline Connet, Ethel Tims and Pearly Webster. They had been occupying cells at headquarters since 2 o'clock yesterday morning when they were gathered in by Roundsman Higgins with Patrolmen VanDerweg, McGinley, Saffron and Sweeney. The resort had been under surveillance for some time.

Robert Crane, as counsel for Hackett and William G. DeMeza as Scott's lawyer alleged that there were mitigating circumstances in their cases and asked that the hearings be postponed. The request was granted by the court and the pair were held in bail until next Saturday morning.

WOMAN, A COMMON SCOLD, SENT TO JAIL FOR 40 DAYS.

Accused of being a comonm scold and a nuisance to the community, Helen Finnernan, aged forty, of 208 Prescott place, was sent down the road today by Judge Runyon in police court. The woman was arrested on complaint of Elizabeth Fenton and other neighbors who declared that the Finnernan woman's conduct was a disgrace. They had endured her "tongue lashings" and disorderly conduct as long as they could, they said and thought that her conduct was that of a "common scold."

Judge Runyon agreed with the witnesses and after giving the defendant a sharp lecture sent her to jail for forty days.

HOME REALTY BUYS THE LETSON PLACE.

A deal has just been closed by which forty acres of land, known as the Letson Estate, adjoining Highland Park Terrace, at Lindenau, has been bought by the Home Realty Company, of New Brunswick.

Work has already been started of clearing away the timber from the land, which will be sub-divided into building lots and sold to home seekers. When this tis done there will be no timber between New Brunswick and Piscatawaytown, with the exception of a small grove on the Duclor estate, now owned by the Flemings.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' CLUB'S FIRST SESSION.

The Plainfield High School Girls' Club held its first regular meeting in the Y. W. C. A. rooms last night. It was formed from members belonging to the Bible and gymnasium classes, who are interested in association work. It was decided to send two delegates to the Silver Bay Conference, which will be held at Silver Bay, N. Y., this summer.

After the business meeting the rest of the evening was spent in singing and playing of games. Miss Ethel Colton favored the club with several vocal selections.

Carnival to Open on Monday.

Owing to the unfavorable weather conditions the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club has decided that it will be impracticable to open its carnival this afternoon, and it has been planned to defer this until Monday. Provided the weather is favorable tonight the carnival may be open for awhile, but this is doubtful. The voting contest for the most popular organization is now on and already a large number of votes have been cast. Ballot boxes are located at Timbo's restaurant and at the stores of Harry Dreier and T. B. Kolb.

GARFIELD'S AVENGER FREE.

Aged Farmer Escapes Charge of Killing Farmhand.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—The jury yesterday acquitted William Jones, who has been on trial for three days for the killing, in October last, of James McPherson, a farm laborer employed by him. Self-defense was the plea, and it was shown that when shot by Jones McPherson was holding a repeating rifle and threatening to kill him.

In 1881 Jones attempted to avenge the death of President Garfield by shooting at the assassin, Charles Jules Guiteau, while the latter was being conducted from the Court House to the jail. Jones was tried and acquitted. He is about 70 years old. He is known as "Jones, the avenger."

Mrs. William VanDuyne, of the borough, who has been visiting relatives at Somerville, has returned home.

THE WORLD OF WHITE

Economies Rare and Timely in Great New Stocks of Undermuslins, Waists, Dresses, White Yard Goods and Cotton Goods.

Immense new shipments of undermuslins, garments and white goods are now marshalled for a week of enthusiastic special selling.

This store has many brilliant white sales to its credit, but the World of White is destined to over-top them all. We forecasted the recent decline in the cost of these lines and waited to purchase till we could place heavy orders at "touch-bottom" prices. Alert watchfulness also secured for us a number of very extraordinary special purchases at big concessions. Thus it is possible for us to offer—

MAGNIFICENT NEW LINES OF WAISTS AND DRESSES, UNDERMUSLINS, INFANTS' WEAR, YARD GOODS OF ALL KINDS, EMBROIDERIES, LACE CURTAINS, ETC., AT REMARKABLE PRICE SAVINGS.

Qualities are the kind you would choose if you paid regular prices—our regular kinds, but very irregular prices.

Timeliness is the essence of a bargain. Bargains in White Goods at this season are like drinks to the thirsty; needs for the coming summer months are many and great, and we are certainly justified in anticipating a week of record-breaking White Goods selling.

NINE-YEAR-OLD TRAIN WRECKER.

Tony Mauretti, Arrested in Westfield, Admits Blocking Central's Tracks.

Tony Mauretti, nine years old, who has already given the police of Westfield much trouble, was arrested against Thursday. His last exploit was his attempt to wreck Central Railroad trains on Wednesday afternoon.

As the drill engine that works in the Westfield freight yard was backing with cars under the Osborn avenue bridge it ran into a heap of stones piled up on the track. The stones were knocked off without any damage, and the trainmen threw them from the roadbed. Shortly after an eastbound train had to stop to enable the crew to remove a pile of stones from the rails.

An hour later the engineer of an express train saw stones heaped on the track, and was compelled to stop his train to remove them. The matter was reported to Chief of Police O'Neill, and he started an investigation. The Mauretti boy had been seen on the track, near the bridge, and the chief ordered his arrest. The boy admitted after considerable cross-questioning that he placed the obstructions on the tracks.

Although only nine years old, the boy seems totally depraved. He has already committed a dozen burglaries, having broken into a drug store, a grocery store and a garage, stolen half a dozen bicycles and tried to strangle one of his playmates.

The authorities are perplexed what to do with him. He is being held for the Juvenile Court. His father wishes to take the boy back to Italy before he gets into more serious trouble, if the court thinks the move advisable.

REPORTS SHOW MANY TEACHERS LOSE PLACES.

Trenton, May 22.—The passage of the teachers' tenure of office act, which will become operative on September 1, has caused quite a shake-up in many of the school districts throughout the State. In anticipation of the law becoming operative, many boards of education have refused to re-employ teachers whom they have regarded as lacking in efficiency or other qualifications. Scarcely a day passes but reports are received by the State superintendent of teachers that have thus been relieved of their positions for the next school year.

Some of the school boards have endeavored to escape the provisions of the law by requiring teachers to sign a contract waiving all rights under the law. State Superintendent Charles J. Baxter holds that such a contract is illegal, and in answer to several inquiries upon the subject he has made the following reply:

"A contract between a board of education and a teacher which contains a waiver of the benefits of the tenure of office act is absolutely null and void as against the teacher."

CAPE MAY PIER DAMAGED.

Crushed by Barge, Opera House Falls Into Surf.

Cape May, May 22.—The ocean iron pier in front of Cape May was all but demolished yesterday morning.

The barge Robert Campbell, belonging to the Breakwater Construction Company of New York, loaded with 210 tons of stone for the Cape May harbor entrance, driven before a strong northeast wind and a high tide, crushed against the pier, and the opera house at the end of the pier fell into the surf.

FUNERAL SERVICES OVER H. H. ROGERS.

Standard Oil Activities Cease in Silent Tribute to Dead Vice-President.

New York, May 22.—For two hours yesterday the activites of the Standard Oil Company, in many respects the greatest industrial corporation of the world, ceased throughout the land, in memory of the company's late vice-president, Henry H. Rogers. For those two hours 50,000 employes of the corporation remained idle. Before work was resumed all that was mortal of H. H. Rogers was on the way in the company of his family and a small number of mourning friends to the place he loved best on earth, Fair Haven, Mass., where interment will be made.

The funeral here was held at 10 o'clock in the Unitarian Church of the Messiah, Thirty-fourth street and Park avenue. There was no crowd in the church, and there was only a small gathering of the curious in the streets nearby.

The casket was completely enveloped, save the bottom, in a rich matting of orchids, bordered below by a white and green of lilies of the valley. The casket was flanked by a profusion of floral tributes in great variety rising high in the air before, upon and back of the pulpit platform. Tropical greens rose above the colors and a trellis of green vines covered the wall back of the pulpit.

The Rev. Dr. Robert Collyer delivered a feeling address.

FORT POSTPONES NAMING OF JUDGE.

Refuses to Appoint MacPherson but Defers Selection Until Some Time Next Week.

Trenton, May 22.—Senator Harry D. Leavitt, General C. Edward Murray and Charles Harry Baker, representing the Republican organization of Mercer county, called on Governor Fort yesterday and asked him to reconsider his determination to name his old law student, Frederick W. Gnichtel, former Mayor of this city, to the Mercer Court of Common Pleas as a successor to Judge Relistab, elevated to the Federal bench by appointment of President Taft. Instead of this they urged the appointment of City Judge George MacPherson, the organization's candidate, with the placing of Mr. Gnichtel on the city bench. The long experience of Judge MacPherson was urged in his behalf.

The Governor at first flatly refused to consider the naming of Judge MacPherson and to reconsider the appointment, although the local leaders remained with him upward of half an hour. The only satisfaction he would give them was a statement that he would not make the appointment until some time next week.

The organization Republicans are much incensed at the action of the Governor, feeling that they should be consulted as to the selection. They hold that the appointment should in no sense be a personal one with the Governor, but should be in accord with the wishes of the county organization. The New Idea element here is also censuring the Governor because of his refusal to consider their candidate, former State Senator Barton B. Hutchinson. To a reporter Governor Fort said on Tuesday::

"I will appoint Mr. Gnichtel as soon as Judges Lanning and Rellstab are confirmed in their Federal places." They have since been confirmed.

INHERITANCE TAX LAW IS UPHELD.

State Supreme Court Rules That the Amendment of 1906 Is Constitutional.

Trenton, May 22.—The Supreme Court in an opinion by Justice Minturn yesterday held to be constitutional the amendment of 1906 to the collateral inheritance tax act. The direct result of the decision is to sustain the action of Surrogate Russell in levying an inheritance tax of $27,500 upon 1,150 shares of Standard Oil stock left by Mrs. Martha T. Fiske Collard, who died at Cairo, Egypt, in 1908.

The executors of Mrs. Collard applied to the Standard Oil Company to transfer the stock, but the company refused upon the ground that it might be liable for an inheritance tax. The executors attacked the constitutionality of the provisions of the act providing for a tax upon the stock of New Jersey corporations held by non-resident decedents. The Court of Appeals has held previously that under the law as it existed prior to 1906 such stock was not taxable.

Yesterday's decision, if sustained by the higher courts, would mean an income of nearly $500,000 in pending litigations involving inheritance taxes levied in the last three years. The Standard Oil Company stock left by Mrs. Collard was appraised at $552,000.

Former Attorney-General Robert H. McCarter, who represented the estate, said that an appeal would be taken at once.

MYSTERIOUS WOMAN DETAINED BY POLICE.

The police authorities of Elizabeth are holding at headquarters there a mysterious young woman who is about twenty-five years old, and who either cannot or will not give her name.

She walked Thursday night into the grocery of William Pfeffer, 53 Washington avenue, there, and handed him a card on which was written "F. K. Russell, 39 Elm street, Elizabeth."

The Russell family removed to New York some time ago and their present address is not known to the Elizabeth police. The woman declined to talk, so the grocer placed her in the care of a patrolman, who brought her to the police station.

Chief Tenney has had interpreters of various languages question the woman, but she refused to make any sign as to whether or not she understood what they were saying.

The police officials are puzzled as to what disposition to make of their prisoner, but will hold her pending further developments.

She is neatly dressed, and it is thought may be an immigrant who has been victimized and then shipped out to Elizabeth. An effort will be made to locate the Russell family in the hope that this may furnish a clue to the woman's identity.

DR. S. S. STANGER.

Resident Physician at State Prison Dies After Brief Illness.

Dr. Samuel S. Stanger, formerly a prominent practictioner at Paulsboro, Gloucester county, and for ten years a member of the Board of State Prison Inspectors, died of heart failure yesterday afternoon after a short illness. For three years he had been resident physician at the prison. Two years ago a handsome home was erected for his occupancy, just across Third street from the prison.

ELKS PLAN BIG HOUSE WARNING.

Handsome New Home of Elizabeth Lodge Will Be Ready Within a Month.

Elks of Elizabeth are all excitement over the coming opening of their handsome new home on Westfield avenue. The announcement is made that it will be ready for them within a month, and they are preparing to vacate their quarters in the Masonic building.

The formal opening of the home will be observed with a big bazar, the date of which was announced last night as October 7 to 16. Realizing that such a project would need the help of women, plans are being made for the formation of a woman's auxiliary, which will be organized in the new building on the evening of June 3, at which time sisters, wives and mothers of members of the local lodge will gather.

Exalted Ruler Augustus W. Schwartz announces that an invitation has been received from the Paterson lodge to attend a similar bazar being held there. A special car has been chartered and will leave Elizabeth for Paterson early Monday evening. The Paterson Elks will return the compliment by attending the bazar here in October.

After the regular meeting Thursday night, at which eight candidates were intiiated, a social session was held. Being the last of the social sessions to be held in the old quarters, the committee in charge made special efforts to have the affair surpass anything of a similar nature ever held by the local lodge. They were successful in bringing this about, for there was a host of outside talent and refreshments enough to feed a small army. The session was presided over by Esteemed Leading Knight Abe J. David.

MRS. THAW WANTS DETAILS.

Asks That Lawyer Hartridge Itemize His Bill of Fees.

New York, May 22.—Abram J. Rose, who is counsel for Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, mother of Harry Kendall Thaw, appeared yesterday afternoon before Judge Hough in the United States Circuit Court and made a motion asking that Clifford W. Hartridge, the lawyer who is suing Mrs. Thaw to recover $126,000 counsel fees and $70,736 for expenses in the trial of Harry K. Thaw, file a bill of particulars concerning the expenses.

Counsel for Mr. Hartridge said it would take him a month to prepare a bill of particulars, and Judge Hough allowed him thirty days.

—Miss Freida Gray, of West Front street, who has been teaching at the Hartridge School, this year, has been engaged as the successor of Miss Lillian Glen at the Irving School, for next year.

Neal Ball is satisfied with the change from New York to Cleveland. Lajoie has not as many players to shift about as Stallings and Ball believes that chances of securing a regular berth are much better.

Fred Merkle is getting mighty few opportunities to touch second. He has had a few chances as a pinch hitter, but usually has failed to produce the necessary bingle.

Merritt, of Jersey City, believes that he is the champion hard luck pitcher of the Eastern League. McGinnity asserts that the title belongs to him.

Casey's Montreal team is playing consistently, when it has a chance to play, and the pitchers are working well.

Some Buffalo newspapers are after Dave Brain. One scribe says that "he covers about as much ground as he can stand still on."

Josh Devore is back with the Giants, but the little fellow shows the effects of his illness and will not be able to play the game for some time.

Joe Tinker is playing a magnificent fielding game for the Cubs and is always dangerous with the willow. Mathewson would rather pitch against Wagner than Tinker.

TO OPEN BASEBALL SEASON.

The opening of the baseball season at Whitehouse Station this afternoon promises to be a banner event in the history of the town. All preparations are completed, and all that is necessary to assure the success of the affair is good weather. A record-breaking baseball crowd for this section is practically a certainty. A special train on the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Railroad from Pottersville will bring the friends of the local team from that place and New Germantown.

The game will be called at 3:30 o'clock, and the opposing nine will be the strong New Jersey Central A. C., of Jersey City. Music before the contest and between the innings will be furnished by the Crescent Military Band, of Raritan. Howell and Tydeman, of Easton, will be the battery for the home team, and other players who will be seen in the line up of the locals are Frech, Brightenbucher, Runyon, Miller, Zeek and Herr.

The Whitehouse Station nine has about twenty-five games scheduled for the season with the strongest teams of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Nealy a score of the contests will be played on the home grounds.

GOLF.

The building committee from the Baltusrol Golf Club has given out additional information regarding the description of the handsome new clubhouse to be erected. The clubhouse will be 175 feet long and 60 feet wide, with wings in the rear. Weather-stained traprock and repressed dark red brick, laid in raked-out joints of white motar, will be used in the construction. A piazza twenty-five feet wide will extend the whole length of the house and around two ends, giving a promenade of some 275 feet.

This provides for accommodating a large crowd in tournament games and at the same time does not detract from the coziness of the building on ordinary occasions when few persons might be present.

The main hall will be twenty-five feet by forty feet, paneled. Facing the entrance will be a fireplace flanked by leaded glass windows reaching to the second story.

The office, clerk's dining-room, telephone booths, general and private dining-rooms, men's lounge, cafe, serving-room and kitchen, servants' hall and chauffeurs' quarters will be to the right. On the left will be the ladies' boudoir and main room, large enough for dancing.

The contract was awarded to F. T. Nesbit & Co., of New York, at considerably over $50,000, and calls for the completion of the locker rooms by September and the entire building by November 20. Chester H. Kirk, also of Manhattan, is the architect.

Week play for the Spring Handicap cups will be the attraction at the Plainfield Country Club today, while at the Park Golf Club there will be the weekly competition for the President's and Park Golf Club cups, handicap and scratch events.

MILK, ITS CARE AND USE.

Vessels used for milk must be thoroughly cleansed. Tins should be rinsed in lukewarm water and washed with hot water and soap; then rinsed in boiling water, and then sunned two or three hours if possible. Milk should not be covered tightly; use muslin or cheese cloth for covers, which keeps the dust out and lets the air through.

If it is necessary to Pasteurize milk for a child, a tablespoonful of orange juice should be given through the day, this furnishing an organic acid which is destroyed in the heating of the milk.

Fill sterilze bottles or jars nearly full of milk, cork them with baked cotton, place on rings in a deep pan and fill with cold water, so that the water may be as high outside the bottles as the milk is inside; put the pan over the fire and heat until small bubbles show around the top of the milk (this temperature is about 155 degrees Fahrenheit); remove to the back of the fire and allow the bottles to stand there fifteen minutes, then reduce the temperature as quickly as possible, and when the milk is cold remove the bottles from the water and keep in a cold place. In summer milk should be Pasteurized twice a day for babies.

If a child's stomach is acid, lime water should be used with the milk.

The play is concluded with scene two in the third act, when all return to Mr. Posket's home and after much explanation everything is straightened out to the satisfaction of all. Much of the plot of the whole affair centers about "Cis Farringdon," impersonated by Mr. Abbott, and he is the life of the whole play. Miss Hooley, as the young woman reduced to teaching music, devotes most of her time to Cis, one of her pupils, and after his escapades, he promises to be good and she promises to marry him.

Frederick W. Goddard made a typical Englishman, and convulsed the audience with laughter, while Henry Crofut White, as "Colonel Lukyn," a soldier with a proud record, made a hit. As a French waiter, John P. Myers was fine, and he also scored as the chief clerk in the police station.

Kerro Knox as "Inspector Messiter;" Herbert S. Rogers, as "Sergeant Lugg," and "Constable Harris," and Hugh S. Jarvis as "Wyke," the servant at Mr. Posket's, gave a true interpretation of their parts. It was Mrs. Abbott's first appearance as an active member of the club, and she left nothing to be desired in the character of "Popham," the sentimental parlor maid.

The whole performance was given without a hitch of any kind. Special mention is due to those in charge of the stage settings. The decorations were lavish and appropriate in every detail. The production was given under the supervision of Frederick C. Patterson, of New York, and much credit is due him for the success attained.

The officers of the Park Comedy Club are as follows: President and stage manager, Henry C. White; business manager and treasurer, Alson M. Abbott; assistant stage manager, Charles H. Lyman; stage committee, Charles H. Lyman, Henry C. White, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. McGee. Following the performance a flash-light of the company was taken. Between act three and scene two, every member of the cast was generously remembered with beautiful flowers, while Magistrates Bullamy and Posket, as well as William Flanders, who was the proprietor of the Hotel des Princes, each received a bunch of rhubarb tied with satin ribbon.

CADETS DRILL IN STORM.

Award of Honors Will Be Reported to Adjutant Generals.

Owing to the storm the annual exhibition drill of the Rutgers College Cadets at New Brunswick was held by Captain Parott on the college campus and the spectators viewed it from the windows of the college buildings. Cadet Major Arthur Douglass Pringle, of Albany, is the cadet whose name will be inscribed on the tablet in the Rutgers armory as being "The best soldier of the class of 1909." The following cadets will, upon graduation, be reported to the adjutant general of the United States army and to the adjutant generals of their respective States as having shown special aptitude for military service, viz:

Cadet Major Arthur Douglass Pringle, of Albany; Cadet Captain and Adjutant F. A. Morrison, of Ridgefield Park; Cadet Captain R. F. Ritter, of Rahway; Cadet Captain B. M. Miller, of Oxford, N. Y.; Cadet Captain T. F. Appleby, of Old Bridge, and Cadet Captain F. F. Read, of Arlington.

IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT.

Paterson, May 22.—Chas. Bauch, a silk weaver, was taken from one of the local mills Thursday afternoon by a constable and turned over to Under Sheriff William J. Downey, who had him committed to jail on a warrant issued from the Court of Chancery, which charged Bauch with contempt.

Bauch about five years ago instituted divorce proceedings against his wife, Anna Bausch, on grounds of desertion. His counsel was Robert P. Geyer, to whom he says he paid in all $110. The divorce was refused after a hearing before Vice-Chancellor Stevenson, and Bausch says he was then informed by Geyer that the $110 was necessary to pay the costs of court.

The court made an order that Bauch pay to Mrs. Bauch's counsel, William Mickle, the sum of $23.61, and $5 to the Court of Chancery, also the costs of court. Bauch believed that Geyer had paid this out of the $110 and would pay no attention to the solicitations of Mr. Mickle.

He does not know where his wife is at the present time.

Shot Crap on Bogus $5 Bill.

Trenton, May 22.—Frank Manfra, of Paterson, was convicted in the United States District Court Thursday of passing a counterfeit bill in a crap game, and acquitted on the charge of passing a similar counterfeit bill on a Paterson merchant for the purchase of a fur scarf, the man getting $2.50 in good money in each instance.

FOREIGN SHOE TRADE.

Concern Over French Tariff Increase—Trade Competition.

Consul H. Albert Johnson, of Liege, submits the following comments on the shoe trade of Belgium and the competition it is encountering.

A Belgian journal devoted to the shoe and leather trade says that this industry is considerably alarmed over the proposed new French tariff on shoes and leather. The president of the Belgian Syndicate of Shoe Manufacturers asserts that this will not only close the door in France to the importations of shoes from Belgium, but it will also seriously affect the importation into France of English shoes. It says that as a result their attention to extending their markets in Belgium, which will be inundated with the British products, while the only Belgian shoes that can be imported into England are limited quantities of the higher grades. The president of the syndicate, who is an important manufacturer, states that subsequently to the exposition in London in 1908, he had succeeded in exporting his products to England only on the condition of not attaching his own label to any part of the shoe sold, so that the article could be presented to the public as one of British manufacture.

If the Belgian shoe industry is to hold its own against foreign competition, this authority declares the manufacturers must bend their energiestoward improving the quality of their products by introducing up-to-date methods and machinery, or else they must follow the example of other industries by setting up branch factories in France. As a large part of the manufacture of shoes in Belgium is carried on by hand, this would be a small task compared to moving heavy machinery.

From personal observation of conditions it would appear that American shoe exporters are ignoring most favorable opportunities for largely increasing their sales in Europe. Much more could be done toward establishing a remunerative trade in localities such as Liege by opening up retail stores under genuine American management. The selection of a native shoe dealer as a representative does not usually give satisfactory results, as the American shoe is thus brought into direct competition by the dealer himself with the cheaper made or inferior Belgian article, on which he realizes a larger profit, and he is consequently inclined to acquiesce in the marked tendency of the Belgian public to purchase the lowest priced article. There is not in this entire district a shoe store of any importance that does not advertise so-called American shoes, or shoes made in the American style, yet it would be impossible in this city to purchase a genuine American shoe. Consular Reports.

GERMANY SUPPLANTS US.

United States Third In South African Trade.

The South African Customs' Union has issued from its Cape Town bureau a summary of trade for the past calendar year, a copy of which has been forwarded by Consul-General Julius G. Lay, who comments:

The returns disclose the fact that Germany has ousted the United States from the first place after the United Kingdom among the foreign countries in the South African market. Of the total importations into British South Africa of £24,428,266 ($118,928,821) in 1908, the United Kingdom supplied 56.2 per cent; Germany 8.7 per cent., and the United States 8.2 per cent. The figures for 1907, when the imports were valued at £25,920,278 ($126,141,032), were 57 per cent., 7.6 per cent., and 7.8 per cent., respectively.

While the relative position of the United States may now be lower in the scale of foreign countries supplying this market than it was the previous year, American manufacturers may perhaps feel some consolation from the fact that while the total imports into this country declined nearly $7,500,000 during the year 1908, the percental share of the United States increased from 7.8 per cent. to 8.2 per cent., while those from the United Kingdom, with a preference in duties of 3 per cent., declined from 57 per cent. in 1907 to 56.2 per cent. in 1908.

These figures are accurate as far as they go, but are not given in sufficient detail to explain in what articles the import trade of this country has been effected from one country to another. When the annual import trade returns are available, however, this question will be more exhaustively discussed in the annual report from this office.—Consular Reports.

The roller flour mill erected by an American company for La Compania Anonima de Molinos de Trigo de Venezuela, with headquarters at Caracas and mills at Maiquetia, Venezeulia, has been compelled to shut down owing to adverse circumstances affecting the condition of the flour trade in the country. Its output was 600 barrels a day, making a high grade flour from Manitoba and Duluth wheat. Changes in the wheat and flour tariffs injured the company's business, though it is still sound financially.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The regular monthly meeting of the Middlesex Volunteer Fire Company was held last night in the firehouse. The attendance was poor on account of the weather. The apparatus committee reported that the roof ladders had arrived. The following is the report of the ball committee: Receipts of ball, $72.25; expenses, $33.50; balance, $38.75. It was decided to buy 1,000 feet of hose at a price of forty-five cents per foot, or $450. The question of a bell tower was also decided upon. The tower will be built next week. It will be thirty feet high and will be built behind the fire-house. Edward Ten Eyck has generously donated the timber to be used in the construction of the tower. The finance committee ordered the payment of express and freight bills and the ticket bill.

Plainfield in .... The Olden Days.

Re-printed from The Weekly Constitutionalist

July 1, 1870.

We learn that the Centre Street Methodist Church of this City proposes giving an excursion to Allentown, Pa., on July 19th. This is an excellent place to go to, for near the depot are the beautiful grounds connected with the Fountain House Crystal Springs. Particulars next week.

On Tuesday evening last a goodly crowd assembled at the residence of our young townsmen, J. B. Coward, Esq., the occasion being his "Tin Wedding." We learn that the array of tinware left by the guests was prodigious.

On Saturday last, our City was visited by Major Houghton, the smallest man alive, Tom Thumb not excepted. Quite a crowd of our juveniles rather annoyed Major Houghton by sticking to his heels. Being several feet smaller than the smallest in the crowd it was hardly possible to get a good look. We understand he made quite a pile selling his photographs.

Big Ingin—"Red Cloud," the Indian Chief, who has been at Washington recently, returned to the war trail, has been captured by Sherman and petrified and sent to W. T. Mulford, in front of whose cigar store he now stands as a sign that good cigars, tobacco, &c., can be had at a very low price.

Commencement—On Friday last Assembly Hall was crowded by our citizens to witness the closing exercises of the Graduating Class. It was the "Commencement" that has ever taken place in Plainfield, and all were anxious for the creditable appearance of our own pro-collegiate institution. Precisely at 2 P. M. the exercises commenced.

The trot on the Plainfield Driving Park, July 4th, was well attended, some 600 persons (the ladies predominating) witnessing the race. Three horses started, "Mount Holly," "Ned Forest," and "Bay Colt." "Mount Holly" winning the race in three straight heats, "Ned Forest" coming in next. The best time made was 2:58.

We learn that the Frazee property known as the "Buena Vista Hotel," has at last changed hands, Postmaster Wallace Vail being the purchaser for some $13,000.

If you want good Razors, Pocket Knives, Soaps, Combs and Brushes, Paper and Envelopes, Blank and School Books, go to Van Winkle's, Main Street, opposite Cherry.

ENGAGE TEACHERS FOR BERNARDS TOWNSHIP.

Basking Ridge, May 22.—At the meeting of the Board of Education of Bernards Township inthe schoolhouse Thursday night, Lester Meseroll, principal of the Bernardsville School, was engaged as supervising principal of the township at a salary of $1,700 a year.

The following were also engaged for the coming year: High School, A. B. Yearger, Miss Gertrude Brittain, Miss L. Ackerman and Miss Mildred Rankin; Bernardsville School, Miss Jean Frame, Miss Mabel Adair, Miss Mattie Elliott, Miss Louise Walton, Miss Sadie Coyle, Miss Carrie Ballentine, Miss Helene Larkin, Miss Lily Haelig and Miss Jeanette Van Sciver; Basking Ridge School, Willett Neer, principal; Miss J. B. Cheney, Miss Laura Frost, Miss Florence Bolmer, Miss Eleanor Schoonover and Miss Louise Rich; Far Hills School, Miss J. Davis and Miss R. Doppman; Millington School, Miss Annie Woods; Liberty Corner School, Miss Martha Dobbs and Miss Gertrude Willard; Mine Mount School, Miss L. Fisher.

It was voted to insure the Bernardsville School building for $50,000. This amount will be divided equally between the agencies of C. W. Alpaugh and J. W. Lent, both of Bernardsville.

It was decided to submit to bids the contract for transporting the pupils from Liberty Corner and Mine Mount to the High School.

WANT YOUNG TEACHERS.

The Bayonne Board of Education has decided to place young men at the head of the schools, and yesterday retired on pensions three veteran instructors, George A. Atwater, who has served as teacher forty-seven years; Philip G. Vroome, who has served forty-five years, and Ebenezer B. Earle, who has served forty years.

Mr. Vroome is a veteran of the Civil War and will contest his retirement. Some of his friends are considering holding an indignation meeting.

Banking Commissioner Reports.

Vivian M. Lewis, Commissioner of Banking and Insurance, issued a statement yesterday showing the condition of the financial institutions of the State at the close of business on April 28. Seventy-nine trust companies, twenty-one State banks and twenty-six savings banks made up the list, and show aggregate resources of $323,450,132.67.

Seashore Real Estate.

PORTAUPECT ON THE SHREWSBURY—The Portaupeck Realty Company is building a bungalow colony on its magnificent property which lies on the banks of the Shrewsbury and adjoins Long Branch and Monmouth Beach. This property lies high and from it there is a commanding view of the water and the green hills beyond. The beach is sandy and sloping. The water is clear and clean. The Shrewsbury is famous for its fine fishing, crabbing and boating. A handsome clubhouse, with bowling alleys and tennis courts is now under construction for the exclusive use of lot-holders. The inland lot-holder has the use of the community pier, giving to them the same advantages as a water front owner at a much more moderate cost. Thirty bungalows are now under construction. This property must be seen to be appreciated. The property is highly restricted against all nuisances and deep driven artesian well water is now being installed in all the houses, which are also equipped with electric lights, and the very latest modern plumbing and bath-room fixtures. There are first class ranges in the kitchens and artistic fireplaces of stone in the reception rooms. The sizes of the bungalows range from five to eight rooms and the prices from $2,000 to $3,500, including the plot, 50x150 feet. The famous Portaupeck Inn is convenient for those wishing to avoid the cares of housekeeping. All in all an ideal spot for the home-seeker and from an investment stand-point. Convenient terms can be arranged. Send for booklets, yours for the asking. For further particulars write, or see Charles Matt, Portaupeck Realty Co., 1328 Broadway, telephone 1266-38th, New York city, or your own broker. 5 21 2

CENTRAL PARK—If you have not visited Central Park lately you will be surprised to see the many fine improvements underway, by prominent individuals. You will find them on Hillside at Prospect, also at Martine. On Kensington at Prospect and on Park avenue at Arlington place. Central Park is the attraction, the magnet, which is slowly but surely drawing the home-lover and the investor to its center. With its rigid restrictions as to style and cost of dwellings, against nuisances of all kinds, against shops, locations of stables and garages and its uniform building line it comes very near covering every point for your protection. When you buy at Central Park you do not have to live on promises. The history of past developments teems with glorious promises unfulfilled. Ours are fulfilled. Our streets are curbed and macadamized and cement walks are laid. Shade trees planted; sewer, water, gas and electric lights are all installed. Our prices are reasonable. Plots and dwellings can be purchased on most convenient terms. Send for our new booklet, free for the asking. For further particulars see Charles Matt, Central Park Realty Co., Prospect and Edgewood avenues, telephones 1355 or 486-R, Plainfield, or your own broker. 5 21 2

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Rev. J. Morgan Reed, president of Pennington Seminary, will deliver the Fourth of July oration at Mauricetown.

The Swedesboro Presbyterian church has called Ernest Hansel, of Orange, a student at Princeton Seminary, to be its pastor during the summer.

A vicious dog, which has several times attempted to bite school children, was shot on the street by Policeman Ralph Clarke, at Millville, yesterday.

Breaking his right arm by a fall at Bordentown yesterday, James Gallagher, thirty-six years old, a bricklayer, was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, in Camden.

Attacked by a bulldog, Elvin Mowery, six years old, of 964 Jefferson avenue, and Verlanda Bard, seventeen years old, of 1812 Miller street, were bitten on the left arms in Camden yesterday. Dr. Leavett, of the Board of Health, found that the animal was not mad.

At the foot of Pavonia avenue, near the Erie ferry slips, Jersey City, yesterday, the body of Michael Donlan, the car sealer of the Lackawanna Railroad, who fell into the North river from a boat on the night of May 15, was found. It was removed to the city morgue.

Members of the public speaking class of the State Model School, Trenton, have presented to Professor Ray H. Whitbeck, of that institution, a handsome bronze statue of Napoleon. The presentation was made by Anthony Coughlin on behalf of the class, and was a most agreeable surprise to Professor Whitbeck.

In Jersey City, yesterday, Joseph Powers, George Allen, Patrick McCormick and John McLaren, pickpockets arrested on a Montgomery street trolley car last January by James F. Larkins, captain of the Jersey City detective bureau, were sentenced by Judge Cary to serve three years each in State prison.

In the First Criminal Court, Jersey City, yesterday, Thomas Fitzpatrick, twenty-one years old, of 130 Morris street, charged by Policeman Winters with setting fire to a four-story tenement-house at 190 Washington street, was held for further examination. A few minutes later his sister Mamie, three years his junior, was arraigned charged with assault on her mother.

After considering eight proffers, the Camden Board of Health yesterday afternoon decided to recommend to Council the purchase of fifteen acres of ground in Ferry avenue, adjoining the present institution, as a site for a municipal hospital, at $600 an acre, from Louis B. Humphreys, agent for Thomas H. Strane. Council recently appropriated $50,000 for a site and building.

Political heads of the Atlantic City baseball syndicate may be balked in their endeavor to secure Sunday baseball through a protest to be made Monday night, when members of the Ministerial Union and of the W. C. T. U. will attend Council in a body to protest against the new bill placing the power to limit fines for Sabbath-breaking to any sum settled on by Recorder Keffer. Both organizations will hold meetings, and arrangements will be made to make a demonstration before Council that they hope will kill the bill.

Charging that she was afraid of death at the hands of her eighteen-year-old husband, whose bride she became only six months ago, Mrs. Arthur Cheeseman appeared before Justice of the Peace Zeigler, at Beverly, last night, and told her tale of martial unhappiness. She said her boy husband often came home in fits of uncontrollable rage, due to jealousy, and beat her unmercifully. She wanted a separation, but the squire tried to get them to kiss and make up. As that failed, he placed the youthful husband under bond.

As a result of hard work on the part of Detective Barnshaw, of Atlantic City, assisted by Philadelphia sleuths, Samuel Singer, Charles Silver and Max Gluckman, young Philadelphians, have been placed under arrest, charged with the wholesale theft of valuable cloths from the tailor shop of Charles Belfer, in Atlantic avenue, Atlantic City, last Sunday night. The three men are alleged to be the thieves who backed a wagon in front of the tailor store, practically cleaning out the stock. The first move of the police when the robbery was reported was to follow three big trunks in which the goods are believed to be stored, and these trunks are still in police possession in Camden, where they were halted on their way to Philadelphia. The three suspected men were former employes of Belfer and knew his ways.

CIRCUS BALKED WHEN $500 FEE WAS ASKED.

Jersey City, May 21.—There was a hitch yesterday morning over the amount of the license fee to be paid by Ringling Brothers for the one-day stand of the circus in this city. The Committeee on Exhibitions of the Board of Aldermen fixed the special fee for the circus at $500. The management considered this sum too steep and refused to pay it.

City Clerk Michael I. Fagen had been authorized by the committee to represent it and to him the circus management went.

"There will be no show in the big tent this afternoon or tonight, if you don't produce $500 in cash in this office," was the ultimatum of the city clerk.

There was a long argument without result. An appeal was made to one of the aldermen, who is on the committee. He called Robert Davis on the telephone. The latter refused to interfere, and gave it as his personal opinion that the fee should be $1,000.

"The circus spends only a few hundred dollars in Jersey City and takes away about $10,000 of our cash," Robert Davis asserted. "In smaller cities and country towns, where there is a large country population to draw from, the people from miles around go to the city to see the circus. They do their shopping while in the city and spend a lot of money in the stores. Jersey City furnishes the entire audience for the circus and the show doesn't bring a dollar into the city for business men except for the few who may sell several hundred dollars' worth may sell several hundred dollars' worth of supplies to the circus. If I had my way, the fee would be $1,000 and the city would get some of the money taken in by the circus."

The exhibition fee will go to the firemen's pension fund. In addition to this fee, there is one of $300 for water consumed by the circus, it is said, and another of $200 for the services of police officers, who will be stationed on the grounds at the request of the management to handle the crowds.

The circus management approached City Clerk Fagen at noontime with a proposition that if he would reduce the fee the difference would be made up in tickets. City Clerk Fagen consulted Robert Davis.

"We don't want any tickets; we want the $500 in cash," was the answer to this.

Guion Fountain has returned to the choir of the First Baptist church after an absence of sometime.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass will give an illustrated lecture at the First M. E. church Friday night, May 28.

Miss Alice Brown conducted the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night.

Miss Angie Kuhl, of Somerville, has been visiting friends in town for a few days.

DO IT NOW.

Plainfield People Should Not Wait Until It Is Too Late.

The appalling death-rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usually neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer goes gradually into the grasp of diabetes, dropsy, Bright's Disease, gravel or some other serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headache, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

Albert Naylor, 519 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was afflicted with a dull aching in the small of my back and sharp pains when I stooped or lifted. I was told that Doan's Kidney Pills were a sure cure for such troubles and getting a supply, I began their use. Two boxes fixed me up in good shape and I have often recommended the remedy since to other persons suffering as I did."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

ROSALIND AT RED GATE

She greeted me with her usual kindness, but I knew that I had broken upon sad reflections. Helen was not in sight, but I strolled back and forth with Miss Pat, thinking the girl might appear.

"I had a note from Father Stoddard to-day," said Miss Pat.

"I congratulate you," I laughed. "He doesn't honor me."

"He's much occupied," she remarked defensively; "and I suppose he doesn't indulge in many letters. Mine was only ten lines long, not more!"

"Father Stoddard feels that he has a mission in the world, and he has little time for people like us, who have food, clothes and drink in plenty. He gives his life to the hungry, unclothed and thirsty."

And now, quite abruptly, Miss Pat spoke of her brother.

"Has Henry gone?"

"Yes; he left ten days ago."

She nodded several times, then looked at me and smiled.

"You have frightened him off! I am grateful to you!"—and I was glad in my heart that she did not know that Gillespie's money had sent him away.

Helen had not appeared, and I now made bold to ask for her.

"Let me send the maid to tell her you are here," said Miss Pat, and we walked to the door and rang.

The maid quickly reported that Miss Holbrook begged to be excused.

"She is a little afraid of the damp night air of the garden," said Miss Pat, with so kind an intention that I smiled to myself. I felt from her manner that she wished to detain me. No one might know how her heart ached, but it was less the appeal of her gentleness that won me now, I think, than the remembrance that flashed upon me of her passionate outburst after our meeting with the Italian; and that seemed very long ago. She had been magnificent that day, like a queen driven to desperation, and throwing down the gauntlet as though she had countless battalions at her back. Indecision took flight before shame; it was a privilege to know and to serve her!

"Miss Holbrook, won't you come out to see the water fete? We can look upon it in security and comfort from the launch. The line of march is from Port Annandale past here and toward the village, then back again. You can come home whenever you like. I had hoped Miss Helen might come, too, but I beg that you will take compassion upon my loneliness."

I had flung off my cap with the exaggerated manner I sometimes used with her; and she dropped me a courtesy with the prettiest grace in the world.

"I shall be with you in a moment, my lord!"

She reappeared quickly and remarked, as I took her wraps, that Helen was very sorry not to come.

The gardener was on duty, and I called Ijima to help with the launch. Brightly decorated boats were already visible in the direction of Port Annandale; even the tireless lake "tramps" whistled with a special flourish and were radiant in vari-colored lanterns.

"This is an ampler Venice, but there should be music to make it complete," observed Miss Pat, as we stole in and out among the gathering fleet. And then, as though in answer, a launch passed near, leaving a trail of murmurous chords behind—the mournful throb of the guitar, the resonant beat of banjo strings. Nothing can be so soothing to the troubled spirit as music over water, and I watched with delight Miss Pat's deep absorption in all the sights and sounds of the lake.

The assembling canoes flashed out of the dark like fireflies. Not even the spirits that tread the air come and go more magically than the canoe that is wielded by a trained hand. The touch of the skilled paddler becomes but a caress of the water. To have stolen across Saranac by moonlight; to have paddled the devious course of the York or Kennebunk when the sea steals inland for rest, or to dip up stars in lovely Annandale—of such experiences is knowledge born!

I took care that we kept well to ourselves, for Miss Pat turned nervously whenever a boat crept too near. Ijima, understanding without being told, held the power well in hand. I had scanned the lake at sundown for signs of the Stiletto, but it had not ventured from the lower lake all day, and there was scarcely enough air stirring to ruffle the water.

"We can award the prize for ourselves here at the turn of the loop," I remarked, as we swung into place and paused at a point about a mile off Glenarm. "Here comes the flotilla!"

"The music is almost an impertinence, lovely as it is. The real song of the canoe is 'dip and glide, dip and glide,'" said Miss Pat.

The loop once made, we now looked upon a double line whose bright confusion added to the picture. The canoe offers, when you think of it, little chance for the decorator, its lines are so trim and so founded upon rigid simplicity; but many zealous hands had labored for the magic of this hour. Slim masts supported lanterns in many and charming combinations, and suddenly, as though the toy lamps had taken wing, rockets flung up their stars and Roman candles their golden showers at a dozen points of the line and broadened the scope of the picture. A scow placed midway of the loop now lighted the lake with red and green fire. The bright, graceful argosies slipped by, like beads upon a rosary. When the last canoe had passed, Miss Pat turned to me, sighing softly:

"It was too pretty to last; it was a page out of the book of lost youth."

I laughed back at her and signaled Ijima to go ahead and then, as the water churned and foamed and I took the wheel, we were startled by an exclamation from some one in a rowboat near at hand. The last of the peaceful armada had passed, but now from the center of the lake, unobserved and unheralded, stole a canoe fitted with slim masts carried high from bow to stern with delightful daring. The lights were set in globes of green and gold, and high over all, its support quite invisible, shone a golden star that seemed to hover and follow the shadowy canoe.

We all watched the canoe intently; and my eyes now fell upon the figure of the skipper of this fairy craft, who was set forth in clear relief against the red fire beyond. The sole occupant of the canoe was a girl—there was no debating it; she flashed by within a paddle's length of us, and I heard the low bubble of water under her blade. She paddled kneeling, Indian fashion, and was lessening the breach between herself and the last canoe of the orderly line, which now swept on toward the casino.

"That's the prettiest one of all—" began Miss Pat, then ceased abruptly. She bent forward, half rising and gazing intently at the canoe. What she saw and what I saw was Helen Holbrook plying the paddle with practiced stroke; and as she passed she glanced aloft to make sure that her slender mast of lights was unshaken; and then she was gone, her star twinkling upon us bewilderingly. I waited for Miss Pat to speak, but she did not turn her head until the canoe itself had vanished and only its gliding star marked it from the starry sisterhood above.

An exclamation faltered on my lips.

"It was—it was like—it was—"

"I believe we had better go now," said Miss Pat, softly, and, I thought, a little brokenly.

But we still followed the star with our eyes, and we saw it gain the end of the procession, sweep on at its own pace, past the casino, and then turn abruptly and drive straight for Glenarm pier. It was now between us and our own shore. It shone a moment against our pier lights; the the star and the fairy lanterns beneath it vanished one after another and the canoe disappeared as utterly as though it had never been.

I purposely steered a zigzag course back to St. Agatha's. Since Helen had seen fit to play this trick upon her aunt I wished to give her ample time to dispose of her canoe and return to the school. If we had been struck by a mere resemblance, why did the canoest not go on to the casino and enjoy the fruits of her victory? I tried to imagine Gillespie a party to the escapade, but I could not fit him into it.

The Sole Occupant of the Canoe Was a Girl.

Meanwhile I babbled on with Miss Pat. Her phrases were, however, a trifle stiff and not in her usual manner.

I walked with her from the pier to St. Agatha's.

Sister Margaret, who had observed the procession from an upper window, threw open the door for us.

"How is Helen?" asked Miss Pat at once.

"She is very comfortable," replied the sister. "I went up only a moment ago to see if she wanted anything."

Miss Pat turned and gave me her hand in her pretty fashion.

"You see, it could not have been—it was not—Helen; our eyes deceived us! Thank you very much, Mr. Donovan!"

There was no mistaking her relief; she smiled upon me beamingly as I stood before at the door.

"Of course! On a fete night one can never trust one's eyes!"

"But it was all be wilderingly beautiful. You are most compassionate toward a poor old woman in exile, Mr. Donovan. I must go up to Helen and make her sorry for all she has missed."

EMERSON SAID

Something about it being unnecessary to advertise if you did something or had something or made something better than your neighbor. But Emerson should have excepted Bungalow Colonies. Here we are, with the finest bungalow site around New York with the most beautiful surroundings; with Asbury Park and Long Branch almost in sight; with the best of fishing, boating, crabbing; with four miles of water frontage on the beautiful Shrewsbury; with everything, in fact, to idealize PORTAUPECK to the lover of bungalow life—and we have to advertise.

But not for long. Locations are going fast; over thirty bungalows now in course of erection. Better take a look at our colony of good homes and good neighbors—and soon. You'll hate yourself if you locate somewhere else and then see PORTAUPECK. Send for booklet.

ON MARRIAGE AND THE WORKING WOMAN.

"I know, of course, that many learned gentlemen who view 'with the gravest apprehension' everything that women have done since they stopped making their own soft soap and lye, worry themselves a good deal about the tendency of the working woman not to marry. Sometimes they ascribe her failure in that respect to her loss of charm—ye gods! when they see the women who do marry, too!—and sometimes to her reluctance to give up a paying proposition for one which is pecuniarily less secure. They have pages on pages of statistics to prove that fewer women marry today than in our revered grandmothers' time, and they ascribe it all to the curse of higher education and the opening of professions and industries to women. I'm not much of a statistician myself—when one conducts current-events classes one's mind becomes too fluttery-flightly to retain many statistics except in notebooks—but I think I do remember that the percentage of marriage has lessened all along the line, among the working women and the non-working women, among the higher educated and the lower educated, and among men themselves. However, be that as it may, here's my friend Sarah and her four daughters, all beautifully trained in the old-fashioned way so highly commended by the gentlemen who 'view with apprehension,' and all husbandness. And my friend Sarah is the representative of a large class."—Smith's for June.

MAY BUY CHURCH SITE.

New Brunswick Wants It for a City Hall.

An agitation was started at New Brunswick yesterday in favor of the purchase of the site of the St. James M. E. church by the city for the purpose of establishing a city hall there. The church is but a block away from the Court House and county buildings, and for $50,000 the structure could be purchased and remodeled into a fine municipal building.

Several of the city aldermen are in favor of the movement. New Brunswick has no city hall, and the various city offices are scattered about the town.

Important Call for Pastor.

The Rev. J. Milnar Wilbur, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Trenton, has been called to the general secretaryship of the Philadelphia Baptist Association and to be Dean of the Bible School of the Philadelphia Baptist Training School for Christian Workers. Singer Contests Will of Relative Who Ignored Her.

Boston, May 22.—An appeal to the Supreme Court from the decree of the Middlesex Probate Court has been filed in East Cambridge in the case of the will of Mrs. Vannie F. Allen, of Maiden. Mme. Lillian Nordica, of New York, and others, all blood relatives of Mrs. Allen, are the contestants of the will. The instrument, which disposes of an estate valued at $100,000, was recently allowed, and the appellants seek to break it.

Under the will the appellants, Imogene A. Costillo, of Los Angeles; Ione A. Walker, of New York; Annie N. Baldwin and Lillian Nordica received no benefits. They were cut off, as the will stated, because the testratrix believed that the estate should be left to the heirs of her husband, as the estate came from him, and not to her own blood relatives.

The Mills of the Gods.

They tell us that ever so slight a change in the earth's tipping on its axis brought the glacial period that swallowed up all life in the north as the ice crept down from the pole inch by inch, foot by foot. When it righted itself again our present day broke and the river wore its way through the rock, draining the mighty glaciers. So the dawn of a new humanity in which man, facing toward the ideal of brotherhood, shall do justice and love mercy is upon us now. It is good, when one gets impatient, to remember that these things are so, that though the mills of God grind slowly they grind exceedingly small.—The Survey for May.

NEW BRUNSWICK HEARS OF AN APRIL WEDDING.

New Brunswick, May 22.—Announcement was made yesterday of the wedding of former Alderman John J. Harkins and Miss Elizabeth Beatty. They were married April 21 at St. Peter's church.

Miss Annie Beatty, a sister of the bride, and Dr. Thomas V. Meacham were witnesses. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only the immediate relatives attending. Mr. and Mrs. Harkins are now living on Easton avenue. The filing of the of the marriage certificate with the city clerk led to the aanouncement being made.

Two other weddings at St. Peter's church have also become public. One was that of Miss Pauline Lagtus and Loren Para, of Bound Brook, on May 13, and the other that of Miss Lulu Rae and Joseph Slingerman, of this city, on March 15.

The wedding of Miss Florence Netzel and John McNackle took place at the Livingston Avenue Baptist parsonage on May 7.

Miss Augusta Seaman and Arthur H. Gary were married on May 9 by Rev. W. Dutton Dale, former rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

Miss Julia Tate and Patrick Moore were married at the Sacred Heart church by Rev. James F. Devine on May 2.

RAILROAD MEN TO PLAY BALL.

Series of Games By Pennsylvania Employes Will Begin Today.

To compete for a silver cup donated by E. P. Abercombie, Superintendent of the New York division of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, employes of that company in Jersey City and vicinity have formed baseball teams and will meet for a series of games during the summer. Teams have been made up at the Greenville yard, Meadow shops, Jersey City ferries and from members of the Jersey City branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A.

The opening game, between the Jersey City ferries and Greenville yard teams, will be played this afternoon, at Eastern League Park grounds, West Side avenue, Jersey City. The first ball will be pitched by Mr. Abercrombie.

The Wedding.

The young pair had so many friends that the police were quite unable to cope with the situation. 8he bride was headed up in a barrel and thrown into the river, while the groom was bound and gagged and suspended by his feet from a tall tree.

At this point the military was called out and arrived at double-quick just in time to save the baggage from being pasted over with insulting placards.

A number of shots were exchanged.

At a late hour the city was reported quiet and the authorities, though not denying the popularity of the high cantracting parties, were confident that there would be no more violence."—Puck.

HEAR A YOUNG MINISTER

Rev. Geo. S. Bosterle Preaches Twice to Trinity Reformed Flock.

HE MAKES AN IMPRESSION.

First Serman Since Receiving Degree of Bachelor of Divinity at Rutgers.

Coming to his home church for his first sermon as a full-fledged clergyman, Rev. George S. Bolsterle, preached for the first as a bachelor of divinity at Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning; he also delivered the sermon at the evening service. Rev. Mr. Bolsterle, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kaspar Bolsterle, of Watchung avenue, received his degree from the Rutgers College Seminary on Thursday and became a member of the State Classis at Newark Saturday, when he made a highly favorable impression before the clerical body. He has accepted a call to the Reformed church at West Leyden, N. Y., and he and his wife will shortly make their permanent home at that place.

In introducing the young clergyman to the congregation, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the church, took occasion to speak in the highest terms of the new clergyman's place in the church community and his enviable record during the seminary course.

"There have been many important days in the history of Trinity Reformed church," he said, "but truly this is one of the most important. Today we send out one of our own sons into the gospel ministry. He finished his Seminary course at Rutgers College last week, he was examined by the classis at Newark yesterday afternoon, and now he goes to take charge of the Reformed church at West Leyden, New York, and will be ordained as its pastor on June 14. He comes to us today to preach the first sermon after his graduation. We all welcome him and shall ever follow him in his career with our good words and our prayers."

A large congregation, including Rev. Mr. Bolsterle's church friends and associates in the various societies of the church with which he was identified before going to the Seminary was present. He was cordially greeted by the consistory and members of the congregation at the conclusion of the service. Marked by a delivery which is powerful in the earnestness of his tone, Rev. Mr. Bolsterle has a clear, firm voice which is perfectly audible to all. He used but few notes and made an impression by his scholarly phraseology, his apt metaphors and his word-pictures.

His text, from Isaiah 54: 7, comprised these words: "For a small moment have I forsaken thee; but with great mercies will I gather thee," and his topic was "God's care of His Church." At the outset, he dwelt on the hardship of being forsaken by God, as shown in the history of nations and churches, and compared such abandonment to being forsaken by man as being more far-reaching in its results.

"But my message today is not one of sorrow," he continued, "but of encouragement. We read that we are to be 'gathered to God.' This means much, for the individual, for the nation and for the church. To the individual this assurance comes as a message of comfort. We think of the Saviour as the Good Shepherd and we remember that those who stray from the flock are carried back to the fold in His arms. For a nation, too, these words mean new hope, bringing their message of redemption to a people. In our church life, we are all true to one Christ, but do not worship under a single roof. People of all classes and color, the white, the black, the yellow and the red, are joined in

CHARLES ROGOFF SUES TO RECOVER FIRE LOSS

The only case of interest in the Union county courts, which opened this morning with a new panel of jurors, was that of Charles Rogoff, a local tailor, against the Allemania Fire Insurance Company, in which the complainant is seeking to recover $1,300, which he claims was his loss at a fire in December last. Rogoff conducted a tailoring establishment on West Second street, near Park avenue, and was burned out. The insurance company contends that the claim was not made in good faith, and that the $1,300 represents more than the actual loss.

Rogoff insists that the amount sued for represents his loss, which was complete, nothing being saved at the fire. Abe J. David, of Elizabeth, represents the complainant, while Hudspeth & Lane are counsel for the defendant company.

GOT DOUBLE SENTENCE FOR TELLING COURT LIE

Because he lied to City Judge Runyon at his hearing Saturday morning, William Hackett, one of the colored men caught in the police raid at 214 New street Friday night, was "soaked" double term at his final hearing today. Hackett will go to the county jail for sixty days, and while he will be a fellow-prisoner with the thirteen others caught in the raid, he will remain in his cell for thirty days longer than they.

At his hearing Saturday morning, Hackett told the court that he was the husband of the woman with whom he was found, having married her at Easton, Pa., four years ago. His attorney, Robert N. Crane, urged him to tell the truth, but the colored man stuck to his story. The woman denied his statements when seen later, and at his hearing this morning, Hackett acknowledged that he had "falsified," but said that the other members of the party had told him to tell the story he did. The Judge gave him short shrift.

REUNION OF MATTISON FAMILY IS HELD HERE

Mrs. Cinderella Mattison, of East Fifth street, entertained her brothers and sisters at a dinner, Saturday night, the occasion being a reunion of all the surviving members of the immediate family, which originally numbered eight children. Two brothers, the youngest and eldest, were called away by death some years ago. Covers were laid for six.

This reunion was the fourth, the first one being held in the "Old Homestead," at Petersburg, N. Y., and the third at the home of a sister in Peekskill, N. Y., last October. The affair was characterized by an old-fashioned turkey dinner, during the course of which many reminiscences of the "old days" were recalled, the former reunions discussed, and matters of family interest talked over. The absent members were not forgotten. There was a spirit of thankfulness for success and happiness and many wishes that there would be frequent gatherings of the kind.

The dinner was served by Mrs. Mattison's two daughters and niece. The prevailing color was yellow as being appropriate to the ripening years of the guests; the favors were the place cards which were decorated with yellow roses. After the seating of the guests, Mrs. Mattison read an original poem of greeting.

The guests were Mrs. Eleanor West, Waverly, N. Y.; Mrs. Cinderella Mattison, Plainfield; Mrs. N. L. Burdick, Ossining, N. Y.; Mrs. George Horton, Peekskill, N. Y.; I. N. Burdick, Orange, and Mrs. Henry A. Tower, North Adams, Mass.

FOUNDRYMEN ELECT MOLDENKE PRESIDENT

The four allied national foundrymen's associations that held joint conventions last week closed Saturday at Cincinnati, Ohio, after recommending that next year's convention be held in Detroit and the convention of 1911 be held in Pittsburg. Arthur T. Waterfall, of Detroit, was elected president of the American Foundrymen's Association. Other officers elected were: Secretary and treasurer, Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Watchung, N. J.; vice presidents, F. B. Farnsworth, New Haven, Conn.; Walter Wood, Philadelphia, and A. F. Clare, Preston, Ont.

Dr. Moldenke is said to be the virtual founder of the National Foundrymen's Association, and has been its secretary since its formation.

INJUNCTION HEARING TAKES PLACE TOMORROW

The hearing on the petition of R. H. Macy, of New York, who have applied for an injunction to restrain the city of Plainfield from interfering with its liquor delivery business here, was adjourned in the United State Circuit court at Trenton today until tomorrow. The day was occupied in ceremonies marking the installation of Judge Lanning as the new Cidcuit court judge.

Prosecutor Addison Swift and Assistant Prosecutor W. L. Hetfield, Jr., were on hand to represent Union county, while Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh was present to argue against an injunction as the counsel for this city. Mayor Fisk and others were also on hand.

The Macy concern allege that the recent action of the city court in holding a delivery driver, employed by the concern, in bail to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of violating the State liquor laws, has injured their business here.

SITS FOR FIRST TIME IN NEW DISTRICT COURT

The first session of the new District court of Somerset county, was held at Somerville, this morning, with Judge Isaac P. Runyon on the bench. There were nine cases on call, but only a few were contested. Among them was the landlord and tenant case of Albert Rojotte, of Dunellen, against Deliah Nelson, in which judgment was given the plaintiff.

Owing to the eleven cases on appeal in the other court, it kept many of the lawyers busy looking after the interests of their clients in both courts.

Judge Runyon has fixed Monday of each week as District court day, and because next Monday will be a holiday, the session will be held on Tuesday, June 1. There was no specitl features attending the opening of the new court, other than that Judge Runyon was congratulated by his many friends who wished him success.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF MRS. AUTHUR D. STOUT

The funeral service of Mrs. Arthur D. Stout was held Saturday afternoon from the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel DeWitt Brokaw, 38 Sycamore avenue, the borough. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends of the young woman, who mourned her untimely death. There were a great many beautiful floral tributes expressive of the high regard and esteem in which Mrs. Stout was held.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which Mrs. Stout was a member, conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Dr. Walker, pastor of the Baptist church, New Brunswick, of which Mr. Stout was a member, before coming to this city. The burial was in Hillside cemetery, and the pall-bearers were Alexander Milne, Laurence Milne, Thomas Buek, Allen B. Laing, Edward T. Wilson and L. H. Biglow, 3d.

SCHOOLS NEED $148,290

Of This Amount for Year's Expenses, $62,000 Will be in Local Tax Budget.

STATE CONTRIBUTES MUCH.

For New School $45,000 Will Be Needed and $10,000 For Furnishing Another Building.

The Board of School Estimate met Saturday afternoon to discuss and determine upon the amount needed for the current year to June, 1910, and to fix upon the appropriation for the new eight-room primary school to be erected on West Front street, near Clinton avenue.

The estimated total amount for all school purposes for the coming year was decided to be $148,290. The amount to be received from the State and including the railroad tax, is $79,681, while in addition the city will receive $2,500 from the State for manual training purposes: also $4,000 for tuition from out-of-town pupils, making a total of $86,181 to be received from outside sources.

The board fixed upon $62,000 as the sum to be raised by general tax and $45,000 for the new primary school. At a previous meeting $10,000 was determined upon as necessary for furnishing the new Darrow avenue school, which with the $45,000 for the new building will make a total of $55,000 to be raised through an issue of bonds. This will be arranged for within a short time.

The new building to be erected on West Front street, will be on a lot purchased by the board some time ago. The need for a primary schol in that section of the city has been urgent for several years and will meet the demands for sometime to come, while at the same time it will relieve the Irving and Darrow avenue schools. The amounts named above will be incorporated in the tax ordinance.

Y. M. C. A. OFFICERS WILL MEET IN NEWARK TONIGHT.

The employed officers of the New Jersey associations together with a number of new association secretaries and physical directors will hold a conference tonight at the Newark Y. M. C. A. to consider methods of enlisting and training employed officers. The local association will be represented by General Secretary H. E. Parker, Physical Director G. L. Listman and Charles H. Line.

The program for the conference will include addresses by B. C. Pond, general secretary of the Paterson association; Physical Director F. C. Benner, of Trenton; R. L. Cheney, secretary of the International Training school at Springfield, Mass., and Secretary H. E. Parker, of this city.

STONE STRAW COMPANY WITH $300,000 CAPITAL.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the Union County Court, this morning, by the Stone Straw Company, the principal office of which is at 816 First place, this city. The agent is L. L. Gilbert, of this city. The company is incorporated with $300,000 capital, to make paper tubes, tubing, buy and sell machinery and manufacture all kinds of paper goods.

The incorporators beside L. L. Gilbert, are H. N. Wessel and Albert B. Cheagle, of New York. The company's factory location is in New York.

A Musical Recital.

Arthur Hockman, a well-known pianist and composer, will give a recital at the home of Mrs. John P. Stevens, on Hillside avenue. Mr. Hockman will be assisted by Miss Hulda Lashan. The program will consist of the following numbers: Concerto, E flat Major, Liszt; solos, "Der Gottsucker," "Der Traum," "Ich Liebe Dich," Hoskman; piano solos, "Romance," Tsckarkowsky; "Valse," Chopin; solos, "Ich Denke Dein," "Shrone Weige Muner Liden," Hockman.

Mrs. Elizabeth V. Thompson.

Mrs. Elizabeth V. Thompson, wife of Isaac S. Thompson, who is a baggagemaster employed by the New Jersey Central, died last night at her home on West Fourth street, following a long illness. She was a member of Trinity Reformed church, where she was a regular attendant when health permitted. Besides a husband she leaves two daughters. The funeral will be private.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feller, of 52 Chatham street, are parents of a son, born to them yesterday morning.

MISS WARING TO WED J. HARTLEY MELLICK

Mr. and Mrs. Orville T. Waring, of Park avenue, have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Waring, and J. Hartley Mellick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Mellick. The event will be celebrated at the home of the bride's parents on Park avenue, Monday night, June 14. About two hundred invitations have been issued to the ceremony and reception to follow.

Miss Waring is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waring and she has been prominent in the younger society set, where she is a favorite. Mr. Mellick is also popular in the same set. He is a member of the Plainfield Country Club, the Watchung Hunt Club, The Plainfield Riding and Driving Club. He is engaged in the brokerage business in the well-known New York firm of which his father is a partner.

BALL CLUB CARNIVAL TO BE OPENED TONIGHT

The carnival under the auspices of the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club will open tonight with all the numerous attractions, and the bright clear weather should result in bringing out a big crowd of patrons. One of the special features will be the large booth in charges of the wives and women friends of the members of the team. There will be a big circus, swings, merry-go-round, rifle range, "Happy Hooligan," baby game, etc., among the attractions.

Tonight the members of the Hope Y. M. A. will have charge of the carnival and tomorrow night the Jr. O. U. A. M. will be in charge. Other lodges will be assigned to the remaining nights. During the week a bicycle will be presented, and one of the features will be the contest for the most popular fraternal organization. The voting started on Saturday and is now going on merrily. The grounds are located at West Front street and Clinton avenue, on the main line of the trolley.

MISS ALICIA M'INTYRE DIES IN 94TH YEAR

Mrs. Alicia McIntyre, widow of Francis McIntyre and the mother of John F. McIntyre, died at her home on North avenue, last night, aged 93 years. Death was due to the infirmities of old age, but notwithstanding, she was remarkably well preserved and was conscious as late as yesterday, recognizing members of the family.

Mrs. McIntyre was born in Queens county, Ireland, and came to this country when a young girl. She was married in New York to Mr. McIntyre and soon afterward moved to this city, where she resided for sixty-two years. Her husband died in 1887. Since then she made her home with her only son, John F. McIntyre. Her only daughter, Mrs. Sophia Mullen, died about a year ago.

Throughout her long residence here Mrs. McIntyre was deeply interested in the work of St. Mary's church, of which she was a faithful member. Besides her son, she is survived by six grandchildren, Mrs. William Chamberlain, of Westfield, Mrs. Adam Jordan, Mrs. Clare Bickel Miss Charlotte McIntyre, Francis and John F. McIntyre, Jr., of this city. There are also several great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held from the late home Wednesday morning at 9:15 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 10 o'clock, where solemn high mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of the soul. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Gave a Crab Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Wernig, of 1112 South avenue, entertained a number of friends at their home Saturday night, the affair being announced as the first annual "Crab's Debut," and in the invitations the "lobsters" bidden to the feast were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fincke, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Burdenbach, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Wernig, George Breck, William G. Mangan, of this city; Mrs. A. Bebler, of New York. After the spread there was a fine musical program.

To Play Rahway High.

The North Plainfield and Rahway High Schools will play their regular game Wednesday afternoon at the De Lacey avenue grounds. Both teams have been playing fast ball this season and it is expected that a close score will be the suit.

KNIFED IN STREET FIGHT

Guiseppe Pardisceo Seriously Wounded by Mattio Demaris on Watchung Ave.

THE ASSAILANT E S C A P E S.

Drunken Italians Start Lively Fight After Day's "Picnic" On the Mountain—Witnesses' Story.

Stabbed from behind with a stiletto, the stroke of which pierced his left lung, Guiseppe Pardisceo, twenty-nine years old, whose home is at 202 West Fourth street, lies in a critical condition at Muhlenberg Hospital today as the result of an attack which culminated a drunken brawl on Watchung avenue near the borough line last night. His assailant, Mattio Demario, who lives at 29 Watchung avenue, has thus far eluded capture by the police.

Stories of the stabbing vary, but as near as the facts can be learned by the police, the trouble started when the party of three Italians, who had been on a drinking junket all day long in the Watchung mountains, returned home. Matteo Popolillo, who was with Pardisceo and Demario, seems to have been the cause of all the trouble. He and the injured man started a quarrel just before the party broke up after the trip in the mountains, and it is said that they exchanged blows. Pursued by Pardisceo, Popolillo ran into the house. Demario followed, becoming very aggressive as interceder for his friend. He too, went into the house and came out again almost immediately, armed with a long stiletto. The two exchanged words and suddenly Demario made a pass at his opponent with the knife, and Pardisceo sank to the sidewalk. Demario fled.

The injured man struggled to his feet again and made for Hodge's drug store at the corner. He sank into a chair there and asked the clerk for medicine, saying "I'm sick." Seeing blood, the man took the Italian to Dr. Pittis' office, where a hasty examination by the physician showed his serious condition, and he was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. His condition at noon was dangerous, but he passed a comfortable night.

An examination of those taken by the police revealed varying details of the stabbing. Mrs. Nemziata Popolillo was an important eyewitness, as were the two men held. Some say that Pardisceo, seeing the knife, stood with his hands in his pockets and defied Demario to strike at him.

The Italian tenants of "The Bee Hive," the padrone headquarters at 29 Watchung avenue, were thrown into a state of high excitement by the stabbing, which took place in front of the old house at about 8:30 o'clock in the evening. The police rounded up the entire Italian party, making several trips with the patrol wagon. All but two of those taken have been released. These are Salvatore Girocco and Mike Dececare, two eye-witnesses of the affair. They were remanded for a hearing tomorrow.

Pardisceo, who is unmarried, was arrested on April 18 when he was involved in a street fight at Richmonrd street blacksmith shop. He was fined by City Judge Runyon.

MANY OLD FRIENDS AT F. M. BACON'S BIER.

The funeral of Francis M. Bacon, who died in Muhlenberg Hospital as the result of injuries received at the North Avenue station, Wednesday afternoon, was held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the late residence, 419 Fifth street. There was a large attendance of friends and old acquaintances. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, officiated. There were a number of beautiful floral tributes.

The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were Henry Leifke, Armstrong Mulford, William Abbott, M. F. Gano, D. Foster Updike and L. M. Johnston.

FOLDING COTS

When the United States Government sees fit to purchase as many as 60,000 such cots as these for army use, you may depend upon it that there is no better cot to be had than these.

These cots are marvels of strength, compactness and durability, will support 1,000 lbs., are 6 ft. 2 in. long, 2 ft. 4 in. wide when open, and will fold up into a package 4x5 in. 3 ft. long, weighing only 16 lbs. The framework is of clear straight grain Wisconsin rock elm; the castings are of 16-gauge cold rolled Bessemer steel; the cover is of first quality 12-oz. double filled brown duck.

Nothing could be better for camping or for emergency service in hotels, boarding houses and homes.

The regular price is $2.75; but for three days—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, we will sell these cots at $2.25

All-American Sale!

Great Price-Cutting This Week.

WHY "ALL-AMERICAN?"

Because we want to show what a resourceful country this is—to give an idea how much good merchandise is made in the United States. Because we want to show what a good manufacturing district (including nearby States) we live in.

Because we want to show, particularly, how much New Jersey and Newark contributes in our lines to the manufactures of the United States.

Because, finally, we want to show what fine stocks best American made goods this store sells—especially New Jersey goods, and, most important of all, Newark Goods. So that the more you buy at Snyder's, the more loyal you are to home industries.

Special Price Selling All This Week

We offer hundreds, yes, thousands of items of American made goods greatly under regular prices. One week of gala bargain giving, fitting pre-Memorial Day function in spirit; timely for all who desire to prepare economically for the day's outing and even Summer vacations.

American Goods to the Fore

And American enthusiasm all over the store—decorations within and without. Come and catch the spirit of the occasion. It will be a week of wonders. Come in early if you can. Come tomorrow.

SUMMER PLAYGROUND ASSURED FOR SUMMIT.

Through the generosity of the Summit Home Land Company and the persistent efforts of a joint committee of the Ladies' Town Improvement Association and the department of social science of the Fortnightly Club, the children of Summit are to have a playground during the summer months.

The children are to have the use of the block of land between Elm street and Summit avenue, Summit, this tract comprising about one-half of the property which it is proposed the city shall acquire for a public park between Park and Railroad avenues, south of the Lackawanna Railroad station.

After the joint committee, which is composed of Mrs. Hamilton W. Mabie, Mrs. Henry B. Twombly, Mrs. Ernest D. North, Miss Anna Cromwell and Miss Louise Connolly, superintendent of the local public schools, secured from Jonathan Bonnel, representing the Home Land Company, permission to use the land for a playground, without cost, the members of the committee began the task of soliciting subscriptions to a fund with which to furnish equipment. During the past few days $465 has been collected. Saturday Miss Connolly, with a number of the pupils in Public School No. 1, spent several hours in laying out the ground for swings and other appropriate apparatus.

Water is to be supplied on the ground free of charge by the Commonwealth Water and Light Company, of which Carroll P. Bassett is secretary and treasurer. Mr. Bassett is chairman of the committee of the Board of Trade, which submitted at the last meeting of the board the report in which it was recommended that the city acquire at a cost of about $110,000, the several tracts of land for a public park and playground, and as sites for public and semi-public buildings in a project for a city beautiful.

The committee which has thus far carried on the work of providing the playground for the children for this summer is to be enlarged by the addition of two or three male members.

Robert J. Muldowney was named as a member of the committee Saturday, and the other men will be selected within a few days. It is planned to have an expert go over the ground next week and ascertain just how much money will be required to fully equip the property. The land is admirably adapted for a playground, and little, if any, expense will be necessary to put the ground in shape. All of the money necessary to procure equipment will be secured by private subscription and, it is expected, the children will be in full possession of the playground within a short time.

PASSAIC PROSECUTOR IN SEARCH OF HEALTH.

Perth Amboy, May 24.—Eugene Emley, the veteran prosecutor of Common Pleas of Passaic county, sailed Saturday morning for England on the steamship Minnehaha, of the American Transport Line. Where the prosecutor will go when he arrives in England and how long he will stay, he does not know; all depends on his health and his whim.

As long ago as 1899 Mr. Embley suffered a slight apopletic stroke, and, although there were no serious developments at that time, his general health has not been good since. The hope of regaining to some extent his lost health caused the prosecutor to go abroad. He is accompanied by his wife. During his absence the work of the prosecutor's office will devolve entirely on Assistant Presecutor Ralph Shaw.

G. H. Dalley, of Whitehouse, conducted the service at the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, Watchung, last night.

WILLIAM K. SKILLMAN EXPIRES IN STATE PRISON

William K. Skillman, the 70-year-old Blawenburg, Somerset County, farmer who was convicted of forging the will of his neighbor, the late William Lanchare, making himself chief heir to a $19,000 estate, died late last night in the State prison at Trenton, to which he was brought early this month to serve a five years' term.

Skillman was a confirmed morphine fiend and when he came to the prison he was taking fifteen morphine pills daily. By direction of Prison Physician McKenzie this dose was cut down to one-quarter. Since his commitment he has been in the hospital of the prison.

His arrest was made after the Court of Errors had confirmed his sentence following two years of legal fighting. The constables sent for him had a hard time apprehending him. He barricaded his home, and his wife, daughter and two sons tried to beat off the constables, but the officials succeeded in capturing him.

Skillman was formerly president of the New Jersey State Horticultural Society. He was convicted in Somerset county. His body will be turned over to his relatives.

William G. Mangan, of South avenue, is spending a few days at Atlantic City.

PLANS SERIES OF FOUR RECITALS BY PUPILS

During the week beginning May 31, J. Edmund Skiff will give four recitals with his pupils in his studio in the Babcock building. The first program on Monday night, May 31, will be presented by Miss Hope Irene Miller, contralto, and Miss Laura E. Gesswein, soprano. The second on Tuesday evening the program will be given by Miss Helen Smalley, soprano; Mrs. Harry R. Moyer, contralto; Harry R. Moyer, baritone. Thursday evening's program will be presented by Miss Florence Conroy, soprano; Miss Helen J. Hall, soprano; Joseph S. Dunham, tenor, and Fred C. Kreidler, bass, and on Friday night Mrs. Arthur B. Price, soprano; Mrs. Joseph S. Dunham, soprano, and Miss B. Mae Rodenbaugh, contralto, will sing.

On Tuesday evening, June 8, there will be a recital at the First M. E. church, the program comprising solos and choruses, with the following soloists: Mrs. Arthur B. Price, Miss Hope Irene Miller, Harry R. Moyer, Miss Helen Smalley, Mrs. Harry R. Moyer, Miss Laura E. Gesswein and Fred C. Kreidler.

The latter part of the program will consist of excerpts from Cowen's "Rose Maiden," with the following soloists: Miss Bertha vanNuis Willis, soprano; Miss B. Mae Rodenbaugh, contralto; Bertram F. Tallamy, baritone. Complimentary tickets for these recitals may be had by addressing Mr. Skiff.

MUSICAL RECITAL AT MISS KARR'S HOME

An enjoyable musical recital was given Saturday afternoon by pupils and friends of Miss Grace P. Karr at her residence on Putnam avenue. The hous was artistically decorated with Japanese roses and other cut flowers of the season. The pupils played without notes and all of them performed creditably to themselves and their instructor. The Misses Brown rendered their respective violin numbers brilliantly and with a sympathetic interpretation, which was pleasing to the audience.

Among those who played were Miss Valborg E. Steuer, Miss Edith M. Little, Miss Helen E. Crane, Miss Dorothy M. Crane, Miss Eleanor Vincent Searing, Miss Marjorie M. Brown, Miss Mildred M. Clark, Miss Esther M. Brownlee, Alfred E. Seidel, Miss Grace P. Karr, Miss Lillian E. Steuer, Miss M. Adelaide Ricketts, Miss Arline Brown, Miss E. Blanche Stout, Miss Dorthy Manning, William Pinto Carson, Miss Sarah L. Schuck, Miss Catherine Hodges Stout and Arthur Dudley Stout. After the recital refreshments were served.

LOCAL SYNDICATE IS OPERATING THIS MINE.

Operations were begun this morning on the property of The Plainfield Mining Company, situated at Negley, Virginia. This property comprises one hundred acres of iron pyrites land and the syndicate is owned by business men of this city. Sulphuric acid is manufactured from the pyrites. The work of development will be in charge of Charles Emery, who was formerly superintendent of the Cabin Branch mine, where 250 men are employed. He has had years of practical experience.

Augustus Runyon, of this city, will have charge of the timbering, and if present indications count for anything, the Plainfield Mining Company property will probably develope into a valuable one within a short time.

Nurses to be Graduated.

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital has issued invitations to the fourteenth anniversary and graduation exercises of The Training School for Nurses, Thursday night, May 27, at 8 o'clock at the Hartridge School auditorium. The graduates of the '09 Class are Miss Ethel Eugenia Humphrey, Miss Kate Embury Bodine, Miss Ina Rudd, Miss Jane M. Everitt, Miss Ellen Van Horn Dempsey, Miss Anna Marshall and Miss Olive Louise Schreibweis.

Veterans to Attend Services.

The members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will attend divine service at the Scotch Plains Baptist church, Sunday afternoon, when Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, the pastor, will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion. In the evening the veterans have been invited to attend service at the First M. E. church, this city, where the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, will preach to them. There will be special music.

Two Drunks in Court.

Katharine Cahill, an old offender, and James Burke were arrested Saturday night in the vicinity of West End avenue bridge by Borough Marshal Weiss on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. They appeared before Recorder Dolliver this morning who fined Burke $5 and Cahill the choice between $15 or thirty days. As the latter has not paid her fine she will probably be sent to Somerville tomorrow.

Will Give a Vaudeville Show.

Under the auspices of St. Stephen's church, a "Cafe Cantant" will be the feature of an affair to be held at the parish house tomorrow night. The program will include Van Eps Brothers, banjo and mandolin selections; George H. Smith, tenor soloist; Fred'k J. Pope, baritone soloist; Beck, Scott and Crawford and Harry E. Hayden, professional talent. Tickets are now on sale at Armstrong's drug store.

Andrew J. McClintock Resigns.

Andrew J. McClintock, who during the past year has been the tenor soloist of the First Presbyterian church quartet, has tendered his resignation to take effect after next Sunday. The church regrets that Mr. McClintock is to retire, but he is compelled to do so on account of ill health, which may prevent him from singing again. During his service at the church he has made many friends.

Miss Olive Randolph to Wed.

Mrs. Daniel Randolph, of Plainfield avenue, has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Miss Olive Randolph, and Fred Bakker, of this city, which will take place at the home of the bride's mother on Wednesday night, July 16. The couple will reside on Plainfield avenue. The groom has been employed at the Potter Printing Press Works for a number of years.

D. of A. Entertain Visitors.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, entertained seventy-five members and visitors at its class initiation, Saturday night. The degree team did excellent work and was highly commended by the State councilor, Philip Handschuck. After the business the good and welfare committee served a banquet.

Back From Long Trip.

NO MORE TICKETS FOR THE "NEW IDEA" DINNER.

So far as numbers go the success of the "new idea" dollar dinner to be held in the Krueger Auditorium in Newark Thursday night is assured. All the table seats have been sold, and Lathrop Anderson, chairman of the committee which has the affair in charge, sent letters to those having tickets for sale, last night, asking them to cease selling.

"We cannot under any circumstances accommodate all who wish to be present at the tables," said Mr. Anderson, "but when the speakers begin we shall be pleased to throw open the galleries to the public. We have all along expected 700 or 800 to the dinner, but it looks now as if we'll have to provide seats at the tables for more than 1,000."

It is hoped by the committee that Congressman Victor Murdock, of Kansas, may be prevailed upon to attend and speak. Others who will probably address the diners are Governor Fort, William P. Martin, Frank H. Sommer, Herman B. Walker, William Fellowes Morgan, Austen Colgate, James G. Blauvelt, Everett Colby, George L. Record and Mark M. Fagan.

Rev. Edwin Thayer Preached.

Rev. Edwin Thayer, pastor of the First Baptist church, at Laurense, South Carolina, preached an excellent sermon at the First Baptist church yesterday morning. He is an old friend of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Chambliss and while on a visit north called on them, and accepted the opportunity to preach here.

Practically all materials for men's and boys' clothing are imported from England. All-wool cloths pay a duty of 74 cents to $1.50 per yard and the wash fabrics 8 cents to 30 cents per yard.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

One of the best of the services of special vesper services arranged by Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews was held at the Baptist church yesterday afternoon at 4:30. The speaker of the meeting was James F. Parker, a member of the New York Produce Exchange. Mr. Parker gave a strong and helpful address upon "The Value of Religion to the Business Man." A violin solo was rendered by Louis Wolf, which was much enjoyed. The choir quartet rendered Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," and Park's anthem, "Just As I Am," in its usual creditable manner. The special services which have been held during the month have proven popular, and the support given has been most encouraging to the pastor, Rev. Mr. Mathiews.

Fred Hettrick and John Falerney returned Saturday night from a two days' fishing trip at Lake Hopatcong. Luck was good, although as usual the biggest got away. However they brought home enough to keep them and friends in brain food for several days.

The bad weather saved either the locals or Bound Brook from defeat Saturday afternoon. The two teams will meet later in the season. The game between the Baptist A. C. team and Trinity team of Plainfield was also cancelled.

Miss Louise Hollingsworth led an interesting meeting of the Epworth League, held last night in the Methodist church.

The local ball team was defeated at Orange yesterday afternoon by the Orange Valley team by score 8-2.

The B. Y. P. U. of the Baptist church will hold a social tomorrow night in the church parlors.

The weekly B. Y. P. U. meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the church.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The South Plainfield Stars added another to its long list of victims by defeating for the fifteenth time straight the South Plainfield Shammers. The score was 48 to 41. Hannen of the Stars had his opponents at his mercy all through the game.

The date of the dance to be given by the South Plainfield A. C. has been changed from June 15 to June 25, on account of the festival to be given on that date by the Ladies' Aid Society.

The South Plainfield A. C. defeated the Homo-Yoko Club, of Plainfield, in yesterday's game by a score of 17-8. Soffield pitched his usual good game.

Miss Delia Savered, who recently went under an operation for appendicitis at Muhlenberg Hospital, is reported to be doing well.

Earl Darlington, of Ridgefield Park, is spending a few days with Judge William E. Smith, of Brookside avenue.

John Arrowsmith and Miss Rebecca. Arrowsmith are making a short stay with friends in Bound Brook.

Fred Manning has returned to his home in Jersey City after a short visit with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher spent the week-end with relatives in New York.

P. V. R. VAN WYCK'S NEW $75,000 HOME IN SUMMIT

At Oak Ridge avenue and Roan road, on a site overlooking the picturesque valley of Feltville and the beautiful mountainous section extending to the Baltusrol Golf Club on the south and affording unobstructed view of the surrounding country for miles in all directions, Philip V. R. Van Wyck, formerly of this city, but who lives in Summit and is in business in Newark, erected what is undoubtedly one of the handsomest and most costly residences in this State. The house is now nearing completion, and is to be occupied by Mr. Van Wyck and his family.

The structure is about 60x100 feet, of Colonial style of architecture and two and one-half stories in height. The exterior is constructed of hollow terra cotta block with Berkshire cement stucco with a white finish. The roof is of stained shingles in green, and old-fashioned window shutters painted green add to the attractiveness of the building, the exterior woodwork of which is in dead white.

The basement, which is flooded with light and entrance to which is made on a level with Oak Rridge avenue, contains a large "den," billiard and smoking rooms. The first floor contains a reception room eighteen feet square, library 18x24 and dining-room twenty feet square. A hall fourteen feet wide leads from the rear of the building through to the terrace at the front of the structure. The vestibulte is wainscoted with fluted columns and pilasters. Leading from the vestibule or main entrance hall to the second story is a handsome staircase.

The walls of the library to the door heights are in paneled Indiana quartered white oak, while the ceiling is elaborately finished with boxed beams and cornice. In the library and dining-room there are French windows running to the floors, which provide exits to the terrace on the southern exposure.

In the second story there are six rooms arranged in suites, with large bathrooms for each suite. The upper story contains five large rooms and bathroom. On the south side of the house is a large balcony and this is to be fitted up for sleeping quarters.

The construction throughout is fire-proof, the boors being of terra cotta block and reinforced concrete and quartered oak.

The building will cost almost $45,000, while a stable which Mr. Van Wyck has had erected on the property cost about $9,000. The stable is of the same exterior finish as Mr. Van Wyck's residence. Near the stable is a large conservatory. In the centre of the broad lawn on the westerly side of Mr. Van Wyck's residence is to be laid out a sunken garden, containing a summer house with a thatched roof.

Mr. Van Wyck will have expended more than $75,000 on his residence, stable and grounds when they are completed. A. L. C. Marsh, of Plainfield, is the architect, and Jilson & Falkenburg, of Summit, have the general contract for the construction of the residence and stable.

Don't Forget "Country Fair."

Friends of the King's Daughters' Circle are asked to keep in mind the "Country Fair," to be held at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, on East Front street, Wednesday afternoon. A nominal admission will be charged to the grounds. The circle has provided everything that one could wish for and the event will be one of special interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Townley, of Summit, spent yesterday with Mrs. Townley's mother, Mrs. William Hahn, of East Second street.

AS A TIME SAVER

THE CHAFING DISH WILL BE FOUND OF DISTINCT VALUE.

Especially to Be Appreciated by the Mother to Warm Baby's Milk in a Hurry — Some Dishes Easily Prepared.

The chafing dish is valuable not only as a graceful means of entertaining a few friends of an evening, but as a time-saving device to the mother who has to get up in the night to heat baby's milk, and to the business woman who dreads to go out for her meals in bad weather. Then, too, the chafing dish is invaluable of a Saturday or Sunday morning, when each member of the family comes down at a different time for his eggs and coffee.

Everyone who owns a chafing dish knows how to make Welsh rabbit and fudge, but there are some more novel dishes for the informal little supper. The meal is of course not complete without a dainty little table and a frilly white apron for the hostess; and if she possess the true instinct of hospitality she will allow each guest to have some part in the savory preparations.

Shrimps are good at this time of year. A good way to prepare them is to lay a good-sized can of them in water and let simmer for 20 minutes, then strain, and set the liquor aside for some future soup tureen. Next cut the shrimps in half and chill, making the usual white sauce in the blazer, adding a bay leaf and a blade of mace until it boils, add the shrimps, and when thoroughly heated, serve.

If the shrimps are to be the chief or only hot dish, they may prove more palatable if mixed with an equal quantity of canned French peas, which are added to the white sauce at the same time with the shrimps. It is nice to serve this compound on crackers.

Curried oysters are another great delicacy. These are prepared by browning one tablespoonful each of butter and flour with one teaspoonful of curry powder. Add gradually one-half cup of rich milk and one-half cup of strained liquor juice. Stir this mixture until quite thick and, if desired, add a few drops of lemon juice. Drop in 25 oysters, carefully examined. Cook until they are plump and serve at once.

If one has on hand a respectable remnant of cold chicken or turkey, or even of veal, an appetizing chicken a la McDonald may be produced. Cut the meat into strips, cut firm, cold boiled potato into thin slices, cut one large truffle, if desired, into strips, and place in the blazer with three tablespoonfuls of butter. Now pour on a cup and a half of milk, season with salt and pepper, and serve as soon as hot. Bits of celery add to the flavor of the dish, whether coked with the milk or added raw at the last minute.

Eggs with black butter are another substantial supper dish. The recipe calls for three tablespoonfuls of butter, half a teaspoonful of vinegar, salt and pepper to taste, and three or four eggs as you have room for them in the blazer.

Cook the butter in the blazer until it is a dark brown—almost black. Break in the eggs then, one at a time, carefully, lest they should run, baste with the butter until they are done, adding the vinegar just before you take them up, and sprinkle with pepper and salt.

Tapioca Cream Without Eggs.

Soak in water till soft three rounding tablespoonfuls of pearl tapioca. Put one pint of milk, one-half teaspoonful of salt and the soaked tapioca, with the water in which it soaked, in a double boiler. Stir often until boiling to prevent the tapioca from lumping, then only occasionally till it gets thick. Then add sugar to taste, about one-half cup, and continue boiling till the consistency of heavy cream. This usually takes about two hours. When done remove from the fire, flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla; stir in a teaspoonful of butter if desired, and serve cold.

Removing Scorch.

An old negro laundress is responsible for the following cure for bad scorched places caused by too hot irons: A half pint of vinegar is put on the stove in a porcelain-lined saucepan. To this is added the juice of a large onion and two ounces of fuller's earth. The mixture is boiled for five minutes, strained, cooled and bottled.

In removing the scorch a little of the mixture is put on a clean white linen rag and rubbed over the scorched place until it disappears. Several applications may be necessary.

Two Suggestions.

Rub bread and meat boards with cut lemons, then wash with cold water. It is much better than scrubbing or scraping.

If the upper part or edge of the saucepan is well buttered you will find that chocolate, milk and other liquids will not boil over.

String Bean Salad.

String and wash one pint string beans. Boil till tender in boiling salted water. Drain and when cold put in a salad bowl, season with salt, pepper and papriki, pour one teaspoonful salad oil over, also one-half cupful vinegar, and serve.

To Polish Damp Shoes.

However damp boots or shoes may be they can be given a high polish if a drop or two of paraffin oil be added to the blacking. This also prevents the leather from cracking.

¶ It is not only a palatable beverage, but its tonic properties greatly aid the stomach in its work of digestion

Beyond.

Think thou and act; to-morrow thou shalt die.
Outstretched in the sun's warmth upon the shore,
Thou sayst: "Man's measured path is all gone o'er:
Up all his years, steeply, with strain and sigh,
Man clumb until he touched the truth; and I,
Even I, am he whom it was destined for."
How should this be? Art thou, then, so much more
Than they who sowed that thou shouldst reap thereby?
Nay, come by hither. From wave-washed mound
Unto the farthest flood-brim look with me;
Then reach on with thy thought till it be drown'd.
Miles and miles distant though the gray line be,
And though thy soul sail leagues and leagues beyond—
Still, leagues beyond those leagues there is more sea.
—Dante Gabriel Rossetti.

Said Love to Loveliness.

Said Love to Loveliness: "Loose down thy hair—
Pluck out the golden comb, the band of pearl,
Set me the prisoned grace of braid and curl,
To fall or ripple as it may, or dare—
Unlace thy straightened girdle, and forswear
Jewel for neck and bosom, waist and hand—
The hidden beauty of thy feet make bare;
Be thy sweet self alone . . . Dost understand
That only so, to Love, shouldst thou be seen
A beggar maid, that he may make thee Queen?"

Then Loveliness uptossed her charming head:
"Why should I stoop to be a beggar maid?
For Love as all men know, since Time began,
Suing to Loveliness, is a beggar man!"
—Smart Set.

The First Snow.

The clouds had gathered far and wide;
The wind, unshackled, free,
Went whirling through the realms of space
In wild, exultant glee.

The oaks, majestic in their strength,
Upon their trumpets played;
The pines, with their weird, measured sounds,
High in the darkness swayed.

Then came a spirit noiselessly,
A radiant, snowy form,
In dancing, rhythmic motion to
The music of the storm.

It danced above the craggy cliffs;
It danced above the sea;
The sons of Neptune all upsprung
And joined the revelry.

So passed the night; when morning came
A silence vast and deep
Hung over all, and Nature's soul
Lay wrapt in placid sleep.
—Herbert Randall, in Boston Transcript.

Masks.

We all put off the mask in sleep;
I saw your face last night,
And, left uncovered by disguise,
It made me know you right.

The countenance at command worn,
The jussus vultus look
No longer seen, your lineaments
Were those of hardened crook.

I came to rob you in the night,
With lantern dark to see;
I left you in the arms of sleep,
For you are one with me.

Your course of life, my course of life,
Free from suspicion's breath,
Upon our features shall be stamped
Indelibly by Death.

And I, the thief, will wear no mask,
And you, no deep disguise;
St. Peter has our photographs,
No rogues in Paradise.
—New York Times.

Bachelor Days.

Ah, our bachelor days,
And our bachelor ways,
What a charm they possessed for us then!
When we thought every girl
Was a peach or a pearl,
And we trusted the friendships of men.

When we lighted our pipe,
And we dreamed half the night,
And we longed—with the longing of men—
For the ships sent to sea
That for you and for me
Have never been sighted since then.

From the smoke of my pipe
Comes a face in the night,
And it brings back the parting of ways;
And my heart is aflame,
For I love her the same
As I did in my bachelor days.
—Adele M. Whitgreave, in Smart Set.

My Love.

Like rain-pools over autumn leaves
My sweet Love's eyes to me;
Like sunlight over golden sheaves
Her wind-blown tresses free;
Like snow upon the mountain's face
The whiteness of her throat;
Her movements of the langourous grace
Of lilies all afloat.

Her voice is sweet as silver bells
O'er sheets of moonlit snow;
Her mouth, a full ripe flower, where dwells
The sunset's vermeil glow;
Her soul is tender as blue skies
A southern day above;
While in her heart all priceless lies
The diamond of her love.
—Armin Trebor, in Appleton's Magazine.

Importance of Little Things.

There was a time when she included
Him with the bores she chanced to know;
She used to sigh when he intruded,
Her sigh was not a love sigh, though.

Her estimate of him at present
Should serve to make him very glad;
He sent around a birthday present
Upon the last birthday she had.

'Tis strange how little things may often
Be of importance, after all;
The hose that caused her heart to soften
Were silken—and a size too small.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

The Holiest Thing.

O world, I sing of my baby's dream.
Close, close I bent to hear,
I caught it like a diamond's gleam,
A smile and then a tear.

The tiniest ripple of a brook,
One drop of summer mist,
Out of my little baby's heart
From its dainty lips I kissed.

I blow it to world-tired feet;
O wandering hearts,
'Tis sweet! 'tis sweet!
—Gertrude Brooke Hamilton, in Housekeeper.

ROSALIND AT RED GATE

MEREDITH NICHOLSON

I went back to the launch and sought far and near upon the lake for the canoe with the single star. I wanted to see again the face that was uplifted in the flood of colored light—the head, the erect shoulders, the arms that drove the blade so easily and certainly; for if it was not Helen Holbrook it was her shadow that the gods had sent to mock me upon the face of the waters.

CHAPTER XII.

The Melancholy of Mr. Gillespie.

I laughed a moment ago when, in looking over my notes of these affairs, I marked the swift transition from those peaceful days to others of renewed suspicions and strange events. I had begun to yield myself to blandishments and to feel that there could be no further interruption of the idyllic hours I was spending in Helen Holbrook's company. I still maintained, to be sure, the guard as it had been established; and many pipes I smoked on St. Agatha's pier, in the fond belief that I was merely fulfilling my office as protector of Miss Pat, whereas I had reached a point where the very walls that held Helen Holbrook were of such stuff as dreams are made of.

The only lingering blot in the bright calendar of those days was her meeting with Gillespie on the pier, and the fact that she had accepted money from him for her rascally father. But even this I excused. It was no easy thing for a girl of her high spirits to be placed in a position of antagonism to her own father; and as for Gillespie, he was at least a friend, abundantly able to help her in her difficult position; and if, through his aid, she had been able to get rid of her father, the end had certainly justified the means. I reasoned that an educated man of good antecedents who was desperate enough to attempt murder for profit in this enlightened twentieth century was cheaply got rid of at any price, and it was extremely decent of Gillespie—so I argued—to have taken himself away after providing the means of the girl's release. I persuaded myself eloquently on those lines while I exhausted the resources of Glenarm in providing entertainment for both ladies. There had been other breakfasts on the terrace at Glenarm, and tea almost every day in the shadow of St. Agatha's, and one dinner of state in the great Glenarm dining room; but more blessed were those hours in which we rode, Helen and I, through the sunset into dusk, or drove a canoe over the quiet lake by night. Miss Pat, I felt sure, in so often leaving me alone with Helen, was favoring my attentions; and thus the days passed, like bubbles on flowing water.

She was in my thoughts as I rode into Annandale to post some letters, and I was about to remount at the post-office door when I saw a crowd gathered in front of the village inn and walked along the street to learn the cause of it. And there, calmly seated on a soap box was Gillespie, clad in amazing checks, engaged in the delectable occupation of teaching a stray village mongrel to jump a stick. The loungers seemed highly entertained, and testified their appreciation in loud guffaws. I watched the performance for several minutes, Gillespie meanwhile laboring patiently with the dull dog, until finally it leaped the stick amid the applause of the crowd. Gillespie patted the dog and rose, bowing with exaggerated gravity.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I thank you for your kind attention. Let my slight success with that poor cur teach you the lesson that we may turn the idlest moment to some noble use. The education of the lower animals is something to which too little attention is paid by those who, through the processes of evolution, have risen to a higher species. I am grateful, gentlemen, for your forbearance, and trust we may meet again under circumstances more creditable to us all—including the dog."

The crowd turned away mystified, while Gillespie, feeling in his pocket for his pipe, caught my eye and winked.

"Ah, Donovan," he said, coolly, "and so you were among the admiring spectators. I hope you have formed a high opinion of my skill as a dog trainer. Once, I would have you know, I taught a Plymouth Rock rooster to turn a summersault. Are you quite alone?"

"You seem to be as big a fool as ever!" I grumbled in disgust, vexed at finding him in the neighborhood.

"Gallantly spoken, my dear fellow! You are an honor to the Irish race and mankind. Our meeting, however, is not inopportune, as they say in books; and I would have speech with you, gentle knight. The inn, though humble, is still not without decent comforts. Will you honor me?"

He turned abruptly and led the way through the office and up the stairway, babbling nonsense less for my entertainment, I imagined, than for the befuddlement of the landlord, who leaned heavily upon his scant desk and watched our ascent.

He opened a door and lighted several oil lamps, which disclosed three connecting rooms.

"You see, I got tired of living in the woods, and the farmer I boarded with did not understand my complex character. The absurd fellow thought me insane—can you imagine it?"

"It's a pity he didn't turn you over to the sheriff," I growled.

"Generously spoken! But I came here and hired most of this inn to be near the telegraph office. Though as big a fool as you care to call me I nevertheless look to my buttons. The hook-and-eye people are formidable competitors, and the button may in time become obsolete—stranger things have happened. I keep in touch with our main office, and when I don't feel very good I fire somebody. Only this morning I bounced our general manager by wire for sending me a letter in purple type-writing; I had warned him, you understand, that he was to write to me in black. But it was only a matter of time with that fellow. He entered a bull pup against mine in the Westchester bench show last spring and took the ribbon away from me. I really couldn't stand for that. In spite of my glassy splash in the asparagus bed, I'm a man who looks to his dignity, Donovan. Will you smoke?"

I lighted my pipe and encouraged him to go on.

"How long have you been in this bake-oven?"

"I moved in this morning—you're my first pilgrim. I have spent the long hot day in getting settled. I had to throw out the furniture and buy new stuff of the local emporium, where, it depressed me to learn, furniture for the dead is supplied even as for the living. That chair, which I beg you to accept, stood next in the shop to a coffin suitable for a carcass of about your build, old man. But don't let the suggestion annoy you! I read your book on tiger hunting a few years ago with pleasure, and I'm sure you enjoy a charmed life.

"I, myself," he continued, taking a chair near me and placing his feet in an open window, "am cursed with rugged health. I have quite recovered from those unkind cuts at the nunnery—thanks to your ministrations—and am willing to put on the gloves with you at any time."

"You do me great honor; but the affair must wait for a lower temperature."

"As you will! It is not like my great and gracious ways to force a fight. Pardon me, but may I inquire for the health of the ladies at Saint What's-her-name's?"

"They are quite well, thank you."

"I am glad to know it;"—and his tone lost for the moment its jauntiness. "Henry Holbrook has gone to New York."

"Good riddance!" I exclaimed, heartily. "And now—"

"—And now if I would only follow suit, everything would be joy plus for you!"

He laughed and slapped his knees at my discomfiture, for he had read my thoughts exactly.

"You certainly are the only blot on the landscape!"

"Quite so. And if I would only go hence the pretty little idyl that is being enacted in the delightful garden, under the eye of a friendly chaperon, would go forward without interruption."

He spoke soberly, and I had observed that when he dropped his chaff a note of melancholy crept into his talk. He folded his arms and went on: "She's a wonderful girl, Donovan. There's no other girl like her in all the wide world. I tell you it's hard for a girl like that to be in her position—the whole family broken up, and that contemptible father of hers hanging about with his schemes of plunder. It's pitiful, Donovan; it's pitiful!"

"It's a cheerless mess. It all came after the bank failure, I suppose."

"Practically, though the brothers never got on. You see my governor was bit by their bank failure; and Miss Pat resented the fact that he backed off when stung. But the Gillespies take their medicine; father never squealed, which makes me sore that your Aunt Pat gives me the icy eye."

"Their affairs are certainly mixed," I replied, non-committally.

"They are indeed; and I have studied the whole business until my near mind is mussed up, like scrambled eggs. Your own pretty idyl of the nunnery garden adds the note piquante. Cross my palm with gold and I'll tell you of strange things that lie in the future. I have an idea, Donovan; singular though it seem, I've a notion in my head."

"Keep it," I retorted, "to prevent a cranial vacuum."

"Crushed! Absolutely crushed!" he replied, gloomily. "Kick me. I'm only the host."

We were silent while the few sounds of the village street droned in. He rose and paced the floor to shake off his mood, and when he sat down he seemed in better spirits.

"Holbrook will undoubtedly return," I said.

"Yes; there's no manner of doubt about that."

"And then there will be more trouble."

"Of course."

"But I suppose there's no guessing when he will come back."

"He will come back as soon as he's spent his money."

I felt a delicacy about referring to that transaction on the pier. It was a wretched business, and I now realized that the shame of it was not lost on Gillespie.

"How does Henry come to have that Italian scoundrel with him?" I asked after a pause.

"He's the skipper of the Stiletto," Gillespie replied, readily.

"He's a long way from tide-water," I remarked. "A blackguard of just his sort once sailed me around the Italian peninsula in a felucca, and saved me from drowning on the way. His heroism was not, however, wholly disinterested. When we got back to Naples he robbed me of my watch and money-belt and I profited by the transaction, having intended to give him double their value. But there are plenty of farm boys around the lake who could handle the Stiletto. Henry didn't need a dago expert."

The mention of the Italian clearly troubled Gillespie. After a moment he said:

"He may be holding on to Henry instead of Henry's holding on to him. Do you see?"

"No; I don't."

"Well, I have an idea that the dago knows something that's valuable. Last summer Henry went cruising in the Sound with a pretty rotten crowd, poker being the chief diversion. A man died on the boat before they got back to New York. The report was that he fell down a hatchway when he was drunk, but there were some ugly stories in the papers about it. That Italian sailor was one of the crew."

"Where is he now?"

"Over at Battle Orchard. He knows his man and knows he'll be back. I'm waiting for Henry, too. Helen gave him $20,000. The way the market is running he's likely to go broke any day. He plays stocks like a crazy man, and after he's busted he'll be back on our hands."

"It's hard on Miss Pat."

"And it's harder on Helen. She's in terror all the time for fear her father will go up against the law and bring further disgrace on the family. There's her Uncle Arthur, a wanderer on the face of the earth for his sins. That was bad enough without the rest of it."

"That was greed, too, wasn't it?"

"No, just general cussedness. He blew in the Holbrook bank and skipped."

"You told me that Henry Holbrook found his way here ahead of you. How do you account for that?"

He looked at me quickly, and rose, again pacing the narrow room.

"I don't! I wish I could!"

"It's about the last place in the world to attract him. Port Annandale is a quiet resort frequented by western people only. There's neither hunting nor fishing worth mentioning; and a man doesn't come from New York to Indiana to sail a boat on a thimbleful of water like this lake."

"You are quite right."

"If Helen Holbrook gave him warning that they were coming here—"

"Don't you dare say it! She couldn't have done! She wouldn't have done it! I tell you I know, independently of her, that he was here before Father Stoddard ever suggested this place to Miss Pat."

"Well, you needn't get so hot about it."

"And you needn't insinuate that she is not acting honorably in this affair! I should think that after making love to her, as you have been doing, and playing the role of comforter to Miss Pat, you would have the decency not to accuse her of connivance with Henry Holbrook."

"You let your jealousy get the better of your good sense. I have not been making love to Miss Holbrook!" I declared, angrily, and knew in my heart that I lied.

"Well, Irishman," he exclaimed with entire good humor; "let us not bring up mine host to find us locked in mortal combat."

"What the devil did you bring me up here for?" I demanded.

"Oh, just to enjoy your society. I get lonesome sometimes. I tell you a man does get lonesome in this world when he has nothing to lean on but a blooming button factory and a stepmother who flits among the world's expensive sanatoria. I know you have never had 'Button, button, who's got the button?' chanted in your ears, but may I ask whether you have ever known the joy of a stepmother? I can see that your answer will be an unregretful negative."

He was quite the fool again, and stared at me vacuously.

"My stepmother is not the common type of juvenile fiction. She has never attempted during her widowhood to rob the orphan or to poison him. Bless your Irish heart, no! She's a good woman, and rich in her own right, but I couldn't stand her dietary. She's afraid I'm going to die, Donovan! She thinks everybody's going to die. Father died of pneumonia and she said ice-water in the finger-bowl did it, and she wanted to have the butler arrested for murder. She had a new disease for me every morning. It was worse than being left with a button-works to draw a stepmother like that. She ate nothing but hot water and zweibach herself, and shuddered when I demanded sausage and buckwheat cakes every day. She caught me one day clearing up a couple of chickens and a mug of Bass with the gardener, and it was all over. She had noticed, she said, that I had been coughing of late—I was doing a few cigarettes too many, that was all—and wired to New York for doctors. She had all sorts, Donovan—alienists and pneumogastric specialists and lung experts.

(To be continued.)

Early Ideals.

"Arthur, dear, why do you keep that cheap plaster cast of Venus eternally on your mantel?" asked the artist's bride.

"It is to retain my ideals of you, love," answered the artist, "to retain the one impression I had before discovering the proportionate elements of linen handkerchief, excelsior, horse hair and cotton batting in the modern female figure."—Puck.

CAMPBELL AND NASH DEEEAT THE LEADERS

Campbell and Nash, coupled as the two-man Madison Square Garden National tourney entry for Plainfield, finished a good first on Saturday evening in a classy team match with Skelly and Skinner on Campbell's alleys by winning eight out of ten games rolled.

The winners' speed, accuracy and judgment of distance were too much for the losers, who though trying hard could break into the winners' class but twice, owing to splendid finishing by Nash with an average of 1964 and Campbell with 1959 for ten games.

PLAINFIELD BOWLERS IN GREAT TOURNEY TONIGHT

Plainfielders will have an opportunity to see a National bowling tournament for the first time without going out West when the National Bowling Association opens its third annual championship tournament in Madison Square Garden in New York city tonight. This competition will put into action 313 five-men teams, 700 two-men teams and 1,410 individual bowlers. In the ranks of that army of the knights of the pins will be seen many of the best bowlers in America. The stars of every city will be on hand and strive for the hundreds of trophies that are offered.

The holding of the tournament has served to bring out a larger number of bowling stars than has been seen in any of the former national tournaments. The tournament managers will formally turn over the 24 new beautiful alleys at 8 o'clock this evening and at 8:30 twenty-four teams will start the big tournament which is to last for three weeks.

Tomorrow evening at 8:15 Johnny Campbell's champions, composed of Francis J. Blatz, Vincent W. Nash, Jr., Chief Patrick J. Kiely, Chauncey F. Stout and Captain John J. Campbell,, will be seen in action in the five-man tourney representing Plainfield which has been more than successful in the past in match games and tourneys.

The team is composed of Plainfield's best bowlers and are mostly rivals to the country's best, and will have a large party of rooters accompany them who will back them to the limit with wishes of success.

ENTRIES RECEIVED FOR ANNUAL STEEPLECHASE

The entries for the annual steeplechase meet of the Watchung Hunt Club on Saturday, May 29, are coming in fast, indicating that the meet will be the best ever held by the club. There will undoubtedly be at least eight entries in each of the six races, and all thoroughbreds. Among those who have entered their horses are Colonel Donohue, Charles Pfizer, Harry A. Borune, C. E. S. Bellows, Rufus Finch, Charles W. Fisk and Charles F. Wildey.

Although the entries closed on Thursday last, the time limit was extended a few days. Among the horses thus far entered are the following:

Netherwood cup—"Contrast," "Grassland," "Sir Gaze," "Victory Belle," "Clandeboye," "Nellie R." Middlesex cup—"Reliable," "Midlothian," "Sue," "Essex," "Manifesto, 2d," "Ringlets," "Harry Baylor," "Telephone." Union cup—"Al. H. Woods," "High Chance," "Modest," "Lady Potentate," "Barneys Fancy." Watchung cup—"Sue," "Sumurai," "Demi-tassee," "Manifesto, 2d," "Mechanic," "Apple Jack." Westfield cup—"Helen Shea," "Modest," "Don Ottario," "O. K." Somerset cup—"Sir Ellerslie," "Gypsie," "Relentless," "The Scout."

BIG BIKE RACE STARTS ON WATCHUNG AVENUE

The start of the twenty-five-mile bicycle race, to be held Monday morning, May 31, under the auspices of the Plainfield Cycle Club, will be made from the corner of Watchung and Mountain avenues at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. The course will be 6¼ miles to the Mountainside Inn, by way of the Springfield road, and the riders will go two laps. Freeholder Andrew Lutkins and Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield, have given permission for the use of the highway, which will be put in good condition for the race. Benjamin King, director of the Board of Freeholders, has instructed County Road Inspector J. W. Fink, of Westfield, to start at once the work of making the necessary repairs to the road surface for the race.

With entries already received from many of the most prominent cyclists in the State, the race will be the season's biggest cycling event. Several of the regular competitors in the Irvington-Milburn road race will compete, and it is probable that the course for this Decoration Day race will be adapted for the State's most important cycle meet in future. Riders from the principal towns of the State, with representatives from several clubs, will compete for the forty prizes. The first four awards will be bicycles, and all the prizes are now on exhibition at the store of Jack Horner, president of the club.

GOOD SCORES MADE ON P. C. C.'S COURSE

The unseasonable weather on Saturday put a damper on local sports, but it did not interfere with the golf at the Plainfield Country Club, where a large field was out to engage in the weekly competition for the Spring Handicap cups. The heavy rain softeneded the course some, but notwithstanding a number of good scores were posted.

In Class A, Dudley H. Barrows captured first honors with an 82, while Julius E. Erickson finished second and Stuart H. Patterson third. In Class B. George F. Earl took the first three points, with T. S. Perkins and George S. Clay second and third. The scores for the point-winners were as follows:

Class A—Dudley H. Barrows, 86, 4-82; Julius E. Erickson, 98, 14-84; Stuart H. Patterson, 101, 14-87.

Class B—George F. Earl, 103, 25-78; Thomas S. Perkins, 108, 27-81; George S. Clay, 112, 25-87.

At the Park Golf Club many players were on the course, but not a sufficient number finished to score points. The going was a little heavy and for that reason the contestants did not complete the eighteen holes.

Whippany Steeplechase Meet.

Col. T. J. O'Donohue's "Victory Belle," Wildey up, won the third race at the annual steeplechase meet of the Whippany River Club, at Morristown, on Saturday. Several Plainfield horses were entered but they failed to get a place. The meet was a great success. Nearly all of the horses in that meet will come to Plainfield on Saturday.

Successful Fishing Trip.

Assessor H. C. VanEmburgh, of East Second street, accompanied by his father-in-law and brother-in-law, George and William Kline, and Dr. J. H. Keenan, of Elizabeth, have returned from a fishing trip to Long Pond, Culver's Lake. They caught a large number of pickerel, bass and perch.

Ball Games Postponed.

On account of the weather the baseball game scheduled for Saturday between the Watchung Hunt Club and South Orange Field Club, was postponed to another date to be announced later. In fact all local ball games were postponed for the day.

TAFT WILL BE JERSEY CITY'S GUEST MAY 31

With a parade of 25,000 men reviewed by President Taft and a party of national, State and local officials, followed by indoor ceremonies, Jersey City's celebration this year bids fair to surpass that of every other municipality in the country.

In magnitude and elaborateness the coming occasion will be the greatest celebration ever held by Jersey City. The reviewing party will be one of the most notable assemblages of prominent men in the history of New Jersey. In addition to the 25,000 men in the procession there will be hundreds of thousands of spectators. The navy department will officially recognize the celebration by having two war ships anchored in the river off Jersey City.

Four thousand letter carriers, coming from all parts of the country, will hold their national convention on Saturday, May 29, in Columbus Hall, in Jersey avenue. The letter carriers will, of course, have a prominent place in the parade on Monday.

Such an occasion, it was thought, was quite worthy the attendance of President Taft. The latter has promised to be present unless something unforeseen occurs to detain him in Washington. The reviewing party is also expected to include two members of Mr. Taft's cabinet, Secretary of War Dickinson and Postmaster General Hitchcock. In addition there will be Governor Fort, Senators Kean and Briggs, Representatives Kinkead and Hamill, of the two Hudson county congressional districts; Mayor Wittpenn, who will preside at the principal ceremonies; Mayor Haussling, of Newark; a majority of the county and municipal officials in Hudson county, while invitations have been sent to the mayors and other officials of New York and nearby places in New Jersey.

CHARTER DAY ATHLETIC COMMITTEE GETS BUSY.

A preliminary meeting of the Charter Day athletic committee was held at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. It was decided that on Monday, July 5, there would be held all kinds of athletic games, in which athletes from all parts of the State would probably compete. The first regular meeting will take place Thursday night, after which something definite will be given out.

Those named to act on the committee are G. L. Listman, chairman; A. L. Conant, secretary and treasurer; J. H. Doane, F. O. Ball, C. W. Spicer, Dr. R. Stevens, Russel J. Lawrence, Lindsey Best, S. St. John McCutchen, Harry Runyon, Samuel Bingaman, G. C. M. Smith, Joseph W. Gavett, Dr. N. H. Probasco and B. J. Phelps.

DEAN OF THE YANKEE CARTOONISTS, IS DEAD.

Arrangements were made yesterday at Camden, S. C., for the funeral of the late Charles Green Bush, the noted cartoonist, who died here Friday night, following an attack of heart trouble. For years he had been the acknowledged dean of American cartoonists, and his work has been copied world-wide.

He was the creator of Father Knickerbocker as representing New York City; it was Bush who first gave David B. Hill his little high hat with its "I Am a Democrat" plume, and his strenuous Roosevelt in khaki has been the model for all such efforts on the part of all cartoonists. The ex-President has among his possessions in his library a cherished collection of the Bush cartoons.

New Plainfield's Strong Bill.

Of particular comedy merit is the show this week at the New Plainfield theatre, where the bill will comprise half a dozen first-class acts. "The Great Prampian Four," colored musical comedy singers and dancers, will head the bill, and Sullivan and Sumner, who until recently starred with the "Billy the Kid" company, have a good team act. Then there are Jordan & Gervaise, high-class singers; Miss Margaret Sulivata, a comedienne; "Al" Hart, a monologist, and Marie Sousa and Harry Sloan, comedy magicians.

Y. W. C. A. Lawn Fete.

A lantern drill by sixteen members of the gymnasium class will be a feature of the lawn fete to be given tomorrow night under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. The lawn in the rear of the association building will be transformed into a Japanese garden, illuminated with tiny electric lights. Miss Louise Saunders will render several of her monologues and recitations and ice cream and cake will be on sale. The proceeds will be devoted to the Silver Bay fund.

Fort at Airship Carnival.

The Second Battalion of the First Regiment, under command of Major George M. Buttle, will act as escort to Governor Fort in the parade tomorrow afternoon which will mark the opening of the aeronautic carnival under the auspices of the West Hudson Aero Club.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will hold a lawn social at the home of Rev. L. R. Howard on West Fifth street, Saturday, June 5.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Farther Light Society and Intermediate Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will give an entertainment at the church Thursday night.

The Plainfield Sunday-school Teachers' Union will meet tonight at Trinity Reformed church and Rev. C. E. Herring will teach the lesson for next Sunday.

Plans are being considered for the organization of a Home Department in connection with the Sunday-school of Hope chapel. A meeting will be held this week for that purpose.

An elaborate musical program will be given at the Mary E. Wilson Memorial chapel, Sunday night, May 30, under the direction of Martin A. Korff, assisted by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—William Mayhew, of 535 West Fourth street, who was operated upon at the hospital on May 20 for serious eye trouble, is about the same. The sight has been impaired for a long time and the physician is not yet able to determine whether it can be saved or not.

Jack Johnson In Auto Wreck.

Jack Johnson, the heavyweight pugilist, and a party of friends barely escaped serious injury at Elizabeth early yesterday morning, when the automobile which they occupied skidded over the slippery asphalt pavement on Westfield avenue and crashed into a big tree. Johnson and his friends escaped by jumping. The car was repaired after four hours' work at an Elizabeth garage. Johnson agreed to be responsible for the damage to the tree.

Steal Name Plates From Graves.

The Jersey City police received information yesterday that a hundred or more brass name plates have been stolen from railings that surround burial lots in the Hudson County Catholic Cemetery. Name plates on graves of Grand Army of the Republic and Spanish-American War veterans in a plot provided by the county have also been stolen. Each plate weighs one pound or more.

IS AGAIN MADE CONCERNING

VACUUM CLEANER MACHINES.

Within the past week, the largest competitor of the Vacuum Cleaner Company has acknowledged the validity of the Kenney patents. Infringers of the Kenney patents are warned, whether they are users, manufacturers or sellers to desist from further infringement.

The Kenney patents are basic and pioneer in character, and as illustrative of this the following claims are cited from patent No. 847,947, granted on March 19th, 1907, upon an application filed on November 29th, 1901, viz.:

"1. In a suction cleaning apparatus, the combination of a suction nozzle adapted to be moved over the surface to which it is applied for cleaning and having a narrow inlet slot, a suction creating device capable of maintaining a sufficient vacuum, and impurities collecting means between the nozzle and the suction creating device and suitably connected therewith for removing the impurities from the air, substantially as described.

"2. In an apparatus for removing dust or dirt, the combination of a suction creating device capable of maintaining a sufficient vaccum, an inlet head or shoe having an unobstructed elongated slot and so constructed that the edges of the slot may be brought into contact with the surface of the object to be cleaned, and a separator intermediate of and suitably connected with a suction creating device and the inlet head or shoe for removing the dust from the air, substantially as described.

"3. In a suction cleaning apparatus, the combination of a suction nozzle adapted to be moved over the surface to which it is applied for cleaning and having a narrow inlet slot, a power operated suction pump, and impurities collecting means between said nozzle and pump adapted to remove the impurities from the air and prevent fouling the pump while permitting the working vacuum to be maintained at the nozzle, substantially as described.

"4. A cleaner comprising a suction chamber, provided with a narrow inlet slot, the slot being bounded and defined by lips which lie in the contact surface of the cleaner, with the outward mouth of the slot lying in the plain of the contact surface, substantially as described."

GAS CUT-OFFS DEMANDED

Ordinance Provides for Safety Device to Be Installed by Gas Concerns.

P. S. C. MAKES OBJECTION.

Measure Is Passed On Second Reading and Is Ordered Advertised Now.

Appropos the suggestion made sometime ago to guard against dangers of fire, Councilman F. L. Holt, chairman of the committee on laws and ordinances, at the adjourned meeting of the Council, last night, introduced an ordinance which provides that any person or corporation furnishing illuminating or fuel gas in the city, must install "cut-offs" under a penalty of $100 for each violation.

The ordinance was drafted to cover gas pipe an inch and a quarter or more in diameter, and it provides that all gas pipes used or that hereafter may be used to supply gas to school buildings, churches, Sunday-school buildings, hotels, theatres, public assembly rooms, music or concert halls, shall be supplied with "cut-offs," on and after September 1 next. It is not intended that the "cut-offs" shall be placed in front of every private residence, but only where the supply pipes are located, it being the idea to safe-guard all buildings of a public character.

The ordinance was adopted on the first and second readings and ordered advertised. It will be recalled that sometime ago, when the matter was called to the attention of the Public Service Corporation, it replied that such a requirement would be so expensive as to be practically prohibitive. Chief T. O. Doane, of the fire department, brought the matter to the attention of the Council, believing that such a change is an absolute necessity to protect life and property.

WARREN CHAPEL SOCIETY TO CELEBRATE.

In commeraation of the twenty-first anniversary of the founding of the Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel, a special Christian Endeavor service will be held at the borough church tonight. The fourteen societies of the local Christian Endeavor Union have been invited to attend and there will be an address by Rev. Walter B. Greenway, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, of Jersey City.

In connection with the anniversary service will be a series of reports on the year's work by the chapel society, and a review of its life and growth since its foundation in 1888. There will be special music and refreshments will be served, the members of the society acting as the hosts of the occasion.

Deposit Boxes in Demand.

The Plainfield Trust Company is today installing an additional supply of safe deposit boxes to meet the rapidly increasing demand for this service. When the company erected its building in 1906 a large safe deposit vault was constructed and equipped with boxes sufficient, as the company then thought, to care for the requirements for some years but so popular has the service proven that it has already been found necessary to increase the facilities. A large number of additional boxes are now being added and unless calculations again miscarry, the present installation will meet the necessities for some time to come.

Thimble Club at a Luncheon.

The Thimble Club, of this city, comprising Mrs. George Mantz, Mrs. William A. Woodruff, Mrs. William Olmsted, Mrs. Peter Neuman, Mrs. Will F. Williams, Mrs. A. L. Force, Miss Lillian A. Force, Miss S. Etta Raybert, Mrs. A. E. Hall, Mrs. Harry B. MacDonald and Mrs. Ada Krymer, are guests today of Mrs. Bleick, wife of Dr. William Bleick, of 526 Clinton avenue, Newark, at a luncheon which she is giving for the club.

George Elwyn Goes Home.

George Elwyn, the junk dealer from Watchung, who was murderously assaulted at his home many weeks ago, was discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital today and returned home. He is apparently as well as ever and does not experience any trouble from the sever cuts and bruises which covered his head and body.

Cabman In Police Court.

Violating the cab ordinance by soliciting a "fare" on the sidewalk of the North Avenue station, Christopher Mobus, a cabman, was arrested by Patrolman Nolan, last night. It was Mobus' fourth appearance in court, but as there were "mitigating circumstances," City Judge Runyon suspended sentence with a warning.

SUMMER PRICE OF ICE TO BE 60 CTS. PER 100

The huge ice manufacturing plant, erected for the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company on its property in the East End, is in running order and the work of producing artificial ice there will be begun tomorrow morning. The commodity will be for the local and suburban trade and the concern will also sell natural ice. For more than three months, the York Manufacturing Company has been busily engaged in installing the machinery and now everything is in fine working order. The principal office will remain at Madison avenue. Andrew Wilson will be the general agent. Peter McDonough will have charge of the coal and lumber trade.

The new ice plant cost $20,000 and is capable of producing forty tons a day. It is hoped to keep ice at its present retail price all summer.

WILL NOT ABOLISH ROUNDSMEN'S JOB

The amended police ordinance which provided that the office of "roundsmen" be abolished and that of "sergeants" be created so that Maurice Higgins, who is now a roundsman, might be promoted to a sergeancy, was withdrawn at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, in accordance with a resolution offered by Councilman George S. Clay. The matter was then referred back to the police committee. It is the general opinion that the ordinance will not be amended at present.

It was the plan of the police board to make Roundsman Higgins a sergeant, but this could not be done unless the ordinance was amended. Then Chairman Frank DeWitt Randolph of the police board offered the amendment and it was left on the table for further consideration. The supporters of the change claim that if there is another sergeant the efficiency of the force will be measurably increased for the authority of a sergeant is considered much greater than that of roundsman and it would permit the head of the department to delegate the sergeant to duty which is not possible now under the present regime.

There is a strong feeling against the change, however, for it is believed that what the department needs is more patrolmen instead of additional officers and that the efficiency of the force will not be improved by creating more officers. The matter possibly may be considered at further length Thursday night, when the Council will meet as a committee of the whole.

FINED FIVE DOLLARS FOR FAST DRIVING.

Benjamin Vanderhoof was arrested on Grove street yesterday afternoon by Chief Marshal Weiss for fast driving. When brought before Borough Recorder Dolliver this morning he was given his choice between paying a fine of $5 or spending a ten days' vacation in the Somerset county jail.

Patsey Marasell, of Elm place, was fined one dollar for riding his bicycle on the sidewalk. Henry Shaffer, of Greenbrook road, was arrested for spilling stone along the streets. Recorder Dolliver suspended sentence.

Shower for Miss Yaeger.

Mrs. Theodore Mantz, of 420 Central avenue, gave a linen shower at her home, yesterday afternoon, for Miss Margaret Louise Yaeger, of Putnam avenue, guests being present from New York and this city. Cards were enjoyed and 5 o'clock tea served. Mrs. James Schurts, of New York, assisted in receiving. Miss Yaeger received a large number of beautiful gifts.

Miss Weinberger Entertains.

Miss Ruth Weinberger, of Duer street, entertained a social club of Newark, of which she is a member, at her home on Saturday night, the members coming here by trolley. Among the guests were several Plainfielders. The evening was spent in playing games, dancing and enjoying vocal and instrumental music, after which refreshments were served.

Dr. Hughes Much Improved.

The condition of Borough School Physician F. J. Hughes, who is recuperating from overwork at Trudeau, near Saranac Lake, N. Y., shows great improvement. He has been enjoying bungalow life there for the past month, and has gained sixteen pounds. His wife will join him June 1, and he will remain at Trudeau for the summer.

WANTS PAY FOR LOSS ON A CITY CONTRACT

The Dunellen Concrete Block Company communicated with the Common Council, last night, with a view to being reimbursed by the city for money lost on its unfulfilled contract in connection with the Southside sanitary sewer. The company explained that it lost $2,000 on a $5,200 contract, and if the city did not feel like making a settlement on that basis, suggested that it be reimbursed for an amount equal to the benefits derived by the city to date.

The company explained that it was unable to complete its contract because of certain conditions over which it had no control, in that after using every possible method to remove the water from the excavation, it was found an impossibility to do so, even with the use of the fire department steamer. The company contended that it proved its inability to complete the contract and believes that it should be reimbursed inasmuch as the city assured it protection. The whole matter was referred to the street committee.

The work referred to by the company was in connection with the defaulted contract of Peter Morgan, who was given the entire work and then failed to live up to its provisions.

CAVEAT IS WITHDRAWN; WILL CONTEST FIZZLES

The will of Mrs. Emma F. Ege was admitted to probate this morning in the Orphans Court, Elizabeth, before Judge E. S. Atwater, counsel for Mrs. Laura Worthington and her daughter, contestants, announcing in open court that they would make no further objection, but would voluntarily consent to the probate of the will and codicil.

Craig A. Marsh, of counsel for the estate, then called Dr. G. W. Endicott, Harry H. Coward, Arthur E. Crone, Miss Belle Lewis and William F. Arnold, all of whom gave testimony and were not cross-examined. After the testimony was given, the court signed a decree admitting the will and codicil to probate and Mr. Arnold immediately qualified as executor.

Mrs. Ege died several weeks ago leaving a valuable estate, some of which was bequeathed to William F. Arnold and his two daughters. Included in the bequest were the handsome new residence which Mrs. Ege was building for her occupancy and her personal effects. Mrs. Worthington, her sister, and the former's daughter were omitted from the will, but a niece residing in Trenton was remembered. Warren chapel received a new organ, while bequests of money were made to the Children's Home, Muhlenberg Hospital and many others.

FARMERS DINNER TO FOLLOW STEEPLECHASE

Everything looks bright and promising for the annual steeplechase meet of the Watchung Hunt Club on Saturday afternoon. The meet will be held on the club's own grounds for the first time, an exceptionally fine course having been established there. The entries are coming in rapidly and every class is assured of being filled. A large number of people from the surrounding towns and cities are planning to attend and with good weather the meet should be a gala one for Plainfield and the club.

The members are making an outlay of about $1,000 and all that is needed to make the meet a success is good weather and a big local crowd. The farmer's dinner will be more of a feature than usual, 250 invitations having been issued to the farmers and their families, as a courtesy for allowing the club to hunt over their lands.

Stages will be run from the North Avenue station to the grounds and arrangements have been made to have the 12 o'clock Reading express, dining car attached, from New York will stop here on Saturday. The grounds can also be reached by taking the Fourth street trolley car to West Eighth street and Sherman avenue, from which point it is only a few minutes walk to the club.

Methodist Women in Session.

The semi-annual district meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church will be held in the Summerfield church, Mariner's Harbor, N. Y., today. It will be an all-day meeting and the local M. E. churches are well represented.

DAN. M'NAMARA BEGINS TO SERVE HIS SENTENCE

Daniel McNamara, formerly employed at the local postoffice as a letter-carrier, convicted on a charge of withholding and tampering with United States mail and sentenced to serve a sentence of nine months, began his "time" on Saturday at the Essex County Penitentiary, Caldwell. Following conviction and sentence, the accused man's counsel took an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Last week the appeal was dismissed, and on Friday a Government marshall came to Plainfield and took Mr. McNamara to Trenton, where in the United States District Court he was committed to the Essex County Penitentiary.

DR. NOBLE CHOSEN AS COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Dr. Eugene Noble, president of the Women's College, Baltimore, Md., will be the speaker at the commencement exercises of the North Plainfield High School at the New Plainfield theatre on June 25.

There are twenty in the graduation class this year. They are Marion Mager, Gertrude Mair, Jennie O. Nelson, Ernestine Richter, Hazel D. Rose, Rae Voorhies, Florence Wyckoff, Margurite Lee, Frances La Port, Elvira Hoerster, Florence F. Fowler, Ruth A. Day, Anna V. Daly, Elsa Brose, Pierson H. Bailey, Gascoigne Hartley, Leslie Powlison, George M. Parsons, Merlin L. Vanderbeek and Wolftone C. Overton.

"FIRST AID" LECTURE BEFORE CO. K BOYS

The second of a series of talks on "First Aid to the Injured" was given by Dr. Daniel C. Main at the meeting of Co. K, last night, and for three-quarters of an hour he held the close attention of the soldier boys. He first began by describing dislocation of the arms, jaws and fingers, explaining the use of the first aid package and the triangular bandage. In giving a practical demonstration he used Sergeant Oliver Pierson to show how sprains of the ankles and wrist should be treated.

The doctor then took up the treatment of burns, frost bites, shocks and fright, explaining that there was nothing near actual death than a severe shock or fright. He also referred to fainting, chafing and sore feet, relating experiences he had while a surgeon in Cuba with the regular army. An interesting part of his lecture was that devoted to heat stroke, which he defined as heat prostration and heat exhaustion, going into the details of the treatment of hemorrhages, drowning, fits, resuscitation and the proper methods to be employed.

The talk was concluded with a reference to gun-shot wounds, the making of four, eight and ten tail bandages and how to treat swellings of all kind. The boys were so much pleased that they invited Dr. Main to give another lecture. He promised to do so and said that the next time he would exhibit a skeleton and give further demonstrations.

ASSAULT WITNESSES ARE RELEASED ON BAIL.

Salvatore Girocco and Mike Deceare, eye-witnesses of the stabbing of Guiseppe Pardisceo, who was seriously wounded by Mattio Demario in a drunken brawl near "The Bee-Hive" Sunday night, were released under $100 bond apiece at a hearing in the city court before City Judge Runyon last night. The bonds were supplied by Salve Velardi, and the men were instructed to hold themselves in readiness for an appearance at court on order. The police have no trace of the assailant.

At Muhlenberg Hospital today, it was said that Pardisceo's condition was entirely satisfactory, and unless complications develop, it is believed that the Italian has a chance for recovery.

Education Board Meets.

THREE ELECTION DISTS. FOR THE SECOND WARD

An ordinance introduced by Mr. Holt at the Common Council meeting last night and read for information only, provided for the establishment of a Third district in the Second ward, the vote at the last election showing that the ward is entitled to another voting place. According to the proposed amendment the Third district would be included in the territory beginning at the point of Terrill road and the railroad tracks to the city line, to Woodland avenue to Berckman street and Woodland avenue to the right of way of the railroad tracks to point of beginning.

The First district is described as follows: Beginning at the point of Washington street and the railroad, to East Fifth street to Franklin place, to Watchung avenue, to Kensington avenue, to Park avenue to railroad and point of beginning, while the Second district is described as follows: Beginning at Washington street and railroad tracks to East Fifth street to Franklin place, to Watchung avenue, to Kensington avenue, to Park avenue to city line to Woodland avenue to Berckman street to city line and railroad tracks and point of beginning.

MRS. BARBARA N. FRANCE DIES IN HER 81ST YEAR

Mrs. Barbara Newman, wife of Simon W. France, died suddenly at her home, 1278 Park avenue, last night. She had been in failing health for a number of years and following a recent illness, owing to advanced age, her recuperative powers were not great. She was taken suddenly worse last night and passed away within a short time.

Mrs. France was born at Canton, Ohio, eighty years ago, and spent her girlhood days and early married life in that city. Later the family moved to Brooklyn, where they resided until seven years ago, when they came to Plainfield. While a resident of Brooklyn, Mrs. France and other members of the family attended Plymouth church, of which Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott is pastor. She was greatly devoted to her home and all its interests and her hand was always open to the needy and those in trouble. She had a large circle of friends in Brooklyn and this city who mourn her death.

Beside a husband, who was an active New York business man for many years, Mrs. France is survived by a son, Thomas J. France, of Brooklyn; two daughters, Miss M. E. France, also of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Henry Reed, of Winsor, Vt. The funeral will be held from the late home, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

STRIP OF TERRITORY NOT IN ANY WARD

The Councilmanic committee on laws and ordinances having discovered that in the territory embracing the First and Second wards there is a certain strip of land that is not included in either ward, Chairman F. L. Holt, presented an amendment to the ordinance to divide the city into wards, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night. The amendment was read for information and will be acted upon later.

The proposed amendment provides for the change of section 2 by striking out the words "main tracks" and inserting the words "centre line of right of way." The reason for the change is that in the First and Second wards the line dividing the wards is the main railroad tracks, while there is land on either side not included in the wards as defined.

In the Third and Fourth wards the dividing line is Fourth street and the same difficulty is not experienced. There was no opposition to the amendment last night, but the councilmen thought it best to lay the matter over until the next meeting to allow full investigation.

TO SHUT DOWN PLANT; TO STILL FIRE WHISTLE

It being the intention of the Public Service Corporation to shut down its electric light plant on West Second street, having transferred the power station to Metuchen and Cranford, it communicated with the Common Council, last night, asking to be relieved of maintaining the fire alarm whistle at that place. E. D. H. Gilmour, assistant counsel for the company, brought the matter to the attention of the Council, and it was referred to the committee on laws and ordinances and finance.

The proposition now being considered is to establish a fire alarm whistle at the Pond Machine Tool Works and another one at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works and this will probably be done. If it were not for the call-men in the department, the city could abolish the whistle entirely, and this will probably be done in the near future.

POLICE LOOKING FOR A TRIO OF SWINDLERS

Perhaps because a note purporting to be from her better half was signed "Your loving husband," Mrs. Nelson Turner, colored, who lives on Filmore avenue, refused to "fall" for a cleverly framed swindle, involving an outlay of $19 for furniture, which probably does not exist. The game was worked at her home yesterday by three men, one of whom said he was "Mr. Hawkins." The strangers, who said they had just come to this city as employes of the Western Union Telegraph Company, went to the Turner home for lodging. They were refused, because Mrs. Turner said there were not enough beds for their accommodation. "Mr. Hawkins" told the woman that he had a brass bed and some other furniture loaded on a freight car, and would be glad to sell the articles. The woman would not negotiate a deal without her husband's advice.

The three departed and shortly afterwards "Mr. Hawkins" returned, bringing a note which he said her husband had written. The note contained instructions for Mrs. Turner to buy the furniture and pay the men $19, for he would bring the furniture home with him at night. Mrs. Turner didn't think that the hand-writing looked like her husband's and some of the phraseology of the note seemed strange. Accordingly she drove the three strangers away, and later reported the matter to the police.

"TOM" MUIR TESTIMONIAL TICKETS SELL RAPIDLY.

The sale of tickets for Tom Muir's benefit minstrel show began at the New Plainfield theatre box office yesterday. There were lots of "takers" and some big blocks of seats were disposed of for each performance. The first-comers have first choice of the seats, the prices of which range from fifty cents for a seat in "heaven" to $1.50 for an orchestra seat. The dates are Friday and Saturday nights, June 18 and 19.

Those in charge of the affair are rounding the "show" into shape as quickly as possible. The next rehearsal of the big chorus will be in the Elks' lodge room tonight, and at this time the music will be definitely decided upon. Some of the new choruses are "beauts," and there's lots of snappy swing to the music.

ILLNESS PREVENTS AN ELABORATE WEDDING.

Owing to the ill-health of Mrs. Orville T. Waring no formal invitations have been issued to the wedding of her daughter, Miss Eleanor Waring, and J. Hartley Mellick, for Monday night, May 14. The ceremony will be witnessed by the relatives and a few intimate friends of the couple, possibly to the number of about 150, but the invitations have been of a strictly informal character.

Mrs. Waring has been in poor health for a long time and it was largely dependent upon her condition that the date for the wedding was set for May 14.

Special Services at Hope.

The services at Hope chapel on Sunday morning will be of a patriotic character, with appropriate music and a patriotic memorial address by the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard. In the evening there will be a musical praise service in recognition of the complete payment of the indebtedness on the organ. Mrs. L. R. Howard and the choir will be assisted by other singers and musicians.

Parade Committee Receives Encouraging Report From the Local Jr. O. U. A. M.

Excellent results are being obtained by the Charter Day finance committee in its campaign for funds to defray the expenses of the big demonstration to be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 5, 6 and 7. Nearly all seem glad to contribute, according to their means and the prospects are that the needed $8,000 will be raised within a very short time. A list of the major subscriptions, to date, is published to day and those of additional subscribers will be reported in this paper from day to day.

The local councils of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics are showing their deep interest in the success of the enterprise. At headquarters today a report from the Juniors was received that at least 2,000 members of the order will be in line in the big parade on the first day of the celebration. Invitations have been sent to councils representing a total membership of 4,000 and at least half of this number will be found in line. The local Trades Council has assured the parade committee that it will be represented by at least 900 marchers. General J. Madison Drake and his Veteran Zouaves, of Elizabeth, will be a feature of this parade. The seventeen survivors of the regiment have signified their willingness to take part.

The souvenir program for the occasion will be issued by the Nation Press, of New York, and promises to be something exceptionally fine. The contract for the fireworks display for the three successive nights has been awarded to the Unexcelled Fire Works Company, of New York, of which George Groo is president.

More Amphora Art Pottery

In a Great One-Day Sale.

Pieces Worth 8.00 to 18.00 to Go at - - - $5

No one who participated in our recent wonderful sale of art pottery, in which we sold the famous Amphora Ware at the most astonishing prices ever heard of, has forgotten that notable event, for it was unquestionably the most extraordinary distribution of art wares that has occurred in this country.

Great as was that event, hard as it is to duplicate, we have arranged for another sale of Amphora Ware, this time embracing pieces of more moderate size than in the first offering, yet possessing all the beauty, originality and remarkable decorative features which so delighted our patrons who secured some of the last lot.

This Amphora Ware as many now know, comes from the famed Teplitz Potteries, where are modeled many of the most magnificent reproductions of the pottery of ancient periods, much of it being reminiscent of the days of glory in old Greece and Rome, bearing those marks of individuality that stand the beautiful creations of that period apart from all others. Many of the designs go back 2,000 years B. C. The variety is something astonishing—practically every piece being different, and one could form a collection of vases from this lot that would be unique.

There are vases in the oddest shapes, some bedecked with flowers, others ornamented with dragons, fish, birds and bats. One striking vase is in bronze green with neck formed in the shape of the head of an octopus, in gold, with its tentacles reaching down the body of the vase. There are urn shapes, water and wine bottles, some with triple handles. There are peasant women carrying baskets. These are jardinieres and rose bowls, many decorated with flowers and fruit, and quite a number are in basket effects; one particularly pretty rose bowl, which can be used for many purposes, is beautifully decorated with roses, inside and out. There are bulls, bears and jaguars—more designs, in fact, than we can tell you about.

You should see the window, you should see the display in the Basement.

There is not a piece in the lot that would sell in the regular way under $8. From that the values run up to $18; but you can choose tomorrow from any of them at only $5

Sale begins 8:30 a. m., Wednesday, May 26th.

No duplicates can be had. None will be exchanged.

THE POLICE FORCE.

In times past, this paper has called the Common Council's attention to the fact that the police force, while all that could be desired so far as efficiency is concerned, is lacking in numerical strength. There is, and there has been for a lon time, need for more patrolmen. There is work for them to do and the head of the department is seriously handicapped by not having a sufficient force for emergencies. Time and again occasions have arisen when the chief could have rendered better service had he at his command six or eight more men than constitute the present force.

There are three all important factors for the success of a municipal government. They are the police, fire and health departments. The city fathers have done well in building up these branches, but they have been somewhat dilatory in responding to a request for a large force of men in the police department. When the taxpayers' money is spent for such a purpose it is well used and no one having the best interests of the city at heart will begrudge the expenditure of money needed for improving a public safety department. Eight more regular patrolmen are none too many and it is up to the city fathers to provide for their immediate appointment.

ANOTHER GREAT SHOW AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE.

Many stars are connected with the vaudeville show at the Plainfield theatre for the first half of the week. It is headed by Miss Mamie Fleming, the dainty little comedienne who has appeared in Plainfield on several occasions ahead of her own company. Her act last night was a big hit from start to finish and she had to respond to several encores. Her work is different from anything yet seen in vaudeville. Sullivan and Sumner also made a big hit with the packed house. Mr. Sullivan, who was the star of "The Star Bout," one of the big successes of last year, and LeRoy Sumner, who will be remembered here as the star of "Billy the Kid," gave a pleasing racing sketch entitled "The Favorite," bringing down the house.

Al. Hart, the pleasing monologuist, kept the audience in an puroar from start to finish and his songs and stories were a big hit. The Prampin Colored Comedy Four do a pleasing act, playing on different musical instruments and also singing and dancing. They carry their own special scenery. Others worthy of mention are Jordan and Gervaise, high-class ballad singers, and Sousa and Sloan in wonderful feats of magic. On the whole it's one of the best shows ever in Plainfield, so don't miss it.

CAPTAIN AND MRS. HOPKINS GO TO BIG S. A. CONGRESS.

In the absence of Captain and Mrs. S. A. Hopkins, of the local Salvation Army Corps, who left today to attend the annual national congress of the Army in New York, the service tomorrow night will be in charge of the Rescue Mission. Miss Evangeline Booth, the national commander, will preside at the sessions, which will conclude Sunday, when special services will be held at Carnegie Music Hall. Representatives from Salvation Army Corps from all over the United States will be present at the exercises, which will be marked by addresses by prominent speakers.

The local service Thursday evening will be in charge of J. H. Manning and Martin A. Korff. There will be special music.

A Princeton Suburb.

William G. Mangan, better known to hundreds of friends in Atlantic City as "Soda Water Bill," is spending a few days in this city after a year's absence. Mr. Mangan was formerly connected with the Academy Pharmacy for several years. He is now associated with the leading druggist in Netherwood, N. J., a fashionable suburb of Princeton. —Atlantic City Daily Press.

New Sanitary Inspector.

C. A. La Monte, of Asbury Park, entered upon his duties yesterday as a sanitary inspector for Plainfield, having been appointed to the position by the Board of Health. The position is a permanent one and Mr. La Monte will devote his entire time to the work. He has had one year's experience in the employ of the Asbury Park Board of Health and is said to be well qualified for the position.

COMMON COUNCIL'S ROUTINE BUSINESS

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavet informed the Common Council at its adjourned meeting last night that he had found a building at 314 Plainfield avenue over the building line and that despite a notice served on the owner, David Steinman, no attention had been paid to it and he asked for instructions as to what he should do. The matter was referred to the street committee, with the understanding that it would consult with Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh.

The Public Service Corporation reported that three lights were installed on April 27 as ordered. Mayor C. J. Fisk appointed William F. Walters a special policeman and W. H. Kitchen as poundkeeper, and the appointments were confirmed. The home of Mr. Kitchen on Everitt place, was also named as the place where the pound shall be established.

A petition for three electric lights on Gresham road was granted on motion of Councilman F. L. Montgomery, chairman of the light committee. The petitions from the Mutual Land and Improvement Company and Trinity Reformed church, asking for street improvements in the East End of the city, were denied on motion of Councilman Gloak, the street committee having decided that as there is so much street work to be done this year it cannot afford these improvements at present. On motion of Councilman F. E. Mygatt the committee on public affairs was discharged from further duty in connection with the park association proposition, and it was referred to the Council as a committee of the whole, and the Shade Tree Commission was invited to attend the meeting on Thursday night.

In accordance with a resolution offered by Mr. Buxton and adopted, the city clerk was authorized to advertise for 150 tons of coal to be apportioned among the various city departments, and another resolution by the same member, designated the City National Bank and the First National Bank as the city's depositories.

A communication was received from the City National Bank offering to take the $11,000 issue of street bonds at par and interest, and the offer was accepted. There are three year bonds and are retired as the assessments are received by the city treasurer.

Councilman Buxton's motion that the finance committee be authorized to purchase a safe for the tax collector's office at an expense not to exceed $250 was adopted. The safe will be a second-hand one and is greatly needed in the tax office.

EQUAL SUFFRAGISTS HEAR GOOD REPORTS

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield held its final meeting for the season at the home of Mrs. Stephen Haff yesterday afternoon. The program for the winter of 1909-10, which was presented by the program committee, was accepted and will later be printed for circulation.

Then followed a discussion of the progress of suffrage. Mention was made of the Men's Suffrage Club that has been formed in New York city, and of the encouraging news that comes from foreign lands. In Denmark, Queen Louise is in favor of suffrage and personally encourages the women to go out and vote. In Italy the commission appointed by the Premier reported in favor of allowing women to vote at the election of administrative bodies. In New Zealand the results are most gratifying. As set forth in a New York newspaper they are as follows:

"Two hundred and twelve thousand women enrolled and one hundred and seventy-five thousand of them cast their vote in 1905. Out of all the men registered in five elections seventy-five and eight-tenths per cent. cast their votes and of the women seventy-seven and four-tents voted."

F. H. Andrews' Talk.

In connection with the opening exercises at the Plainfield High School this morning, Frederick R. Andrews gave an informal talk on the "Sin of Prejudice."

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Danish Lutheran church will hold a fair in the W. C. T. U. room, Babcock building, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Announcement

IS AGAIN MADE CONCERNING

VACUUM CLEANER MACHINES.

Within the past week, the largest competitor of the Vacuum Cleaner Company has acknowledged the validity of the Kenney patents. Infringers of the Kenney patents are warned, whether they are users, manufacturers or sellers to desist from further infringement.

The Kenney patents are basic and pioneer in character, and as illustrative of this the following claims are cited from patent No. 847,947, granted on March 19th, 1907, upon an application filed on November 29th, 1901, viz.:

"1. In a suction cleaning apparatus, the combination of a suction nozzle adapted to be moved over the surface to which it is applied for cleaning and having a narrow inlet slot, a suction creating device capable of maintaining a sufficient vacuum, and impurities collecting means between the nozzle and the suction creating device and suitably connected therewith for removing the impurities from the air, substantially as described.

"2. In an apparatus for removing dust or dirt, the combination of a suction creating device capable of maintaining a sufficient vaccum, an inlet head or shoe having an unobstructed elongated slot and so constructed that the edges of the slot may be brought into contact with the surface of the object to be cleaned, and a separator intermediate of and suitably connected with a suction creating device and the inlet head or shoe for removing the dust from the air, substantially as described.

"3. In a suction cleaning apparatus, the combination of a suction nozzle adapted to be moved over the surface to which it is applied for cleaning and having a narrow inlet slot, a power operated suction-pump, and impurities collecting means between said nozzle and pump adapted to remove the impurities from the air and prevent fouling the pump while permitting the working vacuum to be maintained at the nozzle, substantially as described.

"4. A cleaner comprising a suction chamber, provided with a narrow inlet slot, the slot being bounded and defined by lips which lie in the contact surface of the cleaner, with the outward mouth of the slot lying in the plain of the contact surface, substantially as described."

THE JERSEY VACUUM CLEANER COMPANY IS THE OWNER OF THE KENNEY PATENTS FOR THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

A Texan giving his name as Pat Riley was arrested Sunday on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. For a while the burly Patrick showed how they did things in the Lone Star State. Instead of receiving a price for admission, Justice Campbell fined him $5, which was promptly paid. Pat then told the Justice he was in a position to pay a number of such bills as he got tired of carrying the money around and he wanted to contribute to some charitable institution.

A colored man by the name of Charles White was arrested Sunday night by Marshal Kleinecke charged with vagrancy. Upon being brought before Justice Campbell it was found the man had had nothing to eat for three days and was in rather a serious condition. He told the Justice he wanted to get to Plainfield where he had a sister living. Justice Campbell suspended sentence and sent the man on to where he said he had relations that would care for him.

Joseph Vanns, of Washington, N. J., who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. C. W. Huff, of North avenue, returned home yesterday after a pleasant trip.

J. Wotley Gangloff, the dialect story teller, will give an entertainment in the First M. E. church Thursday night.

The Dunellen Seconds and the Chiefs will play their second game of baseball tomorrow afternoon.

Peter Staats, of Front street, is removing to the Chamberlain house on North avenue.

Mrs. A. C. Conklin, of Dunellen avenue, is removing to North avenue.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Much interest is being shown in the game scheduled for Monday between the South Plainfield A. C. and the married men. The married men are out for practise every night and some of them can actually catch a fly once in a while and even throw the ball all of the way from third or second base to the plate, while as to hitting why—oh, you say it. Well, anyhow Manager Pace's aggregation is going to try to hang it on the Athletic Club, and everybody should see the game.

The Middlesex Fire Company welcomed the arrival of the hose cart, last night, by a stag. The cart has been repainted and is now fit for active service again. It was presented last night by Chief Hamilton.

Alvin Gieshi, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gieshi, of this place, who died Saturday of pneumonia, was buried yesterday in Perth Amboy.

Mrs. Harry Mundy is removing from the old Giles homestead on Railroad avenue to the house on Lehigh avenue recently vacated by Harry Clinger.

Robert Horn has taken a position as superintendent of the Middlesex Water Company's pumping station here. The station is now working nights.

Miss Nora Maguire, of Lehigh avenue, spent yesterday with friends in Plainfield.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Winifred Scott Post, G. A. R., together with the local firemen will attend divine service Sunday afternoon at the Baptist church. A special Memorial Day sermon will be preached by the pastor, Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews.

The public school closes for the summer vacation Thursday, June 9, and will not reopen until about the middle of September. By that time the Board of Education expect to have the new addition ready for the classes.

The B. Y. P. U. and its friends will hold a social tonight in the parlors of the Baptist church. A pleasing program has been arranged by the committee. Refreshments will be served.

Otto Peterson, who has been visiting relatives in town, has returned to his home in Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dixon, on Park avenue, are visiting friends in Boston, Mass.

Fred Clark has returned from a visit with his uncle, David R. Clark, at Newark.

Miss Evelyn Clark, of Brooklyn, is visiting the Misses Hoars, of the borough.

Y. M. C. A. Officers Meet.

The employed officers of the New Jersey associations together with a number of new association secretaries and physical directors held their conference at the Newark Y. M. C. A. yesterday. The conference was well attended there being about fifty members present, among them being H. E. Parker and G. L. Listman.

Miss Elaine Wood, who has been stopping with Mrs. Adam Hill, of Kensington avenue, left Saturday for a pleasure trip to Europe. Upon her return she will probably make her home in Plainfield.

CITY FATHERS AWARD STREET CONTRACT WORK

Three bids were received at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, for macadamizing six streets decided upon by the street committee, and the one of Mobus & Burke, of this city, being the lowest and most advantageous, was accepted. The bids were offered on the basis of so much per square yard as follows:

Mobus & Burke—Union street, $1.40, $1.55, $1.68; Stelle avenue, $1.71; Madison avenue, $1.48; Darrow avenue, $1.54; Compton avenue, $1.50; Ravine road, $1.70.

Warren B. Travell—Union street, $2.09; Stelle avenue, $2.38; Madison avenue, $1.99; Darrow avenue, $2.27; Compton avenue, $2.29; Ravine road, $2.34.

Weldon Contracting Company, all or none—Union street, $1.88; Stelle avenue, $2.03; Madison avenue, $1.72; Darrow avenue, $1.95; Compton avenue, $1.93; Ravine road, $1.97.

Many Attend Carnival's Opening.

Crowds thronged the carnival grounds at West Front street and Grant avenue last night on the occasion of the opening of the week's carnival being held under the auspices of the Clinton Avenue baseball team. The shows managed by the Graybill Amusement Co. proved a great attraction and performances will be given each evening.

Appoint an Instructor.

Prof. Eugene Seymour, who for the past four years has been instructor of mathmetics in the Poughkeepsie High School, at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has been selected by the Board of Education of North Plainfield to take the place of Prof. Richard F. Kieffer, who recently resigned. Prof. Seymour is a graduate of Syracuse University.

WOMAN PROPHET NOW HAS CROWDY'S JOB

A new "prophet" has appeared in the ranks of the "Saints," whose membership numbers at least a hundred in Plainfield, and whose leader, William D. Crowdy, known to his flock as Elijah III., disappointed the "Saints" by dying in Philadelphia some six months ago. His mantle has fallen upon the dusky shoulders of Melinda Morris, formerly chief evangelist and presiding genius of the "Church of God Cash Grocery Store," at 82 Livingston street, Newark.

Crowdy's followers have just recovered from the surprise and chagrin caused by his death. They devoutly believed that he was indeed Elijah III., and that he would live forever. He said so himself. When he was on his deathbed, however, he modified his claims to immortality by declaring that although he was about to die, he would shortly return to earth, pick up the thread of his career as prophet and live on forever.

To preserve the church intact during the period of his absence from earth, he appointed Melinda prophetess ad interim. Should he fail to return, he said, within a reasonable time, Melinda is to direct the destinies of the church for all time. The "reasonable time" has expired and Melinda has taken hold of the reins.

Crowdy organized the "Church of God and Saints of Christ" fifteen years ago. He came from Emporia, Kan., announced his identity and started a "tabernacle" in a small town in Maryland. Soon he had 100 names on his church roll. He then started other "tabernacles," which now dot the country from New Jersey to Florida, became prosperous, started a weekly paper in Philadelphia, and planned to invade New York and build a mammoth "tabernacle" there. He was just about to execute his plans when he died.

Crowdy was a negro. His followers are all negroes, with the exception of the bishop of the church, J. M. Grove, of Emporia, Kan., who is white.

SECOND REGIMENT TO MARCH TO SEA GIRT

Permission has been granted the Second Regiment to march to Sea Girt August 8 next. The soldiers, it is planned, will camp two nights on the way and reach their destination in time for dress parade August 10.

According to the plans of Colonel Dungan, to Adjutant John M. Rogers, Companies C, H, T, K and M will mobilize at New Brunswick and start for Sea Girt early Sunday morning, August 8, this battalion being under the command of Major William B. Martin.

Companies A, B, D, E, F and L will mobilize at the Trenton Armory and march at the same time under command of Major Horace M. Reading.

The New Brunswick detachment will bivouac at Jamesburg Sunday evening, and the Trenton detachment will bivouac at Hightstown the same evening. The next day the two detachments will march on Freehold and join near that place. At that point Colonel Dungan will assume command.

On the march the men will be taught "security and information." They will march through the country as though actual warfare was on. The advance guard will be thrown out and the rear will be guarded. The advance guard will be in command of Major John H. McCullough. No one has been assigned to the duty of commanding the rear.

The officers and men of the regiment hail the event as a novelty, which will teach them how to take care of themselves in actual field work should war come, and this is believed to be the precedent which will be adopted in the future by other commands. The expense for taking care of the men this way is about the same as by train.

NEW INCORPORATIONS.

Certificates of incorporation have been granted at Trenton to the following companies:

Gramer's Guarantee Lens Protective Co., Hoboken; capital, $10,000. Incorporators: Louis Kramer, Samuel Greenspan and Dorothea Kramer.

Rankin Dry Dock Company, Newark; capital, $100,000. Incorporators: William J. Rankin, Thomas Conquest and Thomas A. Christopher.

American Chulax Company, Jersey City; capital, $150,000. Incorporators: Edwin B. Potts, Richard O. Gluck and Hovey P. Low.

Papers of incorporation were filed by the newly organized Hohokus Bleachery Company, of Paterson. This concern will operate the plant formerly owned by the Brookdale company, which recently went into the hands of a receiver. James G. Blauvelt holds four shares, Barton H. Walker five shares and Walter S. Blauvelt one share of the stock.

Stone Roads

Elizabeth, N. J.

Proposals are asked for the construction of Macadam Roads on Edgar Road, in the Township of Linden, from a point 500 feet southwesterly from the intersection of the track of the Baltimore and New York Railroad, thence along Edgar Road, southwesterly, and along Lenington Street and Milton Avenue, in the City of Rahway, to the intersection of Milton Avenue and Main Street in the City of Rahway, all in the County of Union, N. J.

The length of the roadway is 13,226 lineal feet.

The width of the macadam is to be 16 feet.

The work is to be finished with Asphaltum Binder.

The estimated quantities of the items of the work are as follows:

8-inch Macadam, 7,374 square yards.
8-inch Macadam, with old stone underneath, 25,098 square yards.
Excavation, 27,258 cubic yards.
Underdrains, 500 lineal feet.
Rock Excavation, 250 cubic yards.
Cobble Gutters, 700 square yards.

Plans, profiles and specifications for this work may be examined at the office of the County Engineer, 130 Broad Street, Elizabeth, N. J.

Bidders must enclose with their bids a certified check for $1,000.00 made payable to the Director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders as a guarantee that if the contract be awarded to such bidder, the bidder will enter into an agreement with the Board of Freeholders for the carrying out of the work.

Bids for the above described work will be received by the County Road Committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, at the Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., at 2:30 p. m., on Thursday, June 10th, 1909.

The Board of Freeholders or its Committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the County.

A MACHINE WITH WHICH YOU CAN CUT YOUR HAIR

Atlantic City, May 25.—The man who cuts his own hair is going to have an existence outside the comic papers. Felix Brown, of Chicago, a member of the National Electric Light Association, is the father of the new thought in hirsute removal, and when that organization meets in convention here the first week in June, the appliance will be tried in public for the first time. The inventor confesses that he is not too sanguine as to the general usage into which the self-cutting hair machine may come, but rather contrived the device for his own amusement and to illustrate the extent to which electricity may be applied.

Already there is the electric massage, and the electric razor, which requires no motion of the hand but simply buzzes the beard off a man who is inclined to take his ease about his shaving. The hair-clipper is attached to a wire the other end of which can be fitted into the socket of any electric lamp, and then operated at a fast or slow speed, according to the wishes of the hair-cutter and the topographical peculiarities of the head to be shorn. A feature is the ability to notch the clip for a short or long cut. The convention is expected to get even greater entertainment from this exhibition than is anticipated from the reading of the most important papers on the technical future of the force.

New Bill Makes a Hit.

The new vaudeville bill made a hit at Proctor's theatre last night, especially the sketch, "The Lady Lawyer," in which Harry Rosenthal played the part of a hero, and Will Lacey, the trick unicycle rider. The picture showing lion hunting in Africa was great. It will be shown again today, with the following: "Turned Out," "Humble and True," "Cyclone Sneezer," "Uneven Keel," "Hunting Hippopotamus," "Bohemian Girl," "Mexican's Gratitude," "Cambridge Crew," and "Fido's Funeral."

ROSALIND AT RED GATE

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

Illustrations by RAY WALTERS

Copyright, 1907, by Bobbs-Merrill Company

"The people on Strawberry Hill thought there was a medical convention in town. I was kidnaped on the golf course, where I was about to win the eastern Connecticut long-drive cup, and locked up in a dark room at home for two days while they tested me. They made all the known tests, Donovan. They tested me for diseases that haven't been discovered yet, and for some that have been extinct since the days of Noah. You can see where that put me. I was afraid to fight or sulk for fear the alienists would send me to the madhouse. I was afraid to eat for fear they would think that was a symptom, and every time I asked for food the tape-worm man looked intelligent and began prescribing, while the rest of them were terribly chagrined because they hadn't scored first. The only joy I got out of the rumpus was in hitting one of those alienists a damned hard clip in the ribs, and I'm glad I did it. He was feeling my medulla oblongata at the moment, and as I resent being manhandled I pasted him one—he was a young chap, and fair game—I pasted him one, and then grabbed a suit-case and slid. I stole away in a clamboat for New Haven, and kept right on up into northern Maine, where I stayed with the Indians until my father's relict went off broken hearted to Bad Neuheim to drink the waters. And here I am, by the grace of God, in perfect health and in full control of the button market of the world."

"You have undoubtedly been sorely tried," I said as he broke off mournfully. In spite of myself I had been entertained. He was undeniably a fellow of curious humor and with unusual experience of life. He followed me to the street, and as I rode away he called me back as though to impart something of moment.

"What the Devil Did You Bring Me Up Here For?"

"Did you ever meet Charles Darwin?"

"He didn't need me for proof, Buttons.'"

"I wish I might have had one word with him. It's on my mind that he put the monkeys back too far. I should be happier if he had brought them a little nearer up to date. I should feel less lonesome, Irishman."

He stopped me again.

"Once I had an ambition to find an honest man, Donovan, but I gave it up—it's easier to be an honest man than to find one. I give you peace!"

I had learned some things from the young button king, but much was still opaque in the affairs of the Holbrooks. The Italian's presence assumed a new significance from Gillespie's story. He had been party to a conspiracy to kill Holbrook, alias Hartridge, on the night of my adventure at the houseboat, and I fell to wondering who had been the shadowy director of that enterprise—the coward who had hung off in the creek and waited for the evil deed to be done.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Gate of Dreams.

In my heart I was anxious to do justice to Gillespie. Sad it is that we are all so given to passing solemn judgment on trifling testimony! I myself am not inipeccable. I should at any time give to the lions a man who uses his thumb as a paper-cutter; for such a one is clearly marked for brutality. My prejudices rally as to a trumpet-call at the sight of a girl wearing overshoes or nibbling bonbons—the one suggestive of predatory habits and weak lungs, the other of nervous dyspepsia.

The night was fine, and after returning my horse to the stable I continued on to the Glenarm boathouse. I was strolling along, pipe in mouth, and was half-way up the boathouse steps when a woman shrank away from the veranda rail, where she had been standing, gazing out upon the lake. There was no mistaking her. She was not even disguised to-night, and as I advanced across the little veranda she turned toward me. The lantern over the boathouse door suffused us both as I greeted her.

"Pardon me, Miss Holbrook; I'm afraid I have disturbed your meditations," I said. "But if you don't mind—"

"You have the advantage of being on your own ground," she replied.

"I waive all my rights as tenant if you will remain."

"It is much nicer here than on St. Agatha's pier; you can see the lake and the stars better. On the whole," she laughed, "I think I shall stay a moment longer, if you will tolerate me."

I brought out some chairs and we sat down by the rail, where we could look out upon the star-sown heavens and the dark floor of stars beneath. Helen bent forward with her elbows resting on the rail, her hands clasped under her chin. The lamplight fell full upon her slightly lifted head, and upon her shoulders, over which lay a filmy veil. She hummed dreamily for a moment while I watched her. Had she one mood for the day and another for the night? I had last seen her that afternoon after an hour of tennis, at which she was expert, and she had run away through Glenarm gate with a taunt for my defeat; but now the spirit of stars and of all earth's silent things was upon her. I looked twice and thrice at her clearly outlined profile, at the brow with its point of dark hair, at the hand whereon the emera'd was clearly distinguishable, and satisfied myself that there could be no mistake about her.

"You grow bold," I said, anxious to hear her voice. "You don't mind the pickets a bit."

"No. I'm quite superior to walls and fences. You have heard of those East Indians who appear and disappear through closed doors; well, we'll assume that I had one of those fellows for an ancestor! It will save the trouble of trying to account for my exits and entrances. I will tell you in confidence, Mr. Donovan, that I don't like to be obliged to account for myself!"

She sat back in the chair and folded her arms. I had not referred in any way to her transaction with Gillespie; I had never intimated even remotely that I knew of her meeting with the infatuated young fellow on St. Agatha's pier; and I felt that those incidents were ancient history.

"It was corking hot this afternoon. I hope you didn't have too much tennis."

"No; it was pretty enough fun," she remarked, with so little enthusiasm that I laughed.

HIGH IN AIR, GIRL AERONAUT FALLS.

Parachute Fails to Work and She Drops Five Hundred Feet to Ground.

Her parachute failing to open when she undertook a drop of several hundred feet resulted in Mlle. Therest being badly injured in Bayonne yesterday afternoon. The young woman was picked up by a passing automobile and hurried to a physician. No bones were broken, but she received internal injuries which will confine her to her home for several weeks.

In the presence of a large crowd at a local park she started the trip to the clouds. The balloon rose rapidly, and was carried by a strong breeze toward Upper Bayonne, a direction opposite to that on which she had figured. Because of the high wind, the aeronaut decided to drop before she attained the usual altitude of 500 feet. When almost above the Hudson County Boulevard the parachute was released. It failed to open, and she fell with great rapidity.

When nearing the ground she was caught by the wind and carried east. She became tangled in the mass of telephone wires, breaking a number of them when she fell, and putting the entire system out of order in the upper section of the city. For nearly a minute she hung balanced on the wires, then fell to the pavement, a distance of twenty feet. She was unconscious when picked up.

ELIZABETH'S MAYOR IS AGAINST ASPHALT.

Mayor Mravlag, of Elizabeth, has called a meeting of property owners along Newark avenue for tonight, when an effort will be made to develop plans for the repaving of that thoroughfare. The avenue is now paved with telford material from the curb to within three feet of the trolley tracks and it is admitted that the roadbed is in need of immediate improvement.

Steps were taken recently to have the property owners decide on a pavement, but there was a wide difference of opinion as to the most desirable material, and a question was also raised with reference to the city's right to levy new assessments for paving when the land holders along the line of the proposed improvement have already paid for a telford pavement.

Some of the property owners stood out for asphalt, but the Mayor has stated that he will not approve any plan calling for that material.

A cabin launch was launched at the foot of Market street, Gloucester, yesterday, and Sadie Grahm, the owner's daughter, broke a bottle of wine over its bow.

VANDERBILT AND ELLER BOWL IN GREAT FORM

Not since the mid-winter season has there been better bowling than was seen at Campbell's alleys last night, when Vanderbilt and Eller ran up scores that made the spectators sit up and take notice. In three out of their six games the young bowlers passed the 400 mark. The best score was made in the third game when they ran up a total of 441, Eller getting the individual score of 240, one of the best scores during the past three months.

Chief Kiely and Causebrook were far from their usual form, the Chief missing many good chances to pass the winners.

PLAINFIELD MAN HURT IN SCOTCH PLAINS FIGHT

Reports of an early morning manhunt, in which George Allen, of East Second street, is said to have been the pursued party and Lynus Walpole, of a Scotch Plains hotel, the pursuer, show that there were "things doing" in the peaceful village between 2 o'clock and dawn today, and as a result Allen was taken to County Physician Westcott's office at about 5 o'clock and the physician routed out of bed to patch up his broken head. The wound is said to have been caused by a black-jack, alleged to have been wielded by Walpole.

'Plains people are all wrought up about the affair, which ultimately caused the formation of a committee of awakened residents whom people say, saved Allen's life by hiding him from his pursuer. The 'Plains police force comprises Constable Walpole, and no arrests have been made.

Accordinng to reports from several sources, the trouble started at the trolley station at about 2 o'clock this morning. It is said that Allen was standing talking with a woman whom many believe to be Mrs. Cox, housekeeper at Walpole's hotel. Two uniformed marines, said to be Westfield men, came along, and words were exchanged. An alleged insult to the woman was promptly avenged by Allen with a blow, and forthwith a mix-up started. Walpole, the story goes, rushed out and attacked Allen, laying open his scalp with a black-jack. The Plainfielder fled, and Walpole is said to have returned to the hotel for a shot-gun and started in pursuit. Neighbors were aroused by the general alarm of pursuer and pursued, and immediately chose sides. Numerous blows were exchanged, it is said, but finally Allen got clear of the pursuers and hid behind a fence, weak from the loss of blood.

George Kean, with several 'Plains men who were on his side, took the injured man to Dr. Westcott's, where his hurts were given medical attention. Aside from the cut on the head, he was badly bruised about the face and legs. Dr. Westcott said that upon his arrival at his office this morning, one of the marines was brought to him for treatment. He had been found lying in a dazed condition by the roadside and seemed to be under the influence of a drug. The physician fixed up his bruises and he went to his home in Westfield on a trolley car. He did not give his name and said nothing about a companion. His conversation was disconnected and he seemed utterly dazed.

THE PARK PROPOSITION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

The Plainfield Park Association in a communication to the Common Council, last night, renewed its proposition to deed certain land in the West End to the city for park purposes, explaining that the offer was meant to include Plainfield only. On the previous proposition, it was learned that there is no law on the statute books which would permit the city and borough to accept the same as presented, part of it being in the city and part in the borough.

It was explained in the communication that the association owns about seventy-five acres of land in the territory described, and there are but a few parcels adjoining and outside this tract. The association stated that it was willing to deed a portion of this to the city for park purposes at the very least possible expense for maintenance. The matter was referred to the committee on public affairs.

Councilman F. E. Mygatt, chairman of the committee on public affairs, presented a brief report from the special sewage commission, and a resolution offered by him and adopted, provided that the Common Council meet Thursday night as a committee of the whole to discuss the provisions of the commission's report. At the same time the park proposition will also be discussed, a motion to cover that having been offered and adopted.

SOCIETY 21 YEARS OLD

Warren Chapel Endeavorers Celebrate "Majority Anniversary" of Organization.

REPORTS SHOW FAST GROWTH.

Rev. W. B. Greenway, of Jersey City, the Principal Speaker—President Windham Names Committees.

In celebration of the twenty-first anniversary of the founding of the Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel the members acted as hosts to delegations from other societies of the local Christian Endeavor Union at the chapel last night, when a delightful program, including addresses and reports by the society's officers, was rendered, and a pleasant social hour passed at its conclusion. Delegations from the societies of Dunellen, Hope chapel, the Monroe Avenue church, Trinity Reformed church, the Congregational church, the Park Avenue Baptist church, the Temple Baptist church, and Grace M. E. church joined with the Warren chapel Endeavorers in the celebration of the anniversary.

The edifice was beautifully decorated for the occasion, red and green being the predominating colors, although white flowers were used in abundance. Over the pulpit, the anniversary dates, "1888-1909," were displayed, and festoons of red and green paper were strung in ropes from the central chandelier.

Following music by Martin A. Korff, accompanied by Miss Berg, Charles F. Windham, president of the Warren chapel society and vice-president of the local union, made an address of welcome, and Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of the chapel, conducted devotional exercises. Mrs. E. D. Young sang a solo and following this came the report of the secretary, William Kenney, read by Mrs. E. D. Schenck. This report, which summarized the growth and work of the society since its foundation in 1888, showed that there are now thirty-eight active and four associate members, and the earnest work of the various committees has resulted in the steady growth of the organization.

Mrs. J. O. McKelvey reported for the Junior Endeavorers a flourishing organization with a membership of sixty and an average attendance of forty-two. The Juniors have had a prosperous growth during their fifteen years of existence in the chapel and their bountiful free-will offerings have been used to aid in the support of the King's Daughters' Baby Camp as well as various domestic and foreign missions. Miss Nora B. Schenck read the report of Treasurer Windham, and this showed that, during the year $329 has been raised by the society. Of this $101 has been sent to missions and the balance has been devoted to the needs of the various departments of the chapel, including $40 given toward the new library fund, and $23 for flowers for the pulpit desk during the year.

Rev. W. B. Greenway, of Jersey City, delivered the principal address. His topic was "Ditch Digging," and his thought was from Old Testament history. He spoke of the valuable work of the society since its organization by Rev. Francis E. Clark, and urged a maintainance of its strength and an increase of its usefulness by the efforts of its members to "talk up, pray up, cheer up and stick to the Warren chapel Christian Endeavor Society." After the singing of the hymn "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus," the benediction was given by Rev. O. J. Shoop, pastor of Grace M. E. church. Following the meeting, refreshments were served.

The anniversary committee comprised Charles F. Windham, T. J. Martin, Miss Adele Kirby, Miss Harriet Squier and Miss Nora Schenck. The social committee was under the direction of Mrs. John Schenck and A. J. Everitt headed the decorating committee. These committees were announced by President C. W. Windham:

Prayer Meeting Committee—Miss Adelaide Stiglitz, chairman; Miss Adele H. Kirby, Miss Hattie Taynor, Miss Florence Newmiller, Miss Elizabeth Kline and Miss Nora Schenck.

Lookout Committee—Alexander Galloway, chairman; Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, Miss Louise Windham, Elizabeth Kline, Theodore J. Martin and Francis Caldwell.

Social Committee—Miss Harriet Squier, chairman; Mrs. K. D. Schenck, Miss Helen Van Denburgh, Miss May Bennett, Francis Caldwell, Ellison Caldwell.

Missionary Committee—Miss May Bennett, chairman; Miss Adele H. Kirby, Miss Lizzie Betzold, Miss Dollie Bolsterli, Martin A. Korff and Miss Florence Windham.

Sunday-school Committee—Alfred J. Everett, chairman; Miss Nora Schenck, Miss Marion Wake-

MR. MURRAY TO SPEAK WHEN NURSES GRADUATE

William D. Murray will make the chief address at the nurses' graduation exercises to be held at the Hartridge School auditorium, tomorrow night, while Dr. J. H. Carman will talk to the graduates. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will offer prayer, and Charles Suhr's Imperial orchestra will furnish music during the exercises and also for the dancing to follow. It has not yet been decided who will present the diplomas and pins to the graduates. During the social time refreshments will be served. E. H. Ladd, Jr., vice-president of the Board of Governors, will preside in the absence of the president, William C. Kinney.

The graduates are Miss Ethel Eugenia Humphrey, Miss Kate Embury Bodine, Miss Ina Rudd, Miss Jane M. Everitt, Miss Ellen Van Horn Dempsey, Miss Anna Marshall and Miss Olive Louise Schreibweis.

FINE DINNER ENJOYED BY MASTER MASONS

The annual dinner of the Master Masons' Association was held at the Hotel Kensington, last night, and it was one of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of the organization. After a fine dinner was served by Proprietor Burns, the evening was devoted to speech-making in which the interests of the association were advanced.

Captain William C. Smith was the toastmaster and began the speeches with one of his characteristic after-dinner talks. He lauded the association, its objects and urged a continuance of the cordial relations among the members. Those present, all of whom spoke, were Captain William C. Smith, Seaman Williams, Warren Townley, Lorenzo Townley, Chief T. O. Doane, Albert Pangborn, Richard B. Van Arsdale, Walter Mundy, Joseph Brandt, Titus Laury, John Cuniff and Frank McInerney.

PLAINFIELD WOMEN HEAR MR. HOCKMAN

Arthur Hochman, of the Damrosch school, New York, appeared for the first time in Plainfield yesterday at the home of Mrs. John P. Stevens, Hillside avenue. The program was of great interest to an audience which crowded Mrs. Stevens' home. The concert by Lizt for two pianos is not often rendered except by an artist of the greatest virtuosity on account of extreme difficulties in technique. Mr. Hochman, however, did full justice to the great work. His rendition was brilliant, artistic and wonderfully clear.

The songs which Miss Hulda Lashan sang with exquisite feeling were all from Heine, the music composed by Mr. Hochman. Miss Lashan knew well how to interpret the sadness which blends with all joy in the German poet's songs and in the modern Russian's music. Miss Lashan was obliged to give an encore, the favorite, "Mother 'o Mine."

Mr. Hochman's closing numbers were a beautiful melody by Brahm's given with a lyric touch as consummate as the pianist's dramatic style. The Barcarolle by Mr. Hochman won such applause that he was forced to give an encore, one of Gluck's lovliest pieces from "Alceste." This brought to a close one of the most noteworthy musical events which has taken place this season.

"Ladies' Night" at Trinity.

The May meeting of the Dutch Arms will be held tomorrow night at Trinity Reformed church, being postponed from last Friday night on account of the weather. The regular business will be followed by an entertainment and the women of the church and congregation have been invited.

Senior Reception Saturday.

Prof. and Mrs. Ira W. Travell will hold a reception in honor of the senior class of the Plainfield High School in the auditorium of the school on Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Change in Clinic.

The Clinic will not be held at Muhlenberg Hospital tomorrow afternoon, and those planning to attend are requested to call either tomorrow or Friday morning.

ATE AT "CAFE CHANTANT"

Novel Church Entertainment at St. Stephen's Parish House Well Attended.

AUDITORIUM A FRENCH CAFE.

Program of Music and Dancing Rendered While "Patrons" Dined at the Dainty Tables.

Reflecting Parisian life in a French cafe, as well as could be, a highly novel and successful entertainment was given at St. Stephen's parish house last night, when the auditorium was thronged with merry diners, seated at typical French cafe tables, while a program of songs, recitations and dances was rendered by local and New York talent. The seats had been removed and little tables substituted, where light refreshments were served, members of St. Faith's and St. Mary's guilds of the church, acting as waitresses. Those who took part in the program gave their numbers from the platform at the end of the auditorium, and the entertainment was furnished as the patrons ate and chatted at the various tables. A Parisian effect was produced by elaborate floral decorations and the electric lights were shaded with various colors and flowers. Light for the tables was furnished by dainty candelabra.

Previous to the presentation of the musical program, those who took part sang the Marsellaise in chorus behind the scenes, and the opening number was by Harry E. Hayden, who told some clever dialect stories, and later appeared in a monologue. Six-year-old Elizabeth Johnston, daughter of Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnston, gave a dainty French dance, which won enthusiastic applause. Her mother furnished the music at the piano. Frederick J. Pope and G. H. Smith sang a duet, and later in the evening each sang a solo.

J. M. Beck and J. P. Scott, who came out from New York city, made a big hit in singing and dancing in which they apepared. Particularly clever was the former's appearance as "The Campbell Kid," introducing "The Yama Yama Man," and some excellent dancing. He later won lots of applause by a clog dance. Mr. Scott sang various songs in costume and was enthusiastically received. Albert Crawford acted as accompanist for the pair. Fred Van Eps delighted the patrons of the "cafe" by some excellent banjo music, appearing in two numbers.

The proceeds from the affair will amount to about $80, and the money will be used for the church work. Mrs. Robert H. McCready was at the head of the general committee in charge, and was assisted by members of St. Faith's and St. Mary's guilds.

HOPE SUNDAY-SCHOOL TO HAVE HOME DEPARTMENT.

Interested members of Hope Chapel will form a Home Department of the Sunday-school this week, a number of persons already having signified their intention of joining. Mrs. Donald McInness has been appointed superintendent and the visitors are Mrs. F. A. Weber, Mrs. James Busby and Mrs. Willard H. Cook. The movement has the hearty support of Superintendent G. Herbert Condict, Assistant Superintendent Ira W. Travell, of the Sunday-school, and Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of the chapel. The quarterlies will be received this week and work will be started at once.

The aim of the Home Department of the Sunday-school is to encouage and systematize the study of the Holy Bible at home, along the line of the international lessons, by those who for any reason are unable to attend the regular sessions of the school. The sole condition of membership is that he or she devote at least half an hour each week to Bible study unless prevented by sickness or other cause.

Women's Auxiliary to Meet.

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital will be held Friday morning in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. Reports for the past year will be presented and officers elected.

CHARTER DAY SOUVENIRS

The Committee Arranges for Handsome Badges to Commemorate Celebration.

MANY BANDS ARE ENGAGED.

City to Be Asked to Give $1,000—Contributions Are Coming in Rapidly from Business Men and Private Citizens.

Handsome souvenir badges to commemorate the occasion have been provided for by the Charter Day celebration committee, a contract having been made by the executive committee last night with Grove Hinman, of New York, to furnish many thousands of these mementoes for the observance. They will be sold by the committee at ten cents apiece and the design is sure to make them popular.

The music committee, of which B. Frank Coriell is chairman, last night arranged with Benjamin LaVere for six bands and a drum corps for the first day's parade. These will be in addition to any bands engaged by private organizations. For the firemen's parade on July 7, there will be six or seven bands to be brought here by various volunteer and exemtp associations. For the entire three days, an agreement has been made with Benjamin LaVere to furnish a band of eighteen pieces and this organization will provide music at open air concerts each afternoon and night.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk has found an old law which permits the city to make an appropriation for the demonstration. The committee will request the Common Council to donate $1,000 towards the expense, which will aggregate about $8,000, and it is believed that the mayor and city fathers will grant the petition. It is also expected that the borough will find some legal way of making an appropriation.

Private citizens and business houses are responding liberally to the finance committee's appeal. Since yesterday, these are numbered among the larger contributors:

Hope Men's Club Meets.

The Hope Chapel's Men's Club met at the home of Rev. L. R. Howard on West Fifth street, last night, chiefly for the purpose of devising ways and means of raising money to defray the expense of publishing the church bulletin. Communications were received from entertainers offering to furnish programs on a 70 per cent. basis, but these were rejected. It was the concensus of opinion of those present that the club dispense with an entertainment and that each member give according to his means. In this way $12 was subscribed. Refreshments were served. It was suggested that hereafter the club meet once a month at the home of a member, and was approved.

Bike Club Meeting.

The Plainfield Cycle Club will hold a regular meeting tonight at the home of Jack Horner on Duer street. It is urged that all members be present as this will be the last meeting before the twenty-five mile race will be held and there are matters of importance to be brought before the club.

MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

Winfield Scott Post and the Public Schools to Observe the Day.

VETERANS TO HEAR SERMONS.

Past Dept. Commander Charles Burrows to Be the Orator—Company K in the Parade.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., held its final meeting before Memorial Day, last night, when details for the observance of the day were completed. The Post members will assemble at headquarters in Reform Hall, Friday morning at 7:30 o'clock in full uniform or dark clothing, to attend memorial exercises in the public schools as follows:

Plainfield High School, 8:30, L. V. F. Randolph in charge; Stillman school, 9:30, J. N. Bogart in charge; Bryant school, 9, W. I. Chittenden in charge; Irving school, 10:45, W. I. Chittenden in charge; Franklin school, 2 p. m., H. Craig Smith in charge; Parochial school, 2, J. I. Finley in charge; Somerset High school, borough; Somerset primary school, W. W. Coriell in charge; Watchung school, borough, W. W. Coriell in charge; Scotch Plains, Captain William Hand in charge; Dunellen, Captain M. C. Dobbins in charge.

Post members will assemble at headquarters Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, in dark clothing uniform, hat and gloves to attend divine services at Scotch Plains Baptist church at 2:30. Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor, will make an address and G. A. R. services will be held at the Plains cemetery under the direction of Captain William Hand.

The veterans will assemble again at 7 o'clock Sunday evening to attend divine services at the First M. E. church at 7:45, where the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson will make an address.

On Memorial Day morning, the veterans will assemble at 7:30 o'clock in full uniform to participate in Memorial services, including the decorations of graves, parade and reunion in G. A. R. Hall, and at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon public exercises will be held at the hall, when Past Department Commander Charles Burrows will be the orator of the day. There will also be exercises by children and veterans of the Post.

Commander H. Craig Smith has appointed I. L. McVoy as marshal of the day.

It is expected that the members of Co. K will participate in the annual parade on Memorial Day morning and the usual visit will be made to the local cemeteries.

PISCATAWAY WILL HAVE ANOTHER MACADAM ROAD.

At an adjourned meeting of the Piscataway Township Committee held at the Hotel Nelson, New Market, last night, John McNabb was awarded the contract of building the macadam road on Beechwood avenue, between Prospect place and Union avenue. The contract price is $6,854.50. Another bid was made by George Frecht, of Somerville.

Peter Osborn was appointed supervisor of gas mains to be placed in New Market. The Board of Health gave notice to George Leikle to remove his hog pen within the next ten days.

Walked Here From Hopewell.

A telephone message to police headquarters last night summoned the patrol wagon to take care of Peter Hamilton, an epileptic, who became exhausted near the Industrial Home last night after walking to this city from the New Jersey State Village for Epileptics, near Hopewell. Hamilton told City Judge Runyon at his hearing this morning that he had been at the Hopewell institution for the past four years, and left there yesterday to find work as a farm hand. The Judge advised him to go back to the Village, and he agreed to do so.

To Wed Easton Girl.

The marriage of George Allen, of 247 East Second street, and Miss Anna Thatcher, of Easton, Pa., will take place at Easton Tuesday, June 15. Mr. Allen is well-known locally as a member of the Scotch Plains ball team. His bride is the daughter of Thomas Thatcher. The couple will make their home in this city.

W. W. St. John Goes West.

W. W. St. John, formerly of this city, and more recently connected with the Trenton True American, has gone to Colorado for the benefit of his health. While in Trenton he "covered" State House news for the American.

ELKS MOST POPULAR AT CLUB'S CARNIVAL

The standing in the voting contest for the most popular fraternal organization conducted by the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club in connection with its carnival, was as follows at 9 o'clock last night:

Elks, 291; Knights of Columbus, 275; Jr. O. U. A. M., 245; Red Men, 225; Knights of the Golden Eagle, 220; Y. W. C. A., 210. The flag will be on exhibition at Edward Laing's stationery store on West Front street. A wheel to be presented is exhibited at Harry Dreier's store, while a Morris chair, also to be presented, can be seen at L. B. VanCamp's store.

The attendance at the carnival last night was large and all the attractions were well patronized, especially the women's booth, while the merry-go-round, the shooting gallery and the circus all helped to swell the receipts. The carnival will be continued until Monday night.

HERO WOOLLEY'S PLUCK REWARDED BY RAILROAD

Percy R. Woolley, of Roselle, the fireman on the Baltimore and Ohio fast line train who saved his train from being wrecked at Hamilton, on April 24, when, after his engineer had been killed and the cab of the locomotive ripped off by a broken driving rod, he crawled over the tank and under the tender and disconnected the air brakes, stopping the train, was summoned before the directors and officers of the railroad yesterday in New York.

Fireman Woolley had no idea what he was wanted for, and after being ushered into the presence of the railroad men was presented with a handsome gold watch for his bravery. W. G. Besler made the presentation speech. The watch bears the inscription, "Presented to Percy R. Woolley by the Central Railroad of New Jersey, in recognition of exemplary service at Hamilton, N. J., on April 24, 1909."

HIGH LODGE OFFICERS VISIT FREEDOM CASTLE

Receiving a fraternal visit from prominent lodge officers of Asbury Park and New Brunswick, members of Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, gathered as hosts at their rooms in the Babcock building last night, when there were addresses by the visitors and by the officers of the local order. Nearly one hundred of the knights turned out for the meeting, at the conclusion of which a social hour was spent and refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, cake and coffee, were served by the entertainment committee.

The visitors were Grand Sir Herald Martin L. Ferris, of Asbury Park, and District Deputy Grand Chief Greenwald, of New Brunswick. Mr. Ferris, who is one of the best known and most popular members of the organization, spoke on the welfare of the order, and was listened to with great interest. Following him, Mr. Moore made a brief address. Grand Vice Chief Horace J. Martin and Past Vice Chief Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan spoke as officers of the local castle.

CHAMPS TO PARTICIPATE IN BIG BICYCLE RACE.

Among the entries already received for the twenty-five mile cycle race to start from this city next Monday, are those from D. S. Herr and Wallington Smith, two of the best-known road racing cyclists in the East. Each has been a winner in the Irvington-Milburn road race, and the two are said to be in the best condition.

Herr, whose home is in Newark, is a great friend of Frank Kramer, while Smith is well-known as a speedy rider in the vicinity of Maplewood, where he lives.

Announce Engagement.

The engagement is announced of Miss Jessie Alice Burt, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Crawford Burt, of West Seventh street, to Charles Gillespie Bodley, of New Britain, Conn. Mr. Bodley is the son of the Rev. Harry F. Bodley, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, New Britain, Conn.

Hahne & Co. In Big Combine.

The United States Dry Goods Companies, capitalized at $51,000,000, which took out a Delaware charter last Friday, has bought outright four stores, including Hahne & Co., of Newark.

MR. FORT ON GOVERNMENT

At Westfield Banquet, Governor Says People are Responsible for Bosses.

PRAISES BOARDS OF TRADE.

Frank Bergen and William G. Besler Also Address the Diners.

Good fellowship and good citizenship, together with those essentials which combine to make a town all that it should be were features of the first annual banquet of the Board of Trade held at the Westfield Casino, last night, and were made the keynote of several excellent speeches. The board had for its guests Governor J. Franklin Fort, Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth; William G. Besler, of Plainfield, who is vice-president and general manager of the New Jersey Central, and Mayor Augustus L. Alpers, while the Governor was accompanied by one of his aides, Col. Condict.

More than two hundred members and other citizens of Westfield and the county gathered at the banquet and the affair proved to be a great success. The Board of Trade was organized in October last and has been an active force for Westfield's good ever since.

President W. E. Tuttle was the toastmaster, and in his introductory remarks set forth the objects for which the board was organized, namely, the promotion of the best interests of Westfield, co-operation with other boards of trade, the investigation and solution of difficult problems, the encouragement of home trade and not to meddle with affairs that do not concern the board. He said that during the past five years the population of Westfield had doubled, while the real estate values had doubled in the past three years. He believed Westfield to be an ideal suburban home town and one of the best governed in the State.

After a few remarks by Mayor Alpers in which he said among other things that it was within the power of the citizens to say whether Westfield was to be an "open town" on Sunday, that the saloons and hotel bars were closed every week day night at 11:30 and all day Sunday, the principal speech of the evening was made by Governor Fort. He was given a rousing reception when introduced by President Tuttle.

In part the Governor spoke as follows:

"I recall that one evening during my campaign last October I stood in this hall and addressed a large meeting of citizens. Tonight I am somewhat embarrassed for I realize that I may have made some promises then that I have not kept. However, I do say that I have tried and mean to keep all those promiss. I am glad that you have a Board of Trade here and I only wish that every community had one. What we need mostly today is a quickening of civic spirit on the part of every citizen.

"The great danger lies in the indifference of citizens. If the republic fails it will be through the neglect of citizens as well as indifference. You are not good citizens when you fail to take proper interest in public affairs. It is easy to criticize, but it is worse to neglect to criticize or pray.

"The basis of good government is the primary. There is where you should be found at the proper time. You talk for months prior to the primaries about the campaign, but it is impossible to get men out to vote. In my town we have to send carriages for the respectable citizens if we want to get them out to a primary. The quickened interest of citizenship will bring the improvements you so desire. We must make New Jersey a paradise if we are to bring people into our State.

"New Jersey has often been called a corporation State, which is true. We should encourage corporations and give them the support of the State in what is right. I believe in State regulation of public utilities, to control, not manage. That should be left to a board of directors and all differences should be settled by a commission on a fair basis.

"We haven't go to that yet, according to my promise. I have not had, as you perhaps know, the corporation of everybody to accomplish this object. There are legislators who want a little more time to think things over, but I hope to accomplish this and other things next year. What we want is courage. There are lots of people who fail at the important moment in public affairs. Today man counts for more than ever before. The time has arrived when men do not follow the strict party lines and it is one of Wonderful Values in SUITS and DRESSES for Women.

A few of the many extraordinary values that are being offered in our suit department this week for women and misses. Garments that embody all the charm of style, excellence and exacting workmanship found only in superior clothing. There are many attractive values being offered this week. Come and secure a share of them.

$20.00 TO $25.00 FINE SILK DRESSES.

A new lot of seventy dresses comprises this special lot in plain messaline or fancy foulard, models formerly sold for $20.00 to $25.00, made with rich embroidery waists, some black taffeta in an exquisite range of new colors, reseda, rose, navy, catawba and many more; but only seventy women can secure one each; every dress an extraordinary bargain; needless to say they will go quickly at $12.50

$18.50 FINE PONGEE COATS.

Very popular are these pretty coats, because of their graceful lines and dashing appearance; the semi-fitted styles are selling fast, and this is what we offer here; they have plain or trimmed collar and cuffs; notch collar, real imported pongees, full length, full around hips and bottom; at the special price of $15

$5.00 WASH DRESS SKIRTS.

New Models In Linene and Imported Repps—Those that appeal to the woman of taste, a plain model with groups of vertical tucks each side of front panel, others with clusters of tucks each gore; others with fold at bottom and still others with flare in centre; panel with fine pearl buttons entire side $3.98

$22.50 TO $25.00 FINE CLOTH SUITS.

Suits that have sold in large quantiteis all season at $25.00 and up to $30.00 will be included in this lot. No mincing matters, cloth suits must go, almost any style you desire, and it matters not whether you need a 16 size or a 44, they are included; black, navy, rose, Copenhagen, reseda, gray, tan and other colors; coats plain and trimmed, best skinner or messaline lined, no need to urge women to see this wonderful bargain at $16.75

EMERSON SAID

Something about it being unnecessary to advertise if you did something or had something or made something better than your neighbor. But Emerson should have excepted Bungalow Colonies. Here we are, with the finest bungalow site around New York with the most beautiful surroundings; with Asbury Park and Long Branch almost in sight; with the best of fishing, boating, crabbing; with four miles of water frontage on the beautiful Shrewsbury; with everything, in fact, to idealize PORTAUPECK to the lover of bungalow life—and we have to advertise.

But not for long. Locations are going fast; over thirty bungalows now in course of erection. Better take a look at our colony of good homes and good neighbors—and soon. You'll hate yourself if you locate somewhere else and then see PORTAUPECK. Send for booklet.

Jiggs Donohue is putting ginger in the Washingtons and setting the pace for them in clouting the ball.

"The hit and run play," says Connie Mack, "is a necessary factor in a baseball game." Ditto the caught fly, the base hit and the pitched ball.

Eddie Collins is about the only Columbia baseball player who ever made good as a professional. That's true for twenty years back, anyway.

LAWN FETE IS HELD BY Y.W.C.A. WORKERS

The lawn fete given last night by the members of the entertainment and gymnasium committees of the Y. W. C. A. on the lawn in the rear of the building proved even a greater success than was anticipated by those in charge. All during the evening the lawn was crowded with members and friends of the association.

The place was decorated with hundreds of Japanese lanterns. The lantern drill given by sixteen members of the gymnasium class was a spectacular sight and received much applause. Those taking part in the drill were Misses Louise Layton, Bessie Conroy, Elsie Schwed, Edna Green, Jane Brower, Mabel Townley, Ada Schenck, Dorothy Randall, Ida Englehart, Lillian Fedderman, Myrtle Fedderman, Violet Cronce, Edna Snedecker, Sadie Johnson, Marion and Laura Simonson.

The hit of the evening was the monologues given by Miss Louise Saunders. Owing to the gymnasium being so small the talented young woman was compelled to repeat many of the same selections in order to please all present. The proceeds of the entertainment will go towards the Silver Bay fund.

HERE AND THERE.

The times must be growing better, according to an interesting incident in the office of Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, this morning. Two Italians appeared at the office with a note from Assistant Commissioner Frank Day, stating that the men wanted work. Mr. Gavett gave each man a broom and told them to go on the street and clean up the thoroughfare. In less than ten minutes the men returned and with a look of disgust on their faces, informed Mr. Gavett that they did not want work of that kind.

"Such work maka me ashame," spoke up one of the Italians. Later in conversation with some fellow-countrymen, the men said that they thought that anyone employed by the city did not have to do much but draw $2 a day.

Had No Peddlers' Licenses.

Alli Massa and Salem Shea, a couple of Syrian peddlers, came to this city yesterday with a gripsack line of rugs and table-cloths and were arrested on Richmond street last night by Patrolman O'Keefe for peddling without a license. At their hearing today, Massa showed a Trenton license and said that he thought it was good in any city in the State. Judge Runyon bunched the fine for the pair, and made it $3 or ten days. They paid.

Hotel Awning Afire.

Ignited by a cigar stub dropped from an upper window, an awning at the Hotel Kensington blazed up at about 9:30 o'clock last night, and was destroyed. An alarm was turned in from box 13 by George Summers and it was necessary to use an extinguisher to kill the flames. Chief Doane, who was in the hotel when the fire broke out, superintended the work of a bucket brigade until the arrival of the firemen.

Appointed School Lecturer.

Charles L. Lewis, instructor of music in the Plainfield Public Schools, delivered his illustrated lecture on "Panama," yesterday afternoon, before the New Century Club at Utica, N. Y., and alst night he gave the same lecture at New Hartford, N. Y. Mr. Lewis has been engaged by the New York Lecture Bureau and next fall and winter will lecture at the various public schools in New York city.

Will Attend General Synod.

The annual meeting of the General Synod, Reformed Church in America, will be held at Rochester, N. Y., commencing on Monday and continuing for several days. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will attend, returning home on Friday night. On Tuesday night Mr. Broek will make the address at the Men's Missionary banquet, having been invited to speak.

David Carr, of Newark, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Liefke, of West Front street.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Benjamin Storms, about thirty-five years old, of 432 Cumberland street, Gloucester, was yesterday seized with convulsions during services at St. Mary's R. C. church and was cared for by Dr. Healey.

Ground was broken at Avenue C and Thirty-seventh street, Bayonne, yesterday afternoon for a new edifice for Grace Evangelical Lutheran church. The first sod was turned by the pastor, Rev. J. Hampton Berwager.

Work of the Florence Crittenton rescue missions all over the country and world will be discussed during the coming convention of the national conference of the movement, which takes places in Atlantic City during the last four days of this week.

Rev. Frederick Blaster, pastor of Pitman's new Baptist church, performed his first baptisms Sunday morning. The ceremony took place at Alycon Lake and attracted a large crowd. Despite the unfavorable weather and cold water, six persons bravely took the plunge.

John Matazak, twelve years old, living at 521 North Olden avenue, Trenton, was injured and had a narrow escape from being killed by a trolley car last night. The lad was struck by the fender and thrown about ten feet. A physician found him suffering from a scalp wound and injuries to his left arm.

In a dispute over the possession of a rat trap loaned to a neighbor three years ago, John Brocco, of 62 Beech street, Paterson, was ejected bodily from a house in Cedar street, that city, Saturday night and sustained a compound fracture of the lower leg, an injury which caused his removal to the General Hospital.

While Stephen Keller, of 150 North Third street, Paterson, was coming down Broadway toward Main street, that city, on his wheel, at about 7 o'clock last night, he ran into Mrs. Charles Titus, of 161 Godwin street, who had just stepped off a Broadway car. Both were thrown to the ground and the woman's leg was slightly injured.

As sole executrix and beneficiary of the late Hugh Henderson Hamill, of Trenton, according to a will made about ten years ago, his widow, Mrs. Hamill, inherits over $100,000. The estate includes the house lately occupied by Mr. Hamill in West State street, valued at upward of $40,000, and life insurance amounting to more than $53,000.

Jacob Freas, of Atlantic City, whose arrest and subsequent acquittal for the alleged murder of Absalom Magee, his wealthy uncle, in Chelsea about a year ago, caused a sensation, was arrested Saturday night on request of authorities of Haverhill, Mass., on the charge of stealing $750 worth of jewels in that city. Freas was held awaiting requisition and local police are awaiting arrival of Massachusetts police to secure details of the alleged crime.

County Physician Armstrong last Saturday afternoon performed an autopsy on the body of William McMahon, who was found dying in a yard in the rear of the home of his mother-in-law, at 489 Main street, Paterson, shortly before midnight last Friday. The county physician found that concussion of the brain, caused by a fall in which the victim's chin hit the stone walk, was the cause of death. McMahon probably stumbled and fell in the darkness. The county physician granted a certificate of accidental death.

In order that a proper and complete record may be kept of Trenton history in the corner-stone of the new city hall, which is to be laid on June 6, the City Hall Commission has determined to obtain the papers and documents which are now in the corner-stone of the present city hall, and put them in the stone of the new building. Considerable difficulty was experienced in ascertaining the exact location of the old corner-stone, but James Wilson, one of "the oldest inhabitants," finally located it. That portion of the building will be carefully shored up and the box will be removed.

Leaders of the Atlantic City Republican machine who are backing John J. Mahoney for the post of fire commissioner, about to be created by Council, claim that they have the votes to insure his election, and will push through the ordinance. According to program, the law will be in effect by June 14, when the organization will line up in the effort to land Mahoney, who is the Kuehnle lieutenant in the Third ward. The chief opponent to Mahoney is Louis H. Donnelly, former head of the three-man fire commission, which was declared illegal by the courts. Donnelly practically created the Atlantic City paid department, and, besides his political backing, he has the support of big hotel and business men, who recognize his skill in the work of fire protection.

Announcement

IS AGAIN MADE CONCERNING

VACUUM CLEANER MACHINES.

Within the past week, the largest competitor of the Vacuum Cleaner Company has acknowledged the validity of the Kenney patents. Infringers of the Kenney patents are warned, whether they are users, manufacturers or sellers to desist from further infringement.

The Kenney patents are basic and pioneer in character, and as illustrative of this the following claims are cited from patent No. 847,947, granted on March 19th, 1907, upon an application filed on November 29th, 1901, viz.:

"1. In a suction cleaning apparatus, the combination of a suction nozzle adapted to be moved over the surface to which it is applied for cleaning and having a narrow inlet slot, a suction creating device capable of maintaining a sufficient vacuum, and impurities collecting means between the nozzle and the suction creating device and suitably connected therewith for removing the impurities from the air, substantially as described.

"2. In an apparatus for removing dust or dirt, the combination of a suction creating device capable of maintaining a sufficient vaccum, an inlet head or shoe having an unobstructed elongated slot and so constructed that the edges of the slot may be brought into contact with the surface of the object to be cleaned, and a separator intermediate of and suitably connected with a suction creating device and the inlet head or shoe for removing the dust from the air, substantially as described.

"3. In a suction cleaning apparatus, the combination of a suction nozzle adapted to be moved over the surface to which it is applied for cleaning and having a narrow inlet slot, a power operated suction pump, and impurities collecting means between said nozzle and pump adapted to remove the impurities from the air and prevent fouling the pump while permitting the working vacuum to be maintained at the nozzle, substantially as described.

"4. A cleaner comprising a suction chamber, provided with a narrow inlet slot, the slot being bounded and defined by lips which lie in the contact surface of the cleaner, with the outward mouth of the slot lying in the plain of the contact surface, substantially as described."

Beatrice Ingraham & Co., in a comedy sketch, "The Duchess," one of the cleverest in vaudeville, and Marcon, the wonderful contortionist, are included in the fine bill at Proctor's theatre today and tomorrow. The Reed Sisters, famous as dancers and singers, and James London, comedian, will also appear, with five reels of life motion pictures, songs and travelogue.

TRAIN UPSET; NONE HURT.

Remarkable Escape of Passengers in the Scranton Flyer.

Passengers on the Scranton flyer, the Jersey Central's fast train between Philadelphia and Scranton, had a bad shaking up and a narrow escape from death last night, when the six coaches of the express left the rails at Slate Dam, 15 miles west of Allentown. The accident is thought to have been due to a brake beam dropping.

A short distance below a bad curve the train slowed up, and here the smoker turned completely over, dragging the remaining five cars from the rails and throwing them on their sides. None of the passengers were injured, officials say, but A. R. Bennett, of Scranton, conductor, was somewhat scratched.

The avoidance of fatalities or serious injuries is considered almost miraculous.

Lawn Party at Dunellen.

Edward Maurier entertained a party of friends at a lawn party at his home on Madison avenue, Dunellen, Monday night. The lawn was lighted with Japanese lanterns, strung between the trees, and the evening was passed with out-door games. Later there were songs and piano selections by the guests. Those present were May Ross, Anna Ryan, Beryl Broshart, Ruth Maurer, Estelle Reynolds, Dorothy Case, Lena Marienschenck, Hazel Runyon, Paul Maurer, George Martin, Russell Brakeley, Allen Frederick, Elston Lowrie, Clarence Jennings, Albertus Maurer and Collis Case.

No Relative of Frank Wagner.

Frank Wagner, the agent for the Union News Company in this city, desires The Daily Press to state that the Andrew Wagner, described as a truckman and employed as a driver for the company in New York, and whose address was given as Plainfield, N. J., is not a relative of his. Andrew Wagner was one of two men arrested several days ago charged with taking magazines prior to their being put on sale by their publishers.

Florian Fisher a Benedict.

Florian Fisher, manager of a local five and ten cent store, and Miss Helen Gray, daughter of Mrs. Thos. Gray, of Baltimore, were married yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss at his home on Central avenue. The wedding was a quiet affair, the only witnesses being the bride's mother and Mrs. Chambliss, wife of the officiating clergyman. The couple will reside here.

Attacked by Three Dogs.

While passing the home of Mrs. Grew, of West Second street, last evening, Charles Kofoed, of Wylie avenue, was attacked by three dogs belonging to the woman. The dogs sprang at him, he says, and he was bitten on the hands and leg. He beat off the animals and was able to go home, where it was found that the bites were not serious. He has made no complaint to the police.

P. H. S.'s Exhibit.

A general exhibition of manual training, domestic science and drawing taken from all the public schools in the city will open at the Plainfield High School this afternoon. The exhibition will consist of work done by all the grades, as it is the purpose of the teachers of those departments to show all visitors the progress that is made by the pupil from year to year.

Diphtheria Closes School.

The public school at South Plainfield has been closed on account of several cases of diphtheria in that place. The school will reopen on Monday. Three of the cases of diphtheria were in the family of Frank Gieski, three of his children being ill. One died and was buried yesterday. Dr. A. F. Van Horn has been in charge of the cases.

Funeral of Mrs. McIntyre.

The funeral of Mrs. Alicia McIntyre was held this morning at her late residence on North vanue, and requiem mass was said by Father Hogan at St. Mary's church at 10 o'clock. The interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

MR. FORT ON GOVERNMENT

the hopeful signs of the time.

"You must realize your responsibility. They talk about bossism, and there is enough of it, God knows, but you are responsible for it. You let the boss s control. Just remember that power always takes on and never casts off, and the bosses will regulate affairs just so long as the people permit them to do so. The people of the country are the country, it is a government of individuals and not a few and any man who fails to do his duty is a traitor.

"What do you stand for as a Board of Trade? Are you ready to stand on the skirmish line of affairs of State? We have a splendid State and in Sussex county you will find as beautiful hills as can be seen in the Berkshires Our schools are the best and our churches are in charge of faithful men of God, standing as sentinels for liberty.

"As to the question of water supply: This should be controlled by the State and I want to see her citizens quicken their interest in this matter before it is too late and the Bergen concern gets it all. The time will soon be here when you will be less than an hour from the city hall in New York and if you are to attract people here you must give them the best possible government in State and local municipalities. New Jersey in the future will be a place of homes and we should do all in our power to make it as attractive as possible and give the best reason for making their homes within our borders."

Frank Bergen, who is the general counsel for the Union Water Company, spoke to the toast, "Virtues and Faults of Corporations," and in the course of his remarks explained that not only Westfield, but the whole State was indebted to corporations for the many improvements enjoyed, such as trolleys, gas, water, electric light, steam railroads. In replying to Governor Fort's reference to corporations, Mr. Bergen called attention to the fact that both are members of the Bar and, of course, must be loyal to their clients.

"I admit what the Governor says is true," said Mr. Bergen, "when he advocates the control of corporations, but not to the extent of dictating unreasonable terms. Westfield has arrived at a critical period of its career, having abandoned the Jeffersonian idea of government for a town government, and it is important that you insist on pressing into service the best men possible. I am not one of those that believe that the voice of the rabble is the voice of God, which the yellow journals have been pounding into our ears. There is one thing that should be stopped and that is the Sunday brass band and auction sale of lots. It is against the law of God and man.

"I do represent corporations, but I reserve the right to express my views whether the corporations like them or not. I promise you that I will not lay a straw in the way of the State controlling the water supply for it will relieve us of much responsibility. I doubt whether the Governor realizes the importance of this question. Within the next few years millions of dollars must be spent or there will be a water famine.

"One thing that is to be commended is that our Legislature and the Governor have set their faces against radical legislation. Corporations will not spend millions of dollars on the risk of getting four or five per cent. on their investment and then be subject to the ridicule of a State or community. It is the duty of the people to uphold corporations and make it possible for them to improve the service which the people are entitled to, and it should be done on a broad, rational public policy. You pool your interests and money and corporations do the same thing. Through the energy of corporations we have the many improvements of the day and the public gets the benefit."

The several Plainfielders attending the banquet were somewhat puzzled over a remark by Mr. Bergen. In his reference to the critical period in the career of Westfield, he said that the Council and Mayor of Plainfield have powers which have never been exerted and they may have a great influence on Westfield's future. In patting Westfield on the back, Mr. Bergen said that the town has the foundation for a city which will rival Plainfield within the next decade. This statement brought the Westfielders to their feet while they gave three cheers for the speaker and Westfield.

W. G. Besler was the last speaker and his remarks were brief. He praised Westfield and its government and urged the hearty co-operation of the governing body with the railroad in securing needed improvements, such as the abolishment of grade crossings and a new eastbound station. He said that the company he represents has adopted a motto, that a pleased patron is the best advertisement and is striving to maintain it. He believed that patrons are reasonable and fair and hoped for a continuance of good feeling now existing between the people of Westfield and his company.

7 CENT GROCERY BILL LANDS TWO IN COURT

An argument over seven cents' worth of crackers and beans bought at Nicholas Delnero's grocery store on Forest avenue, Scotch Plains, by Mrs. Raniph Venezio resulted in the appearance of both before Justice of the Peace Clark at the 'Plains Monday, when each had a complaint of assault against the other. Because neither of the principals can "speaka da English ver' good," it took the services of two interpreters to get the testimony and it was three hours before they could finally translate the sentence "Three dollars and costs" to each of the scrappers. The woman was represented by Francis J. Blatz and W. L. Hetfield was the grocer's counsel.

The running fight in which all sorts of missiles and epithets were hurled started when the 'Plains shoemaker's wife declared she was being cheated on short weight in the beans. Delnero, the story goes, denied "short weight," and hinted that Mrs. Venezio was getting the best of the bargain. Delnero testified that the woman then hurled the beans and crackers full in his face and fled toward the door, stopping only to throw a loaf of bread, which she snatched from a barrel as she passed.

Delnero followed with a club, witnesses said, and later stones were used by both combatants. Finally the grocer choked her, Mrs. Venezio said, and then went back to the store. Each decided that injury had been done the other, and counter complaints were sworn out before Justice of the Peace Clark.

COL. DUNGAN DINES THE REGIMENTAL BAND.

For the first time in the history of the National Guard in this section, a commanding officer dined the enlisted men when Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan, commander of the Second regiment, dined the band and field music of the regiment at the rooms of the Hildebrecht Co. restaurant, Trenton, Monday night.

The colonel is about to celebrate his twenty-first anniversary as a member of the National Guard and since he has been the commander of the regiment he has dined his officers and thought he would deviate from the military custom of the officers and enlisted men dining together and gave a spread last night in appreciation of the good work of the musicians and their accomplishments since he has been at the head of the regiment.

ANARCHISTS COLLAPSES.

Alden Freeman Insists, However, That Emma Goldman Will Lecture.

Alden Freeman, who has been much in the public eye since Friday, when he stirred things up by having Emma Goldman as one of his guests at the luncheon of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, and who was present at the Goldman lecture in New York Monday when the police raided the hall, is in a state of nervous collapse at his home in East Orange.

Mr. Freeman was much angered at the action of the police, and he reiterated his determination to have Emma Goldman at English Hall, in East Orange, on June 8, when she will give her lecture on the modern drama. So far as could be learned today the police have no intention of trying to prevent the lecture.

—Mr. and Mrs. David Cuzen removed today from West End avenue to their new home on West Front street.

—Mrs. Charles Birch, of Fairview avenue, was admitted to the hospital today, where she will undergo an operation for appendicitis.

Stone Roads

Elizabeth, N. J.

Proposals are asked for the construction of Macadam Roads on Edgar Road, in the Township of Linden, from a point 500 feet southwesterly from the intersection of the track of the Baltimore and New York Railroad, thence along Edgar Road, southwesterly, and along Lenington Street and Milton Avenue, in the City of Rahway, to the intersection of Milton Avenue and Main Street in the City of Rahway, all in the County of Union, N. J.

The length of the roadway is 13,226 lineal feet.

The width of the macadam is to be 16 feet.

The work is to be finished with Asphaltum Binder.

The estimated quantities of the items of the work are as follows:

8-inch Macadam, 7,374 square yards.
8-inch Macadam, with old stone underneath, 25,098 square yards.
Excavation, 27,258 cubic yards.
Underdrains, 500 lineal feet.
Rock Excavation, 250 cubic yards.
Cobble Gutters, 700 square yards.

Plans, profiles and specifications for this work may be examined at the office of the County Engineer, 130 Broad Street, Elizabeth, N. J.

Bidders must enclose with their bids a certified check for $1,000.00 made payable to the Director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders as a guarantee that if the contract be awarded to such bidder, the bidder will enter into an agreement with the Board of Freeholders for the carrying out of the work.

Bids for the above described work will be received by the County Road Committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, at the Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., at 2:30 p. m., on Thursday, June 10th, 1909.

The Board of Freeholders or its Committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the County.

Proposals are asked for the construction of Macadam Roads, on Walnut Avenue, from the Lehigh Valley Railroad, in Cranford Township to Central Avenue, in Clark Township, and thence along Central Avenue to the present County Road, at Brant's Lane, all in the County of Union, N. J.

The length of the roadway is 6,313 lineal feet.

The width of the Macadam is to be 16 feet.

The work is to be finished with an Amiesite surface.

The estimated quantities of the items of the work are as follows:

8-inch "Amiesite" Macadam, 10,054 square yards.
8-inch "Amiesite" Macadam, with old stone underneath, 1,636 square yards.
Excavation, 7,698 cubic yards.
Underdrains, 500 lineal feet.
Rock Excavation, 100 cubic yards.

Plans, profiles and specifications for this work may be examined at the office of the County Engineer, 130 Broad Street, Elizabeth, N. J.

Bidders must enclose with their bids a certified check for $1,000.00 made payable to the Director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders as a guarantee that if the contract be awarded to such bidder, the bidder will enter into an agreement with the Board of Freeholders for the carrying out of the work.

Bids for the above described work will be received by the County Road Committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, at the Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., at 2:30 p. m., on Thursday, June 10th, 1909.

The Board of Freeholders or its committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the County.

JACOB L. BAUER, County Engineer,
130 Broad Street,
Elizabeth, N. J.

Alternative bid on above work.

Bids will also be received on the above named work, based on the use of Asphaltum Binder for the finishing of the surface, as per the specifications for the same, instead of the use of "Amiesite" for the top course.

ROSALIND AT RED GATE

"You don't seem to recall your victory with particular pleasure. It seems to me that I am the one to be shy of the subject. How did that score stand?"

"I really forget—I honestly do," she laughed.

"That's certainly generous; but don't you remember, as we walked along toward the gate after the game, that you said—"

"Oh, I can't allow that at all! What I said yesterday or to-day is of no importance now. And particularly at night I am likely to be weak-minded, and my memory is poorer then than at any other time."

"I am fortunate in having an excellent memory."

"For example?"

"For example, you are not always the same; you were different this afternoon; and I must go back to our meeting by the seat on the bluff, for the Miss Holbrook of to-night."

"That's all in your imagination, Mr. Donovan. Now, if you wanted to prove that I'm really—"

"Helen Holbrook," I supplied, glad of a chance to speak her name.

"If you wanted to prove that I am who I am," she continued, with new animation, as though at last something interested her, "how should you go about it?"

"Please ask me something difficult! There is, there could be, only one woman as fair, as interesting, as wholly charming."

"I suppose that is the point at which you usually bow humbly and wait for applause; but I scorn to notice anything so commonplace. If you were going to prove me to be the same person you met at the Annandale station, how should you go about it?"

"Well, to be explicit, you walk like an angel."

"You are singularly favored in having seen angels walk, Mr. Donovan. There's a popular superstition that they fly. In my own ignorance I can't concede that your point is well taken. What next?"

"Your head is like an intaglio wrought when men had keener vision and nimbler fingers than now. With your hair low on your neck, as it is to-night, the picture carries back to a Venetian balcony centuries ago."

"That's rather below standard. What else, please?"

"And that widow's peak—I would risk the direst penalties of perjury in swearing to it alone."

She shrugged her shoulders. "You are an observant person. That trifling mark on a woman's forehead is usually considered a disfigurement."

"But you know well enough that I did not mention it with such a thought. You know it perfectly well."

"No; foolish one," she said, mockingly, "the widow's peak can not be denied. I suppose you don't know that the peak sometimes runs in families. My mother had it, and her mother before her."

"You are not your mother or your grandmother; so I am not in danger of mistaking you."

"Well, what else, please?"

"There's the emerald. Miss Pat has the same ring, but you are not Miss Pat. Besides, I have seen you both together."

"Still, there are emeralds and emeralds!"

"And then—there are your eyes!"

"There are two of them, Mr. Donovan!"

"There need be no more to assure light in a needful world, Miss Holbrook."

"Good! You really have possibilities!"

She struck her palms together in a mockery of applause and laughed at me.

"To a man who is in love everything is possible," I dared.

"The Celtic temperament is very susceptible. You have undoubtedly likened many eyes to the glory of the heavens."

"I swear—"

"Swear not at all!"

"Then I won't!"—and we laughed and were silent while the water rippled in the reeds, the insects wove their woof of sound and ten struck musically from St. Agatha's.

"I must leave you."

"If you go you leave an empty world behind."

"Oh, that was pretty!"

"Thank you!"

"Conceited! I wasn't approving your remark, but that meteor that flashed across the sky and dropped into the woods away out yonder."

"Alas! I have fallen farther than the meteor and struck the earth harder."

"You deserved it," she said, rising and drawing the veil about her throat.

"My lack of conceit has always been my undoing; I am the humblest man alive. You are adorable," I said, "if that's the answer."

"It isn't the answer! If mere stars do this to you, what would you be in moonlight?"

As we stood facing each other I was aware of some new difference in her. Perhaps her short outing skirt of dark blue had changed her; and yet in our tramps through the woods and our excursions in the canoe she had worn the same or similar costumes. She hesitated a moment, leaning against the railing and tapping the floor with her boot; then she gravely, half questioningly, as though to herself:

"He has gone away; you are quite sure that he has gone away?"

"Your father is probably in New York," I answered, surprised at the question. "I do not expect him back at once."

"If he should come back—" she began.

"He will undoubtedly return; there is no debating that."

"If he comes back there will be trouble, worse than anything that has happened. You can't understand what his return will mean to us—to me."

"You must not worry about that; you must trust me to take care of that when he comes. 'Sufficient unto the day' must be your watchword. I saw Gillespie to-night."

"Gillespie?" she repeated with unfeigned surprise.

"That was capitally acted!" I laughed. "I wish I knew that he meant nothing more to you than that!" I added, seriously.

A Most Extraordinary Sale of 400 Handsome Dresses At 1/2 to 1/3 Their Actual Value

We have had many sales of dresses but none that we can remember measure up to this one in real importance, for most of the time when we come to sell fine dresses they were end of the season's stocks. Not so with this lot which has just arrived, fresh from the makers, and these makers of a calibre such as produce only the smartest things in women's wear.

We got about 400 of the prettiest dresses we have seen this season—styles that are strictly up-to-date, of finest materials, and trimmed in the most elaborate manner, many of them hand-embroidered.

These pretty dresses are of finest foulards, shantungs, pongees, messalines, and a few crepe de chine—the most beautiful of this season's newest shades, including dainty pastels; some of them highly novel in weave and coloring; yokes and collar of net over tinsel and embroidered, braided and lace effects of many kinds; some with solid self-embroidered bodice; some braided with persian; jet and other garnitures; some beautiful crochet; skirts in the newest round or demi lengths; many in the fashionable plaited styles, others in Directoire effects; dresses that can be used most appropriately for afternoon, street, or evening wear; not a garment in the lot that was made to retail for less than $35, and from that to $45—many similar models having been in our regular stock at those prices; and this lot of dresses we are going to place at your disposal tomorrow at the extraordinary price—a price that should clear every suit before the day is done—of $15

As you would expect, no special orders can be taken, as no duplicates could be supplied at the price.

Second Floor.

An Offer of New Linen Dresses

These pretty Linen Dresses are in Princess and Directoire effects, perfect fitting, straight panel with tucks or lace; sleeves to match; also plaited effects with fancy button trimming; handsome round, square or pointed lace yokes, full insertion trimmed; skirts circular or semi-gored with strap or plaited effects; in natural linen, white, green, rose, lavender, tan and other equally good shades; dresses that would sell ordinarily at $15.00; prices as a companion offer to the beautiful gowns told of above for tomorrow's selling at only $7.98

New Summer Hats

8.00 and 10.00 Creations to Be Sold at - - - - - 4.75

We have had a force of our best milliners at work for some days creating new and beautiful models in hats for summertime, and the results of their labors is now revealed in the remarkable pretty hats that we are going to offer tomorrow and for the remainder of the week at $4.75.

These hats are made of beautiful light braids of the kinds that go into high grade hats, and they are trimmed in dashing effective styles with handsome white and colored wings and ribbons; the variety of styles is great and they are all good, and while most effective will prove acceptable for conservative folks as well as the ultra fashionable. They are hats that will rank well with those usually sold at $8 and $10; yet we will give you your choice of them at only $4.75

The back aches because the kidneys are blockaded.

Help the kidneys with their work.

The back will ache no more.

Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this.

Mrs. Anna Holmes, New Market, N. J., says: "Some years ago I gave a statement for publication regarding what Doan's Kidney Pills had done for me and I now willingly confirm what I then said. Sharp pains in my head, back and sides made me miserable. If I sat down for any length of time or attempted to rise quickly from a reclining position, the trouble would always be more severe. I gradually grew worse and my work became a burden. Having Doan's Kidney Pills brought to my attention, I procured a box from Randolph's Pharmacy and was helped from the beginning of their use. I improved steadily from that time on and was soon entirely relieved."

PLAINFIELD'S TEAM IN GARDEN TOURNEY

Plainfield's representative bowling team, comprising Kiely, Blatz, Stout, Nash and Campbell, made a good showing in the games rolled at Madison Square Garden last night at the bowling tournament conducted by the National association. The local five put up a total of 2,574, and finished fifth among the fourteen teams which bowled.

The Plainfielders registered a total of twenty splits, seven of which were made by Blatz. The new record was established last night, when one of the contesting teams put up a score of 2,809.

This afternoon Chauncey F. Stout, F. J. Blatz, Johnny Campbell, V. W. Nash, Jr., will roll in the two-man tournament, also in singles, and they hope to gain a place among the crack bowlers of the country. These scores were made last night by the Plainfielders:

	1st	2d	3d	Ave.
Kiely	140	162	160	154
Blatz	198	152	145	165
Stout	193	149	205	182.1

GOLF.

When the belated entries have all been gathered in it is expected that the list for the Metropolitan Golf Association championship to begin at Apawamis today will reach close to the one hundred mark. More than seventy had been received by W. D. Vanderpool, the secretary, yesterday.

The list includes Walter J. Travis, of Garden City; Fred Herreshoff, of Westbrook; Findlay S. Douglas, of Nassau; George T. Brokaw, of Garden City; Robert C. Watson and John M. Ward, of Westbook; James A. Tyng, of Baltusrol, and a host of others more or less well known. The entry of Charles Seely, the titleholder, has not been received.

The entry list for the annual championship tournament of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association, which began yesterday over the links of the Nassau Country Club, is one of the smallest in years. It contains, however, the names of Miss Georgianna Bishop, of Brooklawn, the titleholder; Miss Julia R. Mix, Mrs. L. W. Callan and Miss Elizabeth Hurry, of Englewood, and Mrs. T. H. Polhemus, of Richmond County, who was runnerup in the last national tournament at Chevy Chase.

An open letter has been sent by Secretary Vanderpool, of the Metropolitan Golf Association, to each club in the membership. It reads: "Your attention is called to the article in the constitution of the Metropolitan Golf Association which reads:

"'No player shall be eligible to compete for the amateur championship of the association unless he is a bona fide resident of the district covered by the association and a member in good standing of a club belonging to the association.'"

The first monthly handicap of the St. Andrews Golf Club will be played Saturday. The play for the club championship and John Reid medal will be on November 2 at thirty-six holes, scratch medal play.

St. Mary Seconds Victorious.

In an exciting game yesterday between the Holy Cross seconds and St. Mary's seconds, the former were defeated by a score of 5 to 4. Hanrahan pitched a steady game for St. Mary's team and was given good support. The score was tied in the last inning, when Kyle stole home with the winning tally.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Hugh Hastings has returned to Plainfield and is stopping at Truell Inn.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

"Non alcoholic Medication" will be the subject of the weekly meeting of the W. C. T. U. tomorrow afternoon at the usual hour.

An important meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Temple Baptist church will be held at the conclusion of the prayer meeting tonight. A full attendance is requested.

Rev. W. W. Newberry will address the meeting of the Missionary and Christian Alliance in the W. C. T. U. rooms Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the Rescue Mission at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

The extensive improvements, which were started at the Park Avenue Baptist church a week or so ago, are now well underway and it is expected that by the latter part of June they will be completed. The work of repairing the church steeple, a hazardous task, is practically finished.

The Youth A. C. defeated the Duer A. C. yesterday afternoon by a score of 17 to 13. The score was 12 to 13 when Pruden made a sacrifice to short stop and scored Kirch and tied the score. Dilts, the pitcher for the Duer A. C., got wild in the seventh inning and the opposing side scored 12 runs.

SEATS FOR GIRL CLERKS.

Washington, May 26.—A bill requiring department stores in the District of Columbia and the Territories to provide an adequate number of chairs for the accommodation of feminine clerks was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Aitken, of South Carolina.

It makes it a misdemeanor punishable by fines ranging from $20 to $100 for each offense for the manager or owner of a department store that fails to provide one chair for each group of three feminine clerks employed.

Walter Dreier Confirmed.

Mrs. Harry Dreier and children, Samuel Dreier, and other relatives from this city, attended the confirmation of Walter Dreier, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Garret Dreier, in New Brunswick this morning. The confirmation took place in the Jewish Synagogue, New Brunswick, and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

Funeral of Mrs. Isaac Thompson.

The funeral services of Mrs. Isaac Thompson were held at 1 o'clock this afternoon from the late home on West Sixth street, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, officiating. Two hymns were sung, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Sometime We'll Understand." The burial was in the family plot at Somerville this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed at Yokohoma.

William A. Coddington, law partner of Charles A. Reed, has received word that the latter and Mrs. Reed arrived safely at Yokohoma on Saturday. They will leave there on June 10 for Shanghai and later will take the trip over the Trans-Siberian Railroad to St. Petersburg, which is included in their extensive trip in foreign lands.

"COUNTRY FAIR" POPULAR

Cheerful Workers of King's Daughters Out-Door Entertainment at "Sunnyside."

GIVEN LIBERAL PATRONAGE.

Young Women Do a Big Business and Net Goodly Sum for Baby Camp Work.

"The Country Fair," held yesterday afternoon on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Frederick Goodhue Mead, East Front street, under the auspices of the Cheerful Workers of The King's Daughters, was a great success. There was a large attendance and the patronage liberal. The handsome spacious grounds were made more attractive than ever by the young women.

The country booth and fancy table were in charge of Miss Helen Harman and Miss Eva Browne. Those selling ice cream were Miss Grace Burke, Miss Dorothy Burke, Miss Louise Booth, Miss Marion Browne and Miss Marguerite Carpenter. Miss Grace Kaufman was in charge of the cake table, while Masters Stevenson were the "farmer's boys," and were in charge of the "grab bags," under the direction of Miss Ursula Rowland.

Miss Louise Curtis and Mrs. Louis Squires presided at the candy table, and Miss Marguerite VanDeventer was at the lemonade well. The pony cart and boat rides were very popular. Miss Margaret Leal was chairman of the committee. James Fleming and Stanley Parsons were in charge of the boats, while Katherine Browne and Katherine Ginna were in charge of the pony carts. One of the big features was the lion hunt, conducted by Miss Elizabeth Goddard. This proved exciting and popular with young and old.

Another popular attraction was the "Ping-Pong Picture Man," under the direction of Miss Margaret Mead, Miss Dorothy Adams and Miss Barbara Fleming. While the exact net proceeds of the affair are not known now, the circle is assured that the pledge for the City Union work was raised.

These are the officers of the circle: President, Miss Dorothy Fleming; vice president, Miss Grace Kaufman; treasurer, Miss Margaret Mead; secretary, Miss Euphemia Bakewell.

WEDDED AT SOMERVILLE.

Miss Anna Dumont Becomes Mrs. Harmon Stryker.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Dumont, on Grove street, Somerville, Miss Anna P. Dumont was married at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon to Harmon Titus Stryker, of New York city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Edward Griffen Read, of this city, formerly of Somerville, in the presence of only a few of the immediate relatives of the couple. There were no attendants.

After the wedding a luncheon was served for the guests and the couple left at once for Bound Brook, where they took a train for Washington.

Another Scavenger Fined.

Robert Brokaw, colored, who drives for Fernando Brown, a colored scavenger, was arrested on North avenue early yesterday morning for collecting garbage in wooden barrels and in a wagon which bore no scavenger's license number, was fined $3 at his hearing before City Judge Runyon today. The arrest was made by Assistant Health Officer John O'Brien, Jr., who testified that the ordinance had been flagrantly violated. Brokaw's boss, Brown, was in court, and took occasion to make a few remarks about partiality which he believes is being shown by the health officer in the enforcement of the ordinance. This didn't help any, for Brown has quite a record as a transgressor of the various articles and sections of the local health code.

Get Your Dog License.

The names of all persons taking out licenses for dogs will be turned over to the chief of police by the city clerk on Saturday and after that date all dogs not wearing a tag will be taken up by the dog-catcher and impounded. Licenses can be obtained for dogs at the office of the city clerk upon the payment of $2.50.

Will Talk on Cuba.

Miss May Serrell will read a paper on "Cuban People," and Miss Bessie Ten Eyck will tell of mission work in Cuba at the meeting of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church tomorrow night. Miss Hattie Mattison will speak on the subject, "Dorcas, a Practical Home Mission Worker."

SENTENCES IMPOSED IN UNION CO. COURT

Judge Atwater imposed a number of sentences in the Court of Quarter Sessions at Elizabeth yesterday.

John Train, of Westfield, who beat Policeman Steinmetz, of that town, was placed in charge of the probation officer for two years.

John Selutska pleaded guilty to the stealing of six suits of underclothing. He was sent to the county jail for two months.

Dominico Bonelo pleaded guilty to atrocious assault on a man who lived in the same house with him at Elizabethport. The prisoner was at liberty in $1,000 bail, but ran away and was afterward captured by the bondsman, Michael Derosa. Boneli was committed to the county jail for six months. His wife Emma, who aided him in the assault, also pleaded guilty. She was bailed for sentence on June 2.

Legrande Beers and Gifford W. Beers had their cases postponed until June 2. Thomas J. Brennan pleaded not guilty to an indictment for assault and battery. His trial was set down for June 4.

Judge Atwater then opened a session of the Orphans' Court and resumed the hearing of testimony in the contested will of the late Susan Schive, of Clark township.

"THE HALF-BREED" AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Ruth Richmond, late star of "The Man of the Hour" and "The Lion and the Mouse" companies, brings her new vaudeville sketch, "The Half-Breed," to the Plainfield theatre today, where the act will be the feature attraction until the end of the week. Miss Richmond is popular among the theatre-goers of Plainfield, who remember her clever work when the plays mentioned were shown in this city. The act which the young star is using for her vaudeville offering this spring deals with convent and Indian life and gives Miss Richmond considerable chance to show much histrionic ability.

A pretty little love story is woven through the act which concerns a half-breed Indian girl who has been guarduated from the Convent of Notre Dame in Quebec. Her mother, a Blackfoot squaw, appears on the scene Commencement Day and asks her daughter to accompany her back to the lodges of her people. Many humorous and intensely dramatic incidents come with the appearance of the squaw. Miss Richmond has surrounded herself with a company of capable players, including Gage Bennett, who staged the piece, Fred Loomis, who is to be remembered for his clever work with Guy Bates Post; Ella Dodd, May Garside and Helen Toull.

In addition to this act, the following acts, new today, will be presented: The Tognarelly Trio, instrumentalists; Ned Bennett, champion "bone soloist; Melville and Bushell, singing and dancing sister team; Wilson and Rich, musical comedians.

ELIZABETH REALLY TO OBSERVE THE LAW

Following rigid orders by Mayor Victor Mravalag that Elizabeth be made "dry as a bone" next Sunday, Chief of Police George C. Tenney has instructed his men to "go the limit" to bring about the arrest of violators of the Sunday closing law. The Chief said yesterday:

"If you want to know what is going to happen to the lid next Sunday I'll tell you in a very few words. The town is going to be so dry and the lid clamped on so tight that a fly will not have a chance to get a drink under it.

"If attempts are made to sell next Sunday there will be trouble and plenty of it. Even if the offenders are not deprived of their licenses we will make their violations costly for them by making them fight in court for every transgression.

"It is anything but simple to watch more than two hundred saloons, but we will have men enough in every district of the city in which there are saloons to land every saloonkeeper who takes chances with the law."

Flagrant violations of the Sunday closing law the last few Sundays have stirred the Mayor to such an extent that he declared the violators of the law would be arrested if it was necessary to batter down the doors of their saloons.

W. B. Wadsworth, who has been making his home in New York for the winter, has returned to his home on West Seventh street.

GROCERY STORE BURNS

J. Genisman's Shop on Somerset Street Destroyed, Loss Being Placed at $2,500.

ORIGIN OF FIRE IS A MYSTERY.

Servant Girl Discovers the Blaze—Building Is Owned by Mrs. Spencer.

A fire occurred in the grocery store of J. Genisman, of 78 Somerset street, early last night and before the flames could be extinguished the building and its contents were damaged to the extent of $2,500. Up to the present time the real cause of the blaze remains a mystery and many have been the suggestions of those who have visited the gutted store as to its origin.

The fire was discovered by the servant girl who had retired early. She was awakened about 8:45 by the large volumes of smoke that poured into her room. At the same time Mrs. Genisman was in the front of the store talking to Marshal Pope and the cries of the girl caused him to make an immediate investigation. Upon opening the inner room it was discovered the fire which had started in or near the stock room had gained considerable headway and the flames were shooting to living rooms above. The officer ran to borough fire headquarters and gave the alarm. In a few moments the firemen were working like beavers to get the flames under control. This was found a rather difficulty job as they had to cut their way into every room on the upper floors which apparently were locked.

By the time the firemen were in a position to use the chemical apparatus on the two upper floors the fire had made such headway that it was almost useless to try and save any of the furniture in the rooms on the second floor.

A heavy stream was played on the ground floor in the vicinity of the store room in which was a large tank containing about twenty-five gallons of kerosene. On the top floor lived the family of A. Waldron. No damage was done them as their rooms were in the front of the building. The fire was gotten under control about 10 o'clock and at 10:45 was entire extinguished.

The building is owned by Mrs. Newton Spencer, of 154 Somerset street, and had been occupied by Genisman for nearly two years.

JUNIORS GAIN LEAD IN VOTING CONTEST

The Juniors took a big jump yesterday in the voting contest for the most popular local organization, which is a strong feature at the carnival being held by the Clinton Avenue baseball team and are now in first place with a total of 442 votes. The Elks, who held the lead yesterday, were forced down to third place by the young snow-storm of votes which fluttered into the various ballot boxes. They were passed not only by the Juniors, but also by the Knights of Columbus, who now have a total of 345 to the antlered lodgemen's 338. The Y. W. C. A. now has 250 votes, the Red Men 215 and the Knights of the Golden Eagle 210.

The Red Men will have a special "big time" at the carnival grounds tonight, when the braves will turn out en masse with squaws and papooses. Tomorrow night the Knights of Columbus will have the run of the grounds. Good-sized crowds thronged the "shows" and the various booths last night, and clear weather should mean big crowds for the rest of the week.

Not Enough for G. A. R. Visits.

Death has played such havoc in the ranks of the G. A. R. in Trenton during the last year that the veterans are no longer able to send committee to the public schools to assist in memorial exercises, which have for years been held the Friday preceding Memorial Day. This year it is necessary to devote three days to the school visitation and send the same veterans to the numerous schools.

Mrs. Mary Sheldon.

Mrs. Mary Sheldon, of Warrenville, died at her home yesterday afternoon. She was seventy-eight years of age and had been ill for a long time suffering from a complication of diseases. The funeral will take place from Mt. Bethel church on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Surviving her are a son, Joseph Sheldon, and a daughter, a Mrs. Voorhees, of Weston.

—Charter Day Celebration, July 5, 6 and 7.

ROUTE OF PARADE FOR DECORATION DAY

I. L. McVoy, as marshal of the day for the Memorial Day parade to be held Monday morning, has decided on the formation and line of march. The formation will be on Central avenue, right resting on West Second street. First will come a platoon of police, Marshal McVoy and staff, Plainfield Cornet Band, Co. K, Signal Corps, of Warren chapel, and Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R.

The line will move as follows:

Central avenue through West Second street to Park avenue, to East Front street, to Elm place, to Chatham street, to North Plainfield Cemetery, where graves will be decorated and services held; to Chatham street, to Somerset street, to West Front street, through Plainfield avenue to Evergreen Cemetery, where graves will be decorated and services held; to West Fifth street, to Central avenue, to Post headquarters and disband.

MANUAL TRAINING WORK SHOWN AT P. H. S.

Parents and friends of the city school pupils thronged the gymnasium at the Plainfield High School yesterday afternoon and last night on the occasion of the first annual exhibition of the work of the manual training department at the various schools. The exhibits of work are tastefully arranged by grades, the work shown from the various schools being marked with the names of the pupils. Both boys and girls had work on exhibition, and while the more elaborate work of the high school grades created the most attention, remarkable skill and deftness was shown in the exhibits of the younger children.

Manual training work in the city schools starts in the kindergarten, and this work of the younger pupils was exemplified by tiny sand houses and various articles moulded from sand. Considerable skill was shown by the pupils in these sand construction exhibits. Various figures cut from cardboard and decorated by the pupils formed the exhibit for the second grade of the schools, and some hand loom work and raffia baskets made by both the boys and girls showed the deft fingers of the pupils of the third and fourth grades. In the fifth and sixth grades of the schools, the girls learn the rudiments of domestic science and first learn to use the needle. In the seventh grade, the little women first learn to cook. Articles turned from wood on the lathe and with scroll-saw form the exhibit of the boys of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

Of greatest interest were the exhibits of the high school pupils, for the schoolboys have turned out some excellent work in hammered brass and copper. During the past year they have made all kinds of graceful brass lamps, sconces and candlesticks, and a handsome brass lamp, made by Jeremiah Walsh, of Madison avenue, was justly praised and declared to be the masterpiece of the exhibit. The young man has just completed a brass lamp for which he has received a handsome offer.

Superintendent Maxson, the heads of the various schools and the manual training instructors will be at the exhibition until its close, tomorrow night. The gymnasium will be open to parents and any others interested tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night.

THREE DAYS EACH FOR THE THREE NEXT HOLIDAYS

Holiday vacationists will have practically three days during the summer months as the result of this year's make-up of the calendar. Memorial Day, the Fourth of July and Labor Day all come near the week end. Those who finish their work Saturday noon will have until Tuesday morning following as a recess. Where the holiday falls on Sunday it will be observed Monday, so that three-day trips galore are planned for those who intend to get out of town.

Will Entertain the Women.

The Dutch Arms of Trinity Reformed church will hold a "ladies' night" affair at the church tonight, and an excellent entertainment has been provided. This is the meeting postponed from last week on account of the bad weather.

Mission Band Will Entertain.

The Junior Mision Band of the First Baptist church will hold its closing exercises of the season at the church Friday, June 4, at 3 o'clock p. m. The exercises will be of an entertaining character.

"OLEO" DEALER PUNISHED

Charles Musser Fined $100 in District Court for Selling "Fake" Butter.

MANY OTHERS TO BE TRIED.

State Inspector Graves Gathers Evidence Against Some Local Grocers.

The first of several suits against local business men, charged with selling eleomargarine, was tried in the District court, this morning, before Judge William Newcorn. The defendant was Charles Musser, a grocer, of South Second street, and Attorney Josiah Stryker appeared for Attorney-General Wilson, representing the State. The defendant was convicted and fined $100, and was given ten days in which to settle. J. Henry Crane was his counsel.

The testimony showed that John Cannon, formerly of this city, but now of Bayonne, purchased the oleomargarine at Mr. Musser's store on November 9, 1908. He was accompainied by State Inspector Jerome E. Graves, of Roselle, who stood by while the purchase was made. There are two or three other local cases of the same nature to be tried in the District court within a short time.

The State department has been very active during the past two years prosecuting violators of the law regarding the sale of oleomargarine, and there are not only a number of local cases, but throughout the whole county and northern part of the State, many dealers have been charged with selling oleo as butter and not taking the pains to inform their customers of the difference. The law permits the sale of oleo, but it must be stamped or labelled in such a way as to leave no doubt as to the article being sold.

There were thirty-nine cases on call this morning, but a majority of them went over for one week. Eleven judgments on proof were given and possession if desired was given in three landlord and tenant cases.

NEARLY $2,000 RAISED FOR THE CELEBRATION

All members of the organization and parade committees are requested to meet at the Charter Day headquarters at 8 o'clock tonight. At that time reports are expeced from the delegates of various lodges and other organizations to take part in the big parade on the first day of the celebration, Monday, July 5. Reports of chairmen of the lodges' delegations will be received and it is understood that each will report how many men will be in line and whether the given organization will have a float, band, banner or other feature.

Contributions are coming in rapidly. The finance committee reports nearly $2,000 and is hopeful that the needed $8,000 will be realized shortly.

ROUNDING UP THE LOCAL SCHOOL TRUANTS

On the complaint of Miss Adelaide Ball, Matthew Ward and Edward Hamilton, two boys in their early 'teens who haven't been regular in their school attendance, were brought before City Judge Runyon at the session of court today. Miss Ball said that the boys' parents were anxious to comply with the attendance law, but that the youngsters themselves would not go to school. It appears that neither is in direct line for Phi Beta Kappa honors and rather than fail in their lessons, have been in the habit of staying away from school. They promised that they would go to school regularly if given another chance, and left the court-room for the classroom.

Ernest Jackson, a small colored boy who says he is fourteen years old, is another truant whom Miss Ball rounded up for the court to straighten out. Little Ernest got a job distributing dodgers the first part of the week and cut school to amass wealth. His mother was in court with the usual story about her child's poor health, but the vivid description of Ernest's pitiful condition was discounted liberally and Mrs. Jackson was told by City Judge Runyon that the next unexcused absence of her boy from the halls of learning would result in the imposition of a five-dollar fine.

GET TWO CRIMINALS WANTED IN UNION CO.

Chief P. S. Kiely is at Harrisburg, Pa., today, with Chief Tenney, of Elizabeth, and County Detective John A. Galatian, and the three police officers are arranging for the extradition of two criminals arrested there. The men are William Saunders and Sidney Brown, both colored, who are wanted by the county authorities for burglary and assault.

Saunders is the man who was arrested in Cranford last fall after numerous houses there had been entered and robbed. He is suspected of having robbed several houses in this city last fall. Imprisoned at Cranford, he escaped from the jail there by fishing the key of his cell door from a peg outside the cell. He was recently captured by the Philadelphia police after an exciting chase, during which he jumped from a second-story window to the sidewalk in his stocking feet.

Brown is the alleged assailant of Jacob Reuter, an aged butcher of Elizabeth. Reuter was recently held up and badly beaten while on his way home from his shop. The three officers of the law will bring the negroes from Pennsylvania to the county jail at Elizabeh tomorrow.

TO TAKE CHARGE OF EAST END'S CHAPEL

Royal A. Stout, a student in the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, was sent to Plainfield, yesterday, by the Domestic Board of Missions of the Reformed Church in America, to engage in preliminary work in the establishment of the denomination's new chapel on Leland avenue, corner of Midway.

The board recently purchased a lot at the above named site and also a portable building with a seating capacity of 200. The structure will be ready for dedication early in July and Mr. Stout will have charge of the new work. He is a bright, energetic young man, and there is no doubt but that he will succeed in building up quite a congregation in the new field of labor to which he has been assigned.

Mr. Stout is now busily engaged in visiting families in the vicinity of the selected location and has met with fine success, especially in the formation of a Sunday-school. The families in that section of the city seem greatly plased to know that a house of worship is to be established there where they can attend religious services and their children can go to Sunday-school. Mr. Stout will remain here steadily throughout the summer until the Seminary opens in September and after that he will come to Plainfield every Sunday and take charge of the work at the chapel.

Mr. Stout is residing at 720 Watchung avenue, with Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, whose counsel will assist him greatly in his religious endeavor in this city.

F. E. Smith will speak at the Rescue Mission tonigt. Mrs. John Manley will sing.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

Many Matters of Importance Demand Immediate Attention of City Fathers.

THE JOINT SEWAGE PROBLEM.

Public Park, Electric Light and Police Matters Are to be Considered.

The Common Council will meet tonight as a committee of the whole to consider the report of the special sewage commission which has been in the hands of the various members for several weeks. The proposition to be considered is whether Plainfield shall construct a new and larger sewage disposal works and contract with the adjoining municipalities to care for their sewage. The plan is not likely to meet with favor on the part of the North Plainfield authorities, who believe that the plant should be constructed and maintained jointly.

As far as Dunellen, Scotch Plains and Fanwood are concerned, it makes little difference to them as long as the sewage from those towns is taken care of at reasonable cost. The meeting tonight will be an executive one, only the members of the Common Council, Mayor Fisk and Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett being present. It is understood that some of the councilmen have conferred with the North Plainfield authorities and have learned their views. Later another conference may be held to include representatives from all the interested municipalities.

Another important matter to be considered tonight will be that in reference to the park proposition. The Plainfield Park Association, through J. Lawrence Davis, its president, has made another offer, this one being to deed to the city only the tract of land in the West End of the town, instead of including the borough, as originally planned. This matter will be thoroughly discussed so that some report may be made at the next meeting of the Common Council.

Other important things to be considered will be the question of increasing the number of policemen. Chief Kiely has expressed a wish for eight additional men to properly police the city and make it possible to give the men an eight-hour schedule which they have petitioned for. It is believed that the councilmen will look with favor upon the increase, although a majority of them are against the proposition to create any new offices.

The councilmen will also take some action on the petition of the Public Service Corporation requesting the termination of the agreement with the city to blow the fire alarm whistle at its plant on West Second street. As stated in The Daily Press it is proposed to install one whistle at the Pond Machine Tool Works and another at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works, solely for the purpose of summoning the collmen in case of fire.

OVERSEER OF THE POOR ENCOUNTERS AN AUTO.

Overseer of the Poor Alexander D. Ayres got a jolt late yesterday afternoon, and is nursing some physical bruises today. He was majestically riding his bicycle along Park avenue at about 5:30 o'clock when a big touring car owned and driven by Cornelius Bergen, of Somerville, struck him. Great was the fall.

The Overseer hit the brick pavement hard, and sustained bruises and cuts about the face and legs. The front wheel of the bike was smashed. The motorist took the Overseer into his car and drove him to his home on West Fourth street.

Aged Colored Man Drunk.

Manning Field, colored, of Arlington avenue, was arrested late last night on Clinton avenue by Patrolman Sweeney, when he was found in a helplessly intoxicated condition. Field, who is fifty-five years old, says he has been a lifelong "residenter" of this city, and told the court that he hadn't been arrested in the past fifty-five years. It seemed to be a case of "never before and never again," so sentence was suspended by City Judge Runyon.

Lawn Party for King's Daughters.

The Benevolent Band of King's Daughters has sent out invitations for a lawn party to be held Thursday, June 3, from 3 to 6 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. S. A. Ginna, 1107 Watchung avenue.

—The strawberries now sold by Neuman Bros. are choice and have a delicious flavor. Fresh shipments are received every day and the prices are low.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The Ladies' Circle of the Baptist church held an all-day sewing session yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles R. Vincent, of the borough. About 40 members of the circle and friends were out and devoted the day to making garments for the children of the Newark Orphan Asylum Country Home at Mountainside. At mid-day a bountiful collation was served on the broad piazza of the hostess' home, the decorations being white and green. At the close of the session all voted that it was not only a profitable day but one of the pleasantest in the history of the society.

The members of the Methodist church and their friends will tender a reception tonight to their new pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Grisriel, in the church. The committee in charge have arranged something pleasant and the members and friends of the church will be out in force.

Manager Frentz has a strong attraction for Saturday afternoon. The Cranford A. C. team are playing a fast game, playing Bound Brook a 1-0 game two weeks ago.

The carnival of the Clinton Avenue Baseball team of Plainfield, which is being held this week, is being well attended by the local amusement lovers.

The Baptist A. C. ball team cross bats Saturday with the St. Mary's, of Plainfield, on the latter's grounds.

Mrs. George Harper has returned from a visit with relatives in Brooklyn.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The game between the South Plainfield Juniors and Athletic Club, which was postponed from last Friday on account of the bad weather, will be played off tomorrow. On account of this game the A. C. will not play Saturday.

Miss Delia Saverd is slowly recovering from a severe attack of appendicitis. She is in St. Peter's Hospital, New Brunswick, where a successful operation was performed upon her last Saturday.

Next Sunday the Lehigh Valley time-table will be changed. The change will affect the afternoon mails, as the mail which arrives at 4:12 will not come in until almost an hour later.

A large party of South Plainfielders attended the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club's carnival in Plainfield last night.

Mrs. T. Soult is spending a short time with friends in Mauch Chunk, Pa.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Mayor Swackhamer and the members of the Dunellen Common Council will be the guests of the Plainfield Board of Trade at the charter celebration on July 5.

Miss Margaret Dunn, of East Millstone, will give an entertainment at the Dunellen Baptist church tonight for the benefit of the parsonage fund.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. and the P. O. S. of A., of Dunellen, will attend memorial services at the M. E. church on Sunday next.

Mrs. I. F. Randolph, of New Market, entertained the Ladies' Aid Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church last night.

Miss Bernice Rogers, of New Market, who has been critically ill for the past month, is recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Manning, of New Market, are spending a few days with friends at Middlebush.

William Sanford, of Detroit, Mich., is visiting his sister, Mrs. Thomas Scully, of Dunellen.

Rev. R. L. Pierce, of Dunellen, will entertain Friendship Circle tonight.

BOUND BROOK AND VICINITY.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Herbert, of Bound Brook, have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Herbert, and Arthur Chester Hutcheson, of Baldwin, Long Island. The ceremony will take place in the local Presbyterian church Wednesday night, June 9, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Kaziah Corzatt, who has been spending several days at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Staats, in Main street, South Bound Brook, returned to her home at Califon Monday afternoon.

Mrs. D. Sheals and daughter, Miss Edna, of New York, were entertained Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Wilkinson in Elizabeth street, South Bound Brook.

Martin C. Erismann, of Lambertville, is a guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Sylvanus Ayres, Jr., in East High street, Bound Brook.

Frederick Miller, of Main street, South Bound Brook, is spending a week on a fishing trip to Lake Dunmore, Vt.

Elsworth Sutton is spending several days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Foreman in New Bound Brook.

Henry Nolty, of Main street, Bound Brook, spent yesterday in New York.

SOMERVILLE.

A second meeting of the proposed Knights of Columbus organization was held in Foresters' Hall on Monday afternoon, at which time temporary officers were elected, as follows: Chairman, H. J. McAleavey; financial secretary, William S. Devine; recording secretary, John Gorman; treasurer, Fred Hoch. Already about sixty persons have signified their intention of joining the meeting for organization which will be held in the same rooms on June 8.

Invitations are out for an informal dance to be given by the Pi Sigma Fraternity, in the Casino at East Somerville tomorrow evening. The patronesses will be Mrs. J. C. Voorhees, Mrs. Lyman H. Demarey, Mrs. William F. Garretson and Mrs. Samuel W. Davenport.

Charles Thurston, of Middaugh, has been entertaining his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Thurston, of Pottersville, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Reimers expect to sail soon for Hamburg, where they expect to spend the summer.

Mrs. Albert E. Case, of Grove street, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Reiderer, at Dover.

Somerville Engine Company will hold a smoker in the rooms this evening.

RARITAN.

George A. West retired on Sunday as superintendent of the Reformed Sunday-school, which position he had occupied for twenty years. On behalf of the teachers and members of the Sunday-school he was presented by Assistant Superintendent John F. Reger with a handsome library table and book-rack.

Five bids have been received by the Bridgewater Township Board of Education for the erection to the public school in Raritan. The board will meet this evening to award the contract. The lowest bid received is Barras & Smith, of Somerville, $7,-245.

The May devotions of St. Bernards church will be brought to a close on Sunday evening by the annual procession of the societies connected with the church, which will conclude with the crowning of the Blessed Virgin.

The annual supper of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist chuch will be held in the chapel this evening.

Mrs. George R. Little, of Sceghticoke, N. Y., is a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Brutcher.

James Kenyon, of Plainfield, has been visiting Mrs. Job Kenyon this week.

WESTFIELD.

One of the Italian workmen of the Park Commission, yesterday, while spraying a tree, struck a bare spot on an electric light wire with an iron spray pipe. He was knocked off the ladder but not seriously hurt.

Fireside Council, Royal Arcanum, of Westfield, will initiate a couple of candidates at the meeting tonight.

Plainfield, N. J., May 24th, 1909.

AN ORDINANCE

To Guard Against Danger of Fire and Explosion in Connection With the Use of Illuminating Gas or Fuel Gas in Buildings.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That all pipes of one and one-quarter inches in diameter or over for the supply of illuminating gas or fuel gas to buildings hereafter erected in the City of Plainfield shall have a properly installed gas cut-off at the curb line of streets in which such pipes are or shall be connected with gas mains, and any person who or corporation which shall lay or cause to be laid any such pipe without such gas cut-off at the curb line, shall on conviction be punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars for each offense.

Sec. 2. That no person or corporation shall supply illuminating gas or fuel gas, or allow the same to be supplied, to buildings hereafter erected in the City of Plainfield through pipes of one and one-quarter inches in diameter, or over, not having a properly installed gas cut-off at the curb line of the street in which such pipes are or shall be connected with gas mains, under a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars fine for each offense.

Sec. 3. That all gas pipes now used or that may hereafter be used to supply illuminating gas or fuel gas from gas mains in streets to any school building, church building, Sunday-school building, hotel building, factory building or any building containing a theatre, public assembly room, music hall or concert hall, whether such building be now erected or shall be erected hereafter, and whatever may be the size of such gas pipes, shall be furnished with a gas cut-off properly installed at the curb line of the streets adjacent to such buildings in which such gas pipes are or may hereafter be connected with gas mains.

Sec. 4. That on or after the first day of September in the year nineteen hundred and nine no person or corporation shall supply illuminating gas or fuel gas, or allow the same to be supplied to buildings specified in section 3 of this ordinance, whether such buildings be now erected or shall be erected hereafter in the City of Plainfield, and whatever may be the size of such gas pipes, unless gas cut-offs shall be first installed at the curb line as provided in said Section 3 of this ordinance, under a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars fine for each offense. 5 27 2 oaw

Public Service Pays Over Million a Year

SEVEN million, six hundred and fifty thousand dollars, in round figures, is what PUBLIC SERVICE has paid in taxes of various kinds since the corporation was formed in 1903. This means an average of $1,275,000 a year.

Included in these millions were the taxes levied on real estate and personal property belonging to the company, taxes on franchises, car license fees, cash paid municipalities in accordance with special agreements, and the outlay for street pavements necessitated by local ordinance requirements.

The item for street pavements, which of itself accounted for $2,250,000 in six years, is counted in, and fairly so, because it is essentially a local franchise tax; a form of payment exacted by municipalities as compensation for the privileges granted by them to the company.

HOW TAX BILLS HAVE GROWN.

But even aside from the millions spent for street pavements, PUBLIC SERVICE has been paying into the local treasuries, in cash, an average of almost $900,000 a year for six years. The amount has been increasing steadily and will continue to grow as the company's business expands. The actual yearly payments for realty, personalty and franchise taxes have been as follows:

Year.	Amount.
1903	$ 723,203.25
1904	826,492.36
1905	878,005.97
1906	893,696.20
1907	1,012,937.22
1908	1,064,631.01
Total for six years	$5,398,966.01
For street paving	2,250,000.00
Grand total	$7,648,966.01

TAXES INCREASED FIFTY PER CENT.

From the above table it will be seen that the taxes paid direct to the municipalities have increased nearly fifty per cent. from 1903 to 1908.

A little simple calculation will demonstrate that in meeting these demands PUBLIC SERVICE has paid a sum equal to $106,235.65 for every month, or $3,492.68 for every day, of the six years of its corporate existence.

PUBLIC SERVICE lays no especial claim to virtue for paying its taxable obligations, but PUBLIC SERVICE wants the public to know just how baseless are the statements, so frequently and so thoughtlessly made, that it is enjoying so-called special privileges "for nothing."

The St. Louis Browns have their Manager McAleer and their Outfielder McAleese, and from the way they have been going they have a McAlose.

"Don't give your decisions too quickly." From the abhorisms of Jack Sheridan. Respectfully referred to one or two new National League umpires.

Harry Niles, who wasn't wanted by the Browns and Highlanders, is holding up his end with the fast Boston Red Sox and doing helpful work in various capacities.

Tenney's play on a bunt the other day whereby he threw out a runner at third base was so smooth and quick that some folks who did not observe closely thought Marquard made the play.

Were the code used by the pinched safe breaker adopted in baseball Covaleskie's name would be spelled something like this: Xgrzdkmnbk. You'd have to have a mouthful of tacks to pronounce it.

Talk about college players not being able to hit. Young Mr. Stevens of the Yale freshmen made a homer, a triple and a single against the Tiger cubs last Saturday. On the same day two homers, two triples and two doubles were made in the Pennsylvania State-Michigan game.

The board of directors of the National League are trying to arrange a date for a meeting to act on the appeal of the Cincinnati club of President Heydler's decision of the Cincinnati-Pittsburg protest. They may meet during the coming Western trip of the Eastern teams, possibly on June 16.

In the matter of managers Fred Lake is deserving of the bay. He had the nerve to dispose of two such big favorites as Young and Criger and at the same time in a way to bring his club good financial returns. His policy of reconstruction—getting rid of all the old timber and building on the lines of speed—has been thorough and is now bearing excellent fruit.

Covaleskie is having his troubles this season, although it must be admitted that the Shamokin product is some pitcher.

Brockett is a hard luck pitcher. His pitching against the White Sox was good enough to win any ordinary game.

It is said that the best way to pitch to Jap Barbeau is for the twirler to get on his knees.

Edward A. Sweeney, of the Passaic postoffice, will in all likelihood be elected president of the New Jersey State Association of Postoffice Clerks, which will hold its convention at Passaic on Monday. At present Mr. Sweeney is vice-president of the organization and is being mentioned on all sides as the logical candidate, and as a deserving man for the office.

There will be two sessions, one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. Mayor Frederick R. Low will welcome the delegates at the morning session, which will be opened at 10:30 o'colck. Officers for the coming year will be elected in the afternoon.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening a banquet will be served the delegates in Company A's Armory. The postmasters and assistants of the surrounding towns and many Passaic officials will be guests of honor.

TO REVOLUTIONIZE PRINCETON COURSE

Radical changes in educational methods in Princeton and other Presbyterian theological seminaries are indicated by suggestions that were made at the General Assembly yesterday at Denver. It is practically certain that hereafter students will be taught political economy and other subjects that have hitherto been considered too worldly.

"It is time for the ministers to quit talking about the people of Judea and talk about the people of America," said the Rev. Dr. Edgar P. Hill, of Chicago. "The way to reach the masses of immigrants and people in the slums of the city is the most important problem which now confronts the churches."

President Francis L. Patton, of Princeton, sent a letter to Rev. John McDowell, of Newark, which created a sensation when read. Dr. Patten said:

"The things in which we agree with Roman Catholics and others are more important than the things in which we differ. We are the allies and friends of all who believe in supernatural Christianity, and the questions before the Church are whether there is a living God and whether He has spoken to use through the incarnate Christ. These are the issues on which Princeton men and all who are interested in conserving vital Christianity should make common cause.

"I do not of course mean to mimimize the importance of the distinctive theology of the reformed church, for which Princeton has always stood, but I want to make it clear that in the light of the present form of controversy it was a mistake to suppose that Princeton was only, or even chiefly, interested in the defense of Calvinism.

"On the contrary, Princeton has a great work to do, and is doing it in making a strong and up-to-date defense of those great truths in which all branches of the Christian church are interested."

The report of the college board in referring to the failure of many Presbyterian academies stated that the principal cause was the rise and improvement of free high schools, particularly in the West. The committee recommended that the board withdraw as much as it possibly can from the support of academic work.

THE FORUM.

HE OBJECTS TO A PARK.

Plainfield, N. J.,
May 27, 1909.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Certain real estate speculators, having quietly purchased a large body of land, now propose most generously to donate the City of Plainfield such portion of their land as is utterly useless to them for their purposes on condition that the city shall construct and maintain thereon a park whereby the speculators may save much expense to themselves in matter of road construction and land improvement and whereby they hope to enrich themselves at the expense of the taxpayers of this city; but little of their land lies within the city limits and the plan proposed would add few, if any, residential lots on this side of Green Brook; the plan would benefit, in increased values, not more than one or two of our citizens. A large part of the land required in city limits would have to be condemned and this could be done, if at all, only after tedious and expensive litigation.

It is submitted that Plainfield does not need such a park. The city itself is a beautiful park and a few minutes' walk or drive will take one to country ways and rural scenes, to mountain and to woodland.

The land propsed to be taken is of great natural beauty and is now open to all, poor and rich alike; if it is proposed to add to this natural beauty by the artistic work of the landscape gardener such work must be protected from floods which occur many times a year; another plan is to form a lake which would cover land now the pleasure ground of hundreds; it is true that the proposed drive would give great pleasure to the rich owners of horses and automobiles.

To carry out a park plan in such a way as to be a credit to the city and a real pleasure ground for both rich and poor will require the outlay of such sums for acquirement of land, construction and maintenance as must place a heavy burden upon the taxpayers for years to come.

Before action is taken a definite plan should be formulated, the first cost and cost of upkeep should be estimated by experts, then the matter should be submitted to a vote of the people.

Proctor's Vaudeville Great.

The vaudeville at Proctor's theatre today is particularly good, the playlet, "The Duchess," by a company of four, is great; the Reed Sisters in dancing and singing are the best yet seen here, while Marcon, contortionist, is a wonder. There will be another new bill tomorrow of the same high class with new life motion pictures.

TO BE FREE, TAKES PLEDGE FOR LIFE.

John Nichols Tells Court He's in a Hurry, as Grass-cutting Jobs Await.

A pledge to abtain from the use of intoxicating liquors for the rest of his life was taken by John Nichols, who said he at one time belonged to the Salvation Army, when arraigned before Judge Mahon, at Elizabeth, yesterday, on a charge of being drunk an ddisorderly on Broad street. Nichols was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Officer Healy.

He told the judge he must have his liberty, as there was a lot of grass to be cut in one of the city parks. He said he had a stiff neck Tuesday and drank a half-pint of whiskey to relieve the pain.

Considerable difficulty was experienced by the judge and court officers in helping Nichols take the pledge. The prisoner said he was deaf in one ear and had been since the last time he slept in a cell at police headquarters, having taken cold at that time.

TO TAX MUNICIPAL PLANTS.

Rule That When Other Villages Are Served Property Is Not Exempt.

Following a precedent established in Vermont to the effect that the part of a village lighting plant used to supply light to another village is not public property and accordingly is not exempt from taxation, the State Board for the Equalization of Taxes has decided that New Brunswick must pay taxes on a part of its water works used to supply water to a neighboring municipality.

This was the view taken by the Middlesex county authorities and the city appealed, claiming that all municipal property was exempt. The decision establishes an important precedent in this State, and will doubtless result in increased revenue in many taxing districts.

Woman Tore Down Chimney.

Mrs. Rose Judetch climbed to the roof of her father-in-law's house at Westfield on Tuesday, drove off the masons, who were building the chimney, and then tore down the chimney to the level of the roof. She asserted they were using poor mortar. A big crowd gathered and watched Mrs. Judetch, cheering her vigorously when she repulsed efforts of the masons to climb back. John H. Frazee, the contractor, had the woman arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. She was fined $5, which she paid cheerfully. "You use better mortar next time," she told Frazee.

PLAYING INDIAN BOY ROASTS GIRL PLAYMATE.

While playing Indian yesterday afternoon one of several boys set fire to the dress of Annie Machovsky, aged 6 years, of 90 Twenty-second street, Bayonne.

The child was so frightfully burned that physicians of the Bayonne Hospital last night said she cannot recover. Her garments were burned from her body and her hair singed off. Annie was playing with dolls on the rear porch of her home with other girls when several boys entered and suggested that they play Indian. For several minutes the little folk enjoyed the sport.

One of the boys, said by his playmates to be John Mydosh, a son of Court Inspector Mydosh, struck a match and set fire to the child's skirts. Her dress, which was of flimsy material, was soon a mass of flames. The other children ran away. Shrieking in agony the girl ran up and down the yard calling, "Mama! Mama!" At the time Mrs. Machovsky was at a nearby store. Several women, attracted by the cries of the girl, hurried to the yard, but none of them seewed to know what to do. They stood as if petrified. Finally Mrs. Jonh Mydosh got a bucket of water and, throwing it over the child, put out the flames.

STATE HOMEOPATHS CONFER.

The fifty-sixth annual meeting of the New Jersey State Homeopathic Medical Society, which began Tuesday at the Hotel Chalfonte, Atlantic City, drew a large attendance of members from all parts of the State. The sessions were continued yesterday and will end today.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dr. Lee E. Griscom, Camden; first vice president, Dr. Carl H. Wintsch, Newark; second vice president, Dr. T. W. Atkinson, Trenton; recording secretary, Dr. Alfred Drury, Paterson; corresponding secretary, Dr. C. F. Hadley, Camden; treasurer, Dr. Llewellyn E. Heitrick, Asbury Park.

Dr. Wintsch, of Newark, read a paper on "Intestinal Autointoxication." The discussion on it was opened by Dr. H. B. Sleght, of Newark.

Seton Hall College Closing.

Seton Hall College, South Orange, will close for the term on June 16. There will be no public commencement exercises. Final examinations in the Seminary of the Immaculate Conception will begin tomorrow and the college examinations will be held next week. During the vacation season the dormitories will be rebuilt, June 1 being the date set aside as the last day for receiving estimates on the work.

PRESIDENT ANGELL OF MICHIGAN.

Coming out of the East, a man of the utmost refinement after the best New England tradition, a chip of the same block as Emerson, Lowell and Longfellow (indeed, some of that group were his personal friends), President Angell of the University of Michigan had to deal with students drawn mostly from the frontier, and with legislators and trustees who were rarely scholars and not always gentlemen. These he met and conquered, not by cultivating the lower arts of the politician, or in any way derogating from his own dignity and culture, but by simple honesty of word and purpose. Ifa Westerner was at first a little suspicious of that finer breeding which could not be concealed, he soon respected it as he came to feel that there was an honest man behind it.

He is one who up to this his eighty-first year has never fallen into deep ruts of any sort, never ceased to grow with the growth of life, never taken on that shell of habit which renders many men of advancing years incapable of appreciating anything but the past. "A man who has ceased to learn," he would say, "is unfit to teach," and his own fitness was never threatened in this way.—Charles R. Cooley in the Survey.

A Clear Case.

"Gentlemen of the jury," began the lawyer, "we will prove to you that our client is insane. We have witnesses ready to demonstrate that his grandfather once struck his own thumb with a hammer and made no remark to bring a blush to the cheek of modesty and decorum; that his grandmother never asserted that she had a sure cure for colds and rheumatism; that his father once refused to take advantage of a Wall street tip, and that his mother even now refuses to appear in public with a hat of the prevailing mode. My client was once observed to be reading 'Frenzied Finance.' Need I say more?"

The subsequent verdict proved that he need not.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Rahway Fugitive Caught.

Frank White, who escaped with Joseph Williamson on May 4 from the Rahway Reformatory, was returned to the institution yesterday. He was arrested Tuesday night in a boarding house on Chambers street, New York city, the reformatory officials receiving word from friends of White, in Red Bank, where he could be found.

COUNTERFEIT BILLS ARE PASSED IN RUTHERFORD.

Frank J. Gilick, thirty years old, of Hoboken, and Joseph Lagattuta, twenty-two years, and Joseph Barbato, twenty years, of New Durham, were arrested Tuesday afternoon at Rutherford on a charge of passing counterfeit $2 bills. They were arrested by Patrolman George Burnham and arraigned before Justice of the Peace Charles E. Tolhurst. He held them till the arrival of Secret Service Officer Taite, of New York, who ordered the men taken to Newark yesterday afternoon for further examination.

Gilick attempted to pass a $2 bill on William Muehling, a clerk in the store of Theodore Muehling, in Rutherford. When Muehling discovered that it was a counterfeit he ordered Burnham, who was passing the store, to arrest him. At the police station the bill was not found on the prisoner. After it was reported, later in the day, that Pearlman Brothers and Otto Nadler, all merchants, had been victims of $2 counterfeits, Chief of Police George Holland ordered Burnham to make a thorough search for strangers. Through the description the victims furnished the patrolman arrested the other two men, and they were later identified by the clerks who had been victimized.

WEALTHY MEN'S AUTO AND CARRIAGE COLLIDE.

Morristown, May 27.—While rounding the corner of Market street and Park place Monday morning, an automobile belonging to William Bayard Blackwell, of Ravenswood farm, crashed into the carriage of Woodbury G. Langdon, of Madison avenue, this city. The impact threw Mrs. Langdon to the ground, bruising her somewhat, though no serious injury was sustained. The carriage was badly damaged and one of its wheels was torn off. The damage to the automobile was slight, and after stopping to see if any assistance could be rendered, its occupants proceeded on their way.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Langdon and Mr. and Mrs. Blackwell are summer residents here, owing country estates in the confines of Morristown. They are among the multi-millionaires of this section.

"IN GOD WE TRUST" TO APPEAR ON NEW CENTS.

Not only will the new pennies about to be coined at the Philadelphia Mint bear the head of Abraham Lincoln, but the inscription, "In God We Trust," will appear upon the coin. The penny marks a radical departure in American coinage. Heretofore United States coins have borne only the heads of Liberty and the eagle.

Proofs of the new penny had been struck and submitted to President Taft by Vivtor D. Brenner, the New York sculptor and medalist, and yesterday he was advised from Washington that the inscription, "In God We Trust," must appear. This change will necessitate a delay in the coinage, and new pennies will not be in circulation until late in August.

Will Give "Hiawatha."

A pantomine production of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's "The Song of Hiawatha" will be given in the Westfield Casino tomorrow evening, under the auspices of the Boys' Brigade of the town. This novel entertainment, consisting of real Indian melodies and dances, will be under the direction of Glenn Clark, of New York. The scenes and incidents of this beautiful legend will be disclosed in a traditional manner by two score of Westfield young people.

Seniors To Honor President Wilson.

SAYS SUNDAY BASEBALL IS NO NUISANCE.

Vice-Chancellor Stevenson So Rules as to Jersey City, but Says Police May Act.

The fight over Sunday baseball in Jersey City was won Monday afternoon in the Chancery Court by the Jersey City club of the Eastern League. Vice-Chancellor Stevenson decided that Sunday ball playing had not been shown to be a nuisance.

Rudolph Saltau has a truck farm adjoining the ball grounds. The proceedings to restrain the club from playing ball there on Sunday were brought by a number of church people.

Lawyer Demarest read the affidavits of Saltau, his wife and other persons, all of whom swore that the ball players and the spectators at the games made such a noise that babies were kept awake and the peace of the Sabbath was generally broken.

John Griffin, counsel for the ball club, read counter affidavits. John Dolye, a phonograph operator, testified that he had tried at Saltau's house to make a phonograph record of the noise alleged to be an accompaniment of the games, but that the machine failed to record any noise whatever.

Vice-Chancellor Stevenson in giving his decision said: "Sunday ball playing is unlawful, but it is the business of the police to enforce the law and not that of the Chancery Court. This court can interfere only when a nuisance is shown to exist, and no nuisance has been shown in this case."

TOWNE MUST FACE TRIAL ON JUNE 8.

Edward B. Towne, Jr., who was arrested early Sunday at the home of his father-in-law, George W. Sharp, in Scotland street, Orange, was taken to Newark Monday and arraigned before Judge Ten Eyck to answer three indictments charging him with forgery and embezzlement. He pleaded not guilty and was held in $5,000 bail on each indictment. His trial was set for June 8.

Towne's father and other relatives believed that the bail would not be more than $3,000, and when it was made $15,000 they were astonished. They made every effort to persuade Prosecutor Mott to agree to a reduction of the bail, but he declined to do so, and Judge Ten Eyck held that under the circumstances of the case the higher bail was reasonable.

Towne is accused of having taken funds from the Mathewson Lead Company, of No. 182 Front street, Manhattan, and of defrauding the People's Bank of East Orange through check transactions.

Towne disappeared last December. He told the Chief of Police that his object in coming back now was to see his two-year-old son, who is ill.

B. C. KUSER SUED ON LIBEL CHARGE.

Because of Allegations of Theft, Former Conductor Says He Lost His Job.

Benedict C. Kuser, president of the State Fish and Game Commission and one of the best known business men of Trenton, was made defendant Monday in a libel suit instituted by Thomas E. Wigley, a former trolley conductor.

Wigley accuses Kuser of charging him with "knocking down fares" while bringing a crowded trolley car from the baseball park. He also asserts that Kuser caled him a thief and that as a result of the charge he lost his job.

The conductor admits that he did not ring up as many fares as he had passengers, but says he carried a number of policemen and trolley employes, who always ride deadhead.

FRANK S. KATZENBACH JOINS EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

As the result of a sermon preached by the Rev. Hugh B. MacCauley, pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Trenton, when Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., was the Democratic gubernatorial candidate for Governor, all of the Katzenbach family have left that church. The parents of the defeated candidate are now worshipping with the Second Presbyterian congregation, and Frank S. and his brother, Edward L., were Sunday confirmed by Bishop Scarborough at Trinity P. E. church.

Mr. Katzenbach was for years superintendent of the Fourth church Sunday-school, and all of his people were active in Presbyterian circles.

WINS FORTUNE AND WIFE.

Announcement was made at Trenton yesterday of the engagement of Miss Kate Cravatt, of that city, and J. K. Giberson, of California. Behind the engagement is a schoolday romance of years ago, when they were boy and girl together in Hightstown. The young man went West to make his fortune, but wealth was more tardy than was exepected and it was not until a short time ago that he had amassed a comfortable fortune. During all of the intervening years the courtship has been continued by mail and now the wedding is to take place early in June.

Stone Roads

Elizabeth, N. J.

Proposals are asked for the construction of Macadam Roads on Edgar Road, in the Township of Linden, from a point 500 feet southwesterly from the intersection of the track of the Baltimore and New York Railroad, thence along Edgar Road, southwesterly, and along Lenington Street and Milton Avenue, in the City of Rahway, to the intersection of Milton Avenue and Main Street in the City of Rahway, all in the County of Union, N. J.

The length of the roadway is 13,226 lineal feet.

The width of the macadam is to be 16 feet.

The work is to be finished with Asphaltum Binder.

The estimated quantities of the items of the work are as follows:

8-inch Macadam, 7,374 square yards.
8-inch Macadam, with old stone underneath, 25,098 square yards.
Excavation, 27,258 cubic yards.
Underdrains, 500 lineal feet.
Rock Excavation, 250 cubic yards.
Cobble Gutters, 700 square yards.

Plans, profiles and specifications for this work may be examined at the office of the County Engineer, 130 Broad Street, Elizabeth, N. J.

Bidders must enclose with their bids a certified check for $1,000.00 made payable to the Director of the Board of Chosen Freeholders as a guarantee that if the contract be awarded to such bidder, the bidder will enter into an agreement with the Board of Freeholders for the carrying out of the work.

Bids for the above described work will be received by the County Road Committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, at the Court House, Elizabeth, N. J., at 2:30 p. m., on Thursday, June 10th, 1909.

The Board of Freeholders or its Committee reserves the right to reject any and all bids, as they may deem best for the interests of the County.

CLAIMANT CARTS OFF A NEWSPAPER'S PLANT.

Getting away with an entire printing plant, including machinery which weighed several tons, before the sheriff could catch him, was a feat accompanied Monday by J. D. Bohm, editor of the Millville Courier.

Late Sunday night three large express wagons arrived in Clayton. The drivers, seeking a night's lodging and unaware of his identity, put up at the house of A. F. Jenkins, who is editor of the Clayton Reporter. Jenkins soon learned from them that they intended to move the plant of the Clayton Recorder to Millville, on Bohm's claim of ownership, and, unknown to him, had been packing up goods in the building for a week. The Clayton plant has not been in operation for some time, the paper being printed at a Newfield plant.

Jenkins notified the officials at Woodbury and Deputy Sheriff Cunningham was soon on the trail, but was not quick enough. When the deputy arrived the goods had been removed over the county line and will now have to be recovered by suit in Cumberland county.

Jenkins also brought suit for $5,000 Monday afternoon against the landlord, T. C. Miller, for loss of business during the time he was locked out of the printing plant.

Bohm claims he bought the plant of a Philadelphia party. Jenkins says he will bring suit against both as soon as the goods can be located.

EMBEZZLER JOHN SYKES IS BEHIND THE BARS.

John Sykes, the Trenton lawyer embezzler, was taken to State prison Monday to begin his long term of sixteen years, which he may cut down to a little less than twelve years if he conducts himself in accord with all the regulations of the institution. He remained calm until the prison doors had closed behind him and then he broke down for the first time since his arrest, being led off to a cell with the tears trickling down his face.

The only other incident that marked his removal from the county jail was a bad fall which he sustained when he stumbled down the Court House steps over which he had so often passed as an honored counsellor-at-law.

Because of his weight and his years he will escape manual labor in prison. A clerical position will be provided for him at the expiration of his two weeks in the quarantine ward.

MAD DOG IMPRISONS FAMILY.

Rages Through House, While Women and Children Remain in Cellar for Two Hours.

With a mad dog ranging through the upper floors of the house, Mrs. Samuel Houston, of Denman place, East Summit, was kept a prisoner in her own cellar with her mother and two children for two hours Monday, while the owner of the dog hunted it with a gun. The dog bounded through an open door and jumped over one of the children to the top of the gas range. Mrs. Houton saw the stringy salvia dripping from its mouth.

Gathering up the children, she called to her mother and all made for the cellar. There they waited in terror until the owner arrived and shot the dog. It is not thought that any one was bitten by the animal. The head was sent to the Pasteur Institute in New York.

CHILDREN'S MAY FESTIVAL.

Will Be Given at Mountainside Saturday Afternoon.

The annual May festival will be held at the Children's Country Home, at Mountainside, next Saturday afternoon. A chance will be given the general public at this time to inspect the home, and refreshments in the shape of ice cream and cake will be sold for the benefit of the institution. There will be a punch and judy show for the amusement of the children.

The festival is usually held on Memorial Day, but owing to Sunday being the 30th, the managers decided to hold the festival on Saturday. In case of storm the festival will be held in the Westfield Casino.

SWORN INTO NEW JUDICIAL OFFICES.

In the presence of a large and distinguished gathering of United States judges and lawyers, United States Circuit Court Judge William M. Lanning and United States District Court Judge John Rellstab were sworn in at Trenton Monday.

The oath was administered to Judge Lanning by Judge Gray and to Judge Rellstab by Judge Joseph Cross. After the ceremonies both of the new judges entertained many guests. Besides giving a dinner, Judge Lanning took his party on an automobile trip to Washington's Crossing, above Trenton.

New Jersey Postmasters.

Washington, May 27.—Among the postmasters named Monday the following were for New Jersey: Herman Keystone to succeed B. F. Williams at Etna, Bergen county; Elmer T. Smith to succeed J. H. Smith at Middlebush, Somerset county; Mrs. Maggie E. Lewis to succeed T. McIntyre at Pointville, Burlington county; Herman Klonberg to succeed A. J. Mowerson at Wyckoff, Bergen county.

ROSALIND AT RED GATE

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

She colored, whether with anger or surprise at my swift change of tone, I did not know. Then she said, very soberly:

"Mr. Gillespie is nothing to me whatever."

"I thank you for that!"

"Thank me for nothing, Mr. Donovan. And now good-night. You are not to follow me—"

"Oh, surely to the gate!"

"Not even to the gate. My ways are very mysterious. By day I am one person; by night quite another. And if you should follow me—"

"To my own gate!" I pleaded. "It's only decent hospitality!" I urged.

"Not even to the Gate of Dreams!"

"But in trying to get back to the school you have to pass the guards; you will fail at that some time!"

"No! I whisper an incantation, and lo! they fall asleep upon their spears. And I must ask you—"

"Keep asking, for to ask you must stay!"

"—please, when I meet you in daytime do not refer to anything that we may say when we meet at night. You have proved me at every point—even to this spot of ink on my forehead," and she put her forefinger upon the peak. "I am Helen Holbrook; but as—what shall I say?—oh, yes!" she went on, lightly—"as a psychological fact, I am very different at night from anything I ever am in daylight. And to-morrow morning, when you meet me with Aunt Pat in the garden, if you should refer to this meeting I shall never appear to you again, not even through the Gate of Dreams. Good-night!"

"Good-night!"

I clasped her hand for an instant, and she met my eyes with a laughing challenge.

"When shall I see you again—this you that is so different from the you of daylight?"

She caught her hand away and turned to go, but paused at the steps.

"When the new moon hangs, like a little feather, away out yonder, I shall be looking at it from the stone seat on the bluff; do you think you can remember?"

She vanished away into the wood toward St. Agatha's. I started to follow, but paused, remembering my promise, and sat down and yielded myself to the thought of her. Practical questions of how she managed to slip out of St. Agatha's vexed me for a moment; but in my elation of spirit I dismissed them quickly enough. I would never again entertain an evil thought of her; the money she had taken from Gillespie I would in some way return to him and make an end of any claim he might assert against her by reason of that help. And I resolved to devote myself diligently to the business of protecting her from her father. I was even impatient for him to return and resume his blackguardly practice of intimidating two helpless women, that I might deal with him in the spirit of his own despicable actions.

My heart was heavy as I thought of him, but I lighted my pipe and found at once a gentler glory in the stars. Then as I stared out upon the lake

"When Shall I See You Again?"

I saw a shadow gliding softly away from the little promontory where St. Agatha's pier lights shone brightly. It was a canoe, I should have known from its swift steady flight if I had not seen the paddler's arm raised once, twice, until darkness fell upon the tiny argosy like a cloak. I ran out on the pier and stared after it, but the silence of the lake was complete. Then I crossed the strip of wood to St. Agatha's, and found Ijima and the gardener faithfully patrolling the grounds.

"Has any one left the buildings to-night?"

"No one."

"Sister Margaret hasn't been out—or any one?"

"No one, sir. Did you hear anything, sir?"

"Nothing, Ijima. Good-night."

I wrote a telegram to an acquaintance in New York who knows everybody, and asked him to ascertain whether Henry Holbrook of Stamford was in New York. This I sent to Annandale, and thereafter watched the stars from the terrace until they slipped into the dawn, fearful lest sleep might steal away my memories and dreams of the night.

CHAPTER XIV.

Battle Orchard.

When I called at St. Agatha's the following morning the maid told me that Miss Pat was ill and that Miss Helen asked to be excused. I walked restlessly about the grounds until luncheon, thinking Helen might appear; and later determined to act on an impulse, with which I had trifled for several days, to seek the cottage on the Tippecanoe and satisfy myself of Holbrook's absence. A sharp shower had cooled the air, and I took the canoe for greater convenience in running into the shallow creek. I know nothing comparable to paddling as a lifter of the spirit, and with my arms and head bared and a cool breeze at my back I was soon skimming along as buoyant of heart as the responsive canoe beneath me. It was about four o'clock when I dipped my way into the farther lake, and as the water broadened before me at the little strait I saw the Stiletto lying quietly at anchor off the eastern shore of Battle Orchard. I drew close to observe her the better, but there were no signs of life on board, and I paddled to the western side of the island.

It had already occurred to me that Holbrook might have another hiding place than the cottage at Red Gate, where I had talked with him, and the island seemed a likely spot for it. I ran my canoe on the pebbly beach and climbed the bank. The trail bore upward and I soon came upon a small clearing about an acre in extent that had once been tilled, but it was now pre-empted by weeds as high as my head. Beyond lay an ancient orchard, chiefly of apple trees, and many hoary veterans stood faithful to the brave hand that had marshaled them there. (Every orchard is linked to the Hesperides and every apple waits for Atalanta—if not for Eve!) I stooped to pick a wild flower and found an arrow head lying beside it.

Fumbling the arrow head in my fingers, I passed on to a log cabin hidden away in the orchard. I approached warily, remembering that if this were Holbrook's camp and he had gone away he had probably left the Italian to look after the yacht, which could be seen from the cabin door. I made a circuit of the cabin without seeing any signs of habitation, and was about to enter by the front door, when I heard the swish of branches in the underbrush to the east and dropped into the grass.

In a moment the Italian appeared, carrying a pair of oars over his shoulder. He had evidently just landed, as the blades were dripping. He threw them down by the cabin door, came round to the western window, drew out the pin from an iron staple with which it was fastened, and thrust his head in. He was greeted with a howl and a loud demand of some sort, to which he replied in monosyllables, and after several minutes of this parley I caught a fragment of dialogue which seemed to be final in the subject under discussion.

"Let me out or it will be the worse for you; let me out, I say!"

"My boss he sometime come back; then you get out it, maybe."

With this deliverance, accomplished with some difficulty, the Italian turned away, going to the rear of the cabin for a pail with which he trudged off toward the lake. He had not closed the window and would undoubtedly return in a few minutes; so I waited until he was out of sight, then rose and crawled through the grass to the opening.

I looked in upon a bare room whose one door opened inward, and I did not for a moment account for the voice. Then something stirred in the farther corner, and I slowly made out the figure of a man tied hand and foot, lying on his back in a pile of grass and leaves.

"You ugly dago! you infernal pirate—" he bawled.

There was no mistaking that voice, and I now saw two legs clothed in white duck that belonged, I was sure, to Gillespie. My head and shoulders filled the window and so darkened the room that the prisoner thought his jailer had come back to torment him.

"Shut up, Gillespie," I muttered. "This is Donovan. That fellow will be back in a minute. What can I do for you?"

(To be continued.)

The first quarterly conference of the First M. E. church was held last night, Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, the district superintendent, being in charge.

BOROUGH NINE BEATS RAHWAY HIGH, 9 TO 1

The borough High School nine defeated the Rahway High School at the DeLacy avenue grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 9 to 1. The game was an easy victory for the home team players, who excelled in every department of the game. The only one of the visitors to show any form at all was W. Ritchie who pitched a fine game against great odds. Had he been given the same support of Smith the game would have been a pitchers' battle.

Smith of the N. P. H. S. team pitched his usual steady game, fanning twelve batters and allowing but one pass. Powilson at second base did some good stick work getting two hits, one being a double. Bailey caught a great game for his team.

PLAINFIELD BOWLERS LEAD IN BIG TOURNEY

Rolling in the N. B. A. two-man championship last night in Madison Square Garden, Frank Blatz and Chauncey Stout, of this city, established a new high score, totaling 1,172 for their three games and going to the front in this competition. This mark is thirty-one pins better than the high-record figures posted by Bergstrom and Lewis, a Long Island City team, who were leaders for the first prize money up to yesterday afternoon.

Stout was in high scoring mood, rolling scores of 214, 224 and 186, for an average of 208. One split was his only break in the three games, he not having even the semblance of a missed spare in any of his games.

The local quintet, made up of Blatz, Kiely, Nash, Stout and Campbell, now rank fourth among the five-man teams. Their total score for the three games is 2,754, and this is only fifty-five pins behind the leaders, the Jamaica, Long Island, five.

All the ill-luck of the team fell to Blatz and had he an even break their score would have been much higher. Three splits in the first game and the same member in the second kept down his totals, but in the third game he reached 220, finishing up with four strikes.

Nash and Campbell were a disappointment in both the two-man and individual events. The scores:

Blatz	177	151	220
Stout	214	224	186
	391	375	406
Nash	143	146	149
Campbell	178	166	214
	321	312	363

Individual Event.

Nash	115	151	166
Campbell	186	147	196

BASEBALL.

Roger Bresnahan says that Red Waller has got to show him some reason for a raise before he hands it to him. The Elizabeth lad absolutely refuses to join the St. Louis team unless he gets more than New York was paying him.

Fred Clarke, King Brockett, Cy Young and Frank Laporte are farmers, but play just like city "fellers" on the diamond.

Griffith believes that Roy Castelton will make good as a pitcher in major league company. Castelton was tried out by Griffith when he was manager of the Yankees.

Slagle, Fraser, Lundgren, Altrock and Donohue, scintilating stars of not so long ago, have all been turned over to other teams by the Chicago Cubs this season.

Postponed games of the National League will be played off on the following dates: New York-Pittsburg, August 24; Brooklyn-Cincinnati, July 15; Philadelphia-St. Louis, July 14.

There is much talk in major league circles anent a trade of Ed Ruelbach for Harry McIntyre, of the Brooklyn team. Chance has been after the Superba twirler for two years.

Si Parkins is considered to be a first-class twirler by baseball writers in Eastern League cities.

Batch is leading the Rochester team in batting, with an average of .371. Ganzel is hitting .370.

Fred Mitchell is the leading batter of the Toronto club. If he was pitching his average would probably be about .200.

Mike O'Neil is getting his optics on the ball and will aid Jimmy Jones in breaking up games.

Needham and Fallon, former Montreal players, are with the Lawrence club of the New England League.

Ducky Holmes will probably be back with the Brooklyn team after the close of the Eastern Lague season. His work with Rochester is being watched by Harry Lumley.

GOLF.

While the improvements at the Plainfield Country clubhouse are not yet completed, they are going along satisfactorily. On Saturday there will be an impromptu opening, when luncheons and dinners will be served by the steward, John Hilton. Under the new management the conduct of the clubhouse is most satisfactory and Mr. Hilton is giving excellent service with a corps of assistants.

There will be the weekly competition for the Spring Handicap cups at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, while a number of special events have been arranged for Decoration Day. There will also be social features.

The Park Golf Club is planning a full program for Decoration Day, including a number of attractive events on the golf course and the tennis courts, while there will be social features, including an afternoon tea.

There is an absence of former activity at the Westfield Golf Club, and it is said that this will be the last season of the club, as the property now occupied is to be sold and divided up into building lots. There is general play on the course every Saturday and Sunday, but there has been a lack of interest this year.

The game of golf in this city and the borough has received quite an impetus this season, especially as a number of improvements have been planned to make the sport more attractive than ever.

The local golfers are rapidly getting into their old-time form, as the scores indicate from week to week. Among those who have been playing in good form are W. Lester Glenney, R. S. Rowland, Dudley H. Barrows, Julius Erickson and Stuart H. Patterson.

Hunt Club vs. South Orange.

The Watchung Hunt Club baseball team will meet the South Orange Field Club nine on the local grounds Monday afternoon. This is the game postponed from last Saturday on account of the weather. The two teams will lineup as announced before and the contest will doubtless be a fine one.

Hold Up Policeman's Son.

Edward Moran, son of Policeman Thomas Moran, of Bloomfield, reported to the police in that place Tuesday night that he had been held up in Montgomery street by two masked men and robbed of $35 in cash. Moran said one of the men struck him on the head with a blunt instrument rendering him unconscious for two hours.

Jr. C. E. Entertainment.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will give an entertainment in the lecture room tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. There will be nearly fifty children to take part in drills. The entertainment will be in charge of Mrs. Humbert, of Chatham street.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Alfred Streuli, of Prospect avenue, is spending sometime at Bailey Island, Maine.

Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Nickerson, of Carlton avenue, left this week for Europe. They will be abroad most of the summer.

Alexander Grossett, of Woodland avenue, who is touring Europe in an automobile with a party of friends, is expected home next month.

C. B. Cliffton, who has been spending sometime in Florida looking after his interests in an orange grove, will arrive in this city about June 1st, for the summer.

William Kissam, of Oyster Bay, Long Island, has returned home after a pleasant visit with his sisters, Miss Josie Kissam and Mrs. Milton C. Barkalew, of Duer street.

Albert M. Brobst, of Kankakee, Illinois, has taken up his residence in this city with his daughter, Mrs. Guy Bender, of College place. While at Kankakee, Mr. Brobst was actively engaged in Y. M. C. A. work.

Mrs. Bernard Clark, Sr., and family, of 434 West Fourth street, are enjoying a pleasure trip to Coney Island and other points of interest in their new forty-horse power Mitchell car, which Mrs. Clark purchased from F. L. C. Martin.

CONDEMN "GREAT WHITE WAY"

Paterson Y. W. C. A. Urges Ministers to Oppose It.

Fearing that the proposed establishment of a "Great White Way" in Paterson would lead storekeepers to keep their places open later than at present, the committee on early closing of the Young Women's Christian Association has sent to every clergyman in the city a letter asking them to urge upon the members of their congregations not to do any shopping after 9 o'clock on Saturday nights.

"Looking at the 'Great White Way' from every standpoint," the letter says, "what is there in it to add to the name and fame of our city? Will women be safer? Will boys and girls be helped to clean, pure lives by wandering up and down our streets until nearly midnight?"

K. C. DISTRICT DEPUTIES.

Appointments Made by State Deputy John J. Hickey.

District deputies, Knights of Columbus, have been named as follows by State Deputy John J. Hickey:

John F. O'Neil, Jersey City; Dr. John F. Condon, Belleville; Edward J. O'Brien, Newark; Joseph F. Brand, Hoboken; Frank A. O'Connor, Orange; Dr. Thomas D. Keegan, Jersey City; Thomas F. Mackessy, Elizabeth; H. J. Hughes, Perth Amboy; Dr. John J. Haley, Gloucester; T. M. O'Connell, Burlington; J. Adam Giegold, Englewood; James T. Cassidy, Camden; James D. Carton, Asbury Park; M. James Gibney, Phillipsburg; W. N. McAdam, Atlantic City; Joseph A. Delaney, Paterson; James P. McKenna, Newark; R. L. Maloney, Dover.

Raised Money For New Church.

The fair held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Danish Lutheran church in the Babcock building, last night, proved a big success and netted a neat sum for the building fund of the church. For the past two years the Danish Lutherans have been holding services in the rooms occupied by the W. C. T. U. and it has been decided that in the near future to build a chapel of their own. The general committee in charge af the affair comprised Mrs. Martin Hansen, Mrs. C. Norchen, Mrs. Peter Thompson, Miss Paula Hansen and Miss Ingeborg Hansen.

H. C. Krebs to be Re-Appointed.

At a meeting of the committee on education of the State Board of Education, of which S. St. John McCutchen is a member, held at the Hamilton Club, Paterson, yesterday, candidates for the position of county superintendents were examined. J. Brognard Betts, of this city, secretary to the board, was also present. H. C. Krebs, of North Plainfield, was among those who presented themselves for reappointment as superintendent of schools of Somerset county. There was no oposition and he will probably be re-appointed June 10, when the board meets again.

An Evening Runaway.

While John Tilley, a groom at the Watchung Hunt Club, was transacting some business with Lewis G. Timpson, of Hillside avenue, last night, his horse, which he had left tied outside, took fright and breaking loose, dashed off down Watchung avenue. The frightened animal, which was attached to a light wagon, was caught at Franklin place by Patrolman Flatley. It was uninjured and there was no damage to the wagon. The officer returned the runaway to its driver.

Damage Case Settled.

Frank Hull, who until recently resided in North Plainfield, and who now lives in Newark, has made an amicable settlement of his claim for damages against the Metropolitan Street Railway Company for some slight injuries received while alighting from a Broadway car in New York a few weeks ago. Counsellor W. L. Angleman represented him in the matter and secured the payment of the claim without the necessity for a suit.

AFTER SEVEN OPERATIONS LIEUTENANT WILL RECOVER

Loeut. N. Pendelton Rogers, U. S. A., who has been under treatment for the past five months for a compound fracture of the thigh and a double fracture of the left leg, is still at his parents' home on East Front street, where he is improving slowly. The physician in charge now believes that the liteutenant will not lose his leg. During his confinement, Lieut. Rogers has undergone seven operations, and his condition in consequence has been weak. A steady improvement, however, is noticed now and assurances of recovery are given.

Lieut. Rogers' injury was received while coasting at Tuxedo Park, N. Y., five months ago. A young woman, with whom he was coasting, had her nose and leg broken and has not fully recovered at the present time.

Scott Escapes Injury.

E. D. Scott, of Plainfield, who occupied a seat in one of the cars participating in an automobile endurance race, today, escaped injury when the car upset. Edgar Carter, of New Rochelle, a driver, was thrown out on his head and slightly injured. Mr. Scott is a son of the late Walter Scott, of East Front street.

Violin Pupils' Recital.

The pupils of Miss Helen M. Patterson, violinist, gave a successful recital at the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday afternoon. That Miss Patterson is a very superior teacher was well attested by the work of her pupils who played for the most part with fine tone, refinement of style and musical phrasing.

Operetta Makes a Hit.

A large audience Tuesday evening witnessed the production of the operetta "Daphne," by local talent in Somerset Hall, Somerville. What added interest to the event was the fact that the operetta was conducted by the composer, J. Granville Smith, who is the organist of St. John's Episcopal church in that place.

Will Hold a Lawn Festival.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will hold a strawberry and lawn festival at the home of Mrs. Winfield S. Angleman, on West Front street, Wednesday afternoon, June 9, the proceeds of which will go toward the fund for the establishment of a bed at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Bike Race Plans.

At the regular meeting of the Plainfield Cycle Club last night was decided that the course over which the twenty-five mile road race be run should be patrolled by men carying red flags. There will also be four extra policemen on duty to see that the way is clear for the riders.

Standard Oil Co. in Control.

The Citizens' Bank, of Elizabeth, through the purchase of two-thirds of the stock, has passed into the control of the Standard Oil Company, which will assume its actual management early in June.

—Neuman Bros. will conduct a special sale for a few days of Pillsbury, Hecker's and Gold Medal flour, the best in the market. See regular advertisement.

STEEPLECHASE'S ENTRIES

Fifth Annual Meet Tomorrow Afternoon to Be Biggest and Best Yet.

SIX RACES ARE SCHEDULED.

Union, Middlesex, Netherwood and Watchung and Westfield Cups Are Offered.

Probably the best list of entries ever received for a steeplechase meet in this section of the country, is announced today for the annual meet of the Watchung Hunt Club to be held at the club's new grounds on Plainfield avenue, tomorrow afternoon. There will be six races in all, including the famous farmer's event, post entries, and the horses which will start in every one comprise the best in the country.

There will be three flat races, two steeplechase and one hurdle, and in the race for the Netherwood cup, half-mile flat, will be seen eight of the fastest ponies, which should furnish great sport. A full list of entries have been received for each class.

The club has spared no expense in making the meet the biggest and best in its history. There will be every accommodation at the grounds for spectators, as well as automobiles, horses and carriages. The new steeplechase course and track are in the best of condition and all that is needed to make the meet a success is fair weather and a large crowd of people. These are the entries:

Union Cup.

Hacks or Hunters, 1½ mile flat—"Al. H. Wood," J. E. Davis; "High Chance," C. F. Wildey, Jr.; "Modest," Peter Hauck, Jr.; "Lady Potentate," Rufus C. Finch; "Barneys Fancy," Hugh Gormley; "O. K.," Leonce Fuller; "Don Ottario," Fred Alpers.

Middlesex Cup.

Steeplechase, three miles—"Relentless," J. E. Davis; "Midlothian," Frederick Bull; "Sue," Miss Mabel B. Hooley; "Essex B.," Peter Hauck, Jr.; "Manifesto, 2d," Rufus C. Finch; "Ringlett," Mrs. C. Foster Rawlins; "Harry Baylor," Hugh Gormley; "Telephone," L. S. Freeman; "Sir Ellerslie," Charles Pfizer; "Mystery," J. C. Wilmerding.

Farmer's Race.

Five furlongs flat, post entries.

Netherwood Cup.

Galloways, half-mile flat—"Contrast," S. H. Von Stade; "Grassland," S. H. Von Stade; "Sir Gaze," Loudonville Stable; "Grey Leg," R. A. Shebbeare; "W. O. Head," B. F. Bruner; "Nellie R.," J. A. Riley; "Merry Kiss," Miss Elizabeth Wells; "Marie Delaney," John Mulcahy.

Watchung Cup.

Steeplechase, 2½ miles—"Sue," Miss Mabel B. Hooley; "Samurai," H. S. Farley; "Demi-tasse," Rufus C. Finch; "Manifesto, 2d," Rufus C. Finch; "Japan," H. A. Bourne; "Mechanic," C. E. S. Bellows; "Apple Jack," C. W. Fisk.

Westfield Cup.

Hurdle race, 1½ miles—"Helen Shea," J. E. Davis; "Modest," Peter Hauck, Jr.; "Kersey," Louis Batjer; "Dan Ottario," Fred Alpers; "O. K.," Leonce Fuller; "Adjutor," Singleton Van Schaick.

MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE NINETY YEARS OF AGE.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, mother of Mrs. David Prescott Hall, formerly of this city, was ninety years old yesterday and many of the women's clubs of Boston and other sections of New England celebrated the day. A movement is on foot to make it known as "Petition Day," an occasion for getting as many signatures as possible to the national suffrage petition which is to be presented to Congress next fall. It is hoped to have 1,000,000 signatures to the petition.

Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott returned from Italy especially to attend yesterday's celebration. She arrived in Rome three days before the Messina earthquake. For thirty-three years Mrs. Howe has been president of the New England Women's Clubs. She is president also of the Authors Club of Boston and several other women's organizations. In addition to a number of children, Mrs. Howe has many grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

P. J. McAndrews Worse.

Philip J. McAndrews, of North avenue, who has been detained at his home with paralysis for a long time, is reported as being much worse, following another stroke. For many years he was employed as a telegraph operator at the Western Union office in this city and later was employed at the freight house.

MRS. TOMLINSON HEADS HOSPITAL'S AUXILIARY

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital, held this morning in the parlors of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church. Mrs. F. W. Butler resigned as corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Frank D. Warren was elected to that office. The complete list of officers are as follows:

President, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson; vice-presidents, Mrs. F. H. Andrews and Miss Elizabeth R. Cock; recording secretary, Mrs. Daniel Runkle; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frank D. Warren; treasurer, Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney. Auditors—Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard, Mrs. Frederic W. Butler. Board of Managers—Mrs. John Gray Foster, Mrs. Samuel Huntington and Mrs. Henry Lapsley.

The reports showed that the total receipts for the year were $974.88 and the present balance $22.91. It was voted that after the June meeting the method of notifying members of meetings by postal cards will be abandoned and the announcement will be made through the local newspapers. All other reports showed that the past year had been a successful one and the prospects for the coming year are bright.

TRINITY'S DUTCH ARMS HOLDS AN ENTERTAINMENT

Under the auspices of the Dutch Arms, of Trinity Reformed church, a "ladies' night" affair was held last night following a short business meeting of the association. President F. S. Cutter was in the chair, and a ten minute devotional service was conducted by Frank A. Weeks. During the business session it was decided to "call off" the meetings during the summer and at the first meeting in September to hold a banquet. A committee, of which Fred E. Smith is the chairman, was appointed to arrange for the banquet. Each member was urged to bring in a new member by that time.

After the business the evening was devoted to entertainment and sociability. H. Warren Rankin, of this city, gave an exhibition of sleight-of-hand work, while the male quartet from the Plainfield High School sang a number of popular selections. The quartet was repeatedly encored and was generous in its response. In his work, Mr. Rankin was assisted by Mrs. Rankin at the piano, and Frank P. Storr, secretary of the men's association, who made a good subject.

There was a large attendance of men and women at the affair and all thoroughly enjoyed the program. The Dutch Arms, since its organization, has been making good progress and increasing its membership. President Cutter impressed upon the men the importance of bringing in "that other fellow," and building up the organization.

SOMERSET COUNCIL LEADS IN THE CARNIVAL CONTEST.

The voting for the most popular fraternal organization in this city conducted by the Clinton Avenue Baseball Club in connection with its carnival, goes merrily on. Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., now leads with 466 votes, while Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, is second with 355. The Knights of Columbus will assist at the carnival, tonight. The vote to date follows:

Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., 466; Knights of Columbus, 355; Elks, 342; Knights of the Golden Eagle, 210; Y. W. C. A., 250; Red Men, 215.

The club is meeting with good success at the carnival and if the weather remains favorable big crowds are expected the rest of the week and on Monday, when the affair will close.

Tickets for the Horse Show.

The reserved seat tickets and parking space tickets for the sixth annual horse show to be held June 10, 11 and 12, will be placed on sale at the pharmacies of L. W. Randolph and Dudley S. Miller, tomorrow morning. The various details for the show are working out in a satisfactory manner and judging by the number of entries they will far exceed those of last year, which was considered the best in the history of the Plainfield Riding and Driving Club.

Music and Dancing at P. C. C.

The Plainfield Country Club has arranged to serve lunches tomorrow and Decoration Day and there will be music and dancing Decoration Day night.

GRADUATE SEVEN NURSES

Muhlenberg Hospital's Training School Gives Diplomas to Largest Class.

CLASS BADGES ARE PRESENTED.

Addresses Made By Dr. J. H. Carman, William L. Saunders and William D. Murray.

Receiving their diplomas as graduate nurses of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School, seven young women of the class of 1909, the largest graduating class in the history of the school, bade formal farewell to instructors and companions at the institution on the occasion of the fourteenth annual graduation exercises of the school held at the Hartridge School auditorium last night. With their diplomas, presented by Vice President E. H. Ladd, Jr., of the Board of Governors, the graduates receiver from former Mayor William L. Saunders, of the Board of Governors, their class pins, badges of their rank as graduate nurses.

The auditorium was thronged with relatives and friends of the graduates when the members of the class, accompanied by Miss Josephine Hughes, superintendent of the hospital; Miss Bertie Janvis, superintendent of the operating room, and members of the intermediate and junior grades of the school, marched in at the opening of the exercises. The women wore the regulation nurse's uniform, with dainty white caps, and carried tiny American flags. The single exception was Miss Ina Rudd, whose home is in Toronto, Canada; she carried a small Canadian flag.

On the platform were E. H. Ladd, Jr., vice president of the Board of Governors, who, in the absence of the president, William C. Kinney, presided at the exercises; Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, who gave the invocation; William D. Murray and Dr. John H. Carman, of the medical staff, who made addresses. At the back of the platform hung a large American flag, flanked by the Red Cross banner and the Union Jack. The platform was banked with potted plants and cut flowers, and the class colors, red and white, predominated in the decorations of the auditorium, where numerous class flags were used to an excellent advantage in the decorations. The pupils, with the members of the graduating class in the centre, took seats just in front of the platform.

Following the invocation by Rev. Dr. Anderson, came introductory remarks by Mr. Ladd. He spoke of the position of the hospital in the community, and said that there were twenty-two in the training school during the past year, and that forty-six have graduated since the foundation of the school. He introduced William D. Murray, the principal speaker.

"Great principles," Mr. Murray said, "generally underlie great institutions, but the great law underlying the profession of trained nurse is the law of self-sacrifice. This is an old law, enunciated by the Master of the world, long ago. We gain by losing. Any occupation worthy of the efforts of an honest man is worth the joy of self-sacrifice, but few offer the opportunities for this quality as do the occupation of trained nurse. Self-sacrifice is the very essence of a nurse's life.

"We are all proud of our local institutions and our city. We have good men at the head of our government here, and they all do their work conscientiously, though without remuneration. But I believe that the great reason why we should be proud of the city of Plainfield is because she has within her borders so many men and women of excellent character. Of all such, none do more to uphold the merit of this city in this way than this band of trained nurses in our midst. They are always ready to resuond to our need and bring to our homes the calming assurance of careful service in threatened bereavement. The men and women we call great in this world are those who have had a hard time. Your nurses have chosen a life of hardship, endurance and patience, but you have chances for great success in your unselfish, self-sacrificing service."

Speaking in a humorous vein, Dr. J. H. Carman, of the medical board, made the address to the graduates, who rose when he was introduced. In a witty way he outlined the growth of the hospital and training school, and the occupation of the new building. "The crowning glory of your three years' course," he said, "comes tonight, when you receive your diplomas as graduates, giving evidence to the world that you are fitted to perform all the duties of trained nurse. You must

MARRIAGE MADE EASY

Justice of the Peace Hand Makes Tempting Offer in His Advertisement.

HE'S ALWAYS ON THE JOB.

Fee May Be Paid In Instalments and Squire Will Act At Any Hour.

"Couples married while you wait; day or night; rain or shine; installment plan for paying fee if desired. Hezekiah Hand, Justice of the Peace. Residence, 711 East Fifth street. Office, 149 North avenue."

This advertisement, which appears in another column, is the newest form of publicity to be employed by Hezekiah Hand, the "Marrying Justice" of Union county, to get business.

"In the spring and early summer, you know," said the genial Justice, "lots of people want to get married, and I can do the job just as well as any minister. Those dominies are all pretty busy with their church work, and it's hard to find one when you want him. Now I'm the only Justice of the Peace in town, and I'm always on the job. Last season I had a big trade,—gave trading stamps with all the fees, you remember, but this advertising ought to bring 'em thicker yet.

"Some of these young swains are short when they come up to be married, so I've arranged for the payment of fees by installments. Gives 'em money to blow in on their wedding trip, you know, for you've got to remember that's pretty important. I'll take a dollar down, and then arrange with the groom for the payment of instalments; just the same principle as furnishing a home, you know, because lots of people think the job worth more than they can pay down at the time."

Justice 'Kiah will probably do most of his knot-tying at his office in the district court, but when not to be found there, will be at home with all the papers and seals necessary. He is planning to work up the instalment business so that he will have a regular income.

Squire Hand claims that for a quarter of a century he has held the record as marrying justice and that he ties the knot for more couples than any man in Plainfield.

ANNUAL ELECTION OF YOUNG HEBREWS' CLUB

At a meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew Association held at the local synagogue, last night, these officers were unanimously elected for the next term: President, Samuel Rothberg; vice president, Herman Mann; secretary, David J. Wolfe; treasurer, Nathan Bernstein; sergeant-at-arms, Max Bernstein. The president then appointed Meyer D. Molodsky, Henry Rosenbaum and Harry Siegal as trustees.

This was the largest attended and most enthusiastic meeting since the association was formed, only one member, Alexander Kramer, of New York, being absent. The chairman of the building committee reported that $600 was promised by the local people and the prospects for raising $400 additional in the next two weeks are bright. The installation of officers will take place in about two weeks when the association hopes to take possession of its new home on Grove street. The installation will be followed by a banquet, and speeches.

IT'S A WISE MAN THAT MAKES HIS OWN ICE.

Smalley Bros., the North avenue butchers, have made another improvement in the up-to-date refrigeration plant in their shop, whereby they and their brothers will be able to secure an ice supply during the summer, and at the same time they will be able to keep provisions, etc. A new box has been built adjoining that of their other large refrigeration plant and the same system of freezing will be employed.

The new box is equipped to freeze six cakes of ice, three inches thick, two feet long and twelve inches wide, at one time, and the process is a quick one. The improvement was made to accommodate Mr. Smalley's family and that of his brothers and will make them independent of any other ice supply.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight and Saturday; not much change in temperature.

EXERCISES IN SCHOOLS

Grand Army Veterans Address Pupils at Memorial Day Observances.

MR. L. F. V. RANDOLPH SPEAKS.

In Both City and Borough, the Children Commemorate the Day.

In memoriam of the deeds of Civil War veterans, exercises of a patriotic nature were held at all the local schools today. Delegations from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., visited the various buildings in the morning and afternoon, and addresses b ythe veterans were features of the programs, which included singing and recitations by the pupils.

Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph was the speaker at the Plainfield High School, where the exercises were held at 8:30 o'clock this morning. He gave highly interesting reminiscences of the war campaigns in which he fought, and urged his hearers to feel themselves to be a part of their country and live to exemplify a vigorous spirit of national pride. A delegation of local veterans occupied seats on the platform, which was decorated with the national colors, stands of arms and accoutrements. The singing of patriotic songs was under the direction of Charles L. Lewis, and there were several selections by the school orchestra.

As a preface to his address, Mr. Randolph said:

"Every one finds cheer in the hope that kind thoughts will follow him out of this life—that kind hands may be willing to decorate the peaceful spot where his mortal remains may rest.

"Not a few good men—not a few heroes even—have gone to their death without a word of comfort from kindred or friends. Not many days ago I stood in the Collosseum at Rome, on the spot which was long ago trod by gladiators and martyrs. Enthroned above, had posed the proud Roman Emperor. His innocent victims did homage before him. "Great Caesar," they cried. "We, who are about to die, salute thee!" Then proceeded their martyrdom. None dared a comforting word, and no blooms adorned their graves. In the Metropolitan Art Museum of New York is a wonderful picture of a lovely Christian martyr. Savage beasts are about rushing upon her. But some one of the tens of thousands of spectators has dropped a rose from the galleries at her feet. She sees not the fierce creatures thirsting for her blood. Her thought and gaze are fixed upon the rose, the evidence of human sympathy and love. She is serene and comforted.

"To these heroes of freedom whom we honor today we cannot personally offer our roses and wreaths. They are beyond our sight and call. But we can lay upon their quiet resting places the renewed evidence of our grateful affection. More than that! They knew in dying that their comrades and their country would love and honor them forever."

The exercises at the Irving School, held at 10:45 this morning, were marked by addresses by five of the veterans. A feature was the presentation of a large photograph of veterans of the National Association of Civil War Musicians, taken at the convention held last year at Toledo, Ohio. The picture was presented by J. N. Bogart, commander of the organization, and will be hung in the school. The delegaiton from the Post was in charge of W. I. Chittenden, and other speakers were Chief T. O. Doane, John R. Naylor and J. R. Struthers.

At the Bryant School, the program was featured by patriotic songs and recitations. Those who recited were Daniel Clarke, Erastus Thames, Leonard Lewis, William Steinmiller, Ernestine Wilson, Hazel Todd, and Lavinia Fulmer. Nine girls from the 4 A grade recited, as did pupils from the 4 B and the fifth grade. A feature of the music was a violin solo by Hazel Putnam. At the Washington School the program included recitations by Sadie Rothberg, Theodosia Vail, Lillian Ball, Temple Burgess, Lucy Dress and Fannie Kunzman, together with patriotic songs by all the pupils. Because there is no assembly hall at the Lincoln School, the Memorial Day exercises were held in the various class-rooms, and were marked by singing and recitations. No veterans were present.

Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, spoke at the Stillman School, where the exercises were held at 9:30 o'clock. A delegation of veterans, headed by J. N. Bogart, was present. Mr. Howard, whose father and uncle, General O. O.

BRUTAL HUBBY HALED TO COURT BY HIS WIFE

Charged with brutally beating his wife at their home on West Second street, Angelo Montonara was brought to police headquarters last night in the patrol wagon, when his injured wife made a complaint for his arrest. Angelo is a big fellow, whose muscles have been hardened by punching dough in a local bakeshop, but to judge by his appearance in court today, the "Mrs." is some on the defensive. She grabbed up an umbrella when attacked last night, and increased her batting average by a powerful swat over her husband's left eye. Furthermore, she jabbed Angelo in the left cheek and drew blood, which still covered his clothes when he walked into the court room.

Mrs. Montonara did not appear in court today, and City Judge Runyon believes that perhaps she has been so cowed by threats from the burly Angelo that she will not press the charge. Accordingly, the man was locked up until tomorrow, and an effort will be made to have the woman come to court and tell the story of the fracas. Neighbors of the pair say that the two quarrel frequently, and that in one of their fights, the wife sustained two broken ribs. Angelo acknowledged this morning that he had beaten the woman on Monday, but said that she was intoxicated last night and attacked him.

N. P. H. S. LIBRARIAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO

Struck by an automobile owned and driven by Albert Giddes, of Manning avenue, Miss Elizabeth Claypoole, librarian of the North Plainfield High School, was knocked down and painfully injured while she was crossing Watchung avenue to her home on Grandview avenue yesterday afternoon at about 5 o'clock. She was dragged some distance, and when picked up by the motorist was found to have sustained a severe cut on the left arm, together with various bruises and contusions about the body. Mr. Giddes took her to her home in the automobile, and Dr. Albert Pittis was summoned. She was later removed to Muhlenberg Hospital in the car which ran her down and is resting comfortably today. Borough Recorder Charles M. Dolliver held the motorist under $200 bail at his hearing last night.

Bystanders declare that Mr. Giddes, who was running slowly, did everything in his power to prevent the accident. Miss Claypole, it appears, crossed the street just behind a wagon, and did not see the automobile, which was coming in the opposite direction, until too late. She became confused and jumped the wrong way. An examination at the hospital showed that the flesh had been torn from the arm, but the injury, while extremely painful, is not considered serious. Mr. Giddes stopped the automobile upon seeing the woman in his path, but started again, believing that she would stand where she was. Miss Claypole stepped back to the sidewalk and was thrown by the front axle.

Ben Greet Players Coming.

The Ben Greet Players have been engaged to give two Shakespearian performances on the campus at Mt. St. Mary's College, Friday afternoon and evening, June 18. In the afternoon "Taming of the Shrew" will be given and "Midsummer Night's Dream" will be presented in the evening. Arrangements have been made to serve lunch between the afternoon and evening performances for those desiring to remain.

Will Erect Handsome Building.

The People's Bank, of Westfield, of which Mayor Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield, is a director, has purchased a valuable tract of land at Prospect and Board streets, Westfield, and plans are out for the erection of a handsome banking institution there. The bank is now occupying leased quarters.

Italian Will Recover.

Guisseppi Paradiso, the Italian who was stabbed Sunday night after returning from a day's outing on the mountain in company with a number of fellow-countrymen, is steadily improving at the hospital. He will doubtless recover. His assailant is still at liberty.

Dinner at the Hunt Club.

The regular table d'hote dinner will be served at the Watchung Hunt Club Monday night, after the baseball game between the hunt club and South Orange Field Club teams. Members wishing dinner served must notify the steward before Sunday night.

APPROVE JOINT SEWER

Plainfield Favors Uniting with Suburban Towns in Sewage Disposal Scheme.

LEGISLATION MAY BE NEEDED.

Public Park Proposition Also Discussed At Private Meeting of the City Fathers.

The Common Council meeting last night as a committee of the whole adopted a resolution favoring the proposition to establish a new and enlarged sewage disposal plant, jointly, to include Plainfield, North Plainfield, Dunellen, Fanwood and Scotch Plains; also to continue the special sewage committee and to confer with Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh with a view to ascertaining what legislation if any or legal work is necessary to accomplish the purpose.

The report of the special sewage commission was discussed in detail and it was the sense of the members taht it would be wise to install a larger plant in the western end of North Plainfield township, as proposed, whereby the various municipalities named can sewer. The result of this confernce will be communicated to the other municipalities with a view to securing their co-operation in the improvement. Later it is expected that there will be a conference of the representatives of the several municipalities.

Considerable time was also devoted to a discussion of the park proposition, presented by the Plainfield Park Association, which has offered to deed the entire tract decided upon for park purposes to the city. It was learned that there are a few small parcels of land just outside and adjoining the main tract, desired also for park purposes and if the consent of the owners can be obtained to turn the whole strip into a park, no doubt the proposition will be accepted. The general idea was favored by the councilmen, but they do not want any entanglement and the park association has assured the city that it will do all in its power to have the matter go through right.

As so much was taken up with the consideration of the sewage and park questions, the members were not inclined to discuss at any length the matter of increasing the number of patrolmen at this time. The proposition was mentioned but it was decided to lay it over until a future time when more time can be given to its consideration. The Council as a whole are inclined to favor the plan to employ more patrolmen, provided the expense is not too great, and doubtless something will be done soon.

Ready to Begin Street Work.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett is now preparing to begin operations on West Front street. It is planned to use what is known as "Tarvia X," in resurfacing the street. This is a heavier preparation than other dust-layers and will be worked in with the stone. This treatment of the street will extend from Madison avenue to Grant avenue and west of the latter street, it is proposed to tear up the roadway with the scarifier and put in several courses of stone with a dust preventitive on top.

Tanglefoot Put Him Under.

Walter Jenkins, a colored man, was arrested on West Second street early this morning when he was found in a helplessly intoxicated condition by Patrolman Sweeney. In court today Jenkins' face showed an ugly bruise, sustained by hitting the pavement when his steering gear got out of order from too many libations. Judge Runyon gave him his choice of $3 or ten days, and he unwound a three-spot.

Will Observe Decoration Day.

Decoration Day will be observed at the First Baptist church on Sunday. Appropriate music will be rendered by the choir and the church will be fittingly decorated. Strangers and visitors will be welcomed and a special invitation is extended to all "old soldiers."

Engagement Announced.

Miss Jean Gilfillan, of Madison avenue, entertained a few friends last evening in honor of Miss Jessica L. Brightman, of Oneonta, N. Y. During the evening the engagement of Miss Brightman to Dr. Clive W. Montfort, of this city, was announced.

—Neuman Bros. will be able to meet your every want today and tomorrow with the choicest assortment of vegetables, strictly fresh. The shipment of vegetables is received daily. The wise housekeeper will prepare in advance for Decoration Day.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The members of the Methodist church and friends gave a most cordial welcome to their new pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Grisriel, in the class rooms of the church last night. The church was prettily trimmed in honor of the event and the weather was no bar to the success of the affair which was attended not only by the members of the church but by the members of the Baptist and Episcopal churches as well. The entertainment was strictly informal, vocal and instrumental music being enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Young sang a duet and Miss Moffett a solo, both of which were much enjoyed. During the evening refreshments, ice cream, cake and candy, was served.

The Memorial Day exercises will be held Sunday afternoon instead of Monday. The G. A. R., of Plainfield, together with the local firemen will attend divine service at the Baptist church at 2:30, after which the graves of the soldiers dead will be decorated.

Montross and Albert will be the battery tomorrow against the Cranford A. C. team. If "Jimmy" is in the condition he was two weeks ago, the visitors will have to play some baseball to win out. Game called at 3:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dobbins, who have been visiting Mr. Dobbins' mother, Mrs. Robert Walpole, have returned to their home in Newark.

The work of macadamizing Park avenue is about completed. When down the roadbed will be the best in the township.

The weekly prayer and praise meeting of the Baptist church will be held in the parlors of the church tonight.

The B. A. C. team play St. Mary's at Plainfield tomorrow afternoon.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Playing in his usual clever style, Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, with 156 in rounds of 74 and 82, led the field in the thirty-six hole qualifying round of the eleventh annual championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association on the links of the Apawamis Club Wednesday. There were ninety-odd starters and the merit of Travis' performance may be better appreciated when it is remembered that the next best score was 160 by Findlay S. Douglas.

Although the conditions were ideal the cards, with few exceptions, were on the high side. Those with scores of 177 tied for last place in the championship division. The field was a fairly representative one despite the fact that such well known amateurs as Jerome D. Travers, Charles Seely, the title holder, and Archie Graham were absentees.

Several women members of the Park Golf Club will assist in the tea to be given at the club Monday afternoon, and this promises to be quite a social event.

The weekly dinner-dances will not be inaugurated at the Plainfield Country Club until all the improvements are completed early in June. However, the club has arranged to serve luncheons and dinners at the clubhouse beginning tomorrow.

The weekly competition for the Spring Handicap cups will be the chief attraction at the Plainfield Country Club tomorrow, while at the Park Golf Club there will be the competition for the President's and Park Golf Club cups, handicap and scratch events.

It is hoped that the women will take more to the game of golf at the local clubs this season. Besides being a healthful exercise, it lends great interest to the game. Later one of the one-day tournaments will be held at the Plainfield Country Club.

BASEBALL.

In the New York-St. Louis series, Roger Bresnahan did not accomplish all that he desired, but he did succeed in white-washing his former colleagues, while "Bugs" Raymond had great satisfaction in blanking his former team-mates.

The Y. M. C. A. will play the Greenpoint team on Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon. Clinton Avenue will not play owing to the carnival. Monday morning the association nine and Clinton Avenue will clash for the first time this season.

John Burns has left the Y. M. C. A. team for the present. Probably when Jack Peacock returns home from Princeton he may return to the club.

"Lou" Wiltse is doing good work pitching for his old team at Syracuse, N. Y. He is a favorite among the ball fans in that city.

There is some talk of reorganizing the Mono A. C., which last season played good ball, defeating some of the best teams in this part of the State.

Westfield has no representative team this season, the old town being obliged to fall back on the school-brand of ball. Since Charlie Denman left the game there has been nothing doing in the place.

Somerville likewise is "on the blink" so far as a representative team is concerned. It is not much like the old days when the rivalry among the teams of Plainfield, Westfield and Somerville was so intense.

Plainfield, as it has been proved, will not support a first-class semi-professional team. The fans are not willing to attend in sufficient numbers to make it a paying proposition. New Brunswick is trying the scheme this season, "Dave" Driscoll being in charge of the club. The result will be watched with interest.

GRADUATE SEVEN NURSES

rely henceforth upon your own resources, and upon this depends your success. We who have watched over you feel that you'll be able to carry sunshine into the many homes you will enter, and bring joy and healing to the lives of despair. Such is the true mission of the trained nurse."

Following Dr. Carman's address, the diplomas were presented by Mr. Ladd. These are the graduates: Miss Ethel Eugenia Humphrey, of Rome, N. Y.; Miss Kate Embury Bodine, of Jackson avenue; Miss Ina Rudd, of London, Ontario, Canada; Miss Jane M. Everitt, of Fairview avenue; Miss Anna Marshall, of Port Richmond, Staten Island, and Miss Olive Louise Schreibweiss, of New York city.

Former Mayor William L. Saunders, of the Board of Governors, presented the class pins to the graduates. "The badge on an occasion of this kind," he said, "is an evidence of achievement as well as position. By your three years of hard service you have won the good opinion of the officers of the hospital and these class pins are given you not because you occupy a position, but because you have done something to reach it. Bear in mind that sweet mercy is nobility's true badge." His address was a splendid one for such an occasion.

A reception followed the graduation exercises, and refreshments consisting of icec ream, cake and fruit punch were served. The later hours of the night were spent in dancing, music was by Suhr's orchestra.

MAY DAY CELEBRATION AT MOUNT ST. MARY'S.

The first May Day celebration at the College of Saint Mary's was held yesterday afternoon. On account of the rain the original plans of holding the "May Pole dance" and other exercises on the campus had to be abandoned. Games and speeches took place in the gymnasium and at 5 o'clock Miss Florence Nolan, of Trenton, was crowned "Queen of the May." Jack Barrett, of New York, was made the king.

Among those to respond to toasts were Miss Miss Katherine Redican, Miss Grace Rafferty, Miss Elizabeth MacLay, and Miss Marie Kenney. The festivities of the day ended with a short address delivered by Prof. L. E. Tucker. On Monday the May Pole dance will be given for the benefit of the St. Mary's alumnae who will hold its re-union on that day.

Berselden Mills Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the Union County Court, this morning, by the Berselden Mills, the principal office being on Washington avenue, this city. The concern is incorporated to manufacture, export and import materials, especially dry goods. The capital stock is $25,000, of 250 shares at $100 each. The concern will start business with $1,500 capital. The incorporators are George Goodline, of this city, who has five shares; Sidney D. Rosenthal and F. J. Koblitz, of New York, five shares each.

Howard, fought in the Civil War, told of incidents of their campaigns, and drew a lesson of patriotism. Mr. Bogart also spoke. Captain W. C. Smith spoke at the exercises held at the Franklin School, and was accompanied to the school by a detail of veterans.

North Plainfield.

The Grand Army veterans had much to do with the Decoration Day exercises held in the borough schools today. At the high school a number of the old soldiers assembled to add to the interest of the occasion. Short addresses were made by W. W. Coriell and the Rev. Ora J. Shoop. The primary grades were the only ones to have a regular program. The following program was carried out by the pupils of primary department:

Singing, "If I Were You;" recitation, "Loving Thoughts," Martha Emmons; "Blossoms Sweet," Arthur Krausse; "A Buttercup," Jack Cannon; "Remembrance," Edith Shotwell; "A Child's Offering," song by school; recitation, "Decoration Day," Ella Vail; "Quotations," seven pupils of the second B grade; solo, "Tenting Tonight," Franklin Rowley; recitation, "Red, White and Blue," May Moore; "A Memorial Day Flag," Constance Selby; "Our Colors," three girls of the Third grade; "How to Serve the Flag," Jack Alster; singing, "Star Spangle Banner," by Fourth grade pupils; piano solo, Everett Case; recitation, "Stonewall Jackson," Harold Wahlig; recitation, "For Grandpa's Sake," Marie Van Winkle; song, "Our Heroes," girls of Fourth grade; address, Rev. Ora J. Shoop; singing, "Cover Them Over."

Pupils of the various schools have been asked to bring flowers to their respective buildings tomorrow, and these will be used in the decoration of the dead veterans' graves Sunday, when the Post will turn out in force. H. C. Smith and I. L. McVoy have been appointed marshals of the day.

On Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, the Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, of Scotch Plains, will preach a special Memorial Day sermon to the members of the G. A. R., in the Scotch Plains Baptist church. At 7:30 o'clock that evening the members of Winfield Scott Post will meet in G. A. R. Hall and go in a body to the First M. E. church, this city, where the Rev. C. M. Anderson will preach a memorial sermon.

On Monday next a detail of the G. A. R. will hold the usual memorial exercises in the cemeteries, and the exercises by the Post will take place in the Reform Hall in the afternoon.

There will be no session of the city and borough schools Monday.

Proctor's New Vaudeville Bill.

The new vaudeville bill at Proctor's theatre today and tomorrow, will include Ethel Mar & Co., in "The Japanese Puzzle;" "The Campbells," comedy musical artists; Manny Worth, monologue and singing comedian, and Doll & Burden, novelty entertainers, all top-liners in the world of amusement. There will be a complete change of life motion pictures. Tomorrow the show will run continuously from 2 until 10:30 o'clock.

Buy Van Arsdale's Children's Shoes

There are just as many reasons why you should buy Van-Arsdale's Shoes as you have little feet to shoe. They are comfortable and permit of the proper development of the little foot and that's something other shoes don't do. They will wear a month longer, too. Try one pair on the youngster who is hardest on his shoes and then you will know all the reasons.

BOY MUSICIANS SOON TO VISIT DENMARK ON TOUR.

That Tognarelli trio which commenced an engagement at the New Plainfield theatre yesterday, comprises three boy musicians, who sure are "there" with the melody. Their number on the program is marked by both classic and popular music, and they got an enthusiastic reception yesterday by their playing. At the conclusion of their engagement in this city, the boys, the eldest of whom is thirteen years old, will make a trip to Denmark.

The Kintings, with their trained animals, are declared to have the best act of the kind ever shown here. The troupe includes dogs, cats, rabbits and pigeons, each of whom has a particular "stunt." The various other acts on the big bill round out a show well worth seeing.

Boynton Beach Opening.

Boynton Beach will open tomorrow. Several new attractions have been added. Free dancing Saturday afternoon. Popular hop and open air concert on Saturday night.

TICKETS SELLING FAST.

The chorus of 150 singers for "Tom" Muir's minstrel benefit will meet for a rehearsal at the Elks' lodge rooms tonight. City Judge W. N. Runyon will be in charge and W. E. MacClymont will be at the piano. The music has practically been decided upon and the big chorus is fast getting in practise on the songs.

There is still a steady demand for tickets for the monster benefit. The tickets may be secured at the box office of the New Plainfield theatre, at which the show will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, June 18 and 19.

Attending Church Conference.

Rev. Edwin Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church is in attendance at the annual meeting of the Seventh-Day Baptist Eastern Association at Shiloh. He will address that gathering tomorrow morning.

Under the direction of the choir the music at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning will be appropriate to Memorial Day.

THE WEDDING VEIL.

As to the wedding veil, says a writer in Vogue, its disposal is a matter of taste. If worn over the face, a separate short piece for this purpose is pinned on at the front of the coiffure, to be taken off at the chancel rail by the maid of honor or one of the birdesmaids. Most brides in this country wear the veil off the face. The same rules as to dress apply at home as if the bride were married at church. The bridesmaids usually wear hats, but a very pretty custom followed much in Europe is the wearing of a tulle veil instead of a hat. This veil, which is adjusted with a wreath of flowers and of course worn back from the face, is always becoming. The veil matches the gown in color, and the flowers are the same as those in the bouquet. The bridesmaids and maid of honor wear gloves.

THE GENTLE CYNIC.

No luck at all is certainly hard luck.

A train of thought is the real thing in rapid transit.

Those who dodge work are apt to be dodged by the reward.

Many a man thinks he is wise because he has no children to expose his ignorance.

A woman merely points out the way for a man to make a fool of himself, and he does the rest.

Probably more people attend funerals than weddings because they are not expected to give presents.

Disliked the Other Kind.

Philanthropic Caller (with subscription paper)—I shall ask your attention only a moment, sir. Are you a friend of the dumb brutes?

Shorty McGinnis—You bet I am! That's why I hate cats, parrots an' donkeys.—Chicago Tribune.

THE SEASON'S BEST OFFERING OF

Fine and Fashionable Dresses

PRICES ONE-HALF TO ONE-THIRD VALUE

The rainy day yesterday hardly excused people for not taking all we had of these handsome dresses at the low price asked, but rain counts mightily with some folks, and because of it we can invite you to come Saturday and pick a dress or two at the same little figure —$15.

These pretty dresses are of finest foulards, shantungs, pongees, messalines, and a few crepe de chine—the most beautiful of this season's newest shades including dainty pastels. Some of them highly novel in weave and coloring; yokes and collar of net over tinsel and embroidered, braided and lace effects of many kinds, some with solid self-embroidered bodice; some braided with Persian, jet and other garnitures; some beautiful crochet; skirts in the newest round or demi lengths; many in the fashionable plaited styles, others in Directoire effects; dresses that can be used most appropriately for afternoon, street of evening wear; not a garment in the lot that was made to retail for less than $35 and from that to $45—this lot at the extraordinary price of $15

Second Floor.

Women's Two and Three Piece Linen Coat Suits, prettily made; lace insertion trimmed; three-quarter length hipless coats; slashed back and sides; cutaway effect with pointed back; others with full braided lace coats, medium length, one-button cutaway, all skirts circular gored, full trimmed to match coats; with or without bodice, with long sleeves and pretty lace yoke, in white, pink, lavender, blue and other good shades; regular value $17.98; special priced for Saturday $11.98

Women's and Misses' Serge Suits for mountain and seashore use; three-quarter length, hipless coats; one-button cutaway effect, with new and stunning striped collar and cuffs; skirt with high belt, circular gored sides, button trimmed; in black, navy, Copenhagen, rose, reseda and other good shades; regular value $37.98; special priced $26.98

Misses' and Women's Smart Suits of plain Panama and Checks, finely tailored; medium length, hipless coat, with or without Bengaline collar; generously trimmed with buttons; skirts circular gored, with button trimmed panel; nicely lined with satin or messaline; value $18.98; special priced $11.98

Another Great Hat Sale

$15 to $20 Trimmed Hats $6.85.

We've been doing such big things in a millinery way lately that we imagine you will suppose that we have reached the limit of bargain giving; but when you see these hats tomorrow at the price at which we are going to sell them you will marvel, perhaps, as much as we have at any other offering we have made, for these hats are very beautiful indeed, coming from the hands of our own milliners, noted for their superb productions, and they are in styles that you will like.

There is a great variety to choose from—practically every one being different in shape and color effect; hats that are not too extreme and yet not too conservative to please the average woman; kinds that we regularly sell at $15 to $20; you may have your choice of them Saturday at only $6.85

$8 TO $10 SUMMER HATS—Made of beautiful light braids of the kinds that go into high grade hats, and they are trimmed in dashing, effective styles with handsome white and colored wings and ribbons; the variety of styles is great and they are all good and while most effective will prove acceptable for conservative folks as well as the ultra fashionable. They are hats that will rank well with those usually sold at $8 and $10; yet we will give you your choice of them at only $4.75

Rough Braid Sailor Hats in flat or mushroom brim, with band of grosgrain ribbon; would be cheap at 87c, the regular price; special at ..... .45

New Fancy Braid Sailors with mushroom brim; trimmed with band of velvet ribbon; reg. $1.69; special priced at ..... .95

Second Floor.

Ruckstuhl Pianos

ONE-THIRD LESS THAN USUAL COST

We have about twenty-five Ruckstuhl Pianos—a make of which we have sold many and which is giving splendid satisfaction to all who own one, and these instruments we are going to close out at prices just one-third less than regular.

Ruckstuhl Pianos are beautifully cased and are in the most modern designs; the tone is sweet, the action easy, and they are pianos you can be proud of in every way—one of the best moderately priced instruments we know of.

Do yourself a good turn by coming in and hearing one of these excellent instruments played and learn how cheaply and easily they can be bought. Terms arranged to suit you.

Second Floor.

Refrigerators

SPECIAL PRICES ON THE GOVERNOR

Three of the most popular sizes we have in stock of the famed Governor Refrigerator will be offered tomorrow under price. All are well-built hardwood boxes with dry air circulation; all parts removable for cleaning; self-closing provision chamber doors:

No. 3	46	22	32	100	$21.15	$17.40

Girls' Washable Dresses

The smartest little Jumper and Princess Tub Dresses we have seen in many a day are these of sheer and dainty lawn—many colors and patterns; attractive chambrays, linons in light and medium blues and tans; pretty percales with light grounds, and black and white checks; trimmed for the most part with contrasting colors; made with high or Dutch neck; for girls of 6 to 14 years; low priced as follows—

$2.00 Dresses	$2.50 Dresses	$3.50 Dresses
95c	1.45	1.95

Apparel for Larger Girls

Outing Suits, Separate, Tub Dresses—In a variety large enough to please all who come—surely the best stock of apparel for big girls to be seen in any Newark store.

Linon Coat Suits for girls of 12 to 16 years; in white, light blue and tan; perfect in fit and workmanship; value $5.98, at $3.98.

White Linen Skirts of good quality, in handsome tailored models; trimmed with pearl buttons; lengths 32 to 37; $3 skirts for $2; $2.50 skirts for $1.50.

3.50 Lingerie Waists 2.00

A new lot, just in, of dainty and beautiful Lingerie Waists that will be much admired and will find plenty of buyers at the little price at which we will sell them tomorrow. The models are very pretty indeed, made of sheerest batiste; some with the entire waist and sleeves elaborated with strips of filet lace; others with dainty lace and embroidery yokes; all wanted sizes; waists that should sell at $3.50 to go on Saturday at $2

Second Floor.

Silver Mesh Bags

THESE AT HALF PRICE.

Here is another offer of German Silver Mesh Bags that should bring many buyers, even though we have sold such generous lots recently at low prices. These are entirely new and have frames in French gray, in beautiful floral designs; the bags are 4½ inches deep and 5 inches wide; lined with white kid; ornamented with five ball drops. They are worth fully $5, and would sell for that in most stores. But we have secured this lot so as to sell them at just half that price $2.50

Main Aisle, First Floor.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

One of the principal items attached to the enormous expense incurred by Miss Maude Adams' performance of "Joan of Arc" in The Stadium of Harvard, Tuesday night, June 22, will be the bill of expenses for cables between Charles Frohman's London and New York offices. Mr. Frohman has directed the entire enterprise from The Hicks Theatre, London, even covering such seemingly slight but really important details as the thorough rehearsing of the horse Miss Adams will ride as Joan, by a rider covered with the noisest kind of steel armor. When the time for the performance comes round, it is expected that the great, white Arabian steed that Miss Adams will ride—and which will be the only white horse on the field during the performance—will be experienced to any kind of conceiving noise.

"Follies of the Day," the musical comedy that has created such a sensation in New York city, is now entering upon its fourth big week at the Lincoln Square theatre. The book and lyrics were written by Barney Gerard and the music is by Albert Von Tilzer. These two have conceived a musical piece that is a tuneful sensation. Every song is already being whistled along Broadway. Not since the erection of this theatre has there been such large audiences as have greeted "Follies of the Day," the receipts for the first two weeks eclipsing Harry Lauder's business by $5,000. So unanimous were the New York press in their criticism of the show that it swept New York like a cyclone and the theatre-goers welcomed the entertainment with open arms and further demonstrated their appreciation by encoring every number about a dozen times.

Klaw & Erlanger and Joseph Brooks have accepted Eugene W. Presbrey's dramatization of Rex Beach's latest novel, "The Barrier." The play will be produced next season with Guy Standing in the role of Lieut. Meade Burrell and Theodore Roberts as John Gale, a character which will give Mr. Roberts the opportunity to create another role of the distinct American type. The scenes of Mr. Beach's novel are laid in Alasaka.

Klaw & Erlanger have entered into contracts with Maud Raymond and Max Rogers, whereby the firm is to feature them in a new play by Aaron Hoffman, with music by Max Hoffman, entitled "The Young Turk." The scenes are laid in Constantinople.

"The Boy and the Girl" will be the summer show at the Aerial Gardens atop the New Amsterdam Theatre. The season will open the first week in June. Marie Dressler will be featured in the production, which will be on the usual elaborate scale of a Klaw & Erlanger offering. Among the members of the big company will be Harriet Standon, Marie Gerson, Madeline Marshall, Barney Bernard, Tobey Lyons, Eddie Heron and Robert Fantus.

MITCHELL CAR DID STRONG WORK IN RUN.

The Mitchell car, driven by Walter Cram in the manufacturers' class of the Norristown (Pa.) endurance run, made an excellent record, securing second place and having a lead of more than twenty points over its nearest competitor.

It was also the only car of the two in its class claiming clean road scores to complete the 400 miles of the run an schedule time without having to take advantage of time allowance for tire trouble, thus showing splendid road ability, both as to mechanical construction and ease on tires.

The only mechanical penalties against the car were the result of a loosened radiator bolt, which did not affect the security of the radiator in any way; a number of loosened unimportant connections and bolts and gear, and a loosened rumble seat.

This latter was due to the fact that the car entered the run without a hand rail, and those riding in the rear seat were forced to hold on to the seat itself, thereby putting much additional strain on the seat's screws.

The classis itself was in perfect condition, being in as excellent shape as when it entered the run.

A Good Verdict.

Fargo, N. D., once boasted a composite postmaster and coroner. He was called one day to give a verdict upon the case of a stranger who had been the victim of a fit on the main street. As the man was known to nobody he was hurried to the much-prized new city hospital. There the case was diagnosed as appendicitis, but when the operation took place the attending surgeon discovered that the patient had been previously relieved of his appendix. The doctor endeavored to retract his steps, but the strange man died from the effects of the operation.

The postmaster-coroner, in rendering his verdict, filled in the space after "Cause of Death" with a rubber stamp which read "Opened by mistake."—Chicago Journal.

The Inevitable.

"My dear, I saw a perfectly lovely flat this morning."

"All right," replied her husband. "When do we move?"—Detroit Free Press.

Miss Mary Clara Hunter, of West Fourth street, returned home yesterday after spending several days with her sister, Miss Gertrude Hunter, a junior at Barnard College.

LITTLE FOLKS' AFFAIR WAS MUCH ENJOYED.

The little folks of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor and Farther Light Societies of the Park Avenue Baptist church gave an interesting entertainment last night, consisting of songs, recitations and dialogues, in the lecture room of the church. The room was well filled with parents and friends of the children, who enjoyed every number on the program. An amusing recitation, "The Unburied Woman," caused much Laughter. Those taking part were Edith Lowrey, Edna Bold, Madeline Moy and Fred Smith. A doll drill by sixteen little girls dressed in white received much applause. In the drill were Ethel Naylor, Lolita Weeks, Clara Hadley, Dorothy Taylor, Marjory Beck, Doris Sattell, Maud Miller, Elsie Dayton, Gladys Hadley, Doris Henry, Cornelia Smith, Olive George, Ruth Tate, Elizabeth Manning, Jennie Dayton and Ada Dayton.

A violin solo, "Iris," played by Miss Marjory Brown, was weel received. At the conclusion of the entertainment ice cream and cake was on sale.

—The Housewives Social Club, colored, has issued invitations for its first reception to be given Thursday night, June 10, at Peterson's Casino, Berckman street.

READING HER HOROSCOPE.

After supper Clare, the oldest girl, who is still in the high school, settled down in her corner of the living-room with a book in which she soon became deeply immersed, relates Youth's Companion. Nine o'clock came, and there was a little stir as the younger children went off to bed. Pretty soon ten struck.

"Why, Clare," said her mother, in surprise, "I had forgotten you, you have been still so long. You should have gone to bed half an hour ago."

"I know it, mother," said the girl. "I will go now. Good night!"

"What's that gay-colored book?" asked her father.

Clare put it behind her, instinctively. Then she held it out.

"'Horoscopes,'" read her father. "What on earth—"

"It tells you your character," said Clare. "It depends on when you were born. I have been looking up my character, and yours and mother's."

"Ah!" exclaimed her father. "I suppose you can tell in advance what we are going to do—what I am going to say to you now, for instance?"

"No—not exactly," admitted the girl, "but it is a wonderful book. I am sure it will help me a lot. For instance, I was born on November sixth. That comes under Scorpio."

"What does that mean?" asked her mother.

"Here it is!" exclaimed her father, who had the book in his hands. "If you are born under Scorpio you will be a military commander, a jurist, a lecturer, a surgeon, a lawyer or a manager. Which are you, Clare?"

"Of course those are for boys, first of all," said the girl, seriously, "but I should think that I came under lecturer, or manager. I am manager of the dance committee at school, you know."

"Well, let's see your character. 'You are domestic, home-loving, a kind parent, and very sensitive. You love gaiety, society, dress, but you burn these desires on the altar of sacrifice if they stand in your way of development. Your nature is cheerful and happy, but you have many anxious moments. You are apt to idealize those dear to you. You—when you are under a cloud, it is a dark one.'"

He tossed the book on the table, and looked at his daughter, smiling. "What stuff that is!" he exclaimed. "As if a thousand people didn't love their homes and have anxious moments! As if all the people born on the sixth day of November had the same temperament! Look at your cousin, Sarah Clark; are you like her? Her birthday is the same as yours. No, life is too short to waste it on such trash. It isn't bad, mind you, but it is foolish."

"I thought it was a little queer that every one had something good about him," said Clare. "I mean the same kind of good thing. It seemed as if the writer was trying to compliment you. Still, there might be something in it."

"There might," said her father, "but there isn't. Take my word—no, don't take my word. Put that book in your bookcase, and look at it ten years hence. That will be the best argument."

"That's what I did," said her mother. "When I was your age, I had a book like that. I burned it after I became engaged."

"You never told me," said Clare's father.

A POET'S COMPENSATION.

The profession of a poet is a tragic one—as painful and tragic as motherhood. That "making a poet out of a man" is a mysteriously painful business. Is there no other way? "No way but this," would seem to be Nature's answer. Yet where is the mother that would renounce her motherhood? And where is the poet—though he be a Dante walking the circles of hell or a Villon weaving ballades in the shadow of the gallows, be he starving in a garret or the outcast of some imperious love or the victim of some inexorable poison—where is the poet that would change his lot for any other?

A tragic, but how lovely and pleasant calling! His task to read the ways of heaven and the hearts of men, and to write down all he reads in fair-faced, sweet-voiced words that come to him singing strangely out of the air; words shaped like flowers and fragrant like honey, words like the rustle of woodlands, or the rising of the moon, words swift as birds and rooted as the mountains, words stern as bronze and soft as tears.

Magic consolation; who shall explain it!

And always, too, be he a Virgil crowned with Augustan taurel, or a Verlaine in the slums of Paris, or a Francis Thompson sleeping under London Bridge, he carries with him the knowledge of sublime distinction, of a romantic destiny. Sin-stained and sorrowful, hungry and in mean raiment, yet is he high of heart and proud of glance, for is he not Nature's confidant? Is he not a servant of the gods?—June Smart Set.

PROGRESS OF THE DAY ALL OVER THE WORLD.

The Swedish government has appointed a tariff commission in preparation for a thorough revision of the tariff in 1910.

In 1908 fiscal year Mexico made 123,285,312 kilos (kilo equals 2.2 pounds) of sugar, 70,947,573 kilos of molasses, and 50,000,000 kilos of panela.

The Potero Dairy Company, of Mexico, just organized, will establish the first modern dairy at Guadalajara. One hundred American cows are to be imported.

The rubber industry in Mexico is not as profitable as was expected. Inside of a few years the Far East will have 60,000,000 para trees producing from one to three pounds a year of rubber superior to the best Mexican grades. Fewer trees produce more rubber in the Far East.

Germany has built up and is continually improving and extending her inland waterways. During the past twenty years she has expended $150,000,000 on her waterways, and she has now in navigable rivers, canalized rivers and inland canals, over 8,278 miles of navigable waterways.

Argentina ranks third in the number of cattle, 29,116,625 head, Russia leads with 91,000,000 head, and the United States follows with 69,000,000 head. The value of Argentina's cattle is $928,685,834. Argentina is also third in horses, with 7,531,376 head, worth $205,826,834. Russia has 22,000,000 and the United States 21,000,000. Sheep numbered 67,211,764, worth $287,359,076, exceeded only by Australia's 83,000,000.

HOW TO ENDURE INVALIDISM.

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, in a paper on "How to Endure Invalidism," in Harper's Bazar for June, gives both invalids and well persons much food for thought. Among other good things she says:

"We may have to force ourselves to learn that invalidism is a dual affliction, and that the patient does not bear the whole of it. There is little enough that we can do for people who have the dreary task of taking care of us. To cultivate a common, human sweet temper, is one thing that we can do to offset the obligations under which we exist—perhaps it may be the only thing. It is doubtful if irritability eases suffering, although opinions may differ about that; but, even if it does, one had better suffer a little more, and be proportionally attractive to the people upon whom one is dependent for incessant care and kindness. It may not always be possible, but it is usually practicable for a sick person to be a pleasant one. An irritable word is a poisoned arrow flying heaven knows where, and hitting God knows whom. We have yet to learn that it does any less hurt because the trembling hand of an invalid bent the bow. It is not in human nature to love people—sick or well—who are continually shooting at us.

"The energy consumed in being cross might go far toward qualifying a sick man to bear the pain that had put him out of sorts. There is only so much power in the dynamo. Why waste on fretful ill-nature the force that might equip him to endure?"

"MOSQUITOES."

In Time of Peace Prepare for War!

Those whose sweet summer content is menaced when the mosquitoes in wailful choir mourn, will do well to possess themselves of a volume worth its weight in gold to every Jerseyite and to every suburbanite who shares the Jerseyman's summer tragedy. It is Mosquitoes, by E. G. Mitchell, which the Putnams publish. To exterminate the mosquito, or to reduce him to a state as near as may be to innocuous desuetude is, in the sultry months, the ruling passion of every man whose lines are laid in those districts to which the mosquito resorts to tune his pipe and sharpen his bill. To the gratification of this passion on a large scale, and in the grand style, the victims of the mosquito will be immensely encouraged by the counsels laid down in the book above named. That book tells how to wage victorious war against the mosquito race in general, and against the worst of his bad breed, the pest spreading anopheles. By putting into effect the measures—mainly simple and inexpensive measures they are—recommended by its author, it will often be found that those who in their country homes are tortured by these exasperating insects may free themselves from the infliction.

Aside from the part of this volume which is given to the practical question of mosquito "control" there is a scientific study of the mosquito in all his stages of lusty growth and pathetic decline which should be of the first interest to scientists.

"Doing" Uncle Sam.

The American tourists were returning from abroad.

"America expects every citizen to do his duty," read a patriotic inscription on the ship.

The Americans read it and smiled.

"Oh, we shall 'do' the duty all right," they whispered. And then smuggling began that would have made the tariff bill look sick.

Madam Barlow

By GEORGE ADAMS

The Eyrie was well named.

The pinnacle of ledge on which the cottage was perched was well-nigh inaccessible; quite so, in fact, except by way of the picturesque little foot-path that crept up to it from the group of summer houses clustered on the brow on the beach around its feet a few hundred yards below.

Midsummer was at hand and the Eyrie the center of attraction to every summer young man at Spurwink Cliffs. It had been so since the barge running semi-daily from the station three miles away had deposited an even half-dozen delectable summer girls at the foot of Eyrie Path late one afternoon three weeks prior to the opening of the story.

Several impetuous youths—more eager than wise—scrambled up the narrow footway, the morning after the arrival, with the expectation of catching a glimpse of the newcomers, and incidentally precipitating an introduction; but not only were the young ladies invisible; they found, much to their surprise, a corpulent, middle-aged dignified female sitting in the window that held the path, and intently reading.

When or by what means a portly chaperon could have been smuggled into town right under the eyes of the summer colony puzzled the young men as much as her presence chagrined them, for they had already entertained visions of unlimited good times with a bevy of unchaperoned summer girls.

"No fun up here, boys; let's watch out for the girls around the rocks and the beach; that old lady won't get far from camp with all her avoirdupois and this hill in the proposition, too, you may mark my words," and Billy Matthews ordered his squad to "right about face" and retreat.

The story of the safely-guarded Eyrie soon spread through the little community and various tactics were devised by the boys to lure the new girls into the holiday life of this particular half-dozen summer young men. The scheme all proved more or less successful, for it transpired as Billy Matthews had predicted; the duenna, or "our chaperon, Madam Barlow," as she soon came to be facetiously called, never did attempt the difficult path.

Nevertheless, all hints to the girls for an invitation to call at the Eyrie were ignored by them and every attempt made by the ardent "half-dozen" to steal up uninvited resulted in confronting the obsequious Madam Barlow with the inevitable book in hand in the watch tower, as the window came to be called, and past which no welcoming nod ever encouraged them.

The girls proved every bit as enticing as the first sight of them had promised, and if one by one they eventually eluded the ferret eyes of the madam and stole an hour singly or in groups on the rocks, or for a stroll in the moonlight, or a dip in the surf with these equally charming young men, it is certain no one troubled about it, and all the cottagers encouraged it from pure love of mischief, seemingly, for the exclusive "madam" had, by medium of her young flock, absolutely declined all overtures of hospitality extended either to herself or the young ladies by the friendly disposed cottagers at the foot of her path.

All day long, and day succeeding day, she sat there, reading—reading—reading, never condescending one glance even along the path.

Billy Matthews was hopelessly in love with Ethel Moses—everybody could see that—and Ralph Ingraham was developing symptoms easily diagnosed by his chums, and which he ingenuously admitted. Fred Lauder and Beatrice Munroe read Omar Khayyam too assiduously for it to "go down" with any one who had previously known Fred.

The Wavelet, a weekly folio sheet gotten out for the amusement of the summer colony, announced the engagement of four out of the six couples whose life centered about the Eyrie, and made convincing prophesies respecting the others. Only two hours later the colony was startled by the news of the tragedy at the Eyrie. Madam Barlow was said to have committed suicide.

Help was summoned to the Eyrie, and the pathway was quickly a wavering line of hurrying, struggling, puffing, perspiring, wild-eyed humanity.

The Eyrie door stood open and without ceremony men, women and children with hushed voices filed into the cottage.

In the living room they were met by the six young women dressed in pure white and with serious faces.

"This way, if you please," said Beatrice Munroe, acting as spokeswoman, led the way into the dining-room where the bewildered, incredulous eyes of the people met an array of daintily spread luncheon tables ranged around the four sides of the room, while from the ceiling overhead depended a Manila rope, and from the end of this rope which passed around her ample waist line, swayed the portly figure of Madam Barlow—a dummy in wax and other accessories.

But one brief moment was needed for comprehension, then: "Hurrah for the passing of Madam Barlow" went up from the guests.

"And welcome to our engagement feast," responded a chorus of happy voices, while simultaneously six immaculately dressed young men stepped unblushingly out from some hidden recess of the room.

IN DEFENSE OF THE SWAMP.

Southern Writer Sees Little Harm in Them, But Public Opinion Is Against Him.

Out of Georgia comes defense and even praise of the swamps. Dr. Roland Harper, in a publication of the Georgia Forest association, declares that swamps are not so black nor so noxious as they are painted, the Washington Post says. He even predicts a time when swamps will be reserved as parks for the preservation of their scenic beauties, which are not yet appreciated by nature lovers. An additional reason for preservation of the swamps he finds in the great need of forestation for the protection of the sources of streams, an argument in which there is considerable merit, although most of the great swamps are found not at the sources of streams, but near the mouths of rivers.

From time immemorial swamps have been identified with malaria and other fevers and diseases. Dr. Harper thinks they have been much maligned in this respect, declaring that there can be no objection to swamps on hygienic grounds since the discovery that malaria is spread only by the agency of mosquitoes. But right here the doctor overlooks the most potent argument for the draining of the swamps, for it is only by drainage that the great breeding haunts of the mosquitoes and other disease-bearing insects can be rendered innocuous. The existence of a large swamp near any center of population is a grave menace to health and inevitably reduces the economic, industrial and social efficiency of the people in the vicinity. As the south is to-day the greatest sufferer from the blighting effects of malaria and the diseases that follow in its train, it is somewhat remarkable that a defense of these pest spots should come from the pen of an intelligent, observing southerner.

It is a matter of history that can be verified by reference to any standard textbook that malarial diseases have disappeared from Europe and the northern part of the United States in almost exact proportion to the draining of the swamps. It is a necessary step in civilization's battle with disease. The widespread aversion to and dread of swamps that refuses to recognize their aesthetic values, which Dr. Harper deplores, is a deep-seated, popular instinct founded upon centuries of bitter warfare with swamp-bred disease.

Good Quality for Statesman.

It is said of George B. Cortelyou that he would stand on the rear of President McKinley's train when the president was touring the country and not only recognize the men of the town who had during his time come to Washington, but recall their names as well.

One time, it is said, the train stopped at a small station in the west. Cortelyou with the other members of the president's party alighted for a few minutes to limber up. A man came up to him and proceeded to introduce himself. Cortelyou interrupted him.

"I am glad to meet you, Mr. Jones. That matter about the claim is in the hands of the treasury department now, and you may expect to hear from it almost any time."

The man had not seen Cortelyou in eight months, and then for exactly five minutes.

Autos with Dog Kennels.

The dog trotting contentedly along between or just back of the rear wheels of a carriage is one of the pleasant remembrances of the time when the horse was supreme, but horse and dog were both rudely disturbed by the advent of the automobile.

Automobiles run too fast for a dog to trot along beside, and as there is not room within the autmobile for anything larger than a lap dog the coach dog had to go.

One English automobile firm is now manufacturing an automobile body that opens at the back, disclosing a roomy kennel for dogs, but it is probable that although better than nothing at all this arrangement will not be completely satisfactory to either dog or masters.—Popular Mechanics.

Silencers Have Found Favor.

Hiram Percy Maxim, Jr., the inventor, says that the United States government has made its first large purchase of the Maxim gun silencers, probably for use in the musketry schools and for testing by federal sharpshooters, who will suggest possible improvements. Spain, France and larger European powers have bought silencers through Mr. Maxim's representative, Hart O. Berg, who is also business manager of the Wright brothers. King Alfonso of Spain has had his own Mauser fitted with a silencer since he witnessed a demonstration in France recently.

One-Finger Exercises.

The piano below sounded insistently upon one note, being tuned. It had gone on for an hour or more.

"Doesn't that annoy you?" asked her visitor.

"Not half so much," said she, "as the playing by the flat dweller down there. She plays one note, too, but it's always the wrong one."

Natural.

"She's a very natural girl."

"So?"

"Yes; whenever she's invited out to dine she never thinks of taking the smallest piece of meat in sight, but helps herself to as much as she would eat if she were at home."—Detroit Free Press.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 30, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Heroes of home missions.—Matt. x, 7-16.

The first missionary tour of the twelve apostles was strictly a home missionary one. They were sent out to the Jews only, as the day for the offering of the gospel to the gentiles had not yet come. Christ's command to them was, "Into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not, but go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel." But of what they did we have little knowledge, but their later lives were heroic in missionary endeavor.

America does not want for heroes of home missions. Our country was settled by Christian people who preached the gospel to the native Indians and subsequently to the unevangelized people who lived within our borders, usually called the exceptional populations, such as the Mormons, Mexicans, mountain whites, colored race and others. In this work the highest kind of heroism was often displayed.

1. John Eliot, "the apostle to the Indians," stands first among our home mission heroes. Eliot labored among the Pequots and other tribes in eastern Massachusetts. He began his work in 1646, while pastor of the church at Roxbury. His incessant labors were crowned with success. He gathered his converts into towns and established schools and civilized industries. The towns were known as "Indian praying towns." Eliot made two catechisms for the Indians and translated the Bible into their language in 1658. Two years later it was printed—the first Bible printed on the American continent. How appropriate it was that it should have been in the Indian tongue! Eliot labored among his people for thirty years, often amid great dangers, teaching them to work, to read and to pray. He gave them a Bible in their own tongue, and from the fighting savages six churches were gathered and more than a thousand "praying Indians." Eliot's famous motto, written at the end of his Indian grammar, was, "Prayer and praise through faith in Jesus Christ will do anything."

2. David Brainerd was a conspicuous missionary hero. His work was among the Indians in Connecticut, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. His greatest and most successful work was performed among the Crossweeks, a tribe in central New Jersey. He labored against tremendous odds and yet, by the grace of God, transformed drunken, howling savages into devout and faithful Christians. Dr. Ashbel says, "His success here was perhaps without a parallel in heathen missions since the days of the apostles." The Indians became settled into a town, and a church and school were established. Weakened by ill health, he moved to Elizabethtown. Gaining a little strength, he was able to visit his people to bid them farewell, Feb. 18, 1847. He died Oct. 9 the same year, after a brilliant career, although he was only thirty years of age at the time of his death. Brainerd's life by Jonathan Edwards should be read by all Christian Endeavorers. Before his death his brother John visited him and continued his work.

3. Marcus Whitman is perhaps the most picturesque of all our missionary heroes. It was by his heroic action that Oregon and the great northwest were saved to the United States. As a missionary in Oregon he saw the encroachments of the English in that territory and appealed to the government to do something to save it. Appeals failing, Whitman came all the way to Washington and received permission from the government to take sufficient people to Oregon to form a settlement and thus sustain American superiority. In this great undertaking he was successful, leading 2,000 people to this distant home, and when they were settled the American flag was raised, never to come down. Whitman was successful in his work among the Indians, but he aroused the enmity of the whites of other nations, and they hired Indians to murder him. He died in 1847.

4. Mrs. A. R. McFarland must be mentioned as the most heroic woman in the history of home missions. Alaska had been ours for twenty years before the natives had the gospel sent to them. Then Sheldon Jackson took Mrs. McFarland, a brave and cultured woman to Fort Wrangel, where through a long winter she was the only white woman. Jackson returned, and the cry went up, "Have you left Mrs. McFarland in Alaska alone?" He boldly answered: "I have. What are you going to do for her?" He pictured her needs, and liberal offerings were raised, and she was thus assisted to begin a splendid work, in which she was engaged for many years.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. lii, 1-7; Nah. i, 15; II Sam. xii, 1-7; John i, 9-13; Matt. xv, 21-28; Acts i, 8; Gal. ii, 7-9; Rom. ix, 1-5; x, 1, 2; Rev. xxii, 17.

The Ant Hill Society.

After I had come through the forest of the eternal twilight, in central Africa, where the real pygmies dwell in eternal gloom, it was a genuine surprise to see ant hills twenty feet high and proportionate in circumference. It was still more amazing to see a finely designed and constructed church seating at least 500 persons and working cannibalism out of the savages by working Christianity into them. But greatest of all to cause astonishment was a young people's meeting with the Christian Endeavor brand on it; hence I will write about these things—the ant hills, the ant hill church, the ant hill Christian Endeavor society, the fight.—William Edgar Geil, LL. D., F. R. G. S., in Christian Endeavor World.

"What can you do for me?" he sputtered. "Oh, nothing, thanks! I wouldn't have you put yourself out for anything in the world. It's nice in here, and if that fellow kills me I'll miss a great deal of the poverty and hardship of this sinful world. But take your time, Irishman. Being tied by the legs like a calf is bully when you get used to it."

In turning over, the better to level his ironies at me, he had stirred up the dust in the straw so that he sneezed and coughed in a ridiculous fashion. As I did not move he added:

"You come in here and cut these strings and I'll tell you something nice some day."

I ran round to the front door, kicked it open and passed through a square room that contained a fireplace, a camp bed, a trunk, and a table littered with old newspapers and a few books. I found Gillespie in the adjoining room, cut his thongs and helped him to his feet.

"Where is your boat?" he demanded.

"On the west side."

"Then we're in for a scrap. That beggar goes down there for water; and he'll see that there's another man on the island. I had a gun when I came," he added mournfully.

He stamped his feet and threshed himself with his arms to restore circulation, then we went into the larger room, where he dug his own revolver from the trunk and pointed to the shotgun in the corner.

"You'd better get that. This fellow has only a knife in his clothes. He'll be back on the run when he sees your canoe." And we heard on the instant a man running toward the hut. I opened the breech of the shotgun to see whether it was loaded.

"Well, how do you want to handle the situation?" I asked.

He had his eye on the window and threw up his revolver and let go.

"Your pistol makes a howling noise, Gillespie. Please don't do that again. The smoke is disagreeable."

"You are quite right; and shooting through glass is always unfortunate! there's bound to be a certain deflection before the bullet strikes. You see if were not a fool I should be a philosopher."

"It isn't nice here; we'd better bolt."

"I'm as hungry as a sea-serpent," he said, watching the window. "And I am quite desperate when I miss my tea."

I stood before the open door and he watched the window. We were both talking to cover our serious deliberations. Our plight was not so much a matter for jesting as we wished to make it appear to each other. I had experienced one struggle with the Italian at the houseboat on the Tippecanoe and was not anxious to get within reach of his knife again. I did not know how he had captured Gillespie, or what mischief that amiable person had been engaged in, but inquiries touching this matter must wait.

"Are you ready? We don't want to shoot unless we have to. Now, when I say go, jump for the open."

He limped a little from the cramping of his legs, but crossed over to me cheerfully enough. His white trousers were much the worse for contact with the cabin floor, and his shirt hung from his shoulders in ribbons.

"My stomach bids me haste; I'm going to eat a beefsteak two miles thick if I ever get back to New York. Are you waiting?"

We were about to spring through the outer door, when the door at the rear flew open with a bang and the sailor landed on me with one leap. I went down with a thump and a crack of my head on the floor that sickened me. The gun was under my legs, and I remember that my dazed wits tried to devise means for getting hold of it. As my senses gradually came round I was aware of a great conflict about me and over me. Gillespie was engaged in a hand-to-hand struggle with the sailor and the cabin shook with their strife. The table went down with a crash, and Gillespie seemed to be having the best of it; then the Italian was afoot again, and the clenched swaying figures crashed against the trunk at the farther end of the room. And there they fought in silence, save for the scraping of their feet on the puncheon floor. I felt a slight nausea from the smash my head had got, but I began crawling across the floor toward the struggling men. It was growing dark, and they were knit together against the cabin wall like a single monstrous, swaying figure.

My stomach was giving a better account of itself, and I got to my knees and then to my feet. I was within a yard of the wavering shadow and could distinguish Gillespie by his white trousers as he wrenched free and flung the Italian away from him; and in that instant of freedom I heard the dull impact of Gillespie's fist in the brute's face. As the sailor went down I threw myself full length upon him; but for the moment at least he was out of business, and before I had satisfied myself that I had firmly grasped him, Gillespie, blowing hard, was kneeling beside me, with a rope in his hands.

"I think," he panted, "I should like champignon sauce with that steak, Donovan. And I should like my potatoes lyonnaise—the pungent onion is a spurring tonic. That will do, thanks, for the arms. Get off his legs and I'll see what I can do for them. You oughtn't to have cut that rope, my boy. You might have known that we were going to need it. My father taught me in my youth never to cut a string. I want the pirate's knife for a souvenir. I kicked it out of his hand when you went bumpety-bumpety. How's your head?"

"I still have it. Let's get you outside and have a look at you. You think he didn't land with the knife?"

"Not a bit of it. He nearly squeezed the life out of me two or three times, though. What's that?"

"He gave me a jab with his sticker when he made that flying leap and I guess I'm scratched."

Gillespie opened my shirt and disclosed a scratch across my ribs downward from the left collar bone. The first jab had struck the bone, but the subsequent slash had left a nasty red line.

Gillespie swore softly in the strange phrases that he affected while he tended my injury. My head ached and the nausea came back occasionally. I sat down in the grass while Gillespie found the sailor's pail and went to fetch water. He found some towels in the hut and between his droll chaffing and his deft ministrations I soon felt fit again.

"Well, what shall we do with the dago?" he asked, rubbing his arms and legs briskly.

"We ought to give him to the village constable."

"That's the law of it, but not the common sense. The lords of justice would demand to know all the why and wherefores, and the Italian consul at Chicago would come down and make a fuss, and the man behind the dago would lay low and no good would come."

"When will Holbrook be back?—that's the question."

"Well, the market has been very feverish and my guess is that he won't last many days. He had a weakness for Industrials, as I remember, and they've been very groggy. What he wants is his million from Miss Pat, and he has own chivalrous notions of collecting it."

We decided finally to leave the man free, but to take away his boat. Gillespie was disposed to make light of the whole affair, now that we had got off with our lives. We searched the hut for weapons and ammunition, and having collected several knives and a belt and revolver from the trunk, we poured water on the Italian, carried him into the open and loosened the ropes with which Gillespie had tied him.

The man glared at us fiercely and muttered incoherently for a few minutes, but after Gillespie had dashed another pail of water on him he stood up and was tame enough.

"Tell him," said Gillespie, "that we shall not kill him to-day. Tell him that this being Tuesday we shall spare his life—that we never kill any one on Tuesday, but that we shall come back to-morrow and make shark meat of him. Assure him that we are terrible villains and man-hunters—"

"When will your employer return?" I asked the sailor.

He shook his head and declared that he did not know.

"How long did he hire you for?"

"For all summer." He pointed to the sloop, and I got it out of him that he had been hired in New York to come to the lake and sail it.

"In the creek up yonder," I said, pointing toward the Tippecanoe, "you tried to kill me. There was another man with you. Who was he?"

"That was my boss," he replied, reluctantly, though his English was clear enough.

"What is your employer's name?" I demanded.

"Holbrook. I sail his boat, the Stiletto, over there," he replied.

"But it was not he who was with you on the houseboat in the creek. Mr. Holbrook was not there. Do not lie to me. Who was the other man that wanted you to kill Holbrook?"

He appeared mystified, and Gillespie, to whom I had told nothing of my encounter at the boat-maker's, looked from one to the other of us with a puzzled expression on his face.

"All he knows is that he's hired to sail a boat and, incidentally, stick people with his knife," said Gillespie in disgust. "We can do nothing till Holbrook comes back; let's be going."

We finally gathered up the Italian's oars, and, carrying the captured arms, went to the east shore, where we put off in Gillespie's rowboat, trailing the Italian's boat astern. The sailor followed us to the shore and watched our departure in silence. We swung round to the western shore and got my canoe, and there again the Italian sullenly watched us.

"He's not so badly marooned," said Gillespie. "He can walk out over here."

"No, he'll wait for Holbrook. He's stumped now and doesn't understand us. He has exhausted his orders and is sick and tired of his job. A salt-water sailor loses his snap when he gets as far inland as this. He'll demand his money when Holbrook turns up and clear out of this."

(To be continued.)

Successful Furnace Fires

PATENTED

The BOYNTON Square Fire Pot

makes tending the furnace easy, but best of all it makes a joyous fire. Round fire pots burn strongly through the center with a rim of half dead clinkers at the edge and when you shake the fire the middle drops out. You've noticed it. Fires built in BOYNTON Square Pots are all live coals. A shake down is an even shake. The whole fire settles. There is no waste. The fuel being equal, a square pot will develop almost twice the heat, or the same heat for about half. The square pot is our patent and can be had only in the BOYNTON furnaces. We have a dealer in your town. He will be glad to show you.

There are BOYNTON heating plants of all kinds. Ask about our Round or Sectional Boilers for Steam or Hot Water. Also Ranges.

"TREAT NEWSPAPER MEN AS ALLIES, NOT SPIES."

Bishop Scadding, of Oregon, addressed the Eighth Missionary Department of the Protestant Episcopal church at Spokane, Wash., recently on the topic, "The Secular Press as a Missionary Agency," and in the course of his remarks said:

"Newspaper men should be treated as allies instead of as spies and impertinent meddlers in things which do not concern them. We can take them into comradeship in the work we are doing and, by treating them as friends instead of enemies, secure their confidence, good will and co-operation."

The bishop also had something to say about the preparation of copy by the clergymen.

"If you could hear the righteous indignation and the unrighteous abuse, and, I fear, profanity, created in newspaper offices of Friday nights when all hands are called to 'fix up the church notices' for publication," declared the bishop, "there would be instant reform in this direction. I am told that week after week and year after year there are poured into the newspaper offices these carelessly written notices, often in almost undecipherable chirography, with no regard for the style of the paper for which they are written, frequently written on odds and ends of paper and often on both sides and thrown together in a haphazard sort of way.

"In preparing matter for the press you should observe newspaper rules of composition: Tell your story in the first three lines—three words are better—and elaborate afterward. Then the reader can not 'ring off' before you have told him the gist of what you have to say.

"It must be borne in mind that the newspaper, even though it has twenty-four pages, has not a single line to waste. It pays thousands of dollars for matter it does not print, and it is safe to say that no newspaper uses half the matter poured in upon it by the press association, its special correspondents and the public generally. The great bulk of this news matter is bought and paid for, though never destined to see daylight, not because it is not news, but because matters which the trained senses of the editor pronounce more important news crowd it out.

"If we are to make good use of the secular press we cannot overestimate the importance of the make up of our articles and news notes. I believe that there is much of our work that could be presented in such dress that it would be attractive to the editor, and, consequently, to the people."

THE BOMB THROWERS OF THE BALKANS.

In an article entitled, "The Sportsman of the Near East," Reginald Wyon, in the Wide World, declares that the Montenegrins when warring against the Turks evince a heroism and utter fearlessness that is remarkable. "The strongest men," he says, "carry bombs, or rather hand grenades—things the Turkish soldier particularly abominates. I was told once how a certain man, whom I knew well, saved his band from destruction. They were fairly cornered and the Turks closing in, when the bomb thrower stood up amid the hail of bullets, lit the fuse with his cigarette, and rushed toward the soldiers, who, seeing his intention, promptly made tracks. It was, of course, lucky that the Mohammedan soldier, who does not much mind being sent to Paradise with a bullet, thinks his chance of eternal bliss very doubtful if he is blown up with dynamite.

"The nerve required to be a bomb thrower is worthy of a little reflection. He must absolutely expose himself, and as the fuse is very short the ignition must be coolly considered. If premature, it means the destruction of himself and comrades; and when it is fairly alight the bomb must be thrown with mathematical exactitude. In other words, the man must leave his cover and charge an overwhelming force alone, and not throw till he is close up to it."

TO CLEAN LINOLEUM.

A floor covering of good linoleum for the kitchen should hold its own for at least five years, says Country Life in America. The way to prolong its period of usefulness is to keep it clean; dirt ground into the finished surface by the tread of feet is the floor covering's greatest enemy.

Linoleum needs no soap, ammonia or strong cleaning agents.

A simple wiping with a cloth just moist with warm water is all that is needed. In one country home I have seen them use skimmed milk; but the owner had a herd of thirty cows. Once or twice a year give the linoleum a whipping of good furniture polish to renew its smooth surface.

A Failure.

"Has your son had any success as a lawyer?"

"Well, no, to tell the truth, he hasn't. He has been practicing now for nearly eleven years and he has never been elected to the Lgislature or been appointed receiver for anything or even become president of any railroad company. It begins to look as if he may have to eke out a living just practicing law."—Chicago Herald-Record.

PROGRESS OF THE DAY ALL OVER THE WORLD.

India has a rice crop this season of 22,338,949 short tons, 1,103,116 more than last season.

The study of English has been made compulsory in the primary schools of Guatemala.

Irish agricultural associations are moving for the introduction of advanced farming appliances.

The South Manchurian Railway will abolish its system of rebate on Japanese freights from September 30, 1909.

Dr. William A. Evans, health commissioner of Chicago, who has been appointed first director of the new municipal tuberculosis sanatorium, a tax for which was authorized by the voters at the recent election, has been an advocate of the sanatorium project as a needed institution for the protection of public health. He was appointed health commissioner by Mayor Busse soon after the Mayor took office in the spring of 1907.

Portugal imports yearly from $60,000,000 to $65,000,000 worth of merchandise, of which 6 per cent is American. Six articles, cotton, corn, petroleum, tobacco, wheat and staves, account for all but $700,000 worth of the American goods imported. That $700,000 is made up of nearly 300 articles, many of which are materials for manufacturing. In manufactures imported the American share is insignificant. Transportation is our handicap besides want of knowledge of the Portuguese market. American letters are not infrequently addressed "Lisbon, Spain." Tariff rates are high.

Formosa's area is 8,864,371 acres. With the exception of a narrow strip of plain along the coast the entire eastern half of the island is a rugged mountainous region still occupied by savage tribes and covered with virgin forests, with small areas under cultivation. About 64 per cent. of the population is engaged in agricultural pursuits. Rice, tea and sugar are the principal crops, and of these rice is the most important. Averaging 44,000,000 bushels, worth about $22,000,000. Under improved methods of cultivation and the extension of irrigation the rice produces a net income of $58 an acre when the land is owned by the planter.

CLOTHING FOR DOMINICANS.

Many Lines of American-Made Apparel Might Be Sold.

A report from Consul Ralph J. Totten, at Puerto Plata, states that no ready-made clothing for men and boys is imported into that part of the Dominican republic, which leads him to suggest such an American trade opportunity.

The well-to-do wear tailor-made clothing and the poorer classes have their clothes made at home or by a seamstress. The Dominican, as a rule, is well dressed. For the daytime, two-piece suits of linen or cotton cloth are worn. These are white, linen color or of light-colored checks and stripes of wash fabrics. Made-to-order suits of this class cost $7 to $15. In the evening dark cassimeres of light and medium weight are worn. These cost $20 to $40 per suit, made to order.

Laborers and country people wear clothing of brown drill or blue denim, made up in a manner similar to the American overall suit. These materials cost locally from 25 to 40 cents per yard, which makes a suit cost $2 to $3.

It would seem that cheaper grades of ready-made clothing could be sold in this country to advantage. Light-weight cassimere and serge two-piece suits which can be bought in the United States for $6 to $10 would pay a duty of $2.22 and could be retailed here at $12 to $15 per suit. Cotton duck and drill garments pay a duty of $11.07 per dozen two-piece suits. If these could be bought in the United States so as to retail here at $5 to $6 per suit, there would be a ready sale.

Ready-made wash trousers of drill or duck, on which the duty is $4.29 per dozen, would prove especially popular, as the coats always outlast the trousers.

For the laborer, the American jumper and overall would take the place of the home-made articles, if they could be put on the market at a price anywhere near the present cost. A well-made overall and jacket, made from 240 or 360 denim, costing in the United States $3.75 or $4 per dozen, would pay a duty of $2.95 per dozen and could retail here at 75 cents per garment.

Ordinary cotton work shirts pay a duty of $2.95 per dozen. The cheaper grades made in the United States to job at $2.25 per dozen, could be retailed here at 60 cents each. The home-made shirts cost about 75 cents for material and labor and can not be as satisfactory as a good custom-made article.

The only way to introduce these or other new lines is to send a salesman who speaks the Spanish language and who understands tropical conditions.—Consular Reports.

A Hitch.

It was the Last Day. The graves had opened, ex propria vigore.

Not so, however, the bottle wherein the surgeons had pickled all the appendices, etc.

"What's the matter?" whispered the spectators, uneasily, one to another.

"They're hunting for corkscrews!" explained the ushers, civilly.—Puck.

TRIBUTE TO WAR HEROES

Joseph Frelinghuysen Lauds the Fallen Warriors of the 15th Regiment.

HIS SALEM CHURCH SPEECH.

Somerset Senator's Eliquent Address Appropriate to Memorial Day.

Singularly appropriate to Memorial Day is the splendid address delivered by Joseph Sherman Frelinghuysen, the representative of Somerset county in the State Senate of New Jersey, at the unveiling and dedication of the handsome monument in memory of those members of the Fifteenth regiment of New Jersey, who died for their country at the battle of Salem Church. The dedication ceremonies, attended by the Governors of New Jersey and Virginia and many other notables, took place on Wednesday, May 12.

Senator Frelinghuysen's able speech on that occasion follows:

Veterans or the Fifteenth Regiment and Fellow Citizens, these words of Daniel Webster seem to me appropriate on this occasion:

"Although no sculptured marble should rise to their memory nor engraved stone bear record of their deeds, yet will their remembrance be as lasting as the land they honored."

Marble columns may indeed moulder into dust, time may erase all impression from the crumbling stone, but their fame remains, for with American liberty it rose, and with American liberty only can it perish. It was the last swelling peal of yonder choir:

"Their bodies are buried in peace,
But their name liveth evermore."

We come as Jerseymen to mark a spot which will be forever hallowed to New Jersey's sons. We come to dedicate this monument erected in memory of the fallen heroes of the 15th Regiment, 6th Corps Army of the Potomac.

New Jersey has erected monuments to other of her regiments which took a conspicuous part in the civil conflict and she now comes to honor this regiment.

Our chief executive and representatives are here today with the survivors of that regiment, to do honor to its heroic dead—to dedicate to their memory a monument which will mark the spot where that regiment reached its zenith of glory—where each member of it displayed the greatest bravery, and where all added luster and glory to their State, and to the flag of their country. The 15th regiment was formed in 1862, when President Lincoln issued a call for three hundred thousand more troops.

It was recruited from five of the northern counties—Hunterdon, Sussex, Somerset, Warren and Morris. They came from plows and workshop, from desk and pulpit—the flower of manhood eager to answer their country's call. With banners flying and bands playing, they marched bravely away from the peaceful village of Flemington, N. J., most of them never to return, but all destined to engage in a conflict unparalleled in the annals of war. They fought from Fredericksburg to Appomatox in more than thirty-four conflicts, including such well known battles as Gettysburg, Wilderness, Cold Harbor and Spottsylvania, however, that they accomplished the crowning achievement of their career, by passing the enemy's line, and holding a most strategical position. That enemy did not yield before it exacted one-half the number of the regiment. So desperately did both sides fight that their deeds of valor will be remembered as long as the war itself, and long after this monument shall have crumbled into dust. The spot, known as the "Bloody Angel of Spottsylvania," gives to the 15th Regiment a distinction that the State of New Jersey is proud to honor.

Veterans of the Fifteenth: Patiently you have waited—too long perhaps—but now your hopes have been realized. You of the committee and others who have worked so earnestly to accomplish your object have now fulfilled the sacred duty you owed to your fallen comrades in urging the State to place here this mark of her gratitude and respect. I congratulate you upon the accomplishment of your mission in procuring this monument, and having it placed here to honor the graves of the fallen. It was your energy that induced a tardy legislature to pass the law, which was signed by a noble Governor, desirous of expressing the gratitude of the people of the State to the gallant Fifteenth. It was a distinguished citizen of the State, ex-United States Senator Dryden, who headed the commission to plan the details and carry them into execution.

JUNIORS WERE CLEVER IN N. P. H. S. COMEDY

Clever acting and an unusually talented interpretation of the many comedy situations of "Pro Tem," the farce comedy presented by members of the Junior Class of the North Plainfield High School, won hearty applause for the pupil actors at the Park Club, last night. Each of the nine pupils who took part showed the result of careful coaching in the varirus roles, and the affair was a pronounced histrionic success. About $75 was netted by the performance, which was followed by the annual class dance.

Miss Anna C. Clauder, a teacher of the school, was presented with a handsome silver chain purse by the members of the cast, in appreciation of her services as coach for the play. The presentation was by Preston Dunning.

Those who took part in the play were Leon Zeglio, as "Raymond Shepherd, a retired merchant;" Alan Overton, "Shepherd's nephew;" Preston Dunning, "the secretary pro tem.;" Fred Becker, "Dr. Blank;" Dorothy Randall, "Mrs. Shepherd;" Marjorie Cooley, "Bessie Martin;" Miss Helen George, "Lena Bailey;" Stella Kline, "Rachel Shepherd;" William Giese, "a waiter."

SILVER ANNIVERSARY OF HIS PASTORATE

Attended by eighteen of the charter members of the Congregational church, a reception was tendered to Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, the pastor, at the church Thursday night in commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his local pastorate. The affair was largely attended and the pastor and Mrs. Goodrich received the hearty congratulations and best wishes of the congregation. Mrs. Joseph S. Powlison, a charter member of the church, presented Mr. Goodrich with a purse containing more than $200 in gold.

The history of the church during Mr. Goodrich's pastorate has been a history of steady growth in all departments of the church work. The present pastor came to this city a quarter of a century ago from New Haven, where he was finished his seminary course. S. C. Roney, now of Philadelphia, is the founder of the local church and was one of seven who formed the committee to call Mr. Goodrich to this pastorate. Mrs. Roney was at the reception, and brought a message of regret from her husband, who was unable to attend.

Mr. Goodrich summarized the history of the church since he came here, in his speech to the congregation after receiving the purse. He said that the congregation now numbers about 300, and told how the organization was the outgrowth of an attemut to establish a church at Trinity. The land for the church was donated by Jacob Kirkner, a charter member, but previous to the building of the church services were held at Reform Hall and the old Seventh-Day Baptist church, now the Whittier School. Rev. William Manchee, the first pastor of the church, was succeeded by Mr. Goodrich in 1884, after a pastorate of about four years.

The charter members present were Mrs. Jacob Kirkner,, Miss May Kirkner, Mrs. Joseph S. Powlison, J. A. Powlison, Miss E. Winckler, Miss Mary Robinson, Miss Mary Seeds, Miss Emma Bainbridge, Chas. E. Steiner, Mrs. Floyd Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Weseman, Mrs. Emil Messersmith, Mrs. A. C. La Boyteaux, Mrs. George W. Rockafellow, Mrs. Samuel C. Roney and Mr. and Mrs. William Van Alstyne. Mrs. John M. Whiton was chairman of the general committee and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Suffern and Mrs. M. E. Bwight assisted Rev. and Mrs. Goodrich in receiving.

Picnic at Washington Rock.

About fifty members of the Junior Epworth League of the First M. E. church, accompanied by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the church, are spending the day at Washington Rock, where a picnic luncheon is a feature of the outing. The affair is under the auspices of the Junior cabinet, of which Miss May F. Randolph is the head.

Fire Companies Accept.

The L. H. Taylor Truck Company, of High Bridge, has accepted the invitation to join in the firemen's parade to be held here on July 7. Liberty Hose Company, also of High Bridge, will take part.

Circulating Department to Close.

The circulating department of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room will be closed on Monday. The reading room will be open from 2 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon with an assistant in charge.

PLANS FOR THE PARADES

Charter Day General Commtitee Adopts Report Submitted.

LINE OF MARCH FOR EACH.

Reviewing Stand to Be at Truell Inn and Nightly Fireworks Displays in the West End.

With the acceptance of the report of the parade committee by the general committee of the Charter Day celebration at a meeting held at the celebration headquarters last night, the first definite announcements about the big parades have been made public. It has been decided to have a large reviewing stand erected at Truell Inn, Park avenue and West Eighth street, and here the various parades will pass in review before the State, county and city officials and committee members who have been invited to act as reviewing officers.

The first day of the celebration, July 5, will be marked by the general parade in the morning. This will include civic, fraternal, industrial, mercantile and labor organizations, which will be in line with large delegations of members and elaborately decorated floats. Captain William Hand has been appointed chief marshal of the parade, but has not as yet announced his aides. The marchers will gather on East Seventh street with the right of line resting on Watchung avenue, and the various sections forming on the intersecting streets. The float division will form on East Seventh street, and the line will move promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning. The line of march will be as follows: To East Fifth street, to Richmond street, to Front street, to Somerset street, to Linden avenue, to Grove street, to Rockview avenue, to Mercer avenue, to Washington avenue, to Front street, to Park avenue, to East Ninth street, to Central avenue, to Front street and disband.

The automobile parade will be held on the afternoon of Tuesday, the second day of the celebration. The local automobile dealers have been made a committee to arrange the details of this parade, and it is probable that there will be many elaborately decorated motor floats. In addition to the automobiles, there will be a big section of motor cycles, headed by the Plainfield Motor Cycle Club, and a bicycle section, headed by the Plainfield Cycle Club and including the various bike organizations of city and borough. The parade will form on West End avenue, right resting on West Front street, and the line will move at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The route will be a long one, as follows:

Grant avenue to West Seventh street, to Belvidere avenue, to Watchung avenue, to Crescent avenue, to Park avenue, to Prospect avenue, to Hillside avenue, to Evergreen avenue, to Park avenue, to Randolph road, to Central avenue, to Stelle avenue, to Plainfield avenue, to Front street, to Sycamore street, to Myrtle avenue, to Gerard avenue, to Willow avenue, to Washington avenue, to Rockview avenue, to Grove street, to Park place, to Watchung avenue, to Fairview avenue, to Westervelt avenue, to Manning avenue, to Norwood avenue, to East Front street, to Terrill road, to Terrill road, to South avenue, to East Fifth street, to Watchung avenue, to Front street, to Grove street, to Rockview avenue, to West End avenue, to West Front street and disband at starting point.

Replies of acceptance have been received from several of the sixty fire companies of near-by cities and towns invited to take part in the firemen's parade, the last day of the celebration. Sixty invitations were sent out by A. S. Herr, the general secretary, and the prospects are now bright for a large turnout of visiting companies. Prizes will be awarded to the visiting company coming from the greatest distance, to the best drilled company, the company haveing the greatest number passing the reviewing stand, and the best uniformed exempts in line. Fire Chiefs Doane and Woolston will lead the local delegations of fire-fighters. The line will form on Watchung avenue, with the right resting on East Front street, and the parade will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The parade committee has left the selection of a line of march to the firemen, who have not yet made a report.

It has been decided to give the nightly exhibitions of fireworks at Rockview Avenue Park, on West End avenue, and the band concerts will be held there. Stands are to be erected within a short time.

LEAL SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Lawrence Wins Private Academy Championship at the Driving Park.

NO RECORDS WERE BROKEN.

Leggett Carries Off the Junior Class Honors—Several Prizes Are Awarded Winners.

On account of the muddy and heavy condition of the Plainfield Driving Park track yesterday afternoon the spring athletic events of the John Leal School proved a rather tame affair. The boys were well trained but track conditions proved against them as far as breaking any records.

C. Lawrence won the school championship, and T. Leggett carried off the honors of the junior classes. The first prizes were silver and bronze medals and the third prizes were ribbons.

The judges were D. B. Durham, A. W. Hauck and F. H. Rea; timers, George C. M. Smith, B. P. Adams; starter, R. Lawrence.

The results:

100 yard junior—First, T. Leggett; second, T. Jewet; third, M. Brandegee; time, 12 secs.; 100 yard primary department—First, W. Leggett; second, W. Lyon; third, F. Dallas; second, M. Rushmore; third, J. Jewett; time, 2 min. 33 seconds.

MRS. WILLIAM DAVISON, AGED 66 YEARS, DEAD

Mrs. Johanna C. Davison, widow of William Davison, aged 66 years, died at her home, 937 South avenue, at 11 o'clock, last night. Her death was due to pleurisy, following grip. She had been out of town for several days in the hope that the change would be beneficial. She returned home a few days ago and was compelled to go to bed. After that she failed rapidly.

Mrs. Davison was the daughter of John Ehlers, and she was born in Weehawken, where she lived for many years. Later she lived in Hoboken and for two years was a resident of Westfield, from which place she moved to Plainfield fifteen years ago. During her residence here she was a faithful communicant of St. Stephen's church. She is survived by a son, Ralph C. Davison, and one daughter, Miss Clara I. Davison, both of this city. The funeral will be private.

E. M. Snyder's Promotion.

E. M. Snyder, of East Ninth street, has been appointed assistant to Traffic Manager T. B. Koons, of the Central Railroad, whose home is on Sandford avenue. Mr. Snyder has been for some time the general freight agent of the company. This position is to be filled by A. H. Hamilton, who for the past two years has been general freight agent at Newark, and in charge of the terminal warehouse at that city. The appointments will go into effect June 1.

First Vocal Recital.

The first of several vocal recitals at J. Edmund Skiff's studio in the Babcock building, will be given Monday night. Miss Laura E. Geisswein, soprano, and Miss Hope Irene Miller, contralto, will be the soloists.

WON BY APGAR'S SQUAD

Co. K Shoot Trophy Awarded After an Exciting Two Months' Tourney.

GEORGE APGAR THE CRACK.

He Got the Prize for Best Individual Score—Private Van Arsdale a Winner.

The inter-squad shoot under the auspices of Co. K, which has been in progress for the past two months, was concluded on Thursday night. Sergeant George Apgar's squad was the winner with a total score of 2258¼. The winning squad receives the company trophy, which was also captured last year by the same team.

In addition the Rothberg trophy, to be awarded to the private making the largest score on first strings in the regular armory qualifications, was awarded to Private Van Arsdale with a total of 92 points, making 43 off-hand and 49 prone.

The Sampson trophy, donated by former Corporal Sampson, to be awarded to the enlisted man making the highest aggregate score in the armory qualification, was awarded to Sergeant Apgar with a total of 95, 45 standing and 50 prone. The scores in the inter-squad shoot are as follows:

Annual Meetings at First M. E.

During the coming week, annual meetings are to be held by two organizations of the First M. E. church, at which officers for the coming year will be elected, and reports from the various officers received. The officers of the Sunday-school will convene for election at the church Thursday evening, and Friday evening the annual business meeting of the Epworth League of the church will be held. An all-day meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the church will be held on Tuesday.

Picnic Supper at the Notch.

A party of members of the Y. W. C. A. will spend this afternoon at the Notch, near Scotch Plains, where they will conclude a May walk with a supper cooked in the woods. Those who are to make the trip will meet at the association rooms at 3 o'clock, and the party will go, by trolley to Scotch Plains.

—Charter Day Celebration, July 5, 6 and 7.

BOROUGH TEACHER TO WED REV. P. A. PARSONS

The marriage of Miss Helen F. Stahlberger, teacher of modern languages in the North Plainfield Public School, and Rev. Philip A. Parsons, formerly of this city, but now of New York, will take place at the home of the bride in Auburn, N. Y., Saturday, June 26.

Miss Stahlberger is a graduate of Syracuse University, and has been teaching for several years in her present position. Mr. Parsons, who was for four years pastor of the Christian Church in this city, is now a Fellow in the New York School of Philanthrophy. The degree of doctor of philosophy will be formally conferred upon him by the faculty of Columbia University at the commencement exercises Wednesday morning, June 2. Mr. Parsons' book, "Responsibility for Crime," is now in press and will be ready for distribution in a few days.

Immediately after the wedding, Mr. Parsons and his bride will leave from Buffalo on the Northern Steamship Company's steamer, "Northwest," for Duluth, by the day of the Great Lakes. The trip will continue to St. Paul by rail and from there to Mr. Parsons' home at Hamilton, Illinois, on the Diamond Jo Line Packet on the Mississipi river. The summer will be spent in the west.

EVENTS SCHEDULED FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day will be generally observed in this city, and the merchants have arranged to close their stores for the day. The events for the day of local interest will include the annual observance by Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., assisted by the Women's Relief Corps and Co. K. There will be a parade in the morning, during which the local cemeteries will be visited and the graves decorated. In the afternoon patriotic exercises will be held at Reform Hall, with an address by Past Department Commander Charles Burrows. The public is invited.

In the way of sports there will be golf all day at both the Plainfield Country Club and the Park Golf Club; also events in tennis at these clubs, while there will be social features, luncheons, dinners and dancing in the evening at the country club.

There will be plenty of baseball. In the morning the Y. M. C. A. and Clinton Avenues will meet at Crescent Oval and in the afternoon at the same place, the association nine and Collegiates of New York will play. Another games of interest will be the twenty-five mile bicycle race to be held in the borough. Many of the crack bicycle riders in this part of the country will take part, making it as noteworthy as the famous Irvington-Milburn race which it succeeds. The race will be held under the sanction of the National Cycling Association. The race will start at 10:30 o'clock at Mountain and Watchung avenues, which point will be the finish. Doubtless the event will attract hundreds of people from out of town.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. will journey to Newark in the morning to take part in a big celebration to be held under the auspices of the Juniors of Essex county. In addition there will be numerous other events of minor importance and if the weather is fair, it should prove a big day for Plainfield and vicinity.

The circulating department of the Public Library will be closed, but the reading room will be open in the afternoon. The postoffice will observe holiday rules, closing for the day at 10:30, while all the banks will be closed for the entire day.

Veterans to Attend First M. E.

Delegations from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps, Auxiliary 2, will attend the evening service at the First M. E. church tomorrow. The service will be marked by special patriotic music by the choir, in charge of J. Edmund Skiff, organist, and there will be a sermon appropriate to the occasion by the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson.

Police Inspection Today.

The postponed inspection of the city police force was held at 3 o'clock today at police headquarters. Mayor C. J. Fisk and the members of the Councilmanic police board were present. There was no drill or review by the city officials, but "the finest," in their new spring uniforms, worn today for the first, will be in line for the Charter Day celebration parades.

—Neuman Bros.' grocery store will be closed all day Monday, Decoration Day. •••

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER

Lydia Chapter Instituted by Grand Officers of the State Order.

SOME VISITING DELEGATIONS.

Mrs. Calvin H. Rugg Worthy Matron and Mrs. H. W. Marshall Secretary.

The grand officers of the State Order of Eastern Star instituted Lydia Chapter (under dispensation) in the local Masonic hall, last night, and the new chapter starts with twenty initiated and eight affiliated members, making a total of twenty-eight charter members. During the evening Miss Elsie G. Bender, worthy matron of Lucinda Chapter, No. 15, of Elizabeth, presented Lydia Chapter with a handsome Bible and two gavels, which were accepted by Mrs. C. H. Rugg, worthy matron of the new chapter.

Plainfielders Escape Injury.

F. L. C. Martin was riding with David Scott, of East Front street, in the automobile endurance race Thursday, when the latter's car skidded and struck a telephone pole. Edgar Carter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., was the third member of the party, and he broke his collar bone. Both Martin and Scott was thrown out, turning a complete somersault, but fortunately enither one was injured. The car, a Mitchell, was but slightly damaged in front. The telephone pole was broken and the base moved several inches by the blow. The accident happened at Allamuchy.

Will Assist at Pupils' Recital.

William N. Searles, Jr., basso cantante, will assist at the eighth annual musicale to be given by the pupils of Miss May Vincent Whitney at the Plainfield High School auditorium Thursday night, June 3, at 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Searles resides in Newark, and he has a voice of exceptional strength and sweetness.

ASBURY PARK PLANS FOR LIVELY MEMORIAL DAY

Asbury Park, May 29.—Preparations are visible upon all sides at this resort for the reception of the people who are expected to come here for the week-end and Memorial Day. Besides taking care of the strangers who will arrive in the city, its organizations and individuals are taking steps to observe Memorial Day in their own way.

O. K. Hall Post of the G. A. R. will, as has been its custom for some years, decorate the graves of dead comrades who lie in nearby cemeteries and will be accompanied to the graveyards by a number of the school children. Salutes will be fired over the graves of the departed soldiers from old guns that had seen service during the Civil War.

In the afternoon members of the post will attend the Long Branch mass-meeting of veterans, where they will listen to addresses by James Tanner, former government pension commissioner, and Rev. Dr. William T. Abbott, department chaplain, of this city. There will be other entertaining features for the old soldiers. The Y. M. C. A. and some of the churches will be visited by the soldiers tomorrow, and yesterday afternoon a delegation of veterans from the local post visited the schools.

Yesterday was known as parents' day in the schools of Asbury Park, and yesterday afternoon fond mammas and dear papas were entertained by the pupils and their teachers. An exhibition of work done by the scholars during the year was shown. Celebration of Memorial Day was made at the schools yesterday morning, with appropriate exercises.

The Elks, their adherents and constituents will reign supreme at the Asbury Park Athletic grounds Monday afternoon, for at that time there will be a baseball game with a rival nine. To add to the fun of the afternoon Manager E. A. Harvey, of the athletic grounds, has arranged a number of track events. The line-up of the Elks team is not fully determined upon as yet, but Mayor T. Frank Appleby is on the team, and victory is expected, for it is alleged the Mayor is pretty slick with the horsehide sphere and the bat.

ROBERT BRUNT, SR., DEAD.

Figured in One of Civil War's Greatest Fights.

Robert Brunt, Sr., 75 years old, died at his home on South street, Somerville, yesterday, from a complication of diseases. He has long been engaged in the painting and paper hanging business in Somerville, and was an officer of General Wadsworth Post, No. 75, G. A. R. He was a veteran of the Civil War and took an active part in the famous fight between the Monitor and Merrimac.

A widow, two sons and two daughters survive him. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the First Baptist church. The Rev. Dr. E. A. Woods, the pastor, will officiate. Burial in the new cemetery.

ROGERS PLANT MAY RESUME.

Virginian Made General Manager at Paterson.

Paterson, May 29.—C. A. Strom, of Richmond, Va., has been appointed general manager of the Rogers plant of the American Locomotive Company, which has been closed for eighteen months. This is taken as an indication that the American Locomotive Company has decided not to abandon the plant, and that the building of engines will soon be resumed.

Frederick W. Cooke, who was appointed manager of both plants in this city two years ago, will continue as general manager of the Cooke plant.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe.

Julia Ward Howe, ninety years old today, has not watched in idleness the mists of life gather. Serene and beautiful her autumn has been, and a fruitful season as well. Preserving to a wonderful degree her interest in many activities, she has kept herself young in mind and spirit, and has continued a factor in the world's progress. Poet of freedom, philanthropist, earnest advocate of wider opportunities for womankind, she is honored and reverenced by her country.—Newark News.

The Y. M. C. A. team will play the Collegiates, of New York, on Crescent Oval, Monday afternoon. This is one of the strongest teams in its class in the Metropolitan district, every member being a college player. In the morning the association boys will meet Clinton Avenue for the first time this year.

The postponed New York-St. Louis game of Thursday will be played at the Polo Grounds on July 19.

A casual glance at Yale's batting column gives the impression that Capt. Murphy is batting about .999 and his fellow players about .001.

The St. Louis Browns stopped Boston's spurt about as hard as a spurt could be stopped, shutting the Red Sox out three times.

Connie Mack isn't keen over the proposed reception to the Athletics on their return home. He thinks it rather early in the season. Maybe the Philadelphians figure that it is better to have the hurrah when there is a chance.

Pitcher Chappelle graduated from the United States Cavalry into professional baseball.

"The Boston people are the fairest in the country and do not want even a shade the better of the decisions, but they do protest when all the novices are sent here," says President Dovey, referring to the umpires, though the impression might get about that he referred to his players. Mr. Dovey should have patience. It always has been the National League plan to assign the umpires an equal number of times to each city.

All St. Louis arose and protested against Jimmy Williams being declared slow. If Jimmy did lose his speed, one day of rest seems to have restored a good deal of it.

Thursday's postponed game between Brooklyn and Chicago will be played at Washington Park on July 17.

Bucknell will clash with Fordham at Fordham Field this afternoon. Fordham has only one more home game besides the Bucknell contest and that is with Georgetown on Monday afternoon, which games decide the championship of the Catholic colleges.

Andy Coakley, of the Chicago Cubs, has signed to pitch for the Newburgh team of the new Eastern Baseball Association. He will report there next week. Manager Murphy tried to return Coakley to the Cincinnati club, but the twirler refused to go back.

President Murphy, of the Cubs, said yesterday that there would be held in Cincinnati a week from today a meeting of the National League. At this gathering of magnates among other things there would be considered the matter of the protested game between Cincinnati and Pittsburg. Murphy said Chance would be out of the game at least a month longer.

GOLF.

Although soaked to the skin the golfers who continued in the championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association at Apawamis Thursday covered themselves with glory from a scoring point of view, the general run of the cards being decidedly better than on the first day. Among the favorites to survive were Walter J. Travis, of Garden City; Fred Herreshoff, of Westbrook; Findlay S. Douglas, of Nassau, and Robert C. Watson, of Westbrook.

As it so often happens the luck of the draw placed many of the strongest players together for the first round. On past performances Herreshoff and Gilman P. Tiffany, the Hudson River champion, should have put up a close match, but Herreshoff caught his man very much off his game with the result that Tiffany lost six of the first nine holes and turned for home 6 down. His chief fault was a tendency to miss short puts. Thereafter it was an easy matter for Herreshoff to win by 7 up and 6 to play.

The contestants in the woman's individual golf championship of Philadelphia were greeted with a disagreeable change in the weather when the semi-final round was entered upon at the Spring Haven Country Club Thursday.

Despite Mrs. E. H. Fitler's victory over Mrs. Caleb F. Fox on Wednesday it was generally conceded that her chance of success against Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow in yesterday's semi-final was only an outside one and Mrs. Barlow's victory therefore by 6 up and 5 to play came as no great surprise.

The match between Miss Nobilt, Wilmington and Miss F. McNeely, Merion, was thoroughly interesting. Miss Nobilt won four holes in succession, and as the sixteen was halved she won by 3 up and 2 to play.

The annual spring tournament of the Middle Atlantic Golf Association, comprising the clubs of the District of Columbia, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, began Thursday on the links of the Columbia Golf Club. The day was favorable for good golf and the course was in excellent condition. No phenomenally low scores were made in the qualification round, although E. B. Eynon, Columbia Golf Club, made a 79, and there were several scores in the low 80's.

H. H. ROGERS LEAVES MILLIONS TO HIS KIN.

Only Public Bequest is $100,000 to Fairhaven, Mass., Where He Was Born.

New York, May 29.—The will of Henry H. Rogers was filed in the surrogate's office yesterday by James M. Beck, long the financier's personal counsel. The value of the estate is not given, but from the extent of the bequests made it appears that $50,000,000 is not an exorbitant figure. Practically the entire estate is left to the four children, while a trust fund of between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 is set aside for an income of $100,000 a year to the widow.

The only bequest made to others than relatives was $100,000 to the village of Fairhaven, Mass., Mr. Rogers' birthplace, the income of which is to be applied toward the primary and grammar schools of Fairhaven. The widow gets the town house and H. H. Rogers, Jr., the property at Fairhaven.

Rufus A. Rogers, brother of the financier, is left $200,000 and his wife $100,000. Nephews, nieces and cousins are bequeathed sums varying from $10,000 to $50,000.

Elks to Keep Flag Day.

Flag Day will be celebrated by the Asbury Park lodge of Elks with appropriate ceremonies in Library Hall on the evening of June 14. The committee in charge of the observance are: William K. Devereux, Dr. A. S. Burton and Rev. M. L. Ferris, and a program replete with ritualistic exercises is to be carried out. Mr. Ferris will deliver the address of welcome, and George W. Pittinger will read a history of the flag, while Aaron E. Johnston will recite an original tribute to the flag. A musical program will be rendered by Oscar Ehrgott, soloist of the First Presbyterian church, and Linford Jefferson, tenor, late with the Prince of Pilsen company, and a member of the local lodge. Refreshments and dancing will follow the regular program.

Tempted by Hunger to Steal.

Jersey City, May 29.—Former Sheriff Cornelius J. Cronan, of this city, was leaving a Pennsylvania ferryboat Thursday night, when John Bond, of 457 Laurel street, Philadelphia, made a grab for his watch. Cronan caught Bond's wrist and held him until a policeman arrived. At the city hall Bond, who is fifty-seven years old and a printer, said he had had nothing to eat in two days, and that hunger had driven him to steal.

Injured Leaping from Train.

John Jones, colored, who is paroled from the Rahway Reformatory, while riding on a Central Railroad train, at Elizabeth Thursday afternoon, leaped off while the train was moving and was painfully injured. He was removed to the City Hospital and his cuts dressed.

TRIBUTE TO WAR HEROES

The representatives of the State have been only her agents in the performance of a sacred duty, and she has rendered but a small return for all that she and her citizens owe to you and those of your regiment who made the great sacrifice.

What does this action on the part of the State, this erection of a monument upon this battlefield mean? It means that we hold in the highest esteem, not those who fell in actual battle upon this spot, but also those who, willing to give all they had, died from sickness and exposure, as well as those who fought and died on other battlefields in the great civil strife. It is a reminder of the anguish of the mothers, the fathers, sisters and brothers. It recalls the saddened homes. It marks the unknown graves of those who fell. It represents the loyalty and devotion of the survivors, many of whom have since passed away—the devotion which prompted the care for those homes bereft of support. It represents the highest order of patriotism—devotion to flag and country.

No feeble words of mine can express to those assembled here the full measure of appreciation the State of New Jersey feels toward the 15th Regiment. Other regiments were probably as brave, probably as loyal, probably as efficient, but no other regiment of the State in any one engagement made as great a sacrifice on the altar of devotion to their country's cause as your regiment did here on this spot.

Shattered, torn and bleeding, almost annihilated, it stemmed the tide of battle.

The bitterness of the war is over. Before it the North and South were brothers. They fought as only brothers can fight, and they are now united as only brothers can be united.

To you, men of the Southland, representatives of the Old Dominion State, upon whose soil this blood was spilled, I can only say these graves are sacred. To your care we commit them, not as Northerners, not as Southerners—but as Americans. Protect the graves of these who offered their lives in a cause because they believed it to be just.

Those from New Jersey who fell here are descendants of those who fought for American liberty. They were our brothers, and as brothers let us remember them. I charge you to guard their remains in this resting place, for hallowed are their graves.

Survivors of the Fifteenth: A few years more and you will join your comrades in the great beyond, and we representatives, your aegnts, who have placed this monument here, will pass away, too, but longer than the stone endures will be the memory of American bravery, and imperishable and never ending will be the memory of the deeds that preserved our brotherly relations and kept us united under one flag.

Not with musket, and with sabre,
and with glad heart beating fast;
Not with cannon that had thundered
till the bloody war was past;
Not with voices that are shouting with the vim of victory's note;
Not with armour gaily glistening and with flags that proudly float;
Not with air of martial vigor, nor with steady, soldier tramp,
Come they grandly marching to us
—for the boys are all in camp,
With forgetfulness upon it—each within his earthly bed,
Waiting for his marching orders—
is our Army of the Dead.
Fast asleep the boys are lying, in their low and narrow tents,
And no battle-cry can wake them,
and no orders call them hence;
And the yearnings of the mother,
and the anguish of the wife,
Cannot with their magic presence
call the soldier back to life,
And the brother's manly sorrow, and the father's mournful pride,
Cannot give back to his country him who for his country died.
They who for the trembling Nation
in its hour of trial bled,
Lie, in these its years of triumph,
with our Army of the Dead.
When the years of Earth are over,
and the cares of Earth are done,
When the reign of Time is ended and Eternity begun;
When the thunders of Omniscience
on our wakened senses roll,
And the sky above shall wither, and be gathered like a scholl;
When, among the lofty mountains,
and across the mighty sea,
The sublime celestial bugler shall ring out the reveille,
Then shall march with brightest laurels, and with proud, victorious tread,
To their station up in heaven, our Grand Army of the Dead."

Considering Municipal Ice Plant.

Camden, May 29.—Water Chief Hollingsworth reported to the Common Council, Thursday night, that an ice plant capable of producing fifty tons a day could be built on city-owned property at the junction of Federal street and Cooper Creek for $62,150, including sinking of wells and the building of a 250-foot wharf. The plant can be constructed in ninety days, the cost of operation would be $48.15 daily, exclusive of interest on the bonds and the cost of manufacturing ice would be $1.45 a ton. The report was referred to the Water and Finance committees, with instructions to devise ways and means to build the plant.

Son Defended His Mother.

Elizabeth, May 29.—Adam Dickert, of De Hart place, a hotel bartender, returned home in an ugly mood Wednesday night. He had been drinking. Dickert attacked his wife. Their son, John, ran to her defense and the two men fought savagely about the room. The police received a hurry call, coupled with the information that Dickert was killing his wife. When Patrolmen Rubig and J. C. Smith arrived there the two men were covered with blood, but Mrs. Dickert was unhurt. All three were taken to headquarters, but as Mrs. Dickert would not prefer charges they were discharged.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF JUNIOR ENDEAVORERS

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church held its closing exercises for the season and entertainment in the lecture room of the church last night. There was a full attendance of members accompanied by a large number of friends. The rooms were attractively decorated with flags. Mrs. R. V. Kinney, who is superintendent of the Juniors, opened the program with an address of welcome in which she thanked everyone for any assistance rendered.

In her reference to the work of the past year, Mrs. Kinney said:

"Our Juniors have been working hard and faithfully for some weeks under the direction of Mrs. H. A. Humbert and are very anxious to show you tonight what they can do in the way of entertainment, which consists entirely of our active Junior membership. The proceeds will be used to support our own church missionary in Arabia, Dr. Paul W. Harrison. But briefly I would like to tell you of the Juniors work during the past year.

"The society was reorganized last October after the summer vacation with a membership of twenty-four, which has increased to sixty at present, with an average attendance of forty. February first we found we were financially $25 below last year, with two months to reach this standard. This meant work. Our pastor addressed our missionary meeting the last week in January and suggested using the Indian tepee and the log cabin banks, which were placed in the hands of the children the middle of February and returned the first of April with $10, at which time our White Elephant sale netted $18, which met the requirements. Altogether we raised during the year $56.17, of which $34 went to foreign missions and $22 to domestic missions.

"Our anticipation for the coming year is to form an Intermediate society in order to hold the older members until they graduate into the Senior society. The initial steps have been taken. At present we have beginners and juniors and hope to devolope into junior and intermediate when we reorganize for the fall work. We therefore solocit the co-operation of parents and friends to accomplish this and extend an invitation to visit us on Wednesday afternoons."

Then followed this interesting program, which was well given and well received:

Piano solo, "Dancing Spirits," Gladys Humbert; recitations, (a) "Marriage A Lamode," (b) "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," Mrs. H. A. Humbert; flag drill, Albert Baker, George Rockefellow, Warren Kellogg, Howard Allegar, Ronald Schenck, Edward Addis, Malcolm Sheppard, Harold Bach, Donald Willett, Arthur Seader, Howard Willett, Harold Woolley, Russell Sears, Alfred Willett and Helen Leitheusser, "Goddess of Liberty;" recitation, "The Clown's Baby," Gladys Humbert; piano duet, "A Basket of Roses," Valba and Lillian Steuer; floral drill, Lillian Eteuer, Helen Willett, Alma Allegar, Alva Hansen, Wilma Tier, Gladys Humbert, Marjorie Storr, Ella Van Arsdale, Dorothy Seader, Louise Seader, Marion Woolley, Vera McCready, Beatrice Bodine, Hazel McCready, Gladys Albert, Elizabeth Hicks, Lillian Schlief, Valba Steuer, Magdalene Layton and Esther Kellogg; impersonation, "Mrs. Tubbs at the Sewing Circle," Mrs. H. A. Humbert; pantomim, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," Gladys Humbert; piano duet, Lawrence and Elmer French; "The Peak Sisters."

Mrs. H. A. Humbert, leader; Marion Woolley, Adelaide Cole, Alice Auten, Beatrice Tier, Elsie Tier, Jennie Sears, Elizabeth Chickering, Helen Leitheusser and Maud MacAfee.

Mrs. Lafayette Rosentiehl and Miss Elsie Tier were the accompanists at the piano. After the entertainment a social time was enjoyed by the large company.

Fall from Bridge Fatal.

Howard H. Walker, thirteen years old, of 769 North Clinton avenue, Trenton, who fell from a bridge over the Assanpink Creek along the Sandtown road, near the Empire rubber plant, last Tuesday, died Thursday night at St. Francis' Hospital. County Physician Scrammell found that death was due to a fractured skull. The lad also had a broken arm and was hurt internally. Coroner Bower issued a burial permit. The dead boy was a son of Martha and the late William H. Walker. He had several sisters, all of whom died when quite young. Howard was the only surviving child.

Six Years For Manslaughter.

When James E. Weldon, colored, of Wilmington, Del., entered court at Mt. Holly yesterday for trial on indictment charging him with the death of Peter Barry, of Boston, Mass., which crime occurred at Riverside on May 2, the prisoner, by advice of his counsel, Spencer Simpson, retracted his former plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty of manslaughter. Judge Horner imposed a sentence of six years in State prison.

CHARTER DAY FUND NOW REACHES $2,255

The Charter Day finance committee today reported that the chief contributors have given $2,255.53 towards the needed $8,000. Although the enterprise will mean great revenue for the Jersey Central R. R., which claims to be so interested in Plainfield, it has contributed not one penny towards the necessary expenses. It is estimated by the Charter Day heads that at least 10,000 from out of town will be present each day, and the railroad will reap a snug sum as a result. The Public Service Corporation and other corporations doing business here have been most liberal in their donations.

DOVER'S NOVEL WAY TO MAKE PRISONERS WORK.

The spectacle of a man mancled to a pushcart used for collecting street sweepings and waste matter on the streets was witnessed for the first time in Dover yesterday. John Howling, a tramp, was arrested Tuesday for abusive conduct toward some of the housewives, from whom he had begged. Police Justice Youngs sentenced him to work on the streets, but the man's remarks led the police officers that he had no intention of doing any such thing, but intended to escape. So handcuffs were attached to a chain, the other end of which was firmly fastened to a pushcart. He was told if he did not see fit to work he would be kept chained until he changed his mind and worked out his sentence, even if it should be necessary to fasten him to the cart every day for the rest of the year. He concluded to work.

The plan of making tramps work on the streets is an excellent arrangement, according to the police records. Before this method was adopted the "Weary Willies" were committed to the county jail for six days and the town was overrun by them. The ordinary tramp did not object in the least to a vacation at Morristown with plenty to eat and nothing to do. Since the penalty has been changed to working on the streets, the proposition is a different one and vagabonds are giving Dover a wide berth. It is said that they even go far out of their way rather than to pass through the town, for fear of arrest.

In cases of drunkenness prisoners are given their choice of going to the county jail, paying a fine or working on the streets. Occasionally a prisoner prefers the latter, but a majority are inclined to run the chances at the county seat.

EIGHT YEARS IN PRISON FOR KILLING LANDLORD.

Gantaino Safardino was convicted by a jury at New Brunswick Thursday afternoon of manslaughter in killing John Connelly, his landlord, at Chrome, by shooting him. Justice Bergen sentenced Sardaino to eight years in State prison.

Mrs. Safardino testified that she, and not her husband, shot Connelly for insulting her, but the jury refused to believe her testimony was not concocted to save her husband from the death chair.

Bright Would Be Senator.

Wildwood, May 29.—William H. Bright, of Holly Beach, former sheriff and one of the leading Republicans of South Jersey, has formally announced his candidacy for the nomination for State Senator from Cape May county, to succeed Robert E. Hand, the incumbent. Mr. Bright is a large property owner on Five Mile Beach, and is president of the First National Bank of Cape May Court House, which institution he established. Assemblyman C. E. Stille is also to be an active candidate for Senator Hand's place, but the latter has made no formal announcement of what he intends to do.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The inland waterways channels will be staked out during the next week or two by Oyster Superintendent H. A. Horner, Jr., of Tuckerton.

Bishop McFaul Thursday consecrated the new altars recently presented to the Church of the Sacred Heart, Camden, by friends of Father Bric.

Henry Schultz, thirty-five years old, a canvasser, of 116 Water street, Paterson, was attacked and bitten several times on the right arm and hand by a dog as the canvasser was entering a residence.

Every seat in the boxes, orchestra and balcony of the Lyceum theatre, Paterson, was occupied Thursday night when the minstrel show under the auspices of the Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Society was given for the first time.

Ernest Moore, the Passaic insurance man, who struck Hyman Kuppersmith during a court procedure in the courtroom last week, was arraigned yesterday on the indictment charging him with assault and battery. His trial will take place on June 1.

The commissioners appointed by the Federal Court to condemn land for a beacon light on the point of the beach at Sea Haven have placed a valuation of $350 on the land. This light will mean much to mariners who travel in and out of Little Egg Harbor Inlet.

After Thursday's meeting of the Camden Council the members trooped into the office of Mayor Ellis and presented him and his bride with a handsome set of dishes. Speeches were made by Councilmen Hewitt and Finkeldey, to which the Mayor made a happy response.

The members of the Camden County Board of Freeholders, together with Mayor Ellis and other city officials, were Thursday night the guests of Battery B, Field Artillery, at a drill and banquet at the Third Regiment Armory. The battery is urging the county to buy a site for an armory for its use.

Mrs. Margaret Hogan was preparing for a dinner Thursday in her home at 61 Mill street, Paterson, and while her one-year-old son John was playing about the stove water in a pot boiled over and scalded the child about the right side of the face, chest and shoulders. Mrs. Hogan carried the infant to St. Joseph's Hospital.

The United States Government will erect a handsome monument in Finn's Point National Cemetery, at Fort Mott, to mark the graves of 2,460 officers and privates in the Confederate army and navy who died as prisoners of war at Fort Delaware between the years of 1862 and 1865. The monument is to be of marble or graniate and to cost not more than $8,000.

Rev. Sydney Goodman, founder of the Men's Church, Atlantic City, who was recently under attack for permitting smoking and punch at services "for men only," will sail for Europe on June 5 on the Cunard Line steamship Caronia. Practically the whole of his expenses will be defrayed by a fund raised by men supporters, who rallied to his defense when permanent closing of the Men's Church was proposed.

John C. Tweed, a juror in the State vs. Fred Garten case, was summoned to appear before Judge Starr to answer why he should not be punished for contempt of court. When the jury took their seats Thursday Tweedy was drowsy, and he was examined by a physician, who said that the juror was under the influence of liquor. Prosecutor Rogers and counsel for the defense agreed to finish the trial with eleven men.

Nicholas Binder was arrested Thursday, charged by Teresa Kiss, of Roebling, with obtaining money from her under false pretenses. The woman alleged that Binder had represented himself to be a lawyer, and had obtained $85 from her for the ostensible purpose of procuring her a divorce. She declares that meantime he had told her she was free to marry whom she choose. He was held under $300 bail for appearance at court.

After watching the place for more than a month, the Trenton police Thursday raided the home of Henry Predider, 28 South Warren street, that city, and arrested Predider, his wife and two girls. Predider claims to be a canvasser, but the police were first attracted to him and his establishment by the appearance in local papers of advertisements for girls to do canvassing. He was held in bail on a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

With a view of obtaining a purer water supply and the elimination of typhoid fever, the Finance Committee of the Trenton Common Council is considering the purchase of the water power canal which runs from Scudder's Falls to Trenton, a distance of seven miles, and the construction of immense sedimentation beds. The canal can be purchased for $80,000. If this plan is adopted it will also permit of the completion of the beautiful river drive.

Taken to Cooper Hospital, after battling with the police and Dr. Thomas Lee, Thursday, Harry G. Taylor, of 1131 Baring street, Camden, refused to permit the surgeons to treat him for bichloride of mercury poisoning, a solution of which he took in water, and when he left the hospital he was apparently none the worse for his experience. While the police are inclined to think that Taylor tried suicide, he contends that the dose was taken by mistake.

The Camden Council Thursday afternoon gave a black eye to the project of the Board of Education for a bond issue of $300,000 for the erection of a new High School building, the scheme being voted down at a conference of councilmen held previous to the meeting. Adverse action was taken because the bond issue meant an increase in the tax rate. The Board of Health also came in for a setback at the hands of Council, the recommendation to purchase fifteen acres of land along Ferry avenue, near city line for $9,000, to be used as a site for a municipal hospital, not being concurred in.

ONCE LETTER-CARRIER, IS NOW A MISSIONARY.

Long Branch, May 29.—William A. Worthington, formerly a letter-carrier here, was Wednesday night ordained a minister of the Dutch Reformed Church in America. He will go to Japan as a missionary in October. The ordination exercises were held in the First Reformed church, this city, of which Mr. Worthington is a member.

Mr. Worthington prepared for the ministry at the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. The ordination sermon Wednesday was delivered by Rev. Dr. W. I. Chamberlain, of the General Synod. Rev. B. B. Staats, a former pastor, delivered the charge to the preacher, and Rev. J. C. Forbes, president of the Classis of Monmouth, read the form.

ONLY RESIDENTS LIABLE FOR AUTO VIOLATIONS

There is some indignation over the discovery that, under the amended automobile law, none but residents of New Jersey are in danger of arrest for violation of the speed limit.

This is because the law provides that when a complaint against a non-resident is made it must be accompanied with $2 to cover the expenses of the State Motor Vehicle Commissioner in finding the person accused. This means that Constables will not put up the money out of their own pockets, the result being that motorists from New York, Philadelphia, or other places outside the State, run no risk of arrest for violation of the speed law.

The fact is, that since the law went into effect only Jerseymen have been arrested. A hundred complaints have been received at Trenton against New York and Philadelphia automobile owners, but when they were forwarded to the State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles for service under the law, that official refused to serve them until he had the $2 apiece in hand. An appeal to the Attorney General has resulted in the Commissioner being sustained in his positon.

ASSERT THAT WOMAN IS THE MURDERER.

Margaret Sullivan, of 269 Railroad avenue, Jersey City, who was arrested May 16 on a charge of having killed George Straehl, who had been a frequenter of her house, was, after a hearing before Judge Farmer, in the First Criminal Court Thursday morning at Jersey City, held for the grand jury on a formal complaint of murder, made by Captain of Detectives James Larkins.

Two nights ago a coroner's jury decided that Starehl met his death by accidentally falling from the stoop of the Sullivan woman's home while intoxicated. Yesterday morning Captain Larkins produced a blood-stained axe found by Detective Blackshaw in the Sullivan home. The axe was not in evidence before the coroner. It has been examined by Herman Lohmann, the city chemist, who says he found blood and human hair on the blade.

Straehl had a big wound on the back of his head and his skull was fractured. The hole in his head, the police say, was such a one as might have been made with the blunt end of the axe.

Besides hearing Captain Larkins and Detective-Sergeant Blackshaw, Judge Farmer heard the testimony of Freda and George Brower, who were drinking with Straehl and the Sullivan woman the night of Straehl's death, and Maggie Sullivan, the twenty-year-old daughter of the accused woman, who was awakened by her mother in the middle of the night, and forced to aid her to drag the body from the rear yard and set it up in Railroad avenue against the steps of the front house.

Assistant Prosecutor of the Pleas James W. McCarthy represented the State at the hearing, being assisted by Detective Charlock.

$10,000,000 DEATH TAX ON BRITISHER'S ESTATE.

London, May 29.—Charles Morrison, a comparatively unknown millionaire, whose estate, it is estimated, is worth between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000, died Wednesday near Reading, aged ninety-two years.

With a maximum death duty of fifteen per cent. and a succession of five per cent., as provided by the new budget, the government will receive from the estate more than $10,000,000. Most of the property consists of estates in Kent and Scotland. Morrision was a bachelor and a man of the most simple habits.

Prefers Regular Pastorate.

Washington, N. J., May 29.—Rev. Dr. F. W. Johnson, pastor of the Washington Presbyterian church, has just declined an offer of the position of evangelist for the Morris and Orange and the Newton presbyteries. Dr. Johnson was selected owing to his well-known work along evangelistic lines. He was offered a salary of $2,000 a year, with an extra $400 for expenses. The amount was guaranteed by a score of influential men in the two presbyteries. In declining the call Dr. Johnson states that he prefers a regular pastorate.

To Meet in State Sanitarium.

Trenton, May 29.—The advisory board of the State Department of Charities and Corrections, composed of the heads of the various State criminal and correctional institutions, held its regular meeting yesterday in the State Sanitarium for Tuberculosis Diseases in Glen Gardner. The institution was thoroughly inspected.

National City Bank In Control.

The Citizens' National Bank, of Elizabeth, passed yesterday into the control of the National City Bank, of New York, with the transfer of the majority of the stock to the New York concern. L. F. Hersh, the president, and E. A. Faulks, the cashier, and the other officers of the Elizabeth bank will remain as before.

ROSALIND AT RED GATE

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

Copyright, 1907, by Bobbs-Merrill Company

We passed close to the Stiletto to get a better look at her. She was the trimmest sailing craft in those waters, and the largest, being, I should say, 37 feet on the water-line, sloop-rigged, with a cuddy large enough to house the skipper. As we drew alongside I stood up the better to examine her, and the Italian, still watching us intently from the island, cried out warningly.

"Who Was the Other Man That Wanted You to Kill Holbrook?"

"He should fly the signal, 'Owner not on board,'" remarked Gillespie as we pushed off and continued on our way.

The sun was low in the western wood as we passed out into the larger lake. Gillespie took soundings with his oar in the connecting channel, and did not touch bottom.

"You wouldn't suppose the Stiletto could get through here; it's as shallow as a sauce-pan; but there's plenty and to spare," he said, as he resumed rowing.

"But it takes a cool head—" I began, then paused abruptly; for there, several hundred yards away, a little back from the western shore, against a strip of wood through which the sun burned redly, I saw a man and a woman slowly walking back and forth. Gillespie, laboring steadily at the oars, seemed not to see them, and I made no sign. My heart raced for a moment as I watched them pace back and forth, for there was something familiar in both figures. I knew that I had seen them before and talked with them; I would have sworn that the man was Henry Holbrook and the girl Helen; and I was aware that when they turned, once, twice, at the ends of the path, the girl made some delay; and when they went on she was toward the lake, as though shielding the man from our observation. The last sight I had of them the girl stood with her back to us, pointing into the west. Then she put up her hand to her bare head as though catching a loosened strand of hair; and the wind blew back her skirts like those of the Winged Victory. A second later the trees stood there alertly, with the golden targe of the sun shining like a giant's shield beyond; but they had gone, and my heart was numb with foreboding, or loneliness, and heavy with the weight of things I did not understand.

Gillespie tugged hard with the burden of the tow at his back. I will not deny that I was uncomfortable as I thought of his own affair with Helen Holbrook. He had, by any fair judgment, a prior claim. Her equivocal attitude toward him and her inexplicable conduct toward her aunt were, I knew, appearing less and less heinous to me as the days passed; and I was miserably conscious that my own duty to Miss Patricia lay less heavily upon me.

I was glad when we reached Glenarm pier, where we found Ijima hanging out the lamps. He gave me a telegram. It was from my New York acquaintance and read:

Holbrook left here two days ago; destination unknown.

"Come, Gillespie; you are to dine with me," I said, when he had read the telegram; and so we went up to the house together.

CHAPTER XV.

I Undertake a Commission.

Gillespie availed himself of my wardrobe to replace his rags, and appeared in the library clothed and in his usual state of mind on the stroke of seven.

"You should have had the doctor out, Donovan. Being stuck isn't so funny, and you will undoubtedly die of blood-poisoning. Every one does nowadays."

"I shall disappoint you. Ijima and I between us have stuck me together like a cracked plate. And it is not well to publish our troubles to the world. If I called the village doctor he would kill his horse circulating the mysterious tidings. Are you satisfied?"

"Quite so. You're a man after my own heart, Donovan."

We had reached the dining room and stood by our chairs.

"I should like," he said, taking up his cocktail glass, "to propose a truce between us—"

"In the matter of a certain lady?"

"Even so! On the honor of a fool," he said, and touched his glass to his lips. "And may the best man win," he added, putting down the glass unemptied.

He was one of those comfortable people with whom it is possible to sit in silence; but after intervals in which we found nothing to say he would, with exaggerated gravity, make some utterly inane remark. To-night his mind was more agile than ever, his thoughts leaping nimbly from crag to crag, like a mountain goat. He had traveled widely and knew the ways of many cities; and of American political characters, whose names were but vaguely known to me, he discoursed with delightful intimacy; then his mind danced away to a tour he had once made with a company of acrobats whose baggage he had released from the grasping hands of a rural sheriff.

"What," he asked, presently, "is as sad as being deceived in a person you have admired and trusted? I knew a fellow who was professor of something in a blooming college, and who was so poor that he had to coach delinquent preps in summer time instead of getting a vacation. I had every confidence in that fellow. I thought he was all right, and so I took him up into Maine with me—just the two of us—and hired an Indian to run our camp, and everything pointed to plus. Well, I always get stung when I try to be good."

He placed his knife and fork carefully across his plate and sighed deeply.

"What was the matter? Did he bore you with philosophy?"

"No such luck. That man was weak-minded on the subject of domesticating prairie dogs. You may shoot me if that isn't the fact. There he was, a prize-winner and a fellow of his university, and a fine scholar who edited Greek text-books, with that thing on his mind. He held that the daily example of the happy home life of the prairie dog would tend to ennoble all mankind and brighten up our family altars. Think of being lost in the woods with a man with such an idea, and of having to sleep under the same blanket with him! It rained most of the time, so we had to sit in the tent, and he never let up. He got so bad that he would wake me up in the night to talk prairie dog."

"It must have been trying," I agreed. "What was your solution, Buttons?"

"I moved outdoors and slept with the Indian. Your salad dressing is excellent, Donovan, though personally I lean to more of the paprika. But let us go back a bit to the Holbrooks. Omitting the lady, there are certain points about which we may as well agree. I am not so great a fool but that I can see that this state of things cannot last forever. Henry is broken down from drink and brooding over his troubles, and about ready for close confinement in a brick building with barred windows."

"Then I'm for capturing him and sticking him away in a safe place."

"That's the Irish of it, if you will pardon me; but it's not the Holbrook of it. A father tucked away in a private madhouse would not sound well to the daughter. I advise you not to suggest that to Helen. I generously aid your suit to that extent. We are both playing for Helen's gratitude; that's the flat of the matter."

"I was brought into this business to help Miss Pat," I declared, though a trifle lamely. Gillespie grinned sardonically.

"Be it far from me to interfere with your plans, methods or hopes. We both have the conceit of our wisdom!"

"There may be something in that."

"But it was decent of you to get me out of that Italian's clutches this afternoon. When I went over there I thought I might find Henry Holbrook and pound some sense into him; and he's about due, from that telegram. If Miss Pat won't soften her heart I'd better buy him off," he added reflectively.

We walked the long length of the hall into the library, and had just lighted our cigars when the butler sought me.

"Beg pardon, the telephone, sir."

My distrust of the telephone is so deep seated that I had forgotten the existence of the instrument in Glenarm house, where, I now learned, it was tucked away in the butler's pantry for the convenience of the housekeeper in ordering supplies from the village. After a moment's parley a woman's voice addressed me distinctly—a voice that at once arrested and held all my thoughts. My replies were, I fear, somewhat breathless and wholly stupid.

"This is Rosalind; do you remember me?"

"Yes; I remember; I remember nothing else!" I declared. Ijima had closed the door behind me, and I was alone with the voice—a voice that spoke to me of the summer night, and of low winds murmuring across starry waters.

"I am going away. The Rosalind you remember is going a long way from the lake and you will never see her again."

"But you have an engagement; when the new moon—"

"But the little feather of the new moon is under a cloud, and you cannot see it; and Rosalind must always be Helen now."

"But this won't do, Rosalind. Ours was more than an engagement; it was a solemn compact," I insisted.

"Oh, not so very solemn!" she laughed. "And then you have the other girl that isn't just me—the girl of the daylight, that you ride and sail with and play tennis with."

"Oh, I haven't her; I don't want her—"

"Treacherous man! Volatile Irishman!"

"Marvelous, adorable Rosalind!"

"That will do, Mr. Donovan"—and then with a quick change of tone she asked abruptly:

"You are not afraid of trouble, are you?"

"I live for nothing else!"

"You are not so pledged to the Me you play tennis with that you cannot serve Rosalind if she asks it?"

"No; you have only to ask. But I must see you once more—as Rosalind!"

"Stop being silly, and listen carefully." And I thought I heard a sob in the moment's silence before she spoke.

"I want you to go, at once, to the house of the boat-maker on Tippecanoe creek; go as fast as you can!" she implored.

"To the house of the man who calls himself Hartridge, the canoe-maker, at Red Gate?"

"Yes; you must see that no harm comes to him to-night."

There was no mistaking now the sobs that broke her sentences, and my mind was so a-whirl with questions that I stammered incoherently.

"Will you go—will you go?" she demanded in a voice so low and broken that I scarcely heard.

"Yes, at once," and the voice vanished, and while I still stood staring at the instrument the operator at Annandale blandly asked me what number I wanted. The thread had snapped and the spell was broken. I stared helplessly at the thing of wood and wire for half a minute; then the girl's appeal and my promise rose in my mind distinct from all else. I ordered my horse before returning to the library, where Gillespie was coolly turning over the magazines on the table. I was still dazed, and something in my appearance caused him to stare.

"Been seing a ghost?" he asked.

"No; just hearing one," I replied.

I had yet to offer some pretext for leaving him, and as I walked the length of the room he stifled a yawn, his eyes falling upon the line of French windows. I spoke of the heat of the night, but he did not answer, and I turned to find his gaze fixed upon one of the open windows.

"What is it, man?" I demanded.

He crossed the room in a leap and was out upon the terrace, peering down upon the shrubbery beneath.

"What's the row?" I demanded.

"Didn't you see it?"

"No."

"Then it wasn't anything. I thought I saw the dago, if you must know. He'll probably be around looking for us."

"Humph, you're a little nervous, that's all. You'll stay here all night, of course?" I asked, without, I fear, much enthusiasm.

He grinned.

"Don't be so cordial! If you'll send me into town I'll be off."

I had just ordered the dog cart when the butler appeared.

"If you please, sir, Sister Margaret wishes to use our telephone, sir. St. Agatha's is out of order."

I spoke to the sister as she left the house, half as a matter of courtesy, half to make sure of her. The telephone at St. Agatha's had been out of order for several days, she said; and I walked with her to St. Agatha's gate, talking of the weather, the garden and the Holbrook ladies, who were, she said, quite well.

Thereafter, when I had dispatched Gillespie to the village in the dog cart, I got into leggings, reflecting upon the odd circumstance that Helen Holbrook had been able to speak to me over the telephone a few minutes before, using an instrument that had, by Sister Margaret's testimony, been out of commission for several days. The girl had undoubtedly slipped away from St. Agatha's and spoken to me from some other house in the neighborhood; but this was a matter of little importance, now that I had undertaken her commission.

The chapel clock chimed nine as I gained the road, and I walked my horse to scan St. Agatha's windows through the vistas that offered across the foliage. And there, by the open window of her aunt's sitting room, I saw Helen Holbrook reading. A table-lamp at her side illumined her slightly bent head; and, as though aroused by my horse's quick step in the road, she rose and stood framed against the light, with the soft window draperies fluttering about her.

I spoke to my horse and galloped toward Red Gate.

CHAPTER XVI.

An Odd Affair at Red Gate.

As I rode through Port Annandale the lilting strains of a waltz floated from the casino, and I caught a glimpse of the lake's cincture of lights. My head was none too clear from its crack on the cabin floor, and my chest was growing sore and stiff from the slash of the Italian's knife; but my spirits were high, and my ears rang with memories of the Voice. Helen had given me a commission, and every fact of my life faded into insignificance compared to this. The cool night air rushing by refreshed me. I was eager for the next turn of the wheel, and my curiosity ran on to the boat-maker's house.

I came now to a lonely sweep, where the road ran through a heavy woodland, and the cool, moist air of the forest rose round me. The lake, I knew, lay close at hand, and the Hartridge cottage was not, as I reckoned my distances, very far ahead. I had drawn in my horse to consider the manner of my approach to the boat-maker's, and was jogging along at an easy trot when a rifle-shot rang out on my left, from the direction of the creek, and my horse shied sharply and plunged on at a wild gallop. He ran several hundred yards before I could check him, and then I turned and rode slowly back, peering into the forest's black shadow for the foe. I paused and waited, with the horse dancing crazily beneath me, but the woodland presented an inscrutable front. I then rode on to the unfenced strip of wood where I had left my horse before.

I began this narrative with every intention of telling the whole truth touching my adventures at Annandale, and I cannot deny that the shot from the wood had again shaken my faith in Helen Holbrook. She had sent me to the Tippecanoe on an errand of her own choosing, and I had been fired on from ambush near the place to which she had sent me. I fear that my tower of faith that had grown so tall and strong shook on its foundations; but once more I dismissed my doubts, just as I had dismissed other doubts and misgivings about her. My fleeting glimpse of her in the window of St. Agatha's less than an hour before flashed back upon me, and the tower touched the stars, steadfast and serene again.

I strode on toward Red Gate with my revolver in the side pocket of my Norfolk jacket. A buckboard filled with young folk from the summer colony passed me, and then the utter silence of the country held the world. In a moment I had reached the canoe-maker's cottage and entered the gate. I went at once to the front door and knocked. I repeated my knock several times, but there was no answer. The front window blinds were closed tight.

The houseboat was effectually screened by shubbery, and I had descended half a dozen steps before I saw a light in the windows. It occurred to me that as I had undoubtedly been sent to Red Gate for some purpose, I should do well not to defeat it by any clumsiness of my own; so I proceeded slowly, pausing several times to observe the lights below. I heard the Tippecanoe slipping by with the subdued murmur of water at night; and then a lantern flashed on deck and I heard voices. Some one was landing from a boat in the creek. This seemed amiable enough, as the lantern-bearer helped a man in the boat to clamber to the platform, and from the open door of the shop a broad shaft of light shone brightly upon the two men. The man with the lantern was Holbrook, alias Hartridge, beyond a doubt; the other was a stranger. Holbrook caught the painter of the boat and silently made it fast.

"Now," he said, "come in."

They crossed the deck and entered the boat-maker's shop, and I crept down where I could peer in at an open port-hole. The men remained at the farther end of the house—it was, I should say, about 100 feet long—which, without formal division, was fitted as a sitting room, with a piano in one corner, and a long settle against the wall. In the center was a table littered with books and periodicals; and a woman's sewing basket, interwoven with bright ribbons, gave a domestic touch to the place. On the inner wall hung a pair of foils and masks. Pictures from illustrated journals — striking heads or outdoor scenes—were pinned here and there.

The new-comer stared about, twirling a Tweed cap nervously in his hands, while Holbrook carefully extinguished the lantern and put it aside. His visitor was about 50, taller than he, and swarthy, with a grayish mustache, and hair white at the temples. His eyes were large and dark, but even with the length of the room between us I marked their restlessness; and now that he spoke it was in a succession of quick rushes of words that were difficult to follow.

Holbrook pushed a chair toward the stranger and they faced each other for a moment, then with a shrug of his shoulders the old man sat down. Holbrook was in white flannels, with a blue scarf knotted in his shirt collar. He dropped into a big wicker chair, crossed his legs and folded his arms.

"Well," he said in a wholly agreeable tone, "you wanted to see me, and here I am."

"You are well hidden," said the other, still gazing about.

"I imagine I am, from the fact that it has taken you seven years to find me."

THE ONLY WAY.

Many Plainfield Citizens Have Discovered It.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected, is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Plainfield citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

John W. Snedeser, of 244 E. Third Street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all persons suffering from kidney complaint. I had this trouble for some time and was in a bad way. When I awoke in the morning I felt unrefreshed and during the day suffered from a dull headache. My condition gradually grew worse and I always felt weak, tired and depressed. My mother finally persuaded me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I did so with the very best of results. I am now entirely free from kidney trouble and my back does not bother me in the least."

A Study of Cuba.

A meeting of much interest was held last evening in the lecture room of the First Baptist church by the Young Women's Missionary Society of the church. The evening was devoted to the study of Cuba. Miss Bessie Ten Eyck read an instructive paper on "Mission Work in the Island" and Miss May Serrell gave a most interesting talk on the people and the country. She had very fine illustrations of Cuba, by means of which, the audience appreciated more fully her description of a trip through the Island. The devotional service preceding the study was led by Miss Mattison.

GAVE $17,500 VERDICT FOR JERSEY CITY GIRL

A jury in the New York City Supreme Court found a verdict of $17,500 for Marie Dresch, a pretty Jersey City girl, who lives at 190 South street, in the Heights. She is 17 years old and four years ago her hand was crushed while she was "feeding" into the rollers of a roller from which she was taking handkerchiefs in the factory of John G. and Jane Elliott, known as the Crescent Manufacturing Company, 979 Cambridge avenue, Jersey City. Her hand and arm were crushed before her screams reached the engineer and the machinery was stopped.

Justice White told the jurors they might consider the fact that Marie Dresch was under the age of 14 as evidence of negligence by the employers, and that the little wage-earner was entitled to damages for her injury.

The jury promptly brought in a verdict in favor of Miss Dresch, awarding $17,500 damages.

Jane Elliott is dead. John G. Elliott was sued individually and as administrator of her estate. He lives at the St. Regis. One of the jurors said after the trial that when he heard Mr. Elliott testify that he lived at the most aristocratic and most expensive hotel in the world, and compared this with the testimony that little Marie Dresch was working ten hours a day over the hot rollers of the mangle for $2.50 a week, he felt like giving her a verdict for $35,000.

—Miss Amelia Geier, of Madison avenue, has resigned her position with T. P. Kolb and has taken a position with J. A. Smith & Co., of West Front street.

DR. W. C. SNODGRASS PICTURES SCANDINAVIA

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, former pastor of the First M. E. church, who is now in charge of the Market Street M. E. church, Paterson, gave an interesting account of his travels in Scandinavia about a year ago in a lecture at Vincent chapel last night. The affair, which was under the auspices of the Methodist Brotherhood of the church, was well attended, and was followed by a social hour, during which refreshments were served.

The former Plainfielder's topic was a "A Flight Through Scandinavia," and he told of the geography and typography of the barren country, its people and their customs and mode of living. His lecture was pleasing in its conversational informality, and was in the form of reminiscences of the trip. Dr. Snodgrass, who was in charge of the party of tourists which made the tour of the country, will head a similar touring expedition abroad during the summer months.

Dr. Snodgrass was the guest of Nelson A. Miller, head of the Brotherhood during his stay in this city, and it was through Mr. Miller's invitation to the former pastor that the lecture was given. With him on the entertainment committee in charge of the refreshments were Dr. Frank W. French and M. E. McGrath.

GOLF.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, has joined the Park Golf Club, and is now enjoying the game of golf as a healthful exercise. He will find plenty of company among the men of the cloth in the club, for among the ministers who are devotees of the game at this club are Rev. C. L. Goodrich, Rev. L. R. Howard and Dr. H. K. Carroll, who have been active members for several years.

N. J. LETTER CARRIES WILL CONVENE TOMORROW

It is expected that all of the present officers will be re-elected at the annual convention in Jersey City tomorrow of the New Jersey State Association of Letter Carriers. They are: President, Charles Duffy, Paterson; vice-president, John Sullivan, Elizabeth; treasurer, William Davy, Rutherford; secretary, J. J. Hines, of this city. Two members of the executive board will also be elected.

The convention will be held at the Columbian Club, and many prominent men from different cities will be guests of the association, both at the convention and at a banquet that will follow. Mayor Wittpenn will deliver an address of welcome to the delegates and their friends.

The letter carriers will take a prominent part in the big Memorial Day parade. It is expected that 4,500 carriers will be in the line. Postmaster Edward M. Morgan will be at the head of a big delegation of New York carriers, who will be brought to Jersey City by an Erie Railroad ferryboat, landing at Pavonia avenue. Brooklyn carriers will be brought over by a Pennsylvania Railroad ferryboat.

James J. Gallagher is at the head of a committee that will see that the visiting carriers are properly entertained. From Newark and other cities in the State there will be big delegations.

Fire at Glen Gardner.

The butcher shop of Watson Rinehart, on Main street, Glen Gardner, was burned early yesterday morning. The fire, suposedly of incendiary origin, was discovered about 2 o'clock, in the interior of the building. The building was owned by the estate of the late C. F. Krauss, and is on the site of the great oil fire of twelve years ago, which nearly destroyed the town. The building was insured and Mr. Rinehart carried a small insurance.

Printing Instructor Resigns.

Jamesburg, May 29.—Frederick L. Foster, who has held the position of editor of The Advance, a weekly publication at the State Home for Boys, and also been instructor in printing, has resigned his position to take a more lucrative one with the Prudential Insurance Company. He will be employed in the printing department at Newark. Mr. Foster came to Jamesburg five years ago from Newton, where he worked on the Newton Herald.

State Senate Dinner.

Invitations were issued today for the dinner to be given by the members of the State Senate to President Robbins at Cape May Hotel, Cape May, June 25. Senator Ackerman is chairman of the committee. Senator Frelinghuysen will act as toastmaster.

Mrs. Eliza Barrett, accompanied by her daughters, Miss Mattie Barrett and Miss Sadie Barrett, of Brooklyn, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Barrett's son, Street Commissioner John Y. Barrett, of Regent street.

MRS. S. I. CONKLING'S WHEREABOUTS DESIRED

Daniel A. Duryee, a real estate broker of Washington, has written to Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of this city, inquiring for the whereabouts of Mrs. Sarah I. Conkling, who he stated formerly resided here. He says that Mrs. Conkling is the owner of five lots in Washington, worth several hundred dollars, but that she has not been paying her taxes for the last two or three years and it will not be long before the tract will be sold for delinquent taxes.

Inquiry here fails to reveal the whereabouts of Mrs. Conkling and through the usual sources of information nothing can be learned about her. Dr. Herring has turned the letter over to The Daily Press in the hope that the woman might be found and her property saved.

SCHOOL BOARD UPHELD FOR DISMISSING COE.

The Woodbridge Board of Education was exonerated by a unanimous vote Thursday night at a meeting of citizens for its action in dismissing Supervising Principal James Coe a few weeks ago to go into effect July 1, after School Trustee James Farr stated the reasons why the principal's dismissal was necessary for the best interests of the borough's educational system.

Despite the fact that a petition, signed by nearly a hundred citizens, protesting against such action, there was not a word uttered denouncing the board's attitude. Trustee Farr stated that the principal's failure to meet the requirements of the position he occupied had demoralized the school system. Mr. Coe has been head of the schools for nine years.

The Women's Relief Corps met last night and completed arrangements for its part in the observance of Memorial Day under the direction of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R. The women will also have charge of the dinner arrangements Monday.
